The War Situation.

Amid the maze of conflicting telegrams from the seat of conflict in South Africa, two lines of policy on the part of the respective antagonists emerge with sufficient clearness.

The policy of the British, under Sir Redvers Buller, is plainly for the moment a waiting game. Every 48 hours from this time forth will add to the strength of the British forces and to the certainty of success under their intrepid and sagacious commander.

On the other hand the game of the Boers is obviously that of pushing the fight as energetically as possible before the arrival of the great mass of reinforcements from Great Britain and other parts of the Empire. The Boers have had every advantage in declaring war at the time that suited them. They have had their plans mapped out, and had provided themselves in advance with ample munitions of war. They have had expert foreign assistance in strategical operations. They will doubtless continue in the meantime to beleaguer where they can, cut wires, burn bridges, tear up railway tracks, and try to excite the colonial Dutch, as they may, and to raise Old Harry generally before Buller's big force arrives on the scene.

It is impossible to tell what may happen in the interval, which will naturally be one of keen suspense. But the Briton has a custom of bracing himself and finishing any job to which he applies himself. The final result is not doubtful. These Boers are excellent raw material, out of which good British subjects will be made eventually.

There is the usual talk of foreign intervention, but it will probably come to nothing. With the British Empire, the United States and Germany working together on common lines, even Russia is apt to put on the cap of reflection before intruding an unfriendly paw.

Victory For The British

A Boer Camp Captured, With Heavy Loss to the Enemy.

News Received From Gen. Buller by Pigeon Post.

Fierce Artillery Duel Preceded the Battle.

Fighting Continued for Several Hours on Friday.

Basutos Reported to Have Risen Against Free State Boers.

Ladysmith Completely Invested by the Enemy—Evacuation of Colenso Officially Confirmed.

London, Nov. 6. — The war office issued the following at 11:40 last night:

"Buller, to the Secretary of State for War:

"Cape Town, Nov. 5—8:40 p.m.—The commandant at Durban sends the following, receiving from Ladysmith by pigeon post, dated Friday, Nov. 3:

"'Yesterday Gen. French went out with cavalry and field artillery and effectively shelled the Boer laager, without loss on our side.

"'Lieut. Egerton, of the Powerful, is dead.

"'Gen. Joubert sent in Major Kincaid, of the Royal Irish Fusiliers, and nine wounded prisoners. Eight Boers were sent out in exchange, no others being fit to travel.

"'Col. Broeckleurst, with cavalry, field artillery, the Imperial Light Horse and the Natal Mounted Volunteers, were engaged today with the enemy to the southwest of Ladysmith. The fighting lasted several hours. Our loss was very small.

"'The bombardment of Ladysmith continued yesterday and today. Many Boer shells were pitched into the town.

"'Today the men were in good health and spirits, and the wounded were doing well.'"

CAPTURED A BOER CAMP.

London, Nov. 5.—A special dispatch from Ladysmith, filed Thursday afternoon, says: "While the naval brigade was pounding away at the Boer batteries this morning, a party of British cavalry and volunteers were sent out, and, creeping around the hills, they surprised and captured one of the enemy's camps.

FIGHTING ON THURSDAY.

The Times publishes a dispatch from Pietermaritzburg, Natal, dated Nov. 3, which says: The British residents here have received news of a sanguinary battle fought yesterday (Thursday) probably between Ladysmith and Colenso. A large number of the Boers were killed, many being relatives of the Dutch residing in this place.

A special dispatch from Ladysmith, describing Thursday's fighting, says: The artillery duel at dawn, in which the Boer guns were silenced, was intended to occupy the Boers and to enable Sir George Stewart White to achieve his purpose — the capture of the Boer camp behind Bester's Hill. For this purpose, the Lancers, Hussars, Natal Carbineers and Natal Border Rifles, started under Gen. French at sunrise, and got within striking distance before the enemy was aware of their presence. A field battery was also sent, and it secured a good position commanding the enemy's camp, which was a large one, laagered with army wagons and other vehicles. Bester's Hill was well fortified and provided with good guns. At 9 o'clock the British opened fire, the Boers replying with spirit, but bad aim. The British quickly sent a 42-pound shell into the camp, inflicting terrible loss and spreading panic among the enemy. Our cavalry then stormed the position, the Boers fleeing precipitately, leaving many dead and wounded, as well as the whole camp and equipment in the hands of the British. This success will upset the plans of the Orange State commanders, and possibly will prevent them giving the British further trouble from the west.

THE ARTILLERY DUEL.

Ladysmith, Nov. 2—10 a.m.—Delayed.—An artillery duel has been in progress since 6 o'clock this morning, but so far no damage has been done, the British fire preventing the Boer guns from making good practice. Firing has been heard in the direction of Colenso.

Another special dispatch, bearing date of Nov. 2, says: The artillery duel is proceeding splendidly. The British guns are firing three shots to the Boers' one.

BOERS COMPLETELY ROUTED.

London, Nov. 5.—A special dispatch from Ladysmith, describing the engagement at Bester Hill, say the Boers were completely routed and suffered heavy loss. Their entire camp was captured. The correspondent goes on to say: An artillery duel is in progress. A British shell struck a Boer 40-pounder and completely wrecked it.

EVACUATION OF COLENSO.

Colenso, Nov. 2.—1 p.m.—Delayed.—Heavy firing is now in progress at Ladysmith, which the Boers are shelling from positions on Groblerskloof Hill, this side of Ladysmith. Two trains have just arrived her from Ladysmith. When near Peters Station they were fired upon by the Boers, but were not in serious danger. The train guards report that Nordenfelt quick-firers were used in addition to Mausers. The Boers continue to shell Colenso and Fort Wylie, but thus far the firing is futile. They have placed heavy guns in position, but their shots are falling short.

9 p.m. — Colenso, at this hour, is threatened by the enemy. His patrol in advance of the Boer force, 2,000 strong, but with no field guns, were marching in a masterly direction to the north of Colenso. Shots were exchanged between the British and Boer patrols, the latter being driven inward upon the main body. The British patrols lost one man killed and the Boer patrols lost two.

London, Nov. 6.—The war office issued the following announcement: The colonial office has received information to the effect that the British troops have concentrated further south, but we have no news of any engagement in that neighborhood.

LADYSMITH COMPLETELY SURROUNDED.

The correspondent of the Times at Ladysmith, under date of Nov. 2, confirms the report of artillery exchange. He says: The investment of the town is now practically complete. Last night the enemy tapped the wires in our rear. He can, therefore, cut our communication whenever he pleases. It is suggested, however, that the Boers believe that Ladysmith is in their power, and that they are therefore anxious to have us get up all our military stores before they attack us. A reconnoissance by Lancers and a field battery today found a Free State laager, which the British shelled heavily, driving the Boers out.

A special from Ladysmith, dated Nov. 2, morning, says: During the night the Boers moved closer to the British positions and mounted guns in fresh places. Meanwhile the naval guns have been moved to more desirable positions near the town, and commanding some of the Boer batteries. At 6 o'clock this morning Gen. White ordered the bombardment of the enemy, and the bluejackets opened the ball. The Boers replied vigorously. They fired straight, and some of the British were hit. A terrible artillery duel has been proceeding for over three hours. So far the naval guns are the only ones that have engaged the enemy.

On the suggestion of Gen. White the women and children were sent south last evening. A large number of men left at the same time. Some of these behaved badly toward the women. Entire confidence is still reposed here in Gen. White and his staff, and it is expected that another pitched battle will dispel the lingering hope of the Boers that they will be able to take Ladysmith.

Another dispatch from Ladysmith says the Boers have proclaimed the Upper Tugela division of Natal annexed to the Orange Free State.

RUMORS OF A BASUTO RISING.

London, Nov. 5—3 p.m.—According to a special dispatch from Cape Town, it is reported there that the Basutos have risen against the Orange Free State Boers. The government has received no information on this point.

RUMORED CAPITULATION.

Lisbon, Nov. 6.—Persistent reports are in circulation here that Gen. Sir George Stewart White, British commander in Natal, has capitulated to the Boers.

The Belgian papers continue to publish telegrams from Holland and Berlin reporting the capture of Ladysmith, but no such information has been received at the official headquarters of Dr. Leyds. The members of the Transvaal agency say that the only knowledge of the affair is derived from the newspapers. They decline to divulge the whereabouts of Dr. Leyds, but say he is not in Brussels or Berlin.

BOERS WAITING FOR GUNS.

The general belief in London is that the Boers are now waiting for more guns from Pretoria before attacking Ladysmith. The fact that Sir Redvers Buller appears to have ordered a retirement from Stormberg and perhaps from other places relieves to some extent the public mind, which otherwise would have been further alarmed. Confidence is felt in any measures that Gen. Buller may deem desirable.

THE PIGEON POST.

The knowledge that the pigeon post is working has come as a relief to the great anxiety previously felt.

Sir Redvers Buller has wired the war office from Cape Town, under date of Sunday, that Col. Kekewich, in command at Kimberley, reports, under date of Oct. 31, that all the wounded were doing well.

An Orange River, Cape Colony (delayed), dated the 3rd, says: Kimberley was safe on Wednesday night, but an attack was expected at any time.

CAPE DUTCH LOYAL.

The Dutch of the colony are showing themselves loyal to the British government, and, as far as has been ascertained, few of them have joined the Boers.

The Boer prisoners have arrived at Simonstown, near Cape Town, where they are well treated.

Another report says: Dispatches from Cape Town and other points in Cape Colony indicate that the Cape Dutch are becoming very restless in consequence of the Boer successes.

MANY MISSING.

Durban, Nov. 2.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The official roll call shows that 243 members of the Gloucestershire Regiment and of the Royal Irish Fusiliers are missing as the result of the engagement on Farquhar Farm. Thirty-two members of the Gloucestershire Regiment, ten members of the Royal Irish Fusiliers and two members of the Tenth Mountain Battery were found killed. Between 70 and 100 escaped and returned to Ladysmith, whither 150 wounded have been brought.

BOERS AT GABERONES.

A belated dispatch from Buluwayo, dated Oct. 27, says the Boers are reported to be occupying Gaberones. King Khama's regiments are out watching the border. Lieut. Lewellyn has retired to Mochudi.

PRISONERS PLAY FOOTBALL.

Cape Town, Nov. 2.—(Delayed.)—A dispatch from Pretoria, under date of Tuesday, says Col. Molleur, who commanded the British Hussars, captured by the Boers, declined, on being interviewed, to give the details of the misfortune, but praised the treatment he and his men had received at the hands of the Boers. The British prisoners were playing football at the time their commander was interviewed.

BRITISH WOUNDED.

The arrival of the British wounded at Cape Town from Ladysmith created a scene of popular enthusiasm on the part of a large crowd that had been assembled to witness the landing. As the poor fellows were brought ashore the crowd cheered and sang "Rule, Britannia" and "God Save the Soldiers and the Queen." All of the wounded men were benefited by their voyage from Durban, and are doing well. A batch of Boer wounded was landed on
