FOUR STAGE ELEPHANTS GO ON A RAMPAGE AND SHAKE WINNIPEG WALLS

WINNIPEG, Dec. 30.—Four elephants, to perform at a local vaudeville house this week, broke away from their keepers this morning and made Winnipeg their playground for three hours. One became wedged between two houses and pulled part of the walls away with her when she extricated herself. She then paid a visit to the General Hospital, broke the door in with a gentle rap, and advanced in friendly fashion to Engineer J. R. Kral, in charge. Kral rubbed his eyes, recalled an important errand he had neglected, and disappeared. The animal then scratched her back on the switchboard, reducing it to twisted metal. The four were finally rounded up and captured.

C. L. Ehmann was injured when three of the elephants entered a building and pushed him through the other side. His leg was broken.

GOOD AND SUFFICIENT REASON FOR INTERNING LUTHERAN MINISTER

STRATFORD, Dec. 30.—At the request of the council of Trinity Lutheran Church, Sebastopol, Dr. M. Sucke, M. P. for South Perth, made inquiry into the circumstances relative to the internment of Rev. Otto Stockmann, pastor of the church, who is now at Kapuskasing. After conference with the authorities at Ottawa, Dr. Sucke said a statement to the church council that he was interested that a full investigation had been made of Mr. Stockman's case, and he had been interned because his conduct indicated that his interest and feelings were with Germany. Canada's enemy, and against the Allies, in this war. The deputy-minister had assured him that their action was taken for good and sufficient reasons.

"With the assurances of the acting commissioner and after a thorough discussion with the authorities as to the possibility of a mistake having been made, I am forced to the opinion that there is no possibility of a trial being ordered for Mr. Stockman, and the chance of his release being granted at present," he said.

Daniels Aims To Force Armament Curtailment Upon the World.

SHIPS AND MORE SHIPS

Argues For Passage of $600,000,000 Navy Building Program.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Appearing before the House naval committee today in behalf of the new six-hundred-million-dollar three-year building program, Secretary of the Navy Daniels said if a league of nations were organized the United States should be prepared to contribute as large a unit as any other nation to an international police force, and that without an international agreement for reduction of armaments the American policy of naval expansion should be continued indefinitely.

In formally submitting the new building program, the secretary urged provision for suspension of construction at the order of the president whenever an international agreement is reached for armament reductions.

Comparison of Navies.

Secretary Daniels submitted to the committee a report showing the present comparative strengths of the larger navies of the world.

THE UNITED STATES, with the second largest navy in the world, has built or projected 41 battleships, 6 battle cruisers, 16 armored cruisers, 30 light cruisers, 342 destroyers, 187 submarines, 15 coast torpedo boats, 19 torpedoboats and 86 auxiliaries, 29 miscellaneous ships.

FRANCE has 21 battleships, 7 armored cruisers, 8 light cruisers, 92 destroyers, 121 torpedoboats, 46 submarines, 29 auxiliaries, 182 other craft.

ITALY has 18 battleships, 7 armored cruisers, 8 light cruisers, 8 scouts, 24 destroyers, 85 torpedoboats, 24 submarines, 21 auxiliaries, 182 other craft.

JAPAN has 18 battleships, 7 armored cruisers, 8 light cruisers, 12 scouts, 12 destroyers, 13 torpedoboats, 14 submarines, 10 auxiliaries, 29 miscellaneous craft.

RUSSIA has 8 battleships, 4 battle cruisers, 12 cruisers, 128 destroyers, 12 submarines, 13 torpedoboats, 14 auxiliaries, 29 miscellaneous craft.

GERMANY has 22 battleships, 5 battle cruisers, 31 armored cruisers, 12 cruisers, 152 destroyers, 21 torpedoboats, 24 submarines, 12 auxiliaries, 223 other craft.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY has 10 battleships, 3 armored cruisers, 12 cruisers, 12 destroyers, 24 submarines, 12 torpedoboats, 21 auxiliaries, 223 other craft.

Wants All Big Ships.

Concentration upon the construction of capital ships, what underlying principle, which pointed out that in conducting the submarine menace the capital ships of the navy were of no value, Mr. Daniels said he had not discussed the question with the general board, but that it was planned for the next three years to devote the entire building program to the construction of battleships, battle cruisers and airplane carriers.

Rear Admiral Benson, chief of operations, said the navy department had estimated from 35 to 40 battleships would be needed in the three-year building program, and in a letter to Representative Hull, chairman of the committee, Secretary Oliver of Alabama, for the navy department, said the
