Julius, was you ever in business?
In course I was,
What business?
A sugar planter.
When was that, my colored friend?
Der day I berried that old sweetheart of mine!

A party of ladies were, the other day, discussing the question of the draft, when a young lad, somewhat ignorant of what a cartridge is, inqured the reason why men were exempt who had lost their teeth?

Because they couldn't bite the end of a cartridge.

Then, replied the questioner, demurely, why don't they soak 'em in their coffee?

Said Dinah to Sambo, as they were taking a loving promenade,

Sambo, what your 'pinion 'bout de married life? think it the most happiest?

Well, I'll tell you, dat are 'pends altogether how dey enjoy themselves.

A large school girl, not distinguished for scholarship, having spelt the word cuticle, was asked what it meant.

Don't know, sir, said she.

What is this all over my face and hands, asked the teacher.

Freckles, sir.

Pray, said Mr. —— to the Hon. —— will you have the complaisance to take my great coat in your carriage into town?

With pleasure; but how will you get it again?

O, very easily, replied the modest applicant; I shall remain in it.

Sambo, why am a chimney-sweep de happiest man alive?

Kaze—kaze he knows de joys of the fireside.

No. try ag'in Sambo.

Kaze none ob the ladies, rich or poor, can do without him.

No, try ag'in.

'Dar, dar! I gib him up.

'Well, because he is always well sooted [suited.]

"I think I now see a new *fee*ture in this case," as the lawyer said, when his client informed him that he had plenty of money.

Don't save your bad sixpences to put them on the plate, and give your bad coppers to the poor. It ain't right.

A wag passing by a retailer's shop, and seeing him measuring out molasses, called out to him, "Sir, you have a sweet run of business."

Dr. Johnson compared plaintiff and defendent in an action at law, to two men ducking their heads in a bucket, and daring each other to remain longest under water.

The Louisville Journal suggests that if dealers would double their dealing let them advertise and thus become, in a worthy sense, double dealers.

Life is a constant struggle for rich, which we soon leave behind. They seem given us as the nurse gives a play-thing to a child, to amuse it until it fals asleep.

There are between eleven and twelve millions of the inhabitants of France whose poverty is such that they are unable to taste butcher's meat from one year's end to another. Shakespeare says imagination may trace the noble dust of a hero till it finds it stopping a bung-hole. Well, heroes may very well stop bung-holes after death, for some of them unstop a good many in life.

A man purchased a very fine horse. Returning from a ride a few days afterwards, he said he had discovered a quality in his animal which added a few dollars to his value—he shied at a lawyer.

The Great Barrington Courier, referring to Tupper's line, "A babe in the house is a well spring of pleasure," says "if it is we prefer to get water from the pump."

Eat, digest; read, remember; earn, save; love, and be loved. If these four rules be strictly followed, health, wealth, intelligence, and true happiness will be the result.

The true test of the purity of our feeling is whether we are rejoiced to see another receive greater approbation than ourselves for a better thing than ours.

Lord Kenyon's housekeeping was not liberal, nor his temper good, and, Jekyll summed up both facts by saying, "It is Lent all the year round in his kitchen, and Passion Week in his parlor."

"Ah, Jemmy," said a sympathizing friend to man who was just too late for the train, "you did not run fast enough." "Yes, I did," said Jemmy, "I ran fast enough, but I did not start soon enough."

A man sitting on the verandah of an up country inn, hailed one of the "oldest inhabitants" and inquired the denomination of the church upon the opposite side of the road. The reply was—"Well, she was a hard shell Baptist naturally, but they don't run her on this Prince having in a dream seen Pat, one loan, the third blind, and the second Bohemian gipsey, and damnation.

Said the sorceress, "is your prince mum—or can rat your people, and the blind rat yourself."

Miss Nightingale, whose continued delicate state of health caused her many friends much uneasiness, has expressed her intention of training, at the expense of her fund, recommended persons to serve in Constantinople.

Washington Irving relates that Abdallah, the father of Mahomet, the Prophet, was so beautiful, that "no less than two hundred Arab maidens died of a broken heart the night he was married to Amina." How fortunate for the young ladies that we have no such beauties at the present day!

A little Hoosier boy of five years asked his mother if God really heard his prayer. "Yes, my son," she replied, "God always hears our prayers." "Well," said the mischievous urchin, "I think He must be disgusted with mine, for he has heard the same old prayer ever since I could talk."

Quilp is a great admirer of children, and says he likes them crying ones best! A matron, with a baby in her arms, smiled at his odd fancy, and asked him the reason of it.—"Why, you see, madam," said Quilp, "I have observed that in well-ordered families, as soon as a child cries, they carry him out of the room."

Squire Jack was a cabinet maker and undertaker, known far and wide as a master workman. One day a couple came to his office to get married. The man's face was familiar to the 'squire, and he objected him off in this wise: "Begone, you scoundrel! You haven't paid me for your first wife's coffin!"

WOMAN'S ADVANTAGES.

A woman says what she pleases without being in-sisted down for saying it.

She can take a snoose after dinner while her husband goes to his business.

She can go into the street without being asked to stand treat at every station.

She can paint her face if it be too pale and powder it if it be too red.

She can stay at home in time of war, and get married again if her husband is killed.

She can wear corsets if too thick—other fazens if too thin.

She can get divorced from her husband whenever she sees one that she likes better.

She can get her husband in debt all over until he warns the public not to trust her on his account.

These are the advantages woman has.

FAMINE IN HUNGARY.—The state of Hungary continues frightful beyond description. Famine has reached a stage where the people are waiting for death listlessly, and without an attempt at escape.

COAL FOR CANADA.—The New York Herald says, a new railroad is to be constructed from Mount Morris, Livingston County, New York, to the coal mines in McKean County, Pennsylvania. The road will pass through Alleghany County almost direct south and when completed coal can be taken to Rochester and to the lake shore for shipment to Canada, at a great reduction in in freight charges.

FLAG-STONES.—An unlimited quantity of superior flag-stones, suitable for street pavements, &c., is said to have been discovered in the township of Cleveland, C. E., near the line of the Grand Trunk Railway.

A New Kind of Incumbrance.

A queer little scene came off yesterday before Alderman Beitier. A Mr. H. Jones called on the Justice for the purpose of entering bail for a friend charged with misdemeanor. The following dialogue ensued:—

Got any real estate, Mr. Jones.

Yes sir, two lots.

What are they worth.

Fifteen hundred dollars.

Are they encumbered?

Yes sir.

To how great an extent.

Two thousand dollars.

How can that be? How can lots worth but fifteenhundred dollars be incumbered to the extent of two thousand? Who holds the mortgage?

What mortgage?

Why, the mortgage for two thousand dollars.

Who said anything about a mortgage for two thousand dollars?

Why, you did.

Me? Never. I never gave a mortgage in my life?

How can you say that? Did you not just now swear that the incumbrance on your lots mounted to that sum.

Of course I did, and say so yet.

And yet you have given no mortgage.

No, sir'ee.

How then is the property incumbered?

How! Why by a three story brick house, put up last year by Dick Dobson.

A grin all round. Justice Beitier smiled at the man's simplicity, and took the bail as a matter of course. If we mistake not, this is the first case on record, where a three story brick building has been considered an incumbrance.

ILLEGITIMACY IN ENGLAND.—It appears from a Parliamentary Return just issued that the total number of illegitimate children born in the workhouses in England and Wales was 7,077 in 1860; 8,020 in 1861 and 8,115 in 1862.

THE VICTORIA WASHING MACHINE!

Obtained the FIRST PRIZE at the Provincial Exhibition in London, in 1861.

THIS LABOUR-SAVING MACHINE

WAS tested by the Bureau of Agreculture, and declared to be the best yet brought under their notice. It is simple in construction, easily worked, and not subject to get out of repair.

The cleansing process is effected by the rapid action of the water in the Machine, and not by friction or rubbing, thereby avoiding the slight injury to the finest fabrics, with a much less quantity of soap than under the hand-washing system. Persons who have used them are satisfied that the machine is capable of doing as much work in two hours as can be accomplished in a day by the ordinary process, thus

Saving 4-5 of the time and Labour

And two-thirds of the Soap generally used.

The undermentioned persons purchased Machines, and having given them a full trial express their satisfaction:

J. J. Wright, Huron Hotel; Isaac Frederick, Jeweller; W. H. Cox, Signal Office; Alex. Nasmyth; H. Horton, Esq.; Peter Nolan; D. Cummings; John Gibbons, Esq. Warden; Peter Gillies; R. Hutchinson, Esq.; Rev. Chas. Fletcher. Many other names might be added, if necessary.

CASH PRICE ONLY $6.50.

The Subscriber having purchased the Patent Rights for the County of Huron, is now prepared to supply the machine, of which he solicits a trial, feeling assured that all who test it will be pleased with the rapidity and ease with which any other household article of laborious wash is performed.—Ladies will confer a favor by allowing the machine to be tested at their residence, to which it will be conveyed by the proprietor, and removed again should it not be purchased. All the subscriber desires is that the merits of the Machine should be thoroughly tested. Parties wishing to try it will communicate with the Proprietor.
