DOWN GOES JOSEPH

Gets Three Months for Selling Liquor at Coursey's "Academy."

At the police court this morning, some of the "doings" at Coursey's dance hall on Jan. 4 were brought to light.

Recently, Inspector Galpin had Coursey in court charged with selling liquor at the "academy" on that date, but he did not secure a conviction. This morning the offense was brought home to Joseph Woods, who was taxed to the tune of $50, with the option of spending three months in jail. Woods was the host at a dance on the memorable 4th, and, as an accessory to the fun of tripping the light fantastic, he handed around the cheering bowl at 5 cents per. Women and men alike, were thirsty that night, and Joseph did a rushing business. He pleaded guilty this morning and expected to go down, but the stiff fine came as somewhat of a surprise. It jarred him for a few minutes, but he felt better later on, and became quite optimistic. In fact, it seemed that he wanted to go down for three months.

"That will land me right into spring. Come on home, pard," he said to McElroy, another prisoner, who went down for a similar term.

Woods was up about a year ago, and he apparently thinks that there are worse places in the world than behind the bars.

WILL QUESTION SETTLED

Order Made as to Disposition of East End Merchant's Estate.

The will of Mr. James Morrison, who was for over a quarter of a century in the drygoods business in East London, was the subject of a decision given at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, yesterday, by Mr. Justice Magee, on a petition of the Canada Trust Company for an order determining certain questions arising upon the construction of the will as to the disposition of the estate.

Order declaring: (1) That the widow is entitled to be paid at once the value of her dower out of the proceeds of the real estate in addition to the provision in the will for the payment of a monthly allowance, subject to abatement with the three pecuniary legacies if the fund be insufficient, and if she be entitled to dower also; (2) that if it be shown that the cash value of the annuity, with the $250 legacies, and the value of the dower, would exceed the amount of the estate after payment of debts and expenses, the widow is not entitled to claim dower in addition to the monthly payments provided by the will, otherwise she is so entitled; (3) that the payment of the three legacies named is not to be postponed till the death or marriage of the widow, but is to be made in due course of administration as if legacies not so postponed.

Costs of all parties out of the estate. E. W. M. Flock (London), for petitioners and widow. F. P. Betts (London), for official guardian.

CARRIED PROOF OF AGE ON ARM

How Young Man Avoided Payment of Statute Labor Tax for This Year.

Inspector McCallum was sitting in his office today searching his records for the names of statute labor delinquents, when the door opened and a young man entered.

"I came to tell you, Mr. McCallum," said the visitor, "that I will not pay the statute labor tax this year."

"I suppose you have a good reason?" inquired the inspector.

"Yep, pretty fair," answered the man.

"Well, I think you'll pay all right," said the inspector, after he looked him over.

"I'll bet you I don't, because I'm not of age," was the stranger's reply.

Mr. McCallum laughed at him.

"You're 23 if you're a day," he said.

This riled the visitor. He rolled up his sleeve, as though he were preparing to mix things, while the inspector kept his eye peeled for trouble.

"Got your proof up your sleeve?" asked Mr. McCallum, by way of a joke.

"You've guessed it right," said the stranger. "Look."

The inspector looked. There on the arm was the man's name, with the words, "Born, September, 1885."

"No man would have that inscription on his arm unless it were true," said the inspector as he scratched the tax off the book.

LIVING IN FILTH

Shocking Condition of a Family in North End of City.

Inspector Sanders has a most peculiar case of social depravity to deal with just now. The neighbors of a certain man in the north end have complained for some time that he was living in the vilest filth with several of his children, and the suggestion was made that the Children's Aid Society should exercise its powers, and take the children away.

Yesterday the inspector visited the house, and he says that for dirt it defies description. How anyone could live in such a den baffles him.

The father was found lying in filth and rags. He was "whisky soaked," and appeared to be dead to what the world thinks of him. The children are neglected and dirty, and the inspector will undoubtedly take them away from the father.

Mr. Sanders is also considering the matter of taking over the children of a family who live on York street west. The father and mother, it is said, spend all the money they can secure in drink, and the children are left to roam the streets and make trouble for the police.

CUTTING AT POND MILLS

Icemen Are Busy Getting a Season's Supply There.

Several of the city icemen are cutting ice at the Pond Mills, and they are advertising for men every day.

The ice is said to be of good thickness and it looks pure.

Whether or not the gas from the algae at the bottom of the ponds will affect the quality of the ice, as it did a year ago, no one is prepared to say, as the result of the chemical treatment of the water resorted to last fall is not yet known.

It is said, however, that every pound of Pond Mills ice brought to the city last year was sold in London, and that after it had been exposed to the air for a time it lost the odor complained of. At all events the icemen this year do not appear to be at all afraid to handle it, and are storing it in tons every day.

NOT CHESTNUT BELL

Mayor Presented With a Dingler to Call Council to Order.

Did you ever hear of the chestnut bell?

Unlike the bell of Atri, it isn't rung when anyone has done a very great wrong — simply when anyone tells a story which may be catalogued a chestnut.

Mayor Judd has heard of the chestnut bell—though he declares it has never been rung on him as yet. But he is wondering what Ald. Armstrong meant when he presented him with a bell this morning.

Of course, the mayor remembers what Ald. Armstrong told him. In presenting the dingler, the alderman told the mayor that it would come in handy to call the council to order, or to summon them from the anterooms, where they are liable to forget the meeting, for the privilege of smoking a cigar.

"I don't know what that bell will yet do to me," mused the mayor, as he looked at it today. "I wonder if it's a ringer."

His worship thinks, however, that he will convert the bell into a chestnut bell. It will come in handy when the alderman give way to the loquacity for which they at times are famous.

It is rumored that at least one of the city daddies contemplates providing himself with ear laps, which he intends to wear in the council chamber, that he may not hear the bell when it is rung.

LEFT HORSE IN COLD

Samuel Robb Was Forgetful, and It Cost Him $3.

Samuel Robb was fined $3 or ten days by Police Magistrate Love this morning.

Robb's offense was allowing his horse to stand unsheltered for a couple of hours during the cold weather of Friday last. A policeman was the witness against Robb, who is a dairyman, and he said the horse was so cold that its hair stood on end.

Fred Nettleship drove a horse all one day, while the animal was suffering from a very sore shoulder. The defendant was working for another man, and the latter will likely pay the fine imposed. It was $3 and $2 costs.

One booze fighter went free.

MITCHELL AT NEW YORK

Preparing to Talk Over Coal Situation With Operators.

New York, Feb. 12.—President John Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers of America, who arrived here Sunday night to prepare for the conference on Thursday between the mine workers of the anthracite region and their employes, spent today in arranging his programme.

He brought from Indianapolis a trunk filled with documents relating to the hard coal industry in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Mitchell declined to discuss the anthracite coal situation so far as it related to the miners' union. Neither would he talk of the conditions in the west.

He is keeping in close touch with the situation in the various bituminous coal fields, and receives reports by telephone and telegraph.

He met tonight the presidents of the three anthracite districts to perfect the demands to be laid before the mine operatives.

The outline of these demands was drafted by three executive boards of the hard coal fields at a series of meetings held last week at Wilkesbarre.

President Geo. F. Baer, of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, will be here tomorrow to meet officers of other coal carrying roads.

RUN DOWN IN FOG

Three Perish by Sinking of Barge in New York Harbor.

New York, Feb. 13.—At least three lives are believed to have been lost in the East River today, when a hay barge on which three men were asleep was cut in two by a tug boat which was running blindly in a fog. Immediately after the accident, river pilots and watchmen nearby heard men's voices in the river crying for help. Because of the fog the rescuers were unable to locate the source of the cries, which became more infrequent and faint, until they ceased altogether. One of the witnesses said that he heard a woman's screams mingled with those of men. Several hours later the police had been unable to ascertain that any one was rescued. A wrecking crew was sent to search for the bodies of those believed to be drowned.

IT'S A CRACKAJACK

Bennett's Bill This Week Is the Best Yet Given.

Manager Bennett has one of those bill at the Vaudeville this week whuch the people of London cannot fail to see without doing themselves an injustice. In but very few words, the bill is undoubtedly the best which has as yet been seen at Bennett's.

Every act is a winner, but some of them are exceedingly fine. Howard's Comedy Dog and Pony Circus is a whole show in itself. And the tricks of the animals are all new, the canine and equine comedians being indescribably clever. If Mr. Bennett had but this one act he would be giving his patrons their money's worth.

John D. Gilbert, that prince of funny men, is also at Bennett's this week. Mr. Gilbert knows no superior on the stage today. The act he is putting on includes a one-man cast burlesque of the modern musical comedy, and it's the funniest thing that ever happened in London.

Kelly and Kent put on a Bowery sketch which stamps them as the real thing, while the one-act comedy, "His Wife's Hero," produced by Frederick Hallen and Molly Fuller, is a genuine laugh-provoker.

In addition to these acts there is the musical act of Martin brothers, the xylophone players, who are wonderfully clever, and the acrobatic turn of the La Mothe trio, which includes many new features.

Manager Bennett will be sure to pack the people into his house this week, but it is scarcely probable he will be able to maintain such a standard as this week's in future. The bill is simply one worthy of Proctor's or Hammerstein's, and those who miss it will themselves be the losers.

CUT OFF BY FLAMES

Portland, Ore., Feb. 12. — At least six persons lost their lives in a fire that swept a busy commercial district at the east end of the Morrisson street bridge today. Ten or more persons were injured and were removed to hospitals or to near-by residences.

The dead are: Nathaniel P. Young, watchman; — Hendick, photographer; two unknown women; two unknown men.

A number of persons are reported missing. The fire started in the Mount Hood saloon and consumed that place and the lodging house above, in which a majority of those killed and injured were sleeping. Watchman Young met his death in an heroic effort to save the horses in the East Side Transfer Company's stables. He made several trips into the stable, but was finally cut off by the flames. Looking from an upper window, he waved his hands to the crowd below and cried, "Good-bye, boys. I can't get out this time," and he fell back into the flames. The loss is $50,000.

STOCK MARKETS.

H. C. Becher, stock broker, next Free Press building, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington today:

New York, Feb. 13.—Noon.—In spite of a strong opening in Copper and Anaconda, the tone of today's market has so far been uncertain and considerable liquidation has taken place. The prospects of higher money rates has created uneasiness and further, in well informed quarters, it is admitted that for the time being the boom in the steel and iron trade has culminated. The high prices for Copper and Anaconda attracted considerable liquidation, the result being that the early prices were the best. The impression in the room is that both of these stocks have been favorably affected by the very rich strike made in the Anaconda mine, and not by the prospect of any early announcement of an agreement between the leading copper interests. New York Central was at times particularly strong on buwing by brokers associated with Vanderbilt interests. The upward movement in Reading was attributed to the brighter prospects that there would be no strike among the miners this pring. Union Pacific was in good supply around 155½, but seemed to be supported at 155. Early morning loans were made at 4 per cent. Sales to noon 630,000.
