MAN WHO BUILT TECUMSEH HOUSE DIED AT HEPWORTH

William Driffl, aged 79, for 21 years a resident of this city, and the contractor who built the Tecumseh House, died at Hepworth on August 5. After leaving London he went farming in Blanshard Township, near St. Marys. There he lived until 43 years ago, when he moved to Hepworth, which at that time was a dense forest, with only a blazed trail on which to travel. All supplies had to be hauled from Owen Sound. He opened a store, and was postmaster of Hepworth for years. His wife died 30 years ago. The following children survive: Mrs. James Scott of Wilson Creek, Wash.; Charles of High River, Alta.; Mrs. Edward Brigham of Emo, Ont.; Mrs. J. L. Card of North Battleford, and William of Hepworth.

The funeral, held to Boyd's Cemetery, was conducted by Rev. S. S. Hardy, formerly of London.

RELIEF OF DERRY COMMEMORATED BY LOCAL ORANGEMEN

Big Picnic at Part and Parade at Ingersoll.

Over 100 local Orangemen went down to Ingersoll yesterday afternoon to attend the special service held in commemoration of the relief of Derry. Over 400 brethren from London, St. Thomas, St. Marys, Ingersoll and district points were present and paraded to St. James' Anglican Church, where a fine sermon was preached by Rev. Harry Ashby, rector of the Church of the Redeemer, this city. In speaking of the great war he mentioned that over 80,000 Orangemen are now in khaki doing their share towards stamping out Hun brutality and preserving liberty for the rest of the world. During the service a solo by Wor. Sir Kt. Creighton, of St. Marys, was much enjoyed. The St. Thomas flute band headed the parade to the church, and then back to the hall after the service. Here luncheon was served and a fine address given by Sir Knight Mulvenny, of St. Thomas, county preceptor of Elgin and Middlesex. The big parade at Ingersoll was in charge of Sir Kt. Sloody and everything went off without a hitch.

On Saturday a picnic of local Black Knights was held at Port Stanley in honor of the anniversary of Derry. Over 400 Orangemen went down to the lakeside and a fine program of sports was run off. The outing was held under the auspices of County Black Chapter East Middlesex Royal Black Knights of Ireland. The parade was headed by the London Fife and Drum Band, and at Port Stanley rousing addresses were made by Sir Kt. George Geoghagan, county preceptor, and Past County Preceptor Joseph Murray.

CLEAN LIVING IS SORROW FOR SATAN, SAYS SGT. EDWARDS

Rapid-Fire Sermon by Soldier Evangelist in South London.

"Any clean-living, godfearing young man or woman is one of the great sorrows of Satan," declared Sergt.-Major Harry Edwards in a 50-minute rapid-fire sermon at the Rldout Street Methodist Church Sunday evening. "The preacher who preaches the unadulterated gospel of Jesus Christ is another.

"Triumphs for the devil," he declared, "are weather too hot for church, but just right for the theatre, and a quarter for the show and a penny for the church."

He said it was a great achievement for the Prince of Darkness when he entered the Garden of Eden and beguiled Eve, and also later when he persuaded Cain that he was his brother's keeper. The capture of the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah was another great victory.

A Day of Sorrow.

"It was a day of sorrow for Satan when Christ was born in Bethlehem, and a blow for him when the wise men did not betray the Babe to old Herod. It was anguish to the old serpent when the Holy Spirit descended and proclaimed that Jesus was the Son of God. His prestige was assailed when he saw Jesus giving sight to the blind, raising the fallen and healing the sick, and he ground his teeth in rage when he saw his subjects deserting and following Christ.

"Don't get the idea that the devil is going to quit because he is getting his bumps. He is continually thinking out new plans to get revenge. He was right there among the bunch who cried out, 'Crucify Him, crucify Him,' and he thought everything was coming his way when he saw them lay Jesus on the cross. He got a real jolt, though, when he found that Christ had triumphed over sin and the grave.

Was in a Rage.

"He gnashed his teeth in rage when he saw Jesus ascending into his father in heaven. He stood trembling with fear and rage when he heard that angel tell the eleven that all the world should know that: 'This same Jesus that was taken from you up into heaven shall so come in like manner as you have seen Him go into heaven.' That is the greatest sorrow in the present life of Satan. He knows that Jesus is coming again, and when He comes, the devil is to quit business. He is trying to get all the revenge he can now, and you are the pawn in the game. I mean your immortal soul. It knows that Jesus paid the price and purchased your soul, and the devil is trying to steal it. He is calling a special council to devise ways and means of cheating Jesus Christ of what he has bought. He has specialists in ways of sin in his privy council. All have something new to entice men and women from God. When the devil can get a man or woman to begrudge a penny for the church and give a dollar cheerfully for the theatre, that is one of his trumphs. When one of the devil's specialists can persuade a church member to stay away from church because it is too hot, but it's not too hot for the show, that's another triumph for him. The greatest asset that Satan has today is the easy-going church members who are so easily disturbed by the slightest climatic change."

"The Mansfield of the Screen" in the photoplay, "The Truant Soul," adapted for screen presentation from Victor Rousseau's famous novel, "The Hidden Menace." At the Patricia Théatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday next.

Photoplay News

PATRICIA.

"The Truant Soul' was the most difficult work I have ever undertaken," declares Henry B. Walthall in discussing his great Essanay super feature production. "That it should be at the same time my best work is the happiest incident of my life."

In this gripping drama from the pen of the noted novelist, Victor Rousseau, Henry B. Walthall has eclipsed his position as the foremost photoplay actor in the world. As the famous surgeon of the novel, harassed by humanity's hidden menace, he has revealed a superart, which has bewildered his millions of followers.

In the following interview, Mr. Walthall analyzes his great achievement:

"There are two chief characteristics in Rousseau's character, Dr. John Lancaster," he said. "First, he was a genius, and hence a man of fine sensibilities; and, second, he was a fiend—a man whose depravity knew no depths. My problem, therefore, was to portray the role of a souless degenerate and still maintain those fine characteristics which a genius cannot lose.

"There has been such combination in life. Edgar Allen Poe is said to have possessed it, for one. But to dramatize it at first seemed impossible to me. Then followed work, work, work—the most exacting I ever put into the study of a role."

At the Patricia Thursday, Friday and Saturday next.

William Russell, the Mutual-American Star, in "The Masked Heart," at the Patricia Today.

William Russell, the dashing young star who familiarized himself to picture fans all over the country in romantic roles, is given credit for having developed the screen "knockout" to a perfection never before thought possible.

One of Mr. Russell's many professional assets is his remarkable boxing skill—said to equal that of the best heavyweights in the business. Many of the Russell productions have afforded the star an opportunity to display this talent, but the difficulty has been to find men capable of acting and at the same time giving Russell a fair argument in fight scenes.

In "The Masked Heart," a new Mutual-American production, Mr. Russell as Philip Greycourt, is forced to defend a woman from the unwelcome attentions of a big bruiser, and he does it with a right swing that apparently lifts the bad man off his feet, dropping him unconscious.

The blow appears to have the weight of a piledriver behind it and it has, but not at the moment that it connects with the bad man's jaw. Mr. Russell and the recipient of that punch rehearsed it for a week or two before the scene was filmed, and when actual "shooting" of the picture took place, Russell could hit the big fellow an apparently terrific blow without striking him hard enough to brush off a fly.

At the Patricia today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

BILL READ THIRD TIME

Income Tax and C. N. R. Purchase Will Be Up This Week.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—Legislation was advanced by the Government on Saturday in a thin House. The bill bringing the control of the Intercolonial Railway rates under the railway commission was read the third time, as were the justice department measures limiting the jury panel, and an improvement on the liquor control law.

It was announced that the income tax measure and the Canadian Northern acquisition bill would be dealt with this week.

There was also third reading for an insurance bill, making it an offence for anyone without a license to carry on an insurance business. The penalties are fines ranging from $50 to $100 and imprisonment from three to six months.

There was a demand that bankers be forbidden to write insurance. F. B. Carvell stated that there was one banker in New Brunswick who did a large insurance business and who would not give bank accommodation unless persons became customers for his insurance business.

Common Practice, Says Glass.

Frank Glass of Middlesex declared that this was a common practice with bank managers.

The minister of justice expressed surprise and said that he could not bring in legislation along the lines suggested without a careful examination of the conditions. He introduced another amendment to the law, making it an offence for an insurance agent to give rebates. He stated that rebating had been forbidden since 1910, but this bill doubled the penalty for offences, making the fine not less than $100 for the first offence and not more than $200 for the second. The person accepting the rebate is made liable to punishment, as well as the agent who gives it. Agents violating the act are made liable to a penalty of $500. The former act applied to foreign and federal companies, and it is now extended to provincial companies.

Does Not Reduce Rates.

Frank Carvel said that the measure was aimed at the agent who was willing to divide his first premium with the person taking the insurance. It does not affect the rates of the insurance companies or anything else except the pocket of the agent, and he could not see that the law was justified.

Judge Doherty said that since 1910 there has been legislation against rebating.

On the bill proposing to give federal aid to make provincial prohibition effective Sir Wilfrid Laurier noted that the bill allowed importation of liquor into dry provinces when designed for other purposes than drinking. He stated that where there was local prohibition the drug stores were the chief offenders against the law. The way the bill was drawn opened the door to abuses.

In answer to questions the minister of justice stated that the person instituting prosecutions under the act would have to establish that liquor was brought in, in violation of the provincial law, and was intended for use as a beverage. The trial would show whether the liquor was sold for use as a beverage.

Stop Ads Through Mails.

Mr. Armstrong, of Lambton, said the legislation was an advance and congratulated the minister of justice. He declared that the Province of Ontario and any of the other provinces had the power to forbid the importation of liquor, but they failed to exercise it. He felt it was improper that the post-office department should allow the distribution of liquor-advertising matter.

Mr. Lemieux asked if the member would propose to forbid the use of the mails to the Montreal Gazette, La Patrie and other newspapers that printed liquor advertising.

R. B. Bennett said that was what was being done in the United States.

Mr. Lemieux said that if the Province of Ontario forbid the circulation of newspapers containing liquor advertisements it would shut every Montreal newspaper, with the exception of the Weekly Witness, out of circulation in that province.

Mr. Bennett said that such law would suppress the advertisements, not necessarily the papers.

The bill got third reading.

CAPT. W. M. BISHOP OF OWEN SOUND IS AWARDED GREAT V.C.

Sent Three Foe Machines Down, and Engaged a Fourth.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The intrepidity of Capt. William Bishop, a Canadian, and a member of the Royal Flying Corps, in attacking a German airdrome single-handed, has been rewarded by the bestowal upon him of the Victoria Cross, the most prized of the British valor medals. The Official Gazette gives the following resume of the action which brought Capt. Bishop the Victoria Cross:

"Capt. Bishop flew first to an enemy airdrome. Finding no enemy machine about, he flew to another airdrome three miles distant, and about twelve miles inside the German lines. Seven machines, some with their engines running, were on the ground. He attacked these from a height of fifty feet, killing one of the mechanics.

"One of the machines got off the ground, but Capt. Bishop, at a height of sixty feet, fired fifteen rounds into it at close range, and it crashed to the ground.

"A second machine got off the ground, into which he fired thirty rounds, at 150 yards. It fell into a tree. Two more machines rose from the airdrome, one of which he engaged at a height of 1,000 feet, sending it crashing to the ground. He then emptied a whole drum of cartridges into the fourth hostile machine and flew back to his station.

"Four hostile scouts were 1,000 feet above him, for a mile during his return journey, but they would not attack. His machine was badly shot about by machine gun fire from the ground."

Capt. Bishop, an Owen Sound boy, is a brother of Major R. W. Bishop of military headquarters, this city. He is the only man alive who wears the three most coveted decorations of the British army—the Victoria Cross, Military Cross and Distinguished Service Order.

He was an R. M. C. cadet when war was declared, and was attached to the staff of Lieut.-Col. Ibbotson Leonard when the 7th Canadian Mounted Rifles was organized in London. He trained here with that unit until the 2nd Divisional Cavalry, under Col. Leonard's command, was formed, when he became a troop commander of the latter unit, crossing to England with Col. Leonard. In the old country he transferred to the Flying Corps, where he has made such a brilliant record, winning first promotion from flight lieutenant to flight commander (captain), and the three highest honors of the British arms.

The unofficial announcement of his winning of the Victoria Cross was made some time ago.

DOUBLE DROWNING IN SMALL STREAM; RESCUER PERISHES

Girl and Woman Who Went to Assistance Die.

AUBURN, Aug. 12.—Two lives were lost, one in a futile attempt at rescue, in a small creek running through the Govier farm, two miles from Auburn, on Saturday afternoon. The dead are Mrs. H. Govier and Elsie Lockhart, 11-year-old daughter of Thomas Lockhart of Auburn.

In company with four others, Elsie Lockhart, who was visiting at the Govier home, went to the creek to bathe. It is believed that she slipped into a deep hole and went down without a sound. When the other children left the water they noticed the absence of Elsie, and ran frantically to the farmhouse for Mrs. Govier. Mrs. Govier ran to the creek, and, fully dressed, dashed into the water in an effort to find the missing child. She, too, fell into one of the many treacherous holes in the stream, and was drowned.

It was an hour before any men were found, and half an hour later both bodies were recovered from the stream by the use of garden rakes.

Mrs. Govier is survived by her husband and two children.

SUFFERED SINCE SHE WAS A GIRL FIFTEEN YEARS OLD, SHE SAYS

Nothing But Tanlac Ever Gave Her Any Relief.

STRONGER THAN IN YEARS

"It Certainly Is the Finest Medicine I Ever Took," She Declares.

"It seems too good to be true that this Tanlac has ended my trouble," said Mrs. Mamie Smith, of 56 Tiverton street, Toronto, the other day.

"I have been worried by my disordered stomach," she continued, "ever since I was a fifteen-year-old girl, and kept getting worse all the time in spite of all I could do. I was never hungry and would hardly eat enough to keep me alive. I had to force down every mouthful, and the little I would eat hardly nourished me at all. Soon after leaving the table gas would rise on my stomach, and bloat me up something awful, and make me miserable for hours. I had a faint, sickish feeling most all the time, and I would get so weak and no account I could hardly stay on my feet. My nerves were all unstrung, and I had such a terrible pain in my side I couldn't lie down at times nor rest in any position, and I seldom was able to sleep more than half the night through without waking.

"After reading so much about Tanlac I decided to try it, and by the time I had finished my second bottle my stomach trouble had entirely disappeared. I can eat anything I want and all I want, and am never troubled with gas, those terrible pains in my side have vanished, my nerves are quiet, and I can sleep like a healthy child all night, my stomach is toned up and I feel stronger and better than I have in years. I never have a symptom of indigestion or any other trouble now and it is certainly the finest medicine I ever took, and the only one that gave me any relief."

Tanlac is sold in London under the direction of a special representative, and by one regular established agency in every town.

TWO FRENCH AIRMEN CARRY REPRISAL TO FRANKFORT-ON-MAIN

One of Most Important Cities in Germany Bombed.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—Two French aviators yesterday dropped bombs on Frankfort-on-the-Main, one of the most important cities of the German Empire, having a population of more than 300,000. A French official statement announcing the raid says it was in retaliation for the German bombardment of Nancy and the region north of Paris.

Both French machines returned undamaged. The text of the announcement reads:

"In reprisal for the German bombardments of Nancy and the region north of Paris, two of our machines, piloted by Lieut. Mesergues and Sub-Lieut. Beaumont, yesterday dropped bombs on Frankfort-on-the-Main. Both machines returned undamaged.

"It is confirmed that a German aviator was brought down August 9 on the Belgian front. Yesterday a German machine was shot down by machine gun fire northeast of Vauxaillon."

S. WINNIPEG LIBERALS CALL A MASS MEETING OVER CONSCRIPTION

Fear Rogers Would Be Considered Only Candidate.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINNIPEG, Aug. 12.—Alarmed at a better outlook for Hon. Robert Rogers in the South Winnipeg seat, a number of Liberals have called a mass meeting for this week to discuss the outcome of the recent Liberal convention. Isaac Pitblado, counsel for the west in the famous freight rates case, is the prime mover, and if all goes well, he will undoubtedly be Rogers' opponent.

Hon. Robert Rogers will be in Winnipeg this week and his friends are cheerful. They claim he will be the only conscriptionist candidate in the field.

Many of those who signed the petition as "Liberals" have not been identified with the Liberal party for years.

There is no sympathy for the movement in the Centre or North Winnipeg ridings. The labor element largely predominates there, and it must be admitted the country constituencies, judged by press comment, are well satisfied with the policy outlined at the Liberal convention.

One reason is Manitoba, like other provinces, has been depleted of harvest labor. All agencies for this purpose have fallen down. No male or female help is available. A great many formerly engaged in this work are employed in large city enterprises and cannot be spared. Farmers after being urged to extend crop areas now find themselves in a helpless state for the harvest, which will be on this week in many districts.

It is stated that plans are nearing completion for a meeting next Tuesday night of the executive and relief committee of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association, at which, according to expectations of officials of the association, impetus will be given plans for a non-partisan win-the-wa rconvention representative of Western Canada.

Mexicans Discover Prospective Base for German U-Boats

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 12.—What is believed to have been a German information forwarding station has been discovered by Mexican officers on Lobos Island, a lighthouse station off the Mexican coast northeast of Tuxpam. The Mexican authorities believe the station might have been converted into a submarine or naval base had it not been located by them.

The Government is conducting a rigid investigation. Its agents are scouring the coast in search of other wireless plants.

Have you a building job on your hands?

Now that prices are high it is more than ever important that you give careful consideration to the roof you are going to put on. You can save real money and get a better roof by using

Certain-teed Roofing

Thru quality and sheer merit as a roofing material CERTAIN-TEED is now being used as the preferable type of roofing for sky-scrapers, factories, hotels, stores, warehouses, garages, farm buildings etc., where durability is necessary.

It is economical to buy, inexpensive to lay and costs practically nothing to maintain. It is weather-tight, light weight, clean, sanitary and fire-retardant. It is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply).

There are many roll roofings on the market, but only one CERTAIN-TEED. It pays to get the best. It costs no more to lay a CERTAIN-TEED roof than it does to lay a poor roof, but there is a vast difference in the wear. You can't tell the quality of a roofing by looks or feel. Your only safety is the label. Be sure that it is CERTAIN-TEED—then you are certain of quality and guaranteed satisfaction.

Certain-teed Slate-Surfaced Asphalt Shingles are supplanting wood and slate shingles for residences. They cost less, are just as good looking, wear better, won't fall off, buckle or split. They are fire-retardant, and do not have to be painted or stained.

Certain-teed Paints and Varnishes

The name CERTAIN-TEED on a can of paint or varnish is the same guarantee of quality and satisfaction it is on a roll of roofing or a bundle of shingles. Made for all uses and in all colors.
