Miss Dean Made Debut.

AT AGE OF TWO.

Priscilla Dean's consummate artistry on the screen is the product of a solid lifetime of experience.

Starting at the independent age of two years, she spent her childhood on the stage. Her tutor was her mother, May Preston Dean, formerly one of the leading stars in the theatrical world.

At thirteen or fourteen Priscalla started in pictures by playing a small part in a New York studio. For two or three years she alternated between the stage and the screen. Then suddenly she announced to her mother: "We're going to California."

She had been hesitating which way to go, back to the stage or on up the ladder of screen fame. She decided on the screen.

At Universal City she started playing major parts and leading roles in comedies, serials and feature. Her success came steadily with a blaze of praise from directors and reviewers.

At the Star Theatre next Monday she will be seen in "The Flame of Life," a Hobart Henley Universay-Jewel production, adapted from one of Frances Hodgson Burnett's famous novels. Robert Ellis, Wallace Beery, Beatrice Burnham and Kathryn McGuire are among the supporting players. Hobart Henley directed.

Miss Dean has a dynamic, decisive personality. One famous critic has said of her—"She is one of the six real artists of the screen! More than that, she is one of its real 'actors,' not actresses—she has the direct 'punch' in amotionalism of a man."

It is interesting to note that this production was made in accordance with Mr. Henley's new method of rehearsing the company for weeks in the same manner that they would, were it a stage production. In this way each player not only becomes thoroughly familiar with his or her part, but knows exactly how that part fits into the story as a whole. The result, as proven first in "The Flirt," and now in "The Flame of Life," is a filmed performance of remarkable smoothness. It is predicted that other producers will adopt this plan, but the credit of being the originator goes to Mr. Henley.

Strike of Anthracite Miners Seems Inevitable in September.

Fifty Passengers Killed in Russian Train Wreck--Brutal and Ruthless Taxation is the Policy of Socialist Finance Minister--Plans to Dam Straits of Belle Isle Submitted to Ottawa.

ANTHRACITE WORKERS READY FOR THE STRIKE.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 24.

Representatives of the Anthracite Mine Workers in the United States took the last step necessary to shut down the mines Sept. 1st, though news came to them from Washington that Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, with President Coolidge's support, would seek a last word before the impending struggle in the Anthracite region. Scale committees from three union districts have authorized by unanimous vote the issuance of work-suspension orders, and walked out of the meeting room to take most of them to their home. Their officials however said that any request which Governor Pinchot might extend for further conference probably would be accepted. In this view members of the operators' policy committee, which was still held in the city, also joined.

CRITICAL STAGE REACHED IN ANTHRACITE SITUATION.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 24.

The necessity of completing some arrangements that will prevent the Anthracite Mines from permanent injury through flooding and cave-ins after Sept. 1st, when the miners expected to walk out, was said to be the chief factor in holding representatives of the Anthracite Mine Workers and Officials of the Miners' Union in Atlantic City to-day. Apprehension that a sympathetic strike in the soft coal fields in Illinois would follow the anthracite strike to-day was largely laid, following the announcement of Frank Farrington, President of the Illinois Mine Workers, that there was no thought of suspension in the Bituminous Coal Fields.

SOCIALIST FINANCE MINISTER'S DICTATORIAL METHODS.

BERLIN, Aug. 24.

Dr. Rudolf Hilferding, first Socialist to hold the federal position of Minister of Finance, yesterday informed the Reichstag Budget Committee he purposed to inaugurate an era of "brutal and ruthless taxation policies." Banks and Industrialists; said Dr. Hilferding, already had received warning and he was particularly desirous to inform the public at large of his intentions. It was his opinion that dictatorial methods within constitutional limits would prove the only means of saving the country in the present situation. The Minister's first official utterance was a straightforward statement of Germany's internal financial chaos, which had culminated in the announcement of the Government's emergency measures for the requisitioning of foreign currencies and providing penitentiary sentences for persons committing perjury in connection with declarations demanded by the Government of holders of foreign exchange.

Lord Birkenhead will address the Canadian Bar Association in Montreal in September.

PROPOSITION TO DAM STRAITS OF BELLE ISLE.

OTTAWA, Aug. 23.

Diametric Jeanowici, Roumanian Engineer, has arrived in Ottawa for the purpose of presenting to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries a scheme to modify weather conditions in Eastern Canada and keep the St. Lawrence River open for navigation during the winter, by building a dam across Belle Isle Straits. He has already discussed the project with officials of the Department and will place his plans and theories before the Minister.

Obituary.

MRS. SUSANNA L. UDELL ENTERS INTO REST.

On Sunday afternoon, surrounded by her devoted family, Mrs. Susanna L. Udell, widow late Joseph Udell, well known merchant, Carbonear passed to her reward. For some months she had been confined to her bed suffering from an incurable complaint. During all that time she was patient and uncomplaining. To visit her was a pleasure. Even in her sickness it was her care to see that all visitors and callers were hospitably welcomed and entertained. She was a devoted mother, a faithful friend and giver to hospitality and Carbonear has sustained a loss in her death. In her illness she was surrounded by every care and all that loving hands could do was done to smooth and make pleasant her declining days. She leaves to mourn two sons, William and John of Carbonear and three daughters, Nellie and Mrs. William Cameron also of Carbonear and Mrs Robert Joyce of St. John's.
