CURE SICK HEADACHE.

FIGHTING FOR A NAME.

The astonished woman seemed suddenly turned to stone, by this wonderful declaration, while she stood staring at her companion, a dazed, incredulous expression on her colorless face.

"What can you mean? Oh, do not make a miserable jest of my shame and wretchedness!" she at length cried, in a hollow, almost unrecognizable voice.

"I am not jesting—heaven knows that I am too much appalled by what you have told me, to speak lightly or frivolously now. I declare only the simple truth when I say that you were legally married to Richard Heatherton on that never-to-be-forgotten night; that you have every right in the world to bear his name, and to call his son by it," Mr. Langmaid solemnly affirmed.

Joy never kills, but it often paralyzes for the time being.

Miriam Wallingford swayed dizzily for a moment where she stood, then fell back into the chair, from which she had risen a few moments previous, where she fainted away for the second time that day.

"You poor, crushed ,and heart-broken woman!" cried William Langmaid, as he sprang again for a glass of water and vigorously sprinkled her face.

"What a wretch Heatherton was! What fools and knaves both Mathews and I were to be drawn into participating in any scheme so wicked. We both should have utterly refused to have had anything to do with it; and if Mathews had good reason for suspecting the truth, as it seems he had, he should have openly denounced Heatherton, or, at least, would have warned Mr. Wallingford of his intentions."

But the fainting woman quickly recovered; the loss of consciousness had only been momentary, and she soon sat up, eager to learn more regarding the wonderful revelation which Mr. Langmaid had just disclosed, a new hope lighting her wan face and animating her heavy heart.

"Can it be true?" she murmured,with trembling lips, the light of a long-lost joy gleaming in her lovely eyes.

"Every word of it," solemnly affirmed her companion, "as I will prove to you. Perhaps you know that Mathews, Heatherton and I were in the same class and completed our studies at the same time. We were all very busy during the last few weeks of the term, and I, at least, was too much engaged with my work to give a great deal of thought to that 'frolic' after it was over. I rallied Heatherton upon it, once or twice, but he acted so strangely I fancied that he was somewhat ashamed of it, so I never referred to it again. I wondered what made him so moody and unsocial during the remainder of the term,'but thought perhaps he also was studying hard to make up for lost time; but later I understood. Commencement passed, we each took our degree, and Heatherton immediately left New Haven, which surprised me, for he was a member of a number of societies, and I wondered that he did not remain to participate in the annual reunions. I had been at home about a month when one day Mathews came to see me—we both lived in New York.—looking as if he were in deep trouble.

"'Langmaid,' he said, 'I have a confession to make to you.'

"'All right; go ahead,' I said, wondering what it could be.

"'I'm afraid I have got myself into a deuce of a scrape,' he remarked, dejectedly.

"'How so?' I inquired.

"'Do you remember that frolic at Farmer Wallingford's last February?

"'Yes,' I briefly responded, but flushing over the remembrance.

"'I—I suppose you never dreamed, that it was anything but a—a farce' he said, hitching uneasily in his chair.

"'No,'but a great shock went through me at his words.

"'Well, it wasn't a farce — it was dead earnest in every particular.'

"'What do you mean?' I cried, aghast.

"'Just this,' Mathews replied; 'I'll begin at the beginning and tell you all about it. Heatherton had been making love to Miss Wallingford for some months—just for the sake of a flirtation and to amuse himself while in New Haven—but she believed him to be honorable and sincere, and gave him her whole heart in return. He proposed a runaway marriage to her, but'—and here is where your story agrees in every particular with Mathews," Mr. Laingmaid interuposed. "'but she refused, saying that she must be married in her own home and before witnesses, or not at all.

"'At first he was angry at what he termed her obstinacy, but he finally conceded the point, but stipulated that the union must be kept a secret from her family and his until he was through college. This she reluctantly agreed to; then it was that he came to me, representing that on a certain evening there was to be a mock marriage at Farmer Wallingford's — the old folks having gone away from home for a few days —and asked me to hunt up a fellow to read the ceremony over himself and Miss Wallingford, requesting also that I would officiate as groomsman with Miss Arnold as bridesmaid. I didn't feel quite easy, for I had met Miss Wallingford several times and believed her to be a fine girl. Indeed, I was surprised that she should be willing to lend herself to any such farce, for she had impressed me as being a person of too much character and principle, to be willing to burlesque so sacred a subject as marriage; and somehow I imagined that "I smelled a rat," as the boys say. As luck would have it I ran across her the very next day in one of the New Haven stores. She was buying tulle and white gloves. She greeted me quite cordially, but blushed as she saw that I noticed what she was purchasing. I smiled and ventured to remark, "Those are for Tuesday evening, I suppose." "Yes," she replied in a low tone and coloring vividly,"but please do not speak of it here. You are coming, Richard tells me," she added; "I hope we are not doing wrong, but he assures me that there will be no need to keep the secret after June and commencement."

"'You could have knocked me down with a wisp,' Mathews went on. 'I was so taken aback, for her words almost proved to me that Heatherton was deceiving the girl. I saw instantly that she believed that she was really going to be married. I had a mind to face him at once and denounce him as a scoundrel, then refuse to have anything to do with the affair. Then I reasoned that such a course would do no real good, for, if he was bound to carry ut his infamous scheme, he would accomplish his purpose in some other way. Once I thought that I would go to Miss Wallingford and reveal the whole plot to her; but I feared she would not believe me and only hate me for meddling. But I did go to Miss Arnold, ostensibly to make arrangements for our part in the forthcoming wedding, and by adroit questioning got the whole story of Heatherton's courtship, the reasons why he wanted his marriage to remain a secret, as I have already related, together with the arrangements which were being made for the wedding, thus proving beyond a doubt the correctness of my suspicions regarding his rascality.

"'I never slept a wink that night, but revolving the matter in my mind and wondering what I could do to avert this great wrong. At last, in sheer desperation, I resolved to do a bold thing. As you know, Heatherton left it with me to find someone to act as parson. I meant to secure the services of a real parson. I had a friend who had recently been ordained, and settled over a little church in the country. I do not need to tell you it was Harris. I went to him, told him the whole story, asked him if he would take the place of the bogus parson, and really marry Heatherton and Miss Wallingford.

Important Time in Every Girl's Life

IS BETWEEN 15 AND 18 YEARS OF AGE—HOW TO AVOID THE DANGERS THAT ARISE DURING THIS PERIOD.

The mental activity of school life, coupled with the terrible strain that must come during these years, taxes the vitality of even the strongest. A girl at this age often does not understand the physical change she is undergoing. She will in all probability be nervous and puzzled. She should have the benefit of good motherly advice and a long treatment of Ferrozone, which will supply new energy to bear her safely past the critical event. Ferrozone is the best remedy to take in early womanhood, because it contains so much nerve and blood nourishment. It corrects all derangements, cures bearing-down pains, nervousness, and prevents headaches. Ferrozone revitalizes young girls, gives them vim, buoyancy, strong nerves and healthy body. Every girl should use Ferrozone, and wise mothers will see that their daughters have the benefit of this health-giving tonic.

Mrs. W. E. Michel, of Richmond, writes: "I can strongly recommend Ferrozone as a good tonic for young ladies. My daughter has been taking Ferrozone for the past six months, and it has worked wonders for her. Before using Ferrozone she was anaemic and nervous and had no strength. But Ferrozone has built up her whole constitution and given her strength and vitality. Of all the tonics I ever used I don't think one of them compares with Ferrozone. It certainly brings health and strength to young girls quickly."

There is no remedy half so effective as Ferrozone. A trial soon demonstrates its merit. Get Ferrozone from your druggist today and let it build you up. Beware of fraudulent substitutes and insist on having only Ferrozone. Price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2 50. By mail, from the Ferrozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Five million dollars has been subscribed so far in England for promoting the cultivation of cotton in British colonies and Egypt. One part of the scheme is to send out a large number of overseers and experts in cotton growing to instruct the natives till they are familiar with the process.

AN END TO BILIOUS HEADACHE.—Biliousness, which is caused by excessive bile in the stomach, has a marked effect upon the nerves, and often manifests itself by severe headache. This is the most distressing headache one can have. There are headaches from cold, from fever, and from other causes, but the most excruciating of all is the bilious headache. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will cure it—cure it almost immediately. It will disappear as soon as the Pills operate. There is nothing surer in the treatment of bilious headache.

The French Committee on Automobile Traffic has made a series of experiments for the purpose of comparing the quickness with which horse vehicles and automobiles can be stopped At a speed of seven and a half miles an hour the horse vehicles can only be completely stopped at 30 feet, the motors at 10 feet. At a speed of 10 miles an hour a one-horse vehicle stopped at 40 feet, the motors at 13½ feet. At a speed of 12½ miles an hour the distance increased to 43½ feet and 16¾ feet respectively.

An epidemic of arsenic poisoning in Manchester, England, some time ago, was traced to contaminated beer, and a Government commission of investigation was appointed. After showing that the arsenic got into the beer from the impure sulphuric acid used in the manufacture of brewing sugar or glucose, the commission continued its inquiries and found that poisoning by arsenic contained in articles of common use was by no means confined to this one case.

HAD NO RIGHT TO INTERFERE

Judge Expresses His Opinion in the Brooklyn Sunday Baseball Case.

New York, April 30.—Supreme Court Justice Gaynor, at Brooklyn, today, indicated from the bench in a habeas corpus proceedings brought by Bernard J. York, a lawyer, in the habeas corpus proceedings, that he probably would decide in favor of Sunday baseball in Brooklyn in the future. York obtained a writ of habeas corpus in connection with the arrest of three baseball players and three programme sellers at Washington Park, Brooklyn, last Sunday. During the argument today, York stated that it would be his purpose to thresh out the question of the Sabbath peace as affected by Sunday baseball, whereupon Judge Gaynor said: "It is not shown here that any one's religious feelings were injured by the games already held in Brooklyn. This must be shown as complaint from persons living in the vicinity of the ball grounds."

Judge Gaynor discharged the bail which had been required from the ball players, declaring it entirely unnecessary, and paroled the men. He expressed himself vigorously against the action of the police, saying they had no business to interfere in the case.

It has been announced by President Charles H. Ebbets, of the Brooklyn Baseball Club, that the club would not attempt to play Sunday games until it was made clear that in playing games on that day it would be entirely within the statute.

SATURDAY IN THE BIG LEAGUES.

IN THE AMERICAN.

Detroit and Chicago played a tie game at Detroit, rain interfering at the end of the ninth when the score stood 3-3. Three times in as many innings Detroit had the bases full, but could not secure the much-wanted hit, which would have meant victory.

On the home grounds Washington started off like a winner, knocking Winter, of Boston, out of the box. The game, however, went to Boston.

In the Cleveland-St. Louis game at Cleveland, the home team was outplayed. Lajoie, one of the best batters in the big leagues, struck out twice with men on bases.

The Athletics bunched their hits in one inning and easily defeated New York.

THE NATIONAL.

The closest of the three National League games was between Chicago and Pittsburg, the score being 3 to 2 in favor of Chicago. Corridon pitched for Chicago, and made the hit that brought in the winning run in the ninth.

Carney was easy for New York on Saturday, and Boston's manager replaced him in the seventh. Boston lost the second game of the series.

Five double-plays were made in the Cincinnati-St. Louis game, three being credited to St. Louis The one-sided score was in favor of Cincinnati.

THE DECISION IS SIGNIFICANT

Case of Patsy Donovan Is Attracting Attention of the Baseball World.

Chicago, April 30. — The decision of the National commission in the case of Patsy Donovan, the manager and outfielder of the St. Louis National League team last season, is more significant than appears on the surface. In his petition Donovan prayed for release from reservation, holding that as the St. Louis club was in arrears in salary to him to the amount of $3,600 he was free to sign where he pleased under an article of the National League constitution, which provides that a player shall be released from reservation in case the club for whom he had been playing fails to fulfill its contract obligations to him. The Robisons answered that a note of $1,000 which had been given Donovan covered a portion of the money he claimed was owing him and that the other $2,600 was less than the amount which Donovan really lost by being ill a goodly portion of the season. The commission found that Donovan was right in his contention, and so ordered him released from reservation by St. Louis. Not only does this ruling give Donovan his freedom, but it also obligates the St. Louis club to pay him the back salary he claims, with the alternative of forfeiting the St. Louis franchise to the National League, to be done with as the latter boly chooses. Under the head of "termination of membership," which embraces section 8 of the National League's constitution,this point is made clear by a paragraph which reads: "The membership of any club may be terminated by failing to fulfill its contractural obligations." In the case of the St. Louis club, according to the rulings of the National commission, it still owes Donovan $3,600 for work done last season. Failure to pay this amount will throw the debt upon the National League, which, in turn, will seize the St. Louis franchise and dispose of it as it pleases. It is hardly to be expected that the St. Louis club will allow its franchise to be lost for so paltry a sum as $3,600; at the same time the possibility is there, and it will be interesting to note just what steps will be taken in the matter.

BIG TWIN STAKES TO BE OFFERED.

Horsemen have been notified that the management of the Grand Circuit trotting meetings in August, at Empire City and Brighton Beach tracks, contemplate offering $30,000 for a stake race for 2:15 trotters at each track. If carried out the purses will make the largest twin stake ever offered for trotters in this country. Definite announcement of the stake now awaits assurances that enough good horses are in training to guarantee a contest commensurate with the prize.

BASEBALL.

DOYLE GOES TO PHILLIES.

The Philadelphia National League Club has signed First Baseman Jack Doyle, of last year's Brooklyn team, and Outfielder Van Buren, who played with Portland, Oregon, last season.

BRESNAHAN'S ABILITY.

Two or three years ago Bresnahan was known only to Baltimore and the players of the American league as a backstop of mediocre ability who had failed as a pitcher. Only John McGraw, the astute manager of the Baltimore team, saw in the young fellow the making of the wonder of today. From the coaching of Robinson as backstop, Bresnahan developed, under McGraw's tuition, into a first baseman, second baseman, shortstop, outfielder, and today plays third base for the Giants. Last season he covered every position on the team except in the box. He led the team in batting, hitting a .352 clip. As a baserunner he is daring, original and fast.

The oven of an Imperial Oxford Range and the old-fashioned spit before an open fireplace do better roasting than any other cooking apparatus invented.

In the olden days the spit had to be kept turning to get all sides of a roast cooked. It is much the same with the ordinary cook-stove. The heat of the oven is greatest on the fire side — roasts, bread, pies, cakes, etc., have to be turned and twisted to get them cooked at all. The result is uneven, unsatisfactory cooking—good food ruined. The diffusive flue construction of the draws fresh air into the flue chamber, super-heats it and diffuses it evenly over the oven, thus heating it quickly, thoroughly and uniformly—back, front and sides are at the same equal temperature. The result is juicy, tender roasts, light, dainty pastry, evenly raised bread—successful cooking.

When you buy an Imperial Oxford Range you get the result of over sixty years' thought and experience in scientific construction of cooking apparatus.

CHANGES IN JUNIOR RULES.

At a meeting of the Western Football Association executive at Berlin several important changes were made in the junior rules in order to bring the W. F. A. rules into conformity with the O. F. L. The average weight limit was raised from 129 to 130 pounds and the 140 pound maximum weight was abolished. No restriction now on the weight of any individual player so long as the average is 130. Charging of goalkeeper was also changed. He can only be legally charged when handling the ball. The vice-president of the district has power to draw up the schedule in case clubs cannot agree, and that shall be final after approval by the president of the association. Twelve players of the Royal Intermediate Club were suspended for having accepted a money consideration of $3 75 each last year, they having acknowledged the consideration.

WARD HAS A BOUT ON.

Andy Ward, on behalf of his brother, Mike, has accepted the terms offered by the International Athletic Club, of Fort Erie, for a 20-round contest, to take place May 30, with a crack eastern lightweight, whose name, although known to the Wards, is withheld from the public out of deference to the wishes of the club people. The boys should have a strong team again this year, and make things interesting for the surrounding towns. Practice will be started as soon as the grounds are in shape.

THE RACE IN THE MAJOR LEAGUES

Few Days Bring About Several Changes in the Positions of the Clubs.

The Boston Nationals have not been making a good showing of late, dropping from fifth to seventh place. Chicago, on the other hand, has stepped up from seventh to fifth position, and Pittsburg has remained stationary in sixth. The only change in the first section is Brooklyn's jump into third place, forcing Cincinnati down a peg. The standing:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	9	2	.818
St. Louis	7	5	.583
Brookiyn	6	5	.545
Cincinnati	8	7	.533
Chicago	5	6	.455
Pittsburg	5	7	.417
Boston	4	6	.400
Philadelphia	2	8	.200

The sooner Patsy Donovan or some other good man gets in the game at Washington the better it will be for the Senators. The latter have lost ten straight games, and are so far in the rear that if they do not do something to make a showing, their existence will likely be cut short. Detroit has stepped into the first section of the American League race, squeezing out the New Yorks, which are now tied with Chicago for fifth position. Chicago has also dropped into third place to make room for the Athletics, and the Bostons still have a good lead over all. The standing:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Boston	10	2	.833
Athletics	8	4	.500
Chicago	8	6	.571
Detroit	6	6	.500
St. Louis	5	5	.500
New York	5	5	.500
Cleveland	4	6	.400
Washington	0	10	.000

CARPETBALL.

CAPTAINS PLAYED.

In a game of carpetball between the captains of the S. O. E. and the A. O. F. teams, the latter won by 31 to 25. The teams were: A. O. F., F. McMillan (captain). J. Premo, F. Woolsley, J. Carter, L. Hersel, W. Wheatcroft, H. Dyson; S. O. E., E. Wingett (captain), W. Jenkins, F. Gray, H. Gardner, J. Martyn, J. Reed, H. Powell. The referee was Mr. John Jarvis. After the game a social time was spent with music and games, and refreshments were served.

DAY ON MANY TRACKS

Getaway Day at Nashville saw some good racing. Monsieur Beaucaire won the feature, the Citizens Handicap. Outsiders and well-played horses divided the card.

The King's County Handicap was taken by Florham Queen, at the Jamaica track. It was a race in the mud.

Deutschland won the feature at St. Louis, finishing half a length ahead in the Tranquilla stakes for 3-year-olds.

The racing season opened at the Fort Worth track on Saturday. Witful won the feature, a special handicap at one mile.

The finishes at San Francisco were close and exciting. Three favorites and a second choice were successful.

TENNIS.

RULES DRAFTED.

A meeting of the Thistle Tennis Club was held on Saturday, when the rules for the season were drafted and the president and Mr. George C. Phelps were appointed a sub-committee to look after the interests of the club in connection with the league. Another meeting will be held in a couple of weeks to make arrangements in regard to the tournament

WONDERLY'S HORSE POOR ON STRETCH

Bill Curtis Could Not Do Better Than Third in Big Event at Kansas City.

Otto Wonderly, of this city, failed to do better than third with Bill Curtis, his mount in the Kansas City Derby, run at the opening of the Kansas City Jockey Club meet on Saturday. The Derby, $5,000 added, at one mile and a quarter, was the rich event of the card, and it was run on an ideal track, in ideal weather and before 20,000 spectators. J. W. Schorr's Moharib and H. H. Griffin's Bill Curtis were equal favorites in the betting. Off to a good start, Bombardier, ridden by I. Powell, assumed the lead, with Bill Curtis second and the others close up. Powell, on Bombardier, set the pace to the half mile post, a half length separating the leader from Judge, who had moved up to second place. Bill Curtis was third, a half length away, while Moharib and Military Man, running easily, trailed the others. Coming into the back stretch, Moharib and Military Man began to gain on the leaders, and Lyne on Moharib commenced to make his final effort. At the head of the stretch Bombardier dropped back beaten, and Moharib and Bill Curtis started for the wire on almost even terms, the former leading. Bill Curtis ran a disappointing race in the stretch and when he was challenged by Military Man the latter passed him with ease. Moharib, running easily, came under the wire a length in front of Military Man, who was two lengths in front of Bill Curtis.

Catarrhal Deafness May Result in Total Deafness.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED BY

CATARRHOZONE

Deafness is not so common as blindness, yet thousands are more or less afflicted by it, and their comfort seriously interfered with.

Catarrhal deafness manifests itself but slowly, yet it must be acknowledged that the great majority of those who become totally deaf might have averted this unfortunate condition if they had treated the catarrhal inflammation at its beginning.

The only remedy that can be safely employed for all forms of catarrhal deafness is Catarrhozone. You simply charge the air you breathe with this healing, soothing agent, and by forcing it gently through the ears destroy the germ life which keeps up the inflammation, and at the same time by its soothing, healing action it heals the inflamed surfaces of the middle ear.

CATARRHOZONE, to those who are just a little deaf, and are growing increasingly deaf, is an agent capable of affording the utmost satisfaction, and its use is attended without danger, and as the treatment can be carried on at home, no person threatened with the affliction of deafness should postpone one moment in beginning its use.

From every part of the Dominion glowing accounts of the beneficial action it exerts upon catarrhal conditions of the middle ear have been sent in, and you will be resorting to the only method of cure, and the simplest method, too, if you try Catarrhozone.
