TOM MOORE TO FIGHT DECLINE OF ALL WAGES

Blames Combines for Present Depression in Canadian Trade Everywhere.

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—A report presented by the executive at the Allied Trades and Labor meeting tonight, in which a warning was conveyed that employers throughout the country were embarking on a campaign having as its end the reduction of wages and extension of hours of toil, was productive of some very plain speaking by Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress. He declared that the workers were not in the condition today of having to stand for a reduction of the standard of wages, raised upon the false cry that prices in general were falling.

"I see no necessity for any reduction in the standard of wages," said President Tom Moore.

Beware of False Cry.

"The high prices which prevail are due to the wasteful system of distribution, to combines and the inflation of prices by them in the price of raw materials. If we subscribe blindly to the theory that prices are falling and therefore the wage earners must accept lower wages, we are adopting a false policy. We must not allow ourselves to be fooled by the cry of falling prices. We have got to squeeze out the unnecessary cost of production and distribution in order that labor may get the full value for each dollar he earns. The present depression has been wilfully brought about by various combinations in order to try and force labor to accept a reduced wage."
