DR. MENZIES, FORMER AILSA CRAIG CITIZEN, MURDERED IN CHINA

Missionary Sent Out From Toronto Reported To Be Victim of Robbers.

Toronto, March 25.—Rev. James R. Menzies, M.D., D.D., a Presbyterian missionary from Toronto, is reported to have been killed by robbers at Swaitingseu, province of Szechwan, China, according to cabled advices received here yesterday. No direct word of the tragedy has been received by Presbyterian missionary headquarters here, and there is a growing hope that some mistake has been made, and that Dr. Menzies is still safe and sound.

Presbyterian officials cannot understand how Dr. Menzies could have been at Swaitingseu, a district looked after by the Methodist Church of Canada. He was stationed at Hwaiching Fu, in North Honan, which is upwards of 1,000 miles distant from the scene of the reported murder.

Dr. Menzies' wife and family reside at 32 Hampton avenue, Toronto. Until two years ago, Mrs. Menzies was in Honan with her husband. When her health broke down she came back to Toronto.

Born in Ailsa Craig.

James R. Menzies was born in Ailsa Craig, Ontario, and was a brother of Rev. George Menzies, M.D., who died at Mhow, Central India, in 1903. In 1895 he was graduated in medicine from Trinity University, and in theology from Knox College.

Almost immediately after graduation he left with his bride for Honan, China, as a medical missionary, and has been there practically ever since. Dr. Menzies was the builder and architect of a flourishing mission, and was in China throughout the Boxer troubles.

Dr. Menzies is one of the best-known of missionaries who have gone from Toronto. He was sent out by Bloor Street Presbyterian Church, and throughout his long years of service has been supported by the Bloor Street congregation. In April, 1918, Knox College conferred on him in absentia the degree of doctor of divinity. He was one of the Canadian delegates to the World's Missionary Convention, held in Edinburgh in 1910.

GIVE STOMACH WHAT IT NEEDS

The Alkaline Effect of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Usually Corrects the Stomach Faults That Provoke Attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

To sit back after a good meal and know there is not going to be sour risings, gas, drowsiness and discomfort is the logical result of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets immediately after eating. Most people believe they can trace each attack of indigestion to the something they ate and can still "taste." And it surprises them, invariably, to note how quickly relief comes after using one or two of these tablets. Whether it is highly seasoned food, rich pastry, the heavy hearty foods or some one particular offender the relief comes just the same. Those who are susceptible to attacks of indigestion or dyspepsia should try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as they supply the stomach with an alkaline effect just as it does naturally when it is working in a perfectly healthy condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are so widely known and used that you can get them in any drug store in the United States and Canada at 50 cents a box.

15,000 MEN'S SUITS FROM ENGLAND TO BE SOLD AT $18 EACH

Chicago, March 25.—Fifteen thousand suits of men's clothing, originally intended for sale by the British Government for its demobilized soldiers were purchased here, when representatives of the 22 work councils of the International Harvester Company met with Harvester officials. The suits will be delivered in about six weeks, and will cost the individual purchaser about $18 each. It was estimated that suits of like quality would cost about $30 in the domestic market.

The clothing was manufactured in England.

SPOTS ON SUN CAUSE AURORA, EXPERT HOLDS

Prof. E. E. Barnard Ascribes Monday's Display To Magnetic Storms.

MOON IS LIFELESS

Eminent Astronomer Says That Orb's Night Temperature Hundreds "Below."

Toronto, March 25.—That the vivid Aurora Borealis witnessed on Monday night was undoubtedly caused by disturbances on the sun was the opinion expressed by Prof. Edward E. Barnard of the Yerkes Observatory, in an interview yesterday. Mr. Barnard is one of the greatest—if not the greatest—authorities on astronomy, and has practically placed the science of stellar photography in the position it occupies today.

"Magnetic storms" on the sun's surface, "or what we know as sun spots," said the professor, "produce similar disturbances in the atmosphere of the earth, and are responsible for the aurora phenomenon witnessed a few nights ago. It has been found," he continued, "that these solar disturbances are coincident with the occurrence of the aurora to individual spots on the sun, as some have been doing, is entirely wrong," Prof. Barnard said. "All that we know at present," he added, "is that the disturbed condition of the sun's magnetism is responsible for the production of the phenomenon, and though some two weeks ago there was a large spot on the sun, it cannot be said that that one spot caused the beautiful display witnessed on Monday night."

No Life on Moon.

Questioned on the recent statement made by Prof. W. H. Pickering, who is in charge of the station of Harvard University in Jamaica, that he saw no reason why there should not be some kind of life on the moon, Prof. Barnard could not agree with this. "Life as we know it," he said, "or could conceive it, could not exist there, where there is no atmosphere, and where the temperature during the day may be 300 Fahrenheit, and at night several hundred degrees below zero." "What are possibilities of Mrs being inhabited?" was asked. "It is a mere matter of speculation," replied the professor, "to say that the planet is inhabited. It goes through certain seasonal changes, but its atmosphere is very thin." While he would not say that it was impossible for life to exist on Mars, Mr. Barnard thought it was extremely doubtful.

That there must be other worlds that can support life, however, is an opinion strongly held by Prof. Barnard.

Need Observatory Here.

"I truly believe," he said, "that there must be worlds surrounding those suns in the immensities of space that are capable of supporting life, and sustain, may be, a higher order of intelligent beings than that which we know of here. There is no reason that I can see," he added, "why the earth should have the most intelligent order of beings in the universe."

It is the opinion of Prof. Barnard that if people only knew a little more of the simple facts of astronomy they might be saved considerable anxiety and have more peace of mind in the face of such statements as that made by Prof. Porta of the University of Costa Rica that the world would come to an end on December 17 of last year. Many letters, he said, had been received at Chicago University from people who were anxious to know if such a calamity was going to come to pass. "What you want in Toronto," the professor concluded, "is an observatory that will be especially useful to citizens, where they can come and hear lectures on astronomy, and be given an opportunity, with the aid of a good telescope, of learning, to their delight and edification, some of the wonders of the stellar universe."

HAY AGAIN EASIER ON MARKET SQUARE

Dropped $1 Per Ton—Hogs and Potatoes Also Easier.

Hay is again easing up, and is selling at $26 and $27 today on the local market. Hogs, both dressed and alive, are dropping slightly, going at $25 to $26 and $18.50 respectively. Potatoes are taking a firm stand, although they have dropped to $4.40 and $4.75 per bag.

Dairy produce and eggs remain steady. The supply is good, but sales are slow. Hay is plentiful with an easing up in the demand. Oats are still scarce and firm.

A few apples are being offered, but they are of a poor quality, for which high prices are asked.

GRAIN.

Chicago, March 25.—Opening: Corn—May, $1 56½; July, $1 50¼.

Oats—May, 87⅛c; July, 79¾c.

Winnipeg, March 25.—May oats opened ⅛c to ¼c lower at 99⅝@99½c, and ¼c down for July at 99⅞c.

Barley opened ⅝c lower for May at $1 56½, and 1c down for July at $1 51.

May flax opened 5c lower at $5 35, and July 11c lower at $5 08.

Rye 1¼c lower for May at $1 91.

Chicago, March 25.—Upturns in the price of corn today resulted from the statements of the federal district attorney here, which were construed as indicating that so far no basis for any prosecution of grain traders had been found. Advances, however, brought about increased selling, and led to a reaction. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to ¾c off, were followed by material gains all around, and then by a moderate setback.

Oats were governed by the action of corn.

PROVISIONS.

Chicago, March 25.—Provisions declined owing to lower quotations on hogs. Grain strength failed to act as an offset.

WALL STREET.

New York, March 25—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—The stock market reflected at the opening of today's session some of the restraint imposed by yesterday's flurry in call money. For the most part changes were fractional and irregular, but General Motors gave promise of repeating its recent sensational movement at an early gain of 9 points. Some of the other motor shares and allied specialties were strong, also oils, while Crucible Steel and Baldwin Locomotive featured the firmer steels and equipments. A small lot of Standard Oil of New Jersey, which made its first appearance on the exchange, sold at 850, 3 points over yesterday's closing price on the curb.

Noon.—Trading became more unsteady with the progress of the session owing to persistent pressure against favorites. General Motors reacted 10 points in the first hour, and this was later extended to 15 points. Reversal among related shares, also equipments, steels and the more representative industrials, ranged from 3 to 7 points. One stock stood out in the general setback, Stutz Motors rising 24 points to the new record of 272. Call loans opened at 9 per cent, but heavy buying of oils and the strength of foreign exchange were factors in the rally before noon.

ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO CORNER CORN MARKET BEING INVESTIGATED

Chicago, March 25.—An alleged attempt to "corner" the corn market is being investigated today. Julius Barnes, head of the United States Grain Corporation, is to be questioned regarding recent grain sales and movements.

The investigation is the result of reports that the corporation had been used by speculators in an effort to "rig" the market. No evidence of illegal market manipulation sufficient to warrant prosecution has been found, according to Charles F. Cline, federal district attorney.

Market experts maintain the present high prices and scarcity of corn are due to natural causes.
