front of the enemy's parapet by a h twelve feet wide. Both officers end the ditch, which was shoulder high h water, and found the bottom en-gled with barbed wire. Efforts were de to overcome this obstacle but with-success.

he German trenches were then bomded from positions close to the ditch, sing casualties among the enemy.
e party returned safely to our nches.

The 7th Battalion party, consist-g of brigade bombers under Cap-in C. T. Costigan, riflemen under Lieutenant Wrightson and Lieuten-nt MacIlray, reached the enemy's arapet unobserved, under cover of a eavy rainstorm, and entered his renches. A telephone was carried vith the party, and touch was mainained throughout with Lieutenant Colonel Odlum, in our front trenches.

The party bombed its way down German trenches and communicating renches. Many Germans were bay-netted or killed by bombs in their lugouts. Twelve prisoners were aken.

This objective having been achiev-d, our party was then recalled by prearranged signals, and returned to its trenches with its prisoners. Our casualties were one accidentally killed and one wounded.

During the above operation our artily prevented the enemy in adjoining nches from rendering assistance at the int of attack. On the return of our rty, our artillery shelled heavily the rman front line trenches and all roads, cks and communicating trenches along hich reinforcements might be sent.

Retaliation by the enemy's artillery s weak. The prisoners taken afforded eful information as to the composition the forces opposing us. In anticipa-n of an attack the enemy had manned trenches, thereby affording our party exceptional opportunity for taking isoners, and inflicting losses.

Field Marshal Sir John French sent a essage congratulating our troops on e success of this enterprise.

The health and spirits of our troops main excellent.

The incident recorded above was given place of honor in an official despatch om Sir John French himself to the ar office on Thursday evening last, blished in The Telegraph of Friday, follows:

"A successful enterprise was carried out by a small party of our troops the night of Nov. 16-17, with a loss of one man killed and one wounded, just north of the River Donavo, southwest of Messines. They forced an entrance into the enemy's front trenches, after bayonetting thirty of the occupants. The party returned with the loss of one man killed and one slightly wounded, and bringing with them 12 German prisoners. This is the incident which the enemy reports as the repulse of a surprise attack on the Messines-Armentiere road."

By reference to a map the exact hereabouts of the Canadian Army orps, including the 26th battalion, can us be determined.

What of the Price?

(By Basil Hood.)

What of the work, Hohenzollern?
Fury of fire and of sword:
Murder and rapine and lust—
"Vengeance is Mine," saith the Lord.

What of the end, Hohenzollern?
What of the worker's reward?
In Christ or Kultur will you trust?
"I will repay," saith the Lord.

All-Highest, Emperor, Braggart,
Think of the withering gourd
Cast on the ashes and dust—
"Vengeance is Mine," saith the Lord.

Instruments hath He in plenty!
Multitudes cry in accord
Humble his House in the dust:
Cursed be he and his horde—

Butchers, defilers of women—
God! let Thy wrath be outpour'd!
Grant the atonement be just!
"Vengeance is Mine," saith the Lord.

What of the price, Hohenzollern?
What of the fire and the sword?
What of the work and the payment?
"I will repay," saith the Lord.

WHO WILL ACCEPT THIS OFFER?

To the Editor of The Telegraph:

Sir,—I am not one of those who can go to the front; but I can do things at home to help those who can go, to go. I, therefore, offer to take the work of any commercial traveler whose work lies anywhere east of Montreal, and if the man is a married man I promise to pay out of my earnings, to his family, ten per cent of all above expenses. I also promise to do all in my power to give satisfaction to all concerned. I am now engaged in similar work during the months of December and January. After this engagement is filled I will be prepared to take up the new work, the place to be given back as soon as the man returns. A letter addressed to "A. B." in care of the editor of The Telegraph will find me.

Hoping somebody may take advantage of this offer, I am,

London, Nov. 22—The Globe, which was suppressed by the police on November six, for insisting War Secretary Kitchener had resigned, notwithstanding the warning of the official press bureau, resumed publication today. It contains correspondence between the proprietors of the newspaper and governmental authorities concerning the suspension, closing with an apology from the Globe and withdrawal of its "regrettable" misstatement."

NINETEEN ENLIST AT FREDERICTON

Fredericton, Nov. 19—Nineteen volunteers enrolled for the 104th at the big recruiting rally held at the city Opera House here tonight. Others are expected to enroll tomorrow. The demonstration was the most enthusiastic held in the city during the war and is bound to produce great results.

Lieut.-Col. George W. Fowler, officer commanding the 104th Battalion, was the speaker of the evening. He arrived here by C. P. R. tonight, attended by Lieut. H. P. Davies, adjutant of his battalion, and by Lieut. J. C. Hanson, Lieut. G. A. Price and Capt. Lawrence. At the station his party was met by a delegation which welcomed him. On his way to the Opera House he was escorted by the 36th Field Battery, headed by the Fredericton Brass Band.

The audience at the Opera House more than filled the auditorium. Mayor Mitchell was the chairman and introduced the speakers. During the evening Miss Margaret Lynds, of the Normal school staff, gave patriotic readings and the Fredericton Brass Band played selections.

The speakers were Major P. A. Guthrie, of 104th Battalion; Capt. the Rev. Father Lockary, chaplain of the 36th Field Battery, and Col. Fowler, who spoke in the order named. The call for volunteers was made after the speaking and evoked great scenes of enthusiasm. As the young men came forward the ladies in the audience sang Tipperary, We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall, and Tramp, Tramp, Tramp the Boys Are Marching.

PRESENTATION TO JEMSEG RECRUIT

Upper Jemseg, Nov. 19—A surprise party was held at the home of C. M. Colwell on Thursday evening when about fifty people of this place gathered to do honor to his son, Walter M. Colwell, who was visiting his parents for a few days and who has been serving on home defence at Halifax for some time, but has recently volunteered for overseas and is now with the siege battery at Partridge Island.

During the evening he was presented iwth a purse of $22 for a military wrist watch as a remembrance from his friends at Jemseg. Deacon J. D. Colwell made the presentation and M. C. Elgee also added a few appropriate words. The evening was spent in merry conversation, singing of patriotic songs, etc., and at the close refreshments were served by the ladies. As one of Jemseg's popular boys Mr. Colwell has a large number of friends who wish him good luck and a safe return.

SEVEN VACANCIES IN THE COMMONS

Ottawa, Nov. 19—Seven constituencies of the dominion are at present unrepresented in the house of commons. These are Lisgar and Brandon, left vacant by the resignation, in order to run in the recent Manitoba campaign, of W. F. Sharpe, and Sir James Aitkins; Kings (N. S.), and Carlton (Ont.), left vacant by the enforced resignation, for participation in war scandal of A. Dewitt Foster and W. F. Garland; and Prince (P. E. I.); Hamilton (Ont.) and Restigouche (N. B.), left vacant by the deaths of J. W. Richards, Hon. Sam. Barker and James Reid, of Restigouche.

SWIFT CALL TO NORTH SHORE MAN

Campbellton, N. B., Nov. 19—(Special)—Death came suddenly today to James Beebe, a young man about 35 years of age. He was in town from Glencoe, a village a few miles from here, and after taking his seat in the train to go home complained of illness. He was removed to the waiting room and died before medical aid could reach him.

AT CAVELL EXECUTION.

What Friends of Martyr Nurse Tell in London.

London, Nov. 20—Companions of Miss Cavell in the nursing home at Brussels have arrived here. They relate incidents of her execution. They say that about five in the morning of the 12th Miss Wilkins and another nurse went to the prison to try to see Miss Cavell. They saw two motors, which subsequently they learned contained Miss Cavell and Boucq, an architect, who was shot at the same time. Miss Wilkins missed seeing Miss Cavell as the latter passed to the car. The execution took place at Tir Nationale, at Schaerbenck, near Brussels.

Miss Cavell's friends afterward heard she left her cell perfectly calm and self-possessed. At the place of execution, in accordance with her own request her eyes were not blind-folded or her hands bound. She was buried the same evening. The Schaerbenck authorities refused to deliver the body, stating it would not be available until after the war.

WILL REBUILD MILL.

John Bower of Montreal, formerly sales manager of the New Brunswick Pulp and Paper Company, says that the mill destroyed by fire at Millerton will be rebuilt by an Anglo-American concern with Sir Robert Perks as the main stockholder. The mill will be much larger and no paper will be manufactured by the company.

Gompers Re-elected.

San Francisco, Nov. 20—Samuel Gompers of New York city was re-elected president of the American Federation of Labor at the concluding session of the annual convention Saturday.

Rotterdam, Nov. 22—The Berlin Morgen Post states that Germany is getting seventy tons of copper daily from the Serbian mines.

LETTER FROM MAJOR MACKENZIE

Recent letters from England to relatives in St. John, relate that Major H. W. Clinch, who has ben at the front in France or Flanders with his Hussar regiment since the beginning of the war, and was once wounded, has been appointed deputy assistant quartermaster general.

A very interesting letter has been received here from Major A. E. G. MacKenzie of the 26th Battalion, extracts from which follow:

We came out of the trenches last night about 12 and I am going to rest up today. It is raining quite hard, so I have retired for the day from my tent to my billet in a Belgian farmhouse. They are very friendly to us (some Belgians are not) and they do not mind us overcrowding their houses.

I often wonder over here what the boys at home think of the situation—those who stay at home in this great struggle. It seems a shame sometimes that some fellows should have all the comforts and the rest of us all the hardships. Still, we are not downhearted—none of us. It is a game that must be played out to the limit.

I suppose you heard that we got quite a smash on the 13th; about twenty killed and something over thirty wounded, nearly all in one company. I am sorry to say that four of the boys enlisted from Campbellton, were killed. Three of them were killed together, in our little attack on a crater in front of our lines. It was some little scrap while it lasted. You might tell Dan Richards to tell his (Thompson's) father, that there was not a better boy in the battalion than he. These boys knew that they were going to almost certain death, but they went like heroes. It was some little hell for the time, I can tell you; dead and wounded men being brought in, stretcher-bearers trying to patch them up and all kinds of shells passing over our heads (fortunately they nearly all passed).

The conduct of our men was exceedingly good and we received a letter of thanks from the divisional commander. Some honor. I think one of our men, Sergeant Ryer, will get the V.C. or the military cross and probably Major Brown, who commanded the company, will get some special recognition.

This last trip to the trenches has been pretty quiet and we lost just one man killed and one or two wounded. We are supposed to have six days rest, but we have to send about four or five hundred men up each night as working parties and it is not much of a rest. The men, I believe, really welcome going back to the trenches again.

It is really wonderful the whole system here: rations come in right on time and everything else has been splendidly managed. Water is brought to the "dump" in water carts or wagons. It is carried every night to the trenches in gasoline tins holding about two and one-half gallons. Rations, in the same way, are brought up and taken to the trenches at night.

The trenches themselves have dugouts where the men sleep when off duty. Of course they are damp and cold, but one can sleep there anyway. Wet weather is our bad time. The trenches then are rotten. Imagine living for six days in one of the ditches the town digs when putting in water or a sewerage. It is just like that when it rains.

We have had rather an interesting week. Yesterday the king inspected the Canadian Army Corps. Each regiment sent fifty men. I was in charge of our crowd. It was quite a sight (not spectacular at all) sombre khaki and a sombre day, with the guns booming all around. We were only then about two or three miles from the German trenches. We had an aeroplane watching over us, which reminds me that I saw an aerial fight the day before yesterday. It was a beautiful day—very clear—and the German plane thought it would take a look around our vicinity. I heard it dropped a few bombs, without doing any damage. Then the anti-aircraft guns opened up on him and one of our planes went after him. It was put out of business and dropped just behind the German first line trenches, about 100 yards from our first line trenches. There were two others brought down the same day, so that was a pretty good day's work for them.

I think we have them trimmed as far as aircraft go and I almost think we have a preponderance of artillery now. There certainly seems no scarcity of ammunition. The Germans have quite a collection of death-dealing shells themselves. The "coal box" is a dandy when you are not close to it. We hug the trenches pretty close when we hear them coming. There are so many ways we can get killed over here without any choice it keeps one busy dodging.

RECRUITING FOR THT 132ND REGIMENT

Newcastle, Nov. 20—The 132nd is recruiting most rapidly all over the North Shore. Lieuts. Archer, of Campbellton, and Graham McKnight, of Douglastown, are going, as well as Captains Barry and MacKay, and Major L. D. Jones. Sergeant Eric Benn, of the wireless, will qualify as lieutenant.

Col. Dean, of Halifax, came to Newcastle yesterday to arrange for quartering troops. The large armory owned by the government is available, and the Rink Association has offered the militia department the use of their big rink. The Mechanics Institute will also be used. The town will put sewerage connections into all three.

It is proposed to station and train 500 men here; 500 at Chatham and 250 at Campbellton.

MORE LIQUOR SEIZED IN MONCTON

Moncton, Nov. 18.—Police this morning seized another shipment of liquor valued at $400 consigned to real and fictitious addresses in Moncton.

Among names used were "T. Cots" and "J. Dollar." In addition to the raid the police began proceedings against three local residents.

Definite word has been received from Halifax that the 115th Battalion, under Lieut.-Col. Wedderburn, will be mobilized in St. John.

CONDENSED NEWS; LOCAL AND GENERAL

The Wesleyan Methodist Mission, Manchester, England, has 1,300 men representing it at the front.

Twelve marriages and eight births, six boys and two girls, were reported last week by Registrar John B. Jones.

The tern schooner Annie M. Parker is still ashore at Cape Baul. Owing to rough weather, it has been impossible to attempt to float the craft. Her deckload has been removed.

We regret to record the death of Percy Broughton, lay reader at Country Harbor (N. S.) His health was undermined by his experiences in the Hudson Bay district, where he was severely frozen.

Rev. Captain J. J. McCaskill of the 78rd Highlanders is reported ill with typhoid fever at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal.

Dr. W. H. Smith, of St. Paul's church, Fredericton, has been appointed chaplain to the 71st Regiment, succeeding Rev. Dr. J. H. Macdonald, who is in service overseas.

Rev. J. F. Polley, Ph.D., of Dalhousie (N. B.), has been called to the pastorate of St. James church, Parrsboro (N. S.) The call was sustained by the presbytery of Wallace and forwarded to the presbytery of Miramichi of which Dr. Polley is a member.

The resignation of Rev. A. L. McKay of the pastorate of Wallace (N. S.), has been accepted by presbytery. Mr. McKay has been minister in this congregation for ten years. Rev. W. Forbes, of Tatamagouche (N. S.), has been appointed moderator of session during the vacancy.

At the board of health offices last week eleven deaths were registered. The causes were one each from senility, hemorrhage, diphtheria, myocarditis, spina bifida, cancer of stomach, acute heptatis, broncho pneumonia, pulmonary tuberculosis, puerperal eclampsia, and intestinal obstruction.

News has come to hand of the death in Vancouver (B. C.), November 14, of Alexander Scrimgeour, father of Rev. J. A. Scrimgeour, missionary in British Guiana. Mr. Scrimgeour formerly lived in Amherst (N. S.), but went west a few years ago. His body will be interred in Point de Bute cemetery, New Brunswick.

Sherman Constantine, a young man residing at Dobson's Corner, Westmorland, has been missing for the last few days and no trace of him can be found. The young man left his home to take some cattle to Newton, Kings county. Since then he has not been heard of and his relatives and friends are anxious as to his whereabouts.

Miss Carrie Hall, of Lawrencetown (N. S.), has been appointed matron of the St. John County Hospital and has already taken up her residence at the building. She has had special training in the care of tuberculosis patients in Philadelphia hospitals. The first patients will be admitted to the county hospital during the first week in December. Dr. H. A. Farris, medical superintendent, reports there are already many applications.

There was no passenger on the outgoing Boston train Friday evening more contented than was A. H. Clawson, formerly a resident of Prince Edward Island, and indeed the lucky young man had every reason to be fully satisfied with the treatment that had been handed out to him. Through an unexpected channel he had since his visit to his former home suddenly become the possessor of $20,000. It is seldom indeed that an old employe is remembered by his boss to this extent but this is just what happened to Mr. Clawson. It appears that when a young man in his teens he went to Washington and worked for some time with the hardware firm of H. A. Lawton & Co. After working for a few years with this company he branched out for himself in a small business in Boston. He was fairly successful and planned on this year taking a trip to his old home. He had been there just one week when he received a letter from a Washington lawyer telling him that he had been left the tidy sum mentioned by Mr. Lawton and he at once bundled up his baggage and was last night speeding to lay claim to his share of the green matter.

SAY PRESBYTERIANS ARE VOTING AGAINST CHURCH UNION.

Toronto, Nov. 18—According to figures handed out by anti-Unionists, the vote for church union, now being taken in the Presbyterian churches throughout the country, is going against union. The figures so far made public show a majority against union of 416.

FIRE IN THE GRANITE WORKS AT ST. GEORGE

St. George (N. B.), Nov. 19—A serious fire here this evening completely gutted the large granite works of Milne Coutts & Co. The fire was first seen about 9 o'clock and had then got a good hold on the main building.

St. George has no fire brigade, but a volunteer bucket brigade set to work, and while they were unable to do much to the actual fire in the granite building, they prevented its spread beyond one-half of the granite cutting shed.

Several of the nearby houses were in danger from sparks, including those of John O'Brien, George U. McLean and L. B. Young, and the Presbyterian church and the mills of F. Dodds.

The damage to the main building is estimated at $8,000, but it is not known the amount of insurance. In addition, much of the stock is spoiled.

The factory is situated on the great road.

FIRED AT DEER AND KILLED A MAN

Moncton, N. B., Nov 19—Coroner R. L. Botsford held an inquest this morning at Petitcodiac into the death of John Armstrong, who was shot at Forest Glen last evening. According to evidence, Arthur Morrison fired at a deer in the moonlight. After firing the shot he heard the shout of John Young, who was accompanying Armstrong. Harrison and Ollie Douthwright ran to the assistance of Armstrong.

The jury found that Armstrong's death was caused by a bullet from a rifle in the hands of Arthur Harrison, and recommended that Harrison be prohibited from carrying a rifle during the next two years, and that no license to hunt or shoot be granted him in that period.

Hope and mirth are gone. Beauty is departed.
Heaven's hid in smoke, if there's Heaven still.
Silent the city, friendless, broken-hearted,
Crying in quiet as a widow will.
Oh for the sound here of a good man's laughter,
Of one blind beggar singing in the street, Where there's no sound, except a blasing rafter Falls, or the patter of a starved dog's feet.

I have seen Death, and comrades'
crumbled faces,
Yea, I have closed dear eyes with half a smile,
But horror's in this havoc of old places Where driven men once rested from their hurry,
And girls were happy for a little while Forgiving, praying, singing, feeling sorry.

The Cellar's All Right.

An old lady who lived alone outside a small village was nervous about Zeppelins, so she made careful inquiries as to her best course. "I don't think there's much to worry about," replied the vicar in answer to her question. "But, if you like, you can do as some folk are doing—sleep in the cellar." With profuse thanks the old lady went off to alter her domestic arrangements. But in half an hour she was back again, anxiety once more wrinkling her brow. "The cellar's all right for Zeppelins, sir," she said; "but suppose one o' them there submarines comes instead?"—Scottish-American.
