Miramichi and the North Shore, etc.

ST. JOHN'S:—There will be service in St. John's Church, Chatham, on Sunday forenoon next.

TELEGRAPH:—Next week we shall bring up our telegraphic notes and news to date. We are obliged to omit them this week.

CHATHAM AND ESCUMINAC MAIL contract is advertised in another column. Tenders are to be received at Ottawa until 29th October.

FURNITURE:—We understand that Rev. Mr. Hiltz is about to leave Derby and that his household furniture etc. will be sold on Tuesday next.

"BLACK WATCH" is received but is of too piratical a character for our columns. Besides, the writer did not send his real name to the editor.

METHODIST CHURCH;—Rev. R. A. Temple, Truro, will officiate in the Chatham Methodist Church on Sunday next, morning and evening.

THE QUADRILLE party held in the Masonic Hall, on Tuesday last, will be repeated on Monday evening next.

CROSIER:—The Most Reverend, the Metropolitan, was presented with a valuable crosier at the late meeting of the Provincial Synod at Montreal.

CORRECTION:—Through a misunderstanding, we last week reported the Jury in the Sultan insurance case as having given a verdict for Plaintiffs. It appears, however, that the verdict was for Defts.

THE "TEA," held the past week in connection with Emmanuel Church Sunday School, though gotten up in a quite impromptu manner, was exceedingly gratifying in all respects. The amount of money realized was nearly $100.

THOMAS BARKER, ESQ., late of the Barker House, Fredericton, died last week. He was quite a young man. Much sympathy is felt for his widow who is so favorably known to all who have made "the Barker" their home while at the Provincial Capital.

RIFLE COMPETITION:—Our marksmen will, no doubt, assemble in good force today at the Range, Wellington Road, where the Annual County Matches are to come off. The preparations for the occasion have been made by the committee appointed for the purpose, and are so complete as to admit of little if any delay in the commencement of the day's work. Firing is to begin at 9 a. m. sharp in the first Match.

PIANO SALE:—Mrs. E. Williston of Chatham, having a very fine piano of which she wishes to dispose, has determined to do so by a drawing at Temperance Hall, Chatham, on 2nd October as advertised in to-day's ADVANCE. The drawing will be conducted by a committee to be chosen by the ticket-holders present on the evening named, and in such manner as they may determine. We may say that we have every reason to believe that everything in connection with the disposition of this fine instrument will be done fairly.

THE BARK "SAGA."—On Friday, 17th, the Surveyors, Capt. J. J. Brown, T. F. Gillespie, Portwarden, and J. C. E. Carmichael, Government Surveyor of Shipping, visited the barque Saga, 455 tons, from Liverpool, with salt, iron, tin etc, which went ashore on Escuminac Reef on the morning of the 15th, and now lies full of water about a mile N. E. by E. from Escuminac Light in 9 feet water. The Surveyors recommended that the vessel and cargo be sold for the benefit of Underwriters and all concerned. The sale is, accordingly, advertised to take place tomorrow at the Union wharf, Chatham, as will be seen by reference to our advertising columns.

"INSTINCT and intelligence, as exhibited in Lower Animal Life" is the subject of a lecture to be delivered by Rev. R. Alder Temple, in Temperance Hall, Chatham, on Monday evening next. We understand that the subject will be treated under such heads as—Instincts displayed in the Construction of Habitations, Migration, Attack and Defence, Providing for future necessities, Intelligence manifested in their capabilities of Tuition, Learning from experience, Mutual communication, Imitation, Adapting their operations to varying and unforeseen circumstances, their Strong Passions, Love and Hatred, Fidelity, Instinct and Reason. The lecture will be illustrated by interesting and amusing anecdotes and incidents. A silver collection will be taken up at the close.

MISS MARY C. SALTER, of Newcastle (Mir.), has probably one of the largest and most interesting collections of pets to be found in the Province. Her little "family" includes 19 canaries, 3 American gold finches, 3 doves, 2 robins and 1 apple bird. A neighbor's parrot has recently taken such a fancy to Miss Salter, that it insists on staying with her most of the time, and when she tells the bird that she is not wanted around and must go home, the knowing parrot just scratches its right ear with its claw, winks its left eye, and tells its host to "shut up." It is not a profane bird, however, as some parrots are, at least not now in its old age, whatever it may have been when young and sowing its wild oats, as it were. Miss Salter has also five squirrels, and two cats, but no two legged pets outside of the "family," except, of course, those who patronize her well managed shop, and of them "the more the merrier." St. John Sun.

TEACHER'S EXAMINATION:—The examination of Teachers for advanced licenses as provided for by Regulation 30 of the Board of Education, commenced on Tuesday morning 21st inst., in the Masonic Hall, Chatham. There are 6 candidates in attendance viz:—

W. A. Duke, Chatham, Northumberland County.

Jas. C. Carruthers, Indiantown, Northumberland County.

Christina Cameron, Chatham, Northumberland County.

Maggie McRae, Black Brook, Northumberland County.

Mary McMillan, Breadalbane, Restigouche County.

Grace Hillock, Bathurst, Gloucester County.

The examination is presided over by Mr. C. S. Ramsay of Newcastle as the Deputy of the Chief Superintendent.

PERSONAL:—The most Reverend, the Metropolitan of Canada visited the Miramichi during the past week. He was present and took part in the services in St Paul's in the forenoon and St Mary's Chatham on the evening of Sunday last.

John Rusk. Esq., collector of Customs, Richibucto, was in town on Monday.

F. K. TERRY, Esq. paid a visit to Miramichi last week, remaining until Tuesday evening. His numerous friends made during his stay here in 1874—5 in the employ of the late firm of Guy, Stewart &Co, were delighted to see him again, and regretted the shortness of his stay among them.

Hon. Wm. M. Kelly, who has so long been identified with the business and politics of the County, left Chatham this week for Toronto, preceded by most of the members of his family. It is Mr. Kelly's intention to reside, for the future, in Toronto. He held the position of Chief Commissoner of Board of Works, in the Provincial Government for nine years preceding 1878, when he resigned, and was appointed to the Legislative Council, his membership in which will not be affected by his removal. Though he took little part of late in local public affairs he will be much missed in Chatham, and while we are all sorry to part with him, we feel sure that those who have known him so long will wish him and his family all happiness and success in the new home they have sought for themselves.

OBITUARY.—The remains of Mr. James Miller, whose death occured on board the Sarmatian, at Quebec, on Saturday, were interred at Upton yesterday. The service was held in Christ Church, Rev. Mr. Robinson, of Abbottsford' and Rev. J. S. Black, of Erskine Church, Montreal, assisting Rev. Mr. Wurtele, the Rector of the parish. The church was well filled, the funeral procession being very large and all classes represented. Mr. Black took for subject of his remarks: "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his," and spoke of the high Christian character and business integrity of the deceased, enjoining those present, many of whom were young people, to strive to emulate his example. Mr. Miller was a native of Kilbride, near Glasgow, Scotland, and was engaged in business in Pictou, Ontario, afterwards carrying on a large tanning business at St. Pie, Quebec. He was the founder of the firm of Messrs. J. & J. Miller & Co., hemlock extract manufacturers, and was actively engaged in business up to the time of his death, and while diligent in business, he was very fervent in spirit and active in good works. Canada loses in him one of her most enterprising, energetic men. Montreal Gazette.

Circuit Court.

The Circuit Court met at Newcastle on Tuesday of last week, His Honor, Mr. Justice Duff presiding, Sam'l Thomson, Esq. Q. C., Newcastle, clerk.

The Grand Jury roll being called and that body duly organised it stood as follows:—

Jas Brown, Foreman.

John Fish.	A. A. Underhill.
M. Russell.	John J. Brown.
J D. Creaghan.	Robt. Tweedie.
A. H. Gillis.	Alex. McFarlan.
D. G. Smith.	Jas. Russell.
Joseph. Lyons.	C. E. McKean.
J. J. Pierce.	Thos. Lawlor.
H, P. Marquis.	Wm. Cliff.
John Ferguson.	Wm. Robinson.
M. O. Thompson.	Thos. Dempsey.

In addressing the Grand Jury, His Honor informed them, that although he was glad to say there was no criminal business for their consideration and they might be discharged at once, if they so desired, yet it was their duty and privilege to present to the notice of the Court any matter affecting the interests of the County, which they thought required attention, and should they make any such presentment the Court would be glad to receive and consider it. The Jury having retired, attended by constable Loggie, returned and reported that they had nothing to present, whereupon, at the request of the foreman they were discharged.

The docket being made up, it stood as follows:—

Richard Hutchison vs. Edward Sinclair, A. A. Davidson Pliffs. Attorney.

The R. Catholic Bishop of Chatham vs. the Western Assurance Company, R. F. Quigley Pliffs. Attorney.

R. R. Call, Wm. Muirhead jr. and John Sadler vs. Union Insurance Co., L. J, Tweedie Pliffs. Attorney.

R. R. Call, Wm. Muirhead jr. and John Sadler vs. Providence Western Insurance Co. of Providence, R. I., L. J. Tweedie Pliffs. Attorney.

Jas. Robinson vs. Scott Fairley, E. P. Williston Pliffs. Attorney.

Thos. Dickens and John Loban vs. J. B. Snowball, L. J. Tweedie Pliffs. Attorney.

John McDonald, Mary McDonald vs. Neil McDougall, A. H. Johnson, Pliffs. Attorney.

James Robinson vs. Charles C. Watt, Adams and Lawler Pliffs. Attorney.

The case of John Rundle vs. C. C. Watt was brought before His Honor at Chambers in the morning, on application of the plaintiff for postponement until March term, and the postponement was granted, W. A. Park for Plaintiff, A. A. Davidson for Deft.

Among the members of the bar present were S. R. Thompson, Q.C., C.W. Weldon, Q.C., F.E. Barker, Q.C., William Wilkinson Q.C., A. A. Davidson, Q.C., M. Adams, C. A. Palmer, W. A. Park, R. F. Quigley, A. H. Johnson, E. P. Williston, R. A. Lawlor.

His Honor was anxious to proceed to business, but was obliged to adjourn the court until afternoon, as Counsel were not ready to go on with any one case on the docket.

In the afternoon the case of R. R. Call, Wm. Muirhead, jr., and John Sadler vs Union Insurance Co., was moved for trial by L. J. Tweedie Esq., Messrs. Tweedie and S. R. Thompson for Plaintiffs, Messrs. C. W. Weldon and Chas. Palmer for Defendants. This was an action brought by Pliffs. against Defts. on a Marine Policy of insurance on tug Sultan for a voyage from Chatham, N. B., to Crapeaud, P. E. I., thence to Pictou, N. S., thence to Wallace, N. S., thence to River John, N. S., and back to Chatham, or if necessary from Chatham, N.B. to Wallace, thence to River John, thence to Crapeaud, P. E. I., thence to Pictou and back to Chatham, N. B., for $2000, tug valued at $8,000, dated 1st Nov. 1879, on account of R. R. Call and others whom it might concern. Defendants admitted the policy and that the Pliffs. were owners. The captain and crew proved that through stress of weather they were driven into Charlottetown, and had also gone into Summerside and on the way back from Charlottetown the tug was lost in a snow storm The Defts. Counsel moved for a nonsuit on the ground of deviation, for calling at Summerside and Charlottetown and for not calling at Wallace, N. S. His Honor concurred in the view taken of the case by Defts. Counsel and nonsuited the Plaintiff on the grounds of deviation, at the same time, the Defts. Counsel consented that if the Court above were opposed to the views of His Honor, a verdict should be entered up for the Plaintiffs for the $2,000 and interest thereon from 20th January, 1880. The Plaintiffs refused to be nonsuited, and the case went to the jury who found for the Defts. under the direction of the learned Judge.

Same vs. Providence Western Insurance Co., being essentially like the above case, the Record was withdrawn.

Robinson vs. Fairley was moved for trial by Mr. Weldon, Messrs. Weldon and Williston for Pliff., and Messrs Davidson and S. R. Thompson for Defts. This was an action for work and labor and service performed in consequence, of a drift of logs last August. Pliff. proved the contract which Deft. denied. Six of the Jury brought in a verdict for Pliff. for $1,022.87 being full amount claimed by Pliff.

[The case of the Roman Catholic Bishop of Chatham vs. the Western Insurance Co. was still before the Court when our reporter's notes were sent to us.]

We have a telegram just as we go to press announcing that His Lordship has been given a verdict by the Jury for five thousand dollars—the full amount claimed—and lawful interest, which will make the whole amount about $5,750. The verdict was in accordance with His Honor's charge and reflects credit on the Court and Jury. We shall give a full report of the case next week.

H. M. S. Blanche at Shippagan.

A correspondent writing on 18th inst. from Shippagan says:—

"The quiet Port of Shippagan was quite excited over the arrival of Her Majesty's Ship Blanche and the landing on Saturday, Sept. 18th, about 10 a. m. of Her Commander, Charles J. F. Knowles R. N. All the bunting the place boasts of was displayed in honour of the visit, Commander Knowles called at the Montreal, Co's. Telegraph Office, which is also the Post Office (the residence of Mr. Thomas Hamon—a Jerseyman) both offices being in charge of Mrs. Hamon, where he made quite a stay, making minute inquiries about the place, people fishing resources farming, etc. etc. and then left to make a further examination of the place, calling on the Rev. Mr. Trudelle, the Parish Priest. He again returned to the residence of Mr. Hamon, where, contrary to being entertained by the elite of the place, as we usually read of on such occasions, the honour was reserved to one of the humblest residents, of a captain of one of H. M. Ships sitting down to a most frugal table sans ceremonie. He declined being served alone by the Hostess preferring to sit down en famille. Such condescension on the part of such a gentleman is worthy of record. The distinguished visitor left about 2.30 p. m. to join his ship, when she left for the Magdalen Islands."

The Reformed Episcopal Church.

Rev. Bishop Edward Wilson, D. D., first Bishop of the Reformed Episcopal Church of Canada, visited Chatham in his Episcopal capacity last week. He is an English gentleman of culture, fine presence and impressive eloquence as a preacher. He reports the movement of the Reformed Episcopal Church as steadily advancing and consolidating its forces. He states that letters are received from all parts of the country, from persons of influence praying "for the establishment of the Episcopal Church in its old evangelical character as represented by the Reformed Episcopal Church." But the determination of this church is to move rather cautiously and surely than rapidly and uncertainly. It is purposed that its ministers be persons of high learning, ability and character, clearly knowing and deeply feeling the great importance of the points of difference between the sacerdotal and evangelical parties in the Episcopal Church, with a determination uncompromisingly to maintain the latter. The Bishop was very emphatic in his presentation of evangelical doctrine. Altogether the visitation was one of much cheer to Emmanuel Church. The present Minister of this Church just closes a year's service in connection therewith. He was from the Episcopal Church in the United States, and still speaks lovingly of it, and of happy memories therein, while, nevertheless, he unflinchingly and earnestly upholds the doctrines of the Reformed Church as those of the reformation according to the evangelical standards. The church is perfectly united and hopeful and happy. Five persons were confirmed last Lord's Day, 12th. H.

Fascination In Man.

Having frequently seen it stated in popular works on natural history as well as in some books of travels (chiefly Australian) that certain snakes possessed the power of so fascinating, with their gaze, birds and other creatures as to be able to seize upon and devour them without any difficulty, I am induced to inquire if such a power is peculiar to the serpent tribe or not, and incidentally to ask if any instances of its influence or extension can be traced, up the scale of creation, to man himself. Being of opinion that such is the case, while it has occured to me that many of the fatal accidents that occur in the streets of large cities, such as London, &c., might be ascribed to some such agency or sensation, I am induced to call attention to the circumstances in these pages, and to submit the following as my own personal contributions toward the inquiry: Describing certain incidents of the siege of Gibraltar, Drinkwater says ["History," page 75'] that "on the 9th Lieut. Low * * * lost his leg by a shot on the slope of the hill under the castle," and the italics are mine throughout. "He saw the shot before the fatal effect, but was fascinated to the spot. This sudden arrest of the faculties was not uncommon. Several instances occured to my own observation where men totally free have had their senses so engaged by a shell in its descent, that, though sensible of their danger, even so far as to cry for assistance, they have been immediately fixed to the place. But what is more remarkable, these men have so instantaneously recovered themselves on its fall to the ground as to remove to a place of safety before the shell burst." Alluding to the first casualty that occured at Cawnpore during the seige of the entrenchment there in 1857, Mowbray Thompson says ("The story of Cawnpore, "page 66) that "several of us saw the ball bounding towards us' and he (McGuire) evidently saw it, but, like many others whom I saw fall at different times, he seemed fascinated to the spot," and an old and now deceased departmental friend who went through the whole Crimean campaign, assured me that he was once transfixed (fascinated, as he called it), after this fashion in the presence of a shell that he saw issuing from Sebastopol, and whose every gyration in the air he could count. Other military friends have discussed the point with me in this same wise, and I think there is some allusion to it in one or other of the works of Larry, Guthrie, Ballingall; or others of that ilk.—Nature

The Annapolis Murder.

[Annapolis Journal.]

On Saturday evening two magistrates were seen walking up toward the Court House with rolls of paper in their hands, when it became rumored about that a preliminary trial was to be held. The house was soon crowded. As the preparation went on, persons began to climb to the highest place for observation. The reserved seats on the platform, the Judges' chair and desk, became resting places for eager listeners and observers. The scene might well attract the population. It was one which the world seldom even dreams of in the wildest books of fiction; one which Annapolis, perhaps Nova Scotia, will never see repeated,—which, we hope, in mercy to humanity, never, never can be! First came, in charge of a constable, a woman wrapped head and shoulders in a loose shawl. Her face, all that was visible of the woman, indicated a shade of refinement even, much self-control and powers of shrewd observation. Then, by a side door, the man Thibault entered and was directed to the witness box, where he was told to stand, followed by the Deputy Sheriff. By this time the crowd was surging in all directions, scarcely disposed to submit to the Sheriff's cry of "SILENCE!" But the worst was yet to come. Midway through the trial of the first witness, a group of men entered the door carrying a rough deal or board box, containing the charred remains of Charlotte Hill; the crowd were mostly in the secret, but the prisoner seemed more restless as the mystery proceeded, till, apprehending the fact seemingly, a very perceptible change came over his countenance; his eyes, always quick and moving, were now glancing in all directions.

The first witness, Mrs. Addie Scott, was more than ordinary cautious and hesitating; yet it was soon seen that it was more a disposition to be sure of the truth than any want of either common sense or feeling, which affected her. She was a fair-skinned and not uncomely witness, in contrast with the swarthy man whom she came to confront. Her evidence was, each sentence, like driving nails of steel into the prisoner's chances, and each cautious answer to repeating questions, was a blow to rivet them home. It is never fair to prejudge a prisoner, but in this instance the trouble is to find a loop hole for retreat from a network of evidence which gathers stringency and strength at every step. Mrs. Scott is said to have been, at one time, subject to mental aberration; there is nothing of the kind apparent now, however.

At a signal from the court, the rough box was brought forward immediately in front of the prisoner's seat. Once or twice before this, when, for instance, a witness came to describe the absence of Thibault and the girl as having been simultaneous, and the question was asked "where was Joseph Thibault at this time?" a visible shudder passed over the strong man's frame; but now, as the dreadful box approached, he rose quickly, and seemed to wish for some way to escape. Mrs. Scott stood by the ghastly objects, confirming previous statements, by pointing out a defect in the shoe, and the peculiarity of the comb, etc., her hand, covered with her shawl, meanwhile clasping her mouth and nostrils. Thibault was standing now over the half-burnt corpse, the horrible work of his own or some other's hands, brought home to him in judgment. Some one asked him to touch the body—that miserable supposition which modern men should be ashamed to call back from the oblivion of dark ages—and he stooped down without any hesitation, laying his hand on the deformed face of the murdered girl. The lamps at this moment flickered for want of oil, and the ghostly dimness helped to produce a sepulchral scene which no powers of the most ingenious dramatist could have equalled, and of which there is scarcely a counterpart in Shakspeare or Dante. Those two hours came to an end, as must come to an end all seasons of misery as well as joy, in this world; the box was removed, to be buried on the morrow the crowd went home to talk and dream of horrible things; and the prisoner to his cell, which must now be darker and damper than ever. A quiet beautifnl Sunday dawned on the village which had in its little precincts so much of the elements of tragedy and tears.
