Note and Comment

Big Ed Lafitte yesterday gave the best example of tightening up in pinches displayed on these grounds this season. With a five-run lead, he loafed along each round until the Leafs began to look dangerous. Indeed, he looked like blowing up on several occasions to both the home sharps and his own side. Fred Lake kept yelling from the bench and had a man warming up right from the second innings.

The Leafs started six innings by getting men on and only pushed two of these around. The first three up in the seventh were safe on two hits and a base on balls. Then Lafitte fanned O'Hara, Dalton and Jordan.

The Grays batted round and two over in the first, but Rudolph thereafter was so effective that the Leafs had a margin in men stepping to the plate in the nine innings, 41 to 39. Thus Providence had only six men left on bases to 12 Torontos. It has been observed before that they are useless unless getting past third.

Newspapers just to hand from the merry land to the south of us contain extensive reviews of the Olympic games, but never remind you that there was anything worth while striving for at Stockholm outside the track and field, except perhaps swimming. However, there were others, including yachting, rowing, sculling, archery, etc., and taken all together, Sweden leads the world, with 133 points, with the United States, next, 129 points.

Rosedale cricketers returned yesterday from Philadelphia, where they thoroly enjoyed a fortnight's cricket. They wound up on Saturday by losing to Philadelphia by an innings and 273 runs. Score: 492 to 104 and 110. The winners' total included one century and another score of 94. The result is a reminder of a game between the same clubs 15 years ago, and the present followers of cricket can hardly fancy a harder trouncing than that handed out last week. But the ancient game referred to resulted in a Philadelphia victory by an innings and 517 runs, the score being: Philadelphia 621 to Rosedale's 50 and 54. The latter team included the best of Canadian cricketers of the time, viz.: Lyon, Forester, Bowbanks, Montgomery, etc.

Edward Corrigan, former king of the American turf, has gone back to Kansas City to start life over again where he left it more than thirty years ago. With what little he could save from the wreck of his fortune after the final crash three years ago, the former millionaire horseman has leased a few acres of land near the 'Frisco tracks at Kansas, set up a stone crusher and has settled down to devote the rest of his life to leveling the limestone cliffs—the same sort of work he was doing as a railroad contractor before taking up the racing game. He is living with a sister, Mrs. B. C. Burke. The former "master of Hawthorne" now goes out to his little quarry every morning carrying the dinner pail, quite as contented, apparently, as theho he had never been the most imposing figure on the world's greatest paddocks.

Sporting Editor World: As one of your subscribers, you would greatly oblige me and many others for a small space in your paper to express our feelings in regard to the Toronto Motor meet, held at the exhibition grounds Saturday afternoon. Having attended other races, which I enjoyed very much, I persuaded a couple of my friends to attend the auto races. Having separated ourselves from 75 cents apiece, we proceeded under the grand stand, and, to our surprise, got mixed up with a crowd which looked like a riot, struggling with each other to see who could secure the last chair. We finally emerged "chairless," and climbed into the stand, bringing into service our papers for cushions. Having waited from a quarter past 2 till about 3.30, the announcer appeared with a megaphone, which looked more like a one-cent ice-cream cone, and endeavored to whisper to the bunch of "easy money" that the races were about to begin. Programs were the feature; envied. If you had one, in fact, I did not even see one. After one and a half hours of standing on one foot and the other, and some speeding in spots, we adjourned home, greatly disappointed and much the wiser, having seen the worst-conducted meet ever held at the exhibition grounds.

Grays Capture the First Game Leafs Fail to Hit in Pinches

Maxwell Gave Providence 5 Runs in the First Innings—Heavy Hitters Fall by the Wayside—Final 6 to 2 for Grays—Scores

The Leafs opened a long home series at the Stadium yesterday afternoon, but didn't open it the way we expected. It was those lowly Grays who stopped the Kelley men and they did it in good style, to wit, 6 to 2.

It was a case of sending the jug too often to the well and Maxwell after a strenuous session last week and relief duty on Saturday, went to the mound weak. Providence slammed his puny efforts for four safeties and this, coupled with a boot and three walks, sent Fred Lake's squad off with a five run lead in the initial session. Rudolph went in to retire the last man in the first innings and finished the game in grand shape. Only once again did Providence score and five scattered hits was all that Rudy allowed them for the remaining eight innings.

The Leafs outhit the Grays, but failed to deliver the bingles when bits meant runs. The Leafs had chances to count in the seventh and ninth innings, but the heavy artillery fell by the wayside.

Lafitte, the Providence flinger, tho he seemed on the verge of taking a balloon ascension on many occasions, tightened when the real pull came.

Dalton started off the fourth with a bingle. Jordan died, but Bradley poled to left and Toronto's first run came in. McConnell and Holly were easy outs.

The Leafs tallied one in the seventh, but had a chance to make more. Bemis fluked a hit into left and Rudolph worked Lafitte for a walk. Meyer was the gentleman with the hit and Bemis scored. O'Hara, Dalton and Jordan swung three times when a hit would have meant two runs.

The ninth was another innings where the necessary hit was conspicuous by its absence. Rudolph was the first hitter and singled over second. Meyer got on when Latham dropped the throw on his grounder. O'Hara again supplied a strike out and Dalton gave another exhibition of back-breaking trying to reach Lafitte's shoots. Jordan singled to short left, but Bradley flew out and it was all over.

Baseball Gossip.

It is more than likely that Manager Kelley will move his hard hitting catchers higher up in the batting order.

Clark Griffith has added another pitcher to the staff of the Senators. His name is Willis Eby, and he is a tall, rangy fellow, who has been making a name for himself in semi-professional circles at York, Penn.

Moore, a pitcher of the Galveston Club, who has been dubbed the "strike-out King" of the Texas League, will get a trial with the Cincinnati Reds.

The Cleveland Naps have purchased Billy Hunter and Clarence Kraft, outfielders of the Flint, Mich., club of the South Michigan League, for $2500. Kraft was tried out as a pitcher by the Cleveland club in 1911, but was turned over to Toledo. He recently made eight home runs in nine days.

"Silk" O'Loughlin, umpire in chief of the American League, is authority for the statement, after talking with a number of National League umpires, that the Giants are giving less trouble on the diamond this year than any other team.

The game scheduled between Parliament Buildings and City Hall for Friday, July 26, is to be played on played on Wednesday, July 24. The fans are taking great interest in this game, as a win for City Hall will make them tie for league honors with Parliament Buildings.

Paddlers Working Hard to Get in Shape For C.C.A. Regatta

War Canoe Race Promises to Be Most Exciting Event Ever Held in History of Aquatics.

The Grand Trunk Boating Club, having pretty well swept the boards at the Eastern Division canoe meet, are coming to Toronto in force for the C. C. A. regatta on Aug. 3, to test the mettle of the winners of the Northern and Western Division trials. The result of the Western Division meet at Gravenhurst on Saturday next will tell the tale of which crews are to represent the Toronto clubs. The paddlers are having strenuous workouts these days, and, if condition is to decide the races, the local boys should capture their share of prizes; in fact, it is rumored that the Parkdale Canoe Club have already decided what portion of their walls will best accommodate the Challenge Cup for the mile war canoe race; but, then, you never can tell.

Mr. Albert E. Cuff, the genial hon. secretary, is a busy man these days, and, with a corps of assistants, is rapidly licking things into shape. He found time to say that there would probably be fifteen war canoe crews entered in the half and one-mile races, but not more than nine in one race. With fifteen paddlers in each canoe, this should make the most exciting event ever pulled off in aquatic annals around Toronto.

Mr. Cuff proposes cabling the services of this fleet to Mr. Borden.

INDIAN ATHLETE IS WORLD'S BEST

About James Thorpe, Who Won Pentathlon and Decathlon at Olympic Games in Stockholm.

When a noted physical director connected with a large university said last fall that probably the world had never seen such a marvel of physical strength as was embodied in James Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian School schoolboy, who won the Olympic Pentathlon and Decathlon, he probably did not enlarge on the truth. It has been said by several writers that Goliath and the fabled strong men of history could hardly have competed with Jim Thorpe as all-around athletes, for the reason that their alleged great strength was discounted by their lack of speed and ability.

The figures are in evidence to show that Thorpe is the most marvelous creation fashioned in human likeness that the ever inhabited the earth. Above all other points to be considered in his make-up is the fact that he is a normal human being having developed thru normal proportions to abnormal power. He stands to-day pre-eminently as a refutation of the allegation on the part of critics from the whole world that the American plan of developing athletic marvels is accomplished by specialization carried to unreasonable extremes.

Thorpe was found to be normal when he went to Carlisle as a lad. On entering the school he was 5 ft. 5½ in. tall, and weighed 115 pounds. As bearing on his physical development, figures at hand now show that in 1908 he had jumped to 5 ft. 11¼ in., and his chest measurements at inspiration and expiration, respectively, were 41 and 35 inches. He then weighed 181 pounds. Three years afterward, or on Sept. 17, 1911, he was 6 ft. ½ in. tall, weighed 185 pounds, and inspiration and expiration measurements were 42½ in. and 35½ in. Smooth, even development without knots or bumps, has marked the Sac and Fox Indian's progress all along.

Thorpe's Training.

Thorpe has had the training at school for the last two years at the hands of Glenn S. Warner, reputed to be one of great genius at developing athletes. Thorpe has lived plainly, and while he has conformed to Warner's general instructions, as to his manner of living, he has not been made an exception at the Carlisle School by special treatment or privileges.

Most remarkable of all, possibly, is the simple fact that he clearly demonstrated to the world by his marvelous performances at Stockholm that he is the greatest athlete in the world, by demonstrating a bare third of the possibilities that lie in his powerful, alert body. It must be understood that, in addition to the eleven representative sports included in his winning the Pentathlon and Decathlon, he is equally proficient in such sports as throwing the hammer, swimming, skating, walking, rowing, and possibly another dozen of minor athletic activities. In addition, he is a specialist, and probably the greatest in the world at football. He runs, side-steps, plunges, dodges as well as the best football player that ever lived. He punts and kicks goals with strength and precision, interferes or follows interference with cunning, forward passes, and makes onside kicks with the greatest accuracy, and tackles and uses the stiff arm with almost perfect technique. That he has been elected as the captain of this year's Carlisle Indian football eleven is in itself a tribute to his complete knowledge of the intricate football rules.

Plays All Games.

Thorpe pitches at baseball, plays any base or occupies the field with equal distinction. At basketball he is little short of a marvel, playing any position. Included among the other sports which he has mastered are lacrosse, tennis, hockey, handball, indoor baseball, indoor gymnastics and medicine ball. Croquet, cricket and golf are about the only sports Thorpe has left alone. He is enthusiastic over horseback riding and hunting, being a dead shot with rifle and shotgun. His easy method of approaching all of his athletic tasks has been the subject of much comment.

President Noble of Dickinson College suggested that the City of Carlisle unite with the Indian school in tendering Thorpe a reception upon his return, and a committee will lay plans for a big demonstration for the greatest athlete in the world.

Torontos and Irish

"What happened to the Torontos in Montreal?" is the question that lacrosse fans were asking yesterday, for the followers of the blue shirts seem to think an apology is necessary when the home team loses. The Torontos were beaten by a better team, and no more need be said. Early in the season one of the closest followers of the game, after seeing the Irish-Canadians play, said: "There's the team that is likely to split the beans any time." Playing the way they played on Saturday in Montreal, no team in the world can beat the Irish. The Scotts have given up their old habit of hugging the ball, and have developed the fastest passing game, probably ever seen on a lacrosse field. Of course, the Torontos will play better on their own grounds, with the cheers of their supporters urging them on, and they expect to trim the Irish on Saturday. They simply have to win if they have any idea of winning the Big Four championship, because the Nationals are doped to beat the Tecumsehs at Maissoneuve, and if the Torontos lost they would be sunk to second place. Cubs Down Brooklyn New York Wins Again

Easy for Philadelphia — National League Scores.

At Chicago—Chicago made it three straight from Brooklyn by winning by 10 to 3. Barger was wild and Chicago bunched its hits off his delivery. Evers was the batting feature. Zimmerman was sent to the club house by Umpire Brennan for disputing a decision. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	0 1 0 0 2 8 2 2 x—10	14	2
Brooklyn	0 1 0 0 0 0 2 0 0—3	10	1

Batteries—Richie and Needham; Barger and Needham.

At St. Louis—Gene Dale, pitching for St. Louis, walked nine Philadelphia players and made one wild pitch, Philadelph
