The Trouble in India.

Attacks of the Tribesmen Renewed With Vigor.

The Natives Repulsed With Heavy Loss—British Reinforcements Arrive.

Lady Somerset Urged to Withdraw Her Resignation—Interchange of Colonial and Imperial Troops Proposed.

LADY SOMERSET.

London, July 30.—By an overwhelming majority the executive committee of the British Woman's Temperance Association has voted to request Lady Henry Somerset to withdraw her resignation from the presidency of the association.

BRITAIN TO HAVE KASSALA.

London, July 30.—The newspapers in Rome declare that the negotiations between Italy and Great Britain for the cession of Kassala, in Abyssinia, by the former power, have been completed, and that Great Britain will occupy the place at the end of September.

According to the official colonial list, Great Britain has established a protectorate over Jarvis Island, and the Phoenix group, comprising Phoenix, Birnit, Hull, Gardner and Sidney Islands, and over Washington (or New York) Island, and Palmyra and Johnson Islands.

WAIT TILL APRIL.

London, July 30.—The emigrants' information office, has, through the colonial office, issued urgent warning to persons contemplating the journey to the Klondike, pointing out that both routes are long and expensive, and can only be used during the summer. Intending gold seekers should not start before April. Few people, indeed, show any inclination to do so. A lot of mushroom companies are springing into existence to participate in the work of gold field exploration, but individuals confine their enthusiasm to talk. Most will wait and see how matters pan out.

COLONIAL TROOPS FOR ENGLAND

London, July 30.—A banquet was given last night at the Hotel Cecil to the representatives of the New South Wales troop. Hon. Wm. Brodrick, parliamentary secretary to the war office, announced that Colonial Secretary Chamberlain had written a letter to the colonial premiers, suggesting an interchange of forces in the empire. According to this plan some colonial regiments would come to England, English regulars supplanting them in the colonies. The troops should be similarly armed and should learn to act together. The war office had closely examined the scheme, and it is believed that everybody approved it.

A CANADIAN APPEAL CASE.

London, July 30.—The argument in the appeal case of the Dominion Government in the fisheries case was continued yesterday. The appeal is against the judgment of the supreme court, delivered in October, 1895, which was mainly in favor of the provinces, holding that they have jurisdiction over matters within the limits of the province. This is the question in dispute. There are many questions involved, but the chief questions have been decided in favor of the provinces, the supreme court holding that the various provinces have practically exclusive property of the fish, and have therefore the power to grant licenses. It was not disputed that the Dominion had not the power also to grant licenses, but the Dominion Government claimed that the provinces had no power to grant them, not having, as the Dominion contended, and still contends, any property in the fish. This is the chief question at issue. The question as to whether the beds of public harbors, lakes and rivers within the territorial limits of the several provinces belonged to the provinces or the Dominion, was decided in the supreme court in favor of the Dominion, and is one of the subjects of cross-appeal on the part of the provinces. The supreme court also decided that the Dominion Parliament had the power to pass the act "respecting certain works, constructed in, or over, navigable waters." There were seventeen questions submitted in the stated case to the supreme court, all of which have been submitted to the privy council in the present appeal.

THE SILVER SUBJECT.

London, July 30.—In the House of Commons today Sir Samuel Montague, Radical member for Whitechapel, asked the secretary of state for India, Lord George Hamilton, whether, in view of the great increase of fiduciary notes and the large contraction of paper currency, the Indian government intended to coin on its own account silver on a sounder basis, Lord George Hamilton replied that he was not aware that the Indian government had any such intention.

The Globe, commenting on the fall in silver, says: "An augmentation of the world's gold yield could not fail to increase the value of silver. When California and Australia poured their auriferous riches into the market, silver, like all other commodities, acquired an enhanced value. But the United States then had no accumulation of the white metal; whereas now these have become so enormous that silver sales can only be effected at a sacrifice. This week's collapse would have happened some time back but for the continuous purchases on Japanese account. That demand has ceased, and China and India are supplied. What steps the American silverite will propose to counteract this disastrous state of things, remains to be seen. Their attitude is a specific threat to tamper with the currency. President McKinley, possibly foreseeing an attempt of this sort, has given an emphatic warning that he will be no party to such perilous work."

CABLE NOTES.

A dispatch to the Chronicle from Vienna says that Signor Verdi is composing a requiem for his own funeral.

The editor of the newspaper Vaibhan, published at Poona, India, has been arrested and brought here on the charge of sedition.

The Figaro says: "An amicable settlement of the Hawaiian question will be reached, America yielding on the most important points to Japan.

It is regarded as highly probable that Sir Donald Smith, recently elevated to the peerage, will select as his title Baron Montreal of Glencoe.

The commissions of officers who had served under Dr. Jameson in the raid into the Transvaal, and of which these officers had been deprived, will not be restored.

Much excitement has been caused in Vigo, Spain, by the kidnapping of the infant son and heir of Count de Casa Gonzalez. It is believed that the child has been taken to London.

Mr. McLeod Stewart, of Ottawa, was given a luncheon by Lord Lorne in the House of Commons restaurant yesterday, and was introduced to several members, to whom he explained his Georgian Bay Ottawa Canal scheme.

Dr. Ekholm, who was associated with Herr Andree last year, says he declined to join in the present attempt because the balloon was unsatisfactory. He says it lost 51 cubic meters of gas daily, from the time of inflation. In his opinion it would not float longer than from 22 to 24 days.

Frank A. Munsey, of Munsey's Magazine, New York, Major J. B. MacLean, a Canadian publisher, A. C. Harmsworth, of the London Daily Mail, and some other publications, are to join hands in new publishing schemes to cover the English-speaking world. Mr. Harmsworth recently sold a part interest in his business for £1,000,000.

FIGHTING TRIBESMEN.

Details of Recent Engagements in India—The British Position.

London, July 30.—The Times publishes a dispatch from Simla, saying that the road from Mardan to Malakand seems free, as an officer, with an escort of only four men, passed safely along the road to the camp on Wednesday. In the fighting on Monday the tribesmen were repeatedly repulsed, but always returned to the attack, and finally succeeded in penetrating to that part of the camp where the commissariat sheds, the engineers' field park and the bazar are situated. The native losses must have been severe, as 30 bodies were found at daylight when the attackers retired into the valley.

The Daily News prints a dispatch from Malakand, showing that the rising of the natives is on a large scale. Each night, the dispatch says, a determined attack has been made, lasting until daybreak, while during the daytime the garrison is harassed by parties on the hills within range of the British pickets. These tactics prove a severe strain to the troops, who, fatigued with night fighting, cannot assume the offensive.

A later dispatch from Simla says: On Wednesday the enemy returned with reinforcements, and at 10 o'clock at night renewed the attack with equal determination, charging, as on Monday night, right up to the breastworks. They were repulsed, however, at all points. The British losses were much smaller than on the previous night, being only three officers wounded and two native soldiers killed and eight wounded. The enemy retired at daybreak, carrying off their dead, but the British soldiers were too much fatigued to pursue them. A renewal of the attack is expected tonight (Thursday), but the troops are so strongly entrenched that no anxiety is felt as to the result. Large supplies of ammunition are en route by railway to Nowshera. Major Taylor has died from his wounds. The list of casualties well illustrate the necessity for an increase in the number of British soldiers in the native regulars. Heavy losses are almost inevitable in this sort of fighting, and the officers are bound to expose themselves while leading their men.

A dispatch from Lucknow, India, says that on Saturday Maulvi Sidayit Rasoul was arrested on a charge of having insulted Queen Victoria and the British Government at a recent meeting of Mohammedans, held to congratulate the sultan upon his victories over Greece. It is alleged that at this meeting Maulvi declared to the assembly that "but for the sultan's forbearance the old woman's ribs would have been broken years ago."

Following is a description of the British position: On a ridge is a fortified position, which is held by the main body of the garrison, with outlying posts on the Buddhist road to the right and on the hill to the left. Down below, on the Chakdara road, is an open space, called the crater, which is overlooked by a rocky eminence. The north camp, which the troops evacuated Wednesday afternoon, in order to concentrate upon the ridge, is a mile distant, and owing to a lack of camels, the troops were compelled to abandon their tents. These were set on fire by the tribesmen, and the conflagration must have been visible many miles away, and will, it is believed, be taken as evidence of success, which will be likely to bring thousands of tribesmen flocking to Malakaland. On Tuesday Col. Meikeljohn was busy with his command moving the stores to the ridge and building breastworks there. While this was being done the tribesmen assumed a threatening attitude, but did not attack. A reinforcement of 500 men arrived at the camp Wednesday afternoon.

Fighting by Firelight.

Fierce Onslaught by Tribesmen Repulsed by the British.

The Natives Easy Targets for English Riflemen.

Great Britain Agrees to a Conference on the Sealing Trouble—Wreck of the Ship Tasmania—All Hands Lost.

London, July 30.—The Daily Mail's Bombay correspondent says: "The excitement here over the arrests recently made of Indian agitators is unabated, and rumors are persistently circulated among the Brahmins. Thirty or forty more arrests of important citizens are imminent."

Simla, July 30.—A dispatch from Camp Malakand reports another night attack by the tribesmen last (Thursday) night. The natives fought desperately for several hours, but were repulsed at all points by the British. Bonfires had been lighted around the camp, and in the glare the tribesmen were easy targets for the British riflemen. Many fell, and in the light of the flames the natives could be seen removing their dead. It is reported that the mullah was badly wounded and that several of his principal chiefs were disabled.

The British lost one killed and seventeen wounded, among the latter being Lieut. Costello, who was wounded the second time. He had received a slight wound during the day attack on Wednesday.

The forces of the mullah have been augmented by a strong gathering of the natives on the hills to the right of the British position. The theory is that the Boserwals have risen. The situation is now somewhat relieved by the arrival or reinforcements under Col. Reed from Nowshora.

London, July 30.—The situation in India is undoubtedly serious. First came the disastrous famine, whose effects are still visible. Then the plague, next the cholera, and afterwards the earthquake. Now native disaffection and finally war in two different places on the extremely inaccessible frontier. As regards the epidemics, they have already cost many European lives apart from the thousands of the natives who perished. Famine has left its indelible mark upon entire districts, and sedition has been spread broadcast through territories inhabited by the Bengal and the Hindoo. Elsewhere the disaffection has made little progress. The Sikhs and their kindred races detest the effeminate and cowardly Hindoos. While they have not the brains, they are the fighting men of the east, and if the British withdrew, the Sikhs would soon sweep over India.

A few days ago some thousand fanatics surprised another force in Chitral, and again caused a severe loss in officers and men, while the following dispatches received today chronicle more fighting in the same region.

Telegraphic communication with Malacand has ben reopened. After severe fighting the north Malacand camp has been abandoned and the troops are concentrated on the Kotal. Fighting recommenced on July 27 at 8:30 p.m. On that day the enemy made a determined attack on our position, and did not retire until daybreak. Throughout July 28 desultory fighting in the vicinity of the camp continued, the enemy driving in the pickets of the Thirty-first Punjaub Infantry, which lost 12 killed and 19 wounded. At one time during the fighting the Forty-fifth Sikhs were hard pressed, losing 1 killed and 15 wounded. The Twenty-fourth Punjaub Infantry, led by Lieut. Climo, drove back large bodies of the enemy, who lost about 90 killed. As the enemy are, however, still collecting in large numbers, further hard fighting is anticipated.

Dargaie has been reinforced by 50 rifles. The total British loss in the two days' fighting is 13 killed and 43 wounded. Sergt. Byrne, of the Madras Sappers, was among the killed, and the wounded include Lieut. Ford, of the Thirty-first Punjaub Infantry, who is severely hurt; Lieut. Swintry, of the Thirty-seventh Dogras; Lieut. MacLean, corps of guides, and Lieut. Costello, Twenty-second Punjaub Infantry, slightly.

The Malacand garrison is short of ammunition, and every effort is being made to hurry on the reinforcements.

Berlin, July 30.—A sensation has been created in Dresden by the publication of the assertion that on his return from Norway Emperor William will meet Prince Bismarck at Altona at the house of Count Von Waldersee.

Paris, July 30.—M. Machuron, who superintended Herr Andree's preparations for his expedition in search of the north pole, says that all the preparations were entirely successful, and that it is impossible that Andree's balloon could have fallen into the White Sea. Herr Andree, M. Machuron adds, regarded as quite possible that he might not be heard of for a year.

London, July 30.—Chulalongkorn, king of Siam, arrived off Spithead this morning in the royal Siamese yacht Macha Chakri. The British warships Inflexible, Alexandria, Calliope, Hero and Victory received his majesty with the royal salute.

London, July 30.—The British foreign office notified Ambassador Hay this morning that Great Britain accepted the proposition of the United States for an international conference on the question of pelagic sealing in the Bering Sea, to be held in Washington during the coming autumn.

Auckland, N. Z., July 30.—The British ship Tasmania, Capt. Grahn, from Calcutta, ran upon the sunken rocks off Cape Maria, at the northern extremity of this island, this morning and sank immediately. All on board were saved. The Tasmania was a four-masted iron ship, built in 1886, and registered 2,083 tons. She hailed from Glasgow, and was owned by P. Dennison & Co.

Greedy Grasshoppers

Hit on a Brand New Article of Diet.

Chew the Binder Twine on Wheat Shocks and the Grain Is Scattered All Over the Fields.

Birmingham, Mich., July 30.—Oakland county grasshoppers have invented a new device which is greatly pestering farmers west of Birmingham. The hoppers are chewing binder twine in the wheat fields and leaving the ground covered with bursted sheaves.

Jack Whitefoot, foreman on the Ed. Miller farm, has had to rebind 50 acres of wheat. He says there is no nutriment in binder twine to tickle the appetite of the solemn-visaged, bony-limbed hoppers. "It looks," said he, "as if they done it for pure devilishness."

But the fact is this: hoppers will eat anything that they are standing on, if possible. If a pitchfork is left in the field where grasshoppers abound, the hardwood handle will sometimes be found chewed and honeycombed until it looks as though it had been used as a roost by a colony of woodpeckers.

The twine to rebind the broken wheat sheaves on the Miller farm was first soaked in coil oil, then plunged into a bath of "sheep dip," a nauseous decoction, used to kill "ticks" on sheep.

This was all to no purpose. The hoppers are now as busy as nailers chewing through the second binding twine.

The Death Chair.

How It Feels When One Is Electrocuted.

Harry L. Tyler, of Corning, N. Y., Experiments on Himself.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 30.—Harry L. Taylor, of Corning, N. Y., has been making experiments on himself in the electric chair. He describes the sensation of electrocution in this language:

"A sudden shock is felt at first, as if some one had struck you on the head with a heavy mallet. There is no pain. The brain feels benumbed. Bright lights dance and flash before your eyes. Your head feels abnormally large, somewhat like that of a person when troubled with vertigo. A heavy weight seems to be bearing down upon your head. The pulse is high, and an exhilarated feeling takes possession of you. You feel as if you were treading on air, with everything around you a blank. You are alone, the only being, the only object, the only tangible thing in the universe. You gradually sink into insensibility.

"A fierce shock suddenly passes through your entire system. You are again struck on the head with the mallet, the same bright lights dazzle before your eyes, and then all is a blank. The second shock is caused by the withdrawal of electrification, or, as commonly expressed, when the current is turned off."

NOT NOW.

The Maccabees Decide Not to Buy Port Huron Temple.

Port Huron, Mich., July 30.—After a session of eight days the supreme tent of the Maccabees adjourned. A committee was empowered to establish a job printing establishment, if thought advisable, but the proposed purchase of the Maccabee Temple was laid on the table, there being a six-year lease yet to run.

A proposition to make St. Louis, Mo., the permanent headquarters, was overwhelmingly defeated.

Hereafter any surplus funds of the order will be invested in United States or Canadian government bonds.

Not more than $100,000 of the funds of the order will hereafter be deposited in one bank, and the deposits must never exceed the capital stock of the bank in which they are placed. The supreme record keeper and supreme finance keeper will be required to give $50,000 bonds each in an indemnity company hereafter.

A new law provides that where a member has understated his age without any intention to deceive, his certificate shall not be void, provided that the beneficiary in such cases shall be entitled to such amount which bears the same ratio to the sum that such beneficiary would otherwise be entitled to as the assessment ratio proper to the stated age of such person bears to the assessment proper to the actual age of such person. This is in accordance with the Canadian laws upon the subject.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly, and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

MURDER IN NEW YORK.

Stabbed to Death With a Bread-Knife—Two Thieves Well Punished.

New York, July 30.—In a bar-room on Lower Third avenue this morning, C. Thell, a waiter, plunged a bread knife twice into the abdomen of Ignatz Hertzer, and the latter is dead at a hospital, while the former is hiding from the police. An accusation of theft made by the bartender was the cause of the homicide, and because the proprietor of the saloon, J. Neumayer, delayed in informing the police, Thell had a chance to escape.

John F. Ryan and Leon Graves, who lured Lawyer Burt S. Clark, of Brooklyn, to a flat in New York on July 16, and there robbed him and tried to force acid down his throat, were this morning sentenced to thirteen years' imprisonment at hard labor in Sing Sing. Both pleaded guilty.

DASHED TO DEATH.

Tacoma, Wash., July 30.—Prof. Edgar McClure, of the Oregon State University, fell over a 300-foot precipice while descending Mount Tacoma in the darkness Tuesday night. His body was found Wednesday, and was placed in a snowbank, awaiting the arrival of an undertaker. Every bone in the professor's body was broken by the fall. The party lost the trail. McClure warned his companions to be careful, and started to reach what looked like a pile of rocks a few feet away. The rocks were a hundred feet below.

DEPEW, 63 YEARS OLD, RIDES A WHEEL.

New York, R. I., July 30.—Chauncey M. Depew, president of the New York Central Railroad Company, who so stoutly resisted the legislation compelling railroads in New York to carry bicycles as baggage, has succumbed to the attractions of the "silent steed." At that time he said a bicycle was sometimes a vehicle and sometimes a trunk. Treating it as a vehicle he took his first ride yesterday. For a man 63 years of age he made an excellent start.

THE FANATICS' VICTORY

Reports of the Frightful Slaughter Reiterated and Confirmed.

New York, July 30.—A dispatch to the Herald from Rio Janeiro, Brazil, gives further details of the fight at Canudos. The first report was not exaggerated, and, in fact, did not tell the full extent of the fanatic victory. These later reports state that the government troops lost a large part of their artillery in the battle, and that the guns, in good order, are now in possession of the fanatics. Those of the artillerymen who were not killed were forced to retreat, leaving their guns behind them.

ENGINEER AND FIREMAN KILLED.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 30.—A head-end collision occurred on the Lehigh Valley at Depew at 6:45 o'clock this morning. A light train from the Falls met a heavy train going to the Falls. The engineer and fireman of the light train were killed. A misunderstanding of signals is ascribed as the cause.
