Chicago Gossip.

J. P. Bickell & Co. say the following at the close of the market:

Another dull and featureless market, except perhaps the narrowing of September and December options. This certainly indicates a strong cash situation. As we have stated before, September shorts are already becoming uneasy. However, speculation is extremely light, but tell you again to buy October wheat. Do not buy on the swells. There will be weak spots from time to time. These are the opportunities to be taken advantage of, but remember we told you to buy wheat.

Corn—Firm. Light cash offerings at higher prices was the incentive for buying. Bulls claim a big short interest in September. If this is proven it will help to advance the futures, but we advise profit taking on all quick bulges, replacing on breaks.

Oats—Strong, on continued reports from country of poor threshing returns. It is very evident from reliable reports that the surplus oats States will only have a fair crop of oats, and old supplies being exhausted, keeps shorts in the nearby months nervous. Would be careful, however, in buying oats on the bulges, as we have not had a run of oats as yet. Under 50c for May they will be in a good trading position.

Marshall, Spader & Co. wired J. G. Beaty, 14 King-street West, the following:

Wheat—Market is still a narrow scalping affair, with the undertone on the whole good. There was little news, hence little to strongly influence traders. The significant feature was the September, which advanced to within 9c of the December price. This delivery will represent cash the first of the week, and its action does not indicate that spot is going begging. It may develop that the open interest is greater than supposed. Dullness with firmness suggests intrinsic values and the latter is the fundamental reason for the tone, which has been noticeable for some time. With the return of speculative activity we look for higher range.

Corn—Strength in corn was a feature thruout the day, altho top prices were shaded somewhat on realizing towards the close. The trade is uneasy over crop conditions. The weather has been too cool of late and so much of the acreage is late that the possibility of serious frost damage restrains sellers. A considerable area is also complaining of the lack of rain. The September is tight and the farmer is not selling. It looks as tho the shorts in this delivery were facing an unpleasant experience.

Oats—Were active and higher with the larger proportion of the early advance maintained. Offerings were rather light and buying scattered. The country is selling sparingly and receipts at all primary points to-day were 583,000 bushels, about half of last year's total. Local receipts were 217 cars.

Provisions—Ruled higher, but closed quiet, with most of the early gains lost. The conspicuous buying at the start was by packers and the selling on the advance was general with packers depressing the bird. Investment buying of January product is on a fairly liberal scale. 15,000 hogs estimated for to-morrow.

Ennis & Stoppani wired to J. L. Mitchell at the close:

Wheat—The wheat market ruled very strong during the early part of the session on buying of September by shorts, later in the day losing the greater part of the advance. The difference between September and December has narrowed to ⅜c. There was good selling in the late trading by the Bartlett Patten crowd and it looks to us as the wheat can be sold on the bulges.

Corn—Maintained the strength shown in this cereal thruout the session, the offerings continued very light. Corn should be bought on the declines.

Oats—Held strong thruout with a good class of buying in evidence and higher prices anticipated.

Provisions—Were strong with packers arrayed on the buying side. We advise purchases of January products on any break.

PERIOD OF ACTIVITY IS CLOSE AT HAND

New Camp Leader Has Arrived and Cobalts Will Sell Nearer Their Intrinsic Worth.

COBALT, Aug. 27.—(From the Man on the Spot.)—Cobalt's output for July amounted to 2338 tons. This monthly output has only once been exceeded in the history of the camp, when in November of last year the mines of Cobalt shipped 2505 tons. La Rose was the leader in both months, but in November of 1907 it shipped 1578 tons. Sixteen Cobalt mines have sent 1837 tons of ore to the smelters in the first three weeks of August and the shippers are:

	Tons
La Rose	444.59
O'Brien	256.09
Nipissing	214.15
Drummond	156.84
Trethewey	148.05
Temiskaming and Hudson Bay	128.25
Silver Queen	122.34
Right of Way	92.54
McKinley-Darragh-Savage	62.39
Watta (of King Edward group)	57.37
Temiskaming	50.30
Coniagas (concentrates and high grade)	31.89
Crown Reserve	27.00
Cobalt Central (concentrates and high grade)	23.08
City of Cobalt	21.15
Cobalt Townsite	20.50
Total	1857.03

The Man on the Spot several months ago argued for a new camp leader. It has undoubtedly arrived and great activity is predicted in La Rose and Nipissing in the immediate future. This means that all the other Cobalt stocks will sell for what they are intrinsically worth, which is more than they are doing at present.

The new discoveries of the season just closing have been made on the Nipissing and La Rose. The Bonanza Silver Leaf vein has on the Crown Reserve developed into one of the wonders of the camp. There is no longer any doubt as to the values at that depth in this vein.

The Temiskaming is into rich ore at a depth of 250 ft. and this mine and the Queen will continue to pay quarterly dividends regularly.

The Jacobs has one of the greatest forty acres in Coleman and everything in Cobalt camp justifies the expectations of the men most closely in touch with the mines and the market that a period of great activity is upon us.
