GODSON IS GETTING EVEN.

JUSTICE ROBERTSON TAKES A HAND IN THE WORKS INVESTIGATION.

His Lordship Thinks that the Contractor Has Been Very Badly Used—That Trip to Chicago Likely to be Upset—Also the Whole Enquiry.

There was a large gathering of learned counsel and city fathers in the Chancery Court at Osgoode Hall yesterday, when the motion for a prohibition to restrain Judge McDougall from continuing the Board of Works investigation, and more especially proceeding to Chicago to examine James Hardy, came on for argument before Justice Robertson. For five hours the forensic display lasted, in the course of which the Judge made some strong comments on the way in which this inquiry had proceeded.

Contractor Godson was represented by Mr. Dalton McCarthy, Q.C., Mr. George F. Shepley and Mr. T. P. Galt; Solicitor Biggar appeared for the city; Mr. Charles Ritchie, Q.C., for Inspector Lackie, and Mr. James S. Fullerton and Mr. A. B. Aylesworth represented Judge McDougall.

Mr. McCarthy, in making the motion, read the resolution of the Council ordering the investigation and the affidavit of Contractor Godson. He said the terms of the Council's resolution were wide enough to cover the dealings of every contractor with the city from the earliest days in the history of Toronto. The learned counsel referred to the proposed visit of the Judge to Chicago, and protested against it.

The Judge: "It is a case of 'if the mountain will not come to Mahomet, Mahomet will go to the mountain.' [Laughter]. I see Judge McDougall signs himself as 'Judge;' his solicitor speaks of him as 'investigator.'"

Mr. McCarthy contended that under the investigation only alleged breaches of trust could be inquired into. There was no breach of trust between Mr. Godson and the Council. On the wide terms of the resolution as interpreted by Judge McDougall the investigation might be carried to Australia. The learned counsel submitted that the Council had exceeded their powers, and that the proposed examination in Chicago was illegal. He asked for its prohibition and the discontinuance of the inquiry so far as Mr. Godson is concerned. An additional reason for the prohibition was the manner in which the inquiry had been conducted.

The Judge said that in all fairness particulars of charges against Mr. Godson should have been supplied him. To withhold them and to summon him to attend day by day when other matters in which he had no concern were being investigated, was unfairness which he (the learned Judge) was astonished Judge McDougall should be guilty of.

Mr. McCarthy cited authorities as to the right of the court to interfere in this case. It was, he maintained, contrary to justice and the spirit of fairness that the Council should be "pillorying" Mr. Godson before the public without letting him know whereof he is accused. The learned counsel read from an English judgment, in which the Lord Chancellor had remarked that even God Himself, in sentencing Adam, did not do so until He had given him an opportunity to defend himself, referring to the report of the proceedings in the case as given in the early chapters of Genesis.

His Lordship: "That is going back a long way for authority."

Mr. McCarthy: "Yes, your lordship, and it has never been overruled."

Mr. Fullerton read an affidavit from Ald. Gillespie, which stated:

On May 23 I went to the city of Chicago for the purpose of ascertaining the whereabouts of one James Hardy, and of ascertaining if the said James Hardy would come to the city of Toronto for the purpose of giving evidence in the investigation.

I found the said James Hardy and ascertained from him that he was willing to give evidence, but the said James Hardy represented to me, and I believed the representation to be true, that he was in a poor state of health, and was lame and suffering pain from a fracture of one of his legs, and was unable from that reason to get around with ease and that he was not in a condition to travel, and the said James Hardy positively refused for the said reasons to leave the city of Chicago and come with me for the purpose of giving his evidence. I do not know when the said fracture occurred, but believe it was some time ago.

From his appearance the same James Hardy is a man far advanced in years and appeared to be feeble and in a weak state of health, and I do not think the said James Hardy could possibly come to the city of Toronto; he did not appear to be in such a state of health that he could perform the said journey with comfort or even safety to himself.

The following is Barrister Fullerton's affidavit:

Upon being appointed as counsel for the city to assist His Honor Joseph E. McDougall, he informed me that he did not consider he was acting in this matter in his judicial capacity, but simply as an investigator or commissioner, required to report the result of his inquiries, with the evidence taken in pursuance thereof, to the Municipal Council of the City of Toronto, and I was further informed by him that my duties would be to assist him, and under his directions so far as might be necessary to make inquiries and ascertain what evidence could be obtained bearing upon the matter under investigation, and to cause the same to be brought before him.

Acting in the said capacity, I have from time to time consulted with the said Joseph E. McDougall in reference to the scope and direction which the said investigation should take, and in reference to lines of evidence I should bring before him, but I have not laid the said evidence before the said Joseph E. McDougall, otherwise than to call the witnesses before him and to take their evidence when the said investigation was in progress.

It has been and will be necessary in the progress of the said investigation to call witnesses whose evidence I cannot beforehand ascertain, and to inquire into matters where the facts are only partially known or even only suspected, and if I were compelled to take counsel for the parties interested in the results of this investigation into my confidence beforehand, and to disclose to them the object I had in view in making the said inquiries, and calling the said evidence, I have a very strong belief that the result would be to defeat the object the investigation has in view.

His Honor Joseph E. McDougall has intimated publicly that a full opportunity will be allowed to parties interested to cross-examine witnesses called and to call witnesses on their own behalf during the progress of the said investigation.

Mr. Aylesworth, in a long and able speech on behalf of Judge McDougall, contended that a writ of prohibition could only be issued in relation to an inferior court, and not in regard to this investigation. Mr. McDougall merely had to report the result of his inquiry to the Council, his employers. The investigation was not in the nature of a court.

The Judge: "According to your contention, Judge McDougall has no powers to impose an obligation on any one. How can he investigate if everybody snaps their fingers at him?"

Mr. Aylesworth said the Council did not appoint him because he was a judge, but because they had confidence in him and thought him the fittest person.

His Lordship: "If Judge McDougall is not acting in this investigation in a judical capacity then all the evidence published in the newspapers is libelous, and the newspapers are liable to prosecution. If it were not a judicial court it seems strange that this investigation should be allowed to go on, that men should have to appear there to protect their characters, that persons should be employed by the city to ferret out evidence, and that a kind of Star Chamber inquiry should be held, save that the doors are not locked and the public not excluded. If they were perhaps it would not work so much harm."

Mr. Aylesworth submitted that if Lackie and Godson and the public were excluded the value of the inquiry would be destroyed.

The Judge: "Do you think the statute contemplated a roving expedition, a fishing inquiry? Do you think it right to have an investigation on mere suspicion?"

Mr. Aylesworth: "That is left to the discretion of the Council. The inquiry is like a servant trying to find out something for his master, who may or may not act on the information obtained. To sum up I submit that a prohibition only relates to a court. Mr. McDougall is not a court. Even if he were in that position he has done nothing and seeks to do nothing outside his jurisdiction."

Mr. Fullerton, in his address, laid stress on the fact that it was not Godson they were attacking, but the conduct of certain city officials.

The Judge: "Godson is in no way connected with the Council's resolution. If that body can deal with him thus there is no business man in the city whose books and affairs may not be investigated. The whole proceedings are, in my judgment, irregular. What right has Judge McDougall to say to Godson 'I am going to Chicago to examine a former servant of yours to try and get information against you'?"

Mr. Fullerton said that city officials received money from Godson to allow him to do certain things.

His Lordship: "The way of transgressors is hard, but it seems to me more hard that a man's books and private affairs for many years past should be inquired into. It is evident that Cooper and Hardy have some sinister motive in giving evidence. If their claims against Godson are honest and straightforward the courts would grant them. However, there's no doubt that when rogues fall out, honest men will get their due. No matter how great rogues these persons may be, their evidence must go for what it is worth. If Godson has been guilty of wrong-doing, issue a commission to inquire into that, but do not inquire into Godson's case over the head of Lackie."

Mr. Fullerton: "The evidence of Hardy will show a direct connection between Godson and Lackie. It will show that bribes were taken and work paid for which was never done."

The Judge: "It appears to me that you have gone a good deal further against Godson than was necessary to make out a case against Lackie."

Mr. Biggar said that the necessity for any lengthened argument by him had been obviated by the arguments of his learned friends, and also by the fact that during the past three weeks his Lordship (Judge Robertson) had been so constantly engaged in municipal cases affecting the city of Toronto. He thought this was probably the reason why Mr. Godson's solicitors, having begun their proceedings in the Queen's Bench Division, had afterwards transferred them to Chancery, expressly to obtain his Lordship's opinion thereon. Mr. Biggar then commented on the case of Lackie, and how it affected Godson.

The Judge (interposing quite warmly): "I may be all wrong, but it is contrary to my notions of fair play and justice—and I don't care who knows it—that persons should go behind a man's back, take away his reputation and character and do everything to ruin him and he have no opportunity to defend himself."

Mr. Biggar: "If I thought there was anything like unfairness in these proceedings I should not be here."

His Lordship: "It seems to me that Judge McDougall is conducting the investigation as against Godson when he is only authorized to investigate into the affairs of Lackie. Over Lackie's back you are whipping Godson."

Mr. Biggar: "There are eight charges of conspiracy against Godson and Lackie."

The Judge: "Then why don't the Council institute proceedings against Godson?"

After further arguments Mr. McCarthy replied at length in support of the prohibition.

Mr. Fullerton then addressed the Court on questions of fact as raised by Mr. Godson's affidavit.

His Lordship: "There is only one part of the story told so far. An old servant is encouraged by the Corporation and Judge McDougall to divulge all he knows about the affairs of his late employer. Unless Cooper's evidence be confirmed by the strongest proof I would not pay the slightest attention to it. He stands in the most unenviable, contemptible position."

Mr. Ritchie having briefly explained the difficulty of getting particulars of charges and evidence against Mr. Godson,

The Judge said he could only express his disapprobation of such conduct in a court where it was supposed justice was being administered. The greatest rapscallion in the country is not treated so in a court of justice. His Lordship concluded by saying he would fully consider the case and the many authorities cited and if possible give judgment on Monday.

The great demand for a pleasant, safe and reliable antidote for all affections of the throat and lungs is fully met with in Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It is a purely Vegetable Compound, and acts promptly and magically in subduing all coughs, colds, bronchitis, inflammation of the lungs, etc. It is so palatable that a child will not refuse it, and is put at a price that will not exclude the poor from its benefits.

ON PLEASURE BOUND.

Toronto Invaded by an Army of Dufferin Councillors—What They Did.

Warden W. H. Hunter of Dufferin County arrived in the city yesterday morning at the head of a party of Dufferinites whom he had specially invited to view the sights of Toronto. Among the visitors were Councillors W. B. Jelly and William Johnston, Reeve and Deputy-Reeve of Amaranth; Reeve William Jelly of Shelbourne; R. Gallagher and R. Wiggins, Mulmer; R. Wilson and James McMaster, Mono; A. Richardson and John Hamilton, East Luther; George Bailey and John Polly, Melancthon; W. McKim, Registrar, North Wellington; N. Gordon, Public School Inspector for Dufferin; Mayor J. Gilchrist, Reeve J. Foster, Deputy-Reeve H. Endicott, A. A. Huson (Town Clerk), Joseph Patullo (Police Magistrate), J. Foley, Orangeville Sun; R. L. Mortimer, Shelburne Free Press, and J. F. Kennedy, Orangeville Advertiser.

The first thing the party proceeded to do was to enjoy a dinner at the Walker House, after which the majority spread themselves over the city in carriages. A few went home in the evening, but the majority took in the Toronto Opera House as a fitting wind-up of their day's pleasure.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

From Police Blotters.

James Cullen, 74 Adelaide-street west, is held at Headquarters on suspicion of larceny.

Francis Watts was locked up at Headquarters yesterday afternoon for using bad language on Church-street.

"Assault on his wife" was the charge on which Ragpicker Andrew Shea was arrested last night and placed in Agnes-street Station. He resides, when at home, at 72 Lombard-street.

The police last night executed a warrant for aggravated assault by arresting James Norman. The complainant is James McFarlane, with whom the prisoner boarded at 338 Church-street.

Peter Smith, John Wilson and Arthur Leslie were in the middle of a triangular fight on Queen-street west last night when the patrol wagon came along and drove them all to St. Andrew's Market Police Station, where they were locked up.

Martin Malone was arrested by Precinct Detective Johnston last night on York-street on suspicion of stealing some lead pipes, etc., which he was trying to sell.

Wet and Dry Groceries.

Yesterday afternoon Messrs. Wm. Mara, J. G. Gibson, G. S. Michie, W. J. McCormack, Harry Hodgins, James Good and James Barwick, all prominent retail grocers, waited upon the License Commissioners with reference to this resolution passed on April 30:

Moved by Peter Ryan, seconded by J. A. Proctor, "That the members of this Board desire to place on record their disapproval of the continuance of the business of liquor selling by grocers, either on the same or other premises, and that in the event of their commissions being continued for the year 1889, no shop license will be granted to any grocer for any premises."

Mr. Mara, as spokesman for the party, on business and moral grounds asked that the resolution be rescinded. Mr. Mara made a forcible speech, and the commissioners promised to consider the matter.

The Captain of the Passport Injured.

The steamer Passport of the Richelieu Line met with an accident in the canal at Cornwall yesterday morning. As she was entering one of the locks her stem bumped up against one of the gates, badly smashing the woodwork. Captain Sinclair was on the hurricane deck at the time, and the force of the concussion threw him off his feet to the second deck, breaking his right thigh. The boat steamed back to Montreal for repairs. Captain Sinclair is one of the oldest captains on the line, and it is feared that his advanced age, 65, may prevent his recovery.

Betts' Brindle Dog.

In the Division Court case the other day, Nelson, of Model Lodging House fame, claimed a brindle bulldog belonging to Mr. Edward Betts, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel. Nelson said the dog was only three years old, whereas Mr. Betts furnished ample evidence to show it was over eight years old and had been in his position five years. The court gave judgment in favor of defendant and ordered Nelson to pay costs.

The Royal Arcanum.

Yesterday the session of the Supreme Council was continued up to midnight, but nevertheless no item of business was finally disposed of. The members of the Council will reassemble at 11 o'clock this morning, when the election of officers will be held.

Messrs. Parker and Laird, of Hillsdale, write: "Our Mr. Laird having occasion to visit Scotland, and knowing the excellent qualities of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, concluded to take some with him, and the result has been very astonishing. We may say that in several instances it has effected cures, when ailments had been pronounced incurable by eminent practitioners."

THE TORONTOS PLAY BALL

AND DEFEAT ROCHESTER BY ONE RUN IN THE ELEVENTH INNING.

Other Championship Games—Racing at Latonia—Lacrosse Matches Played Yesterday—Entries for the Six Day Race—Spots of Sport.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 8.—The fielding honors of to-day's game certainly belong to Collins, of the Rochesters, though McLaughlin's work at short was a magnificent feature of a great game. Hayes pitched in superb form while Atkisson was also in remarkable form. Off Atkisson but one chance was offered to get a batter out outside the diamond, and this chance Lewis accepted. The seven hits made by Rochester included a double by Griffin, but they were all outside of the players' reach in the field, mainly to the short outfield. Atkisson struck out eleven men, but Decker's trowing was very largely responsible for th two runs scored by Rochester. Kearns at second for Toronto and Miller at short for the home team made several difficult plays and took everything that came in their territory. The score:

Dust from the Diamond.

It was a close call, but we won.

Toronto had the least number of errors in the International Association yesterday, while Hamilton had the most.

The Hams are playing great ball, 17 errors on Thursday and 16 yesterday.

It took fifteen innings to decide the Boston-Detroit game yesterday, but in the last Detroit made more runs than Boston did throughout the game and pounded Clarkson all over the field.

The Hamiltons are negotiating for the releases of two first class men, who will greatly strengthen the team. Spectator.—By the looks of things it needs strengthening.

It is stated that Mansell and Jones have become repentant and would like to be reinstated. Neither of them has approached the directors since they were suspended.

On account of complaints of umpires not enforcing the rules regarding the illegal deliveries of pitchers, Secretary White has instructed them to enforce the rule without fear or favor. He also advised them to stand close behind the catcher so as to judge balls and strikes.

New York's victory and Boston's defeat yesterday puts New York in third place and Boston fourth.

The 'Varsity Defeats Galt at Cricket.

Betting on the Suburban.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Next Thursday the Suburban will be run, and all the books on the event are now closed. Still, although there is no longer a general market, occasionally a bookmaker will lay odds against a horse. The most important transactions since last Monday in down town sporting resorts were 1600 to 200 Terra Cotta, 2000 to 200 The Bard, 1500 to 100 Tribonlet, 500 to 50 Linden, 1000 to 100 Linden, 1000 to 100 Aurelia, and 750 to 50 Firenzi. With penalties incurred Aurelia's weight is now 124 pounds, Le Logos' 109, Terra Cotta's 122, and The Bard's 135.

Gossip of the Turf.

Repeater will perform over the timber at Jerome Park to-day.

Blaylock, the jockey, is suing Edward Corrigan, the Kansas City turfman, for salary for his services last season.

Hendrie's horses will leave for Chicago next week, where they will race during the Washington Park meeting.

Mr. Wither's trainer states that Laggard will not be a starter in the Suburban.

The reports of The Bard's illness were greatly exaggerated. Frank Clark, the Superintendent at Sheepshead Bay, telegraphed to the officers of the Coney Island Jockey Club that the horse was all right. While from other sources it was learned that he had a slight colic on Monday, but galloped three-quarters of a mile on Tuesday in 1.19½.

The Toronto Man Wins.

MUSKEGON, Mich., June 8.—A two-ounce glove contest for a purse of $100 and the gate receipts between Joe Sheehy of Toronto, and Tom Lyons (unknown), came off near this city on Wednesday night and was won by Sheehy in the second round, knocking Lyons completely out. After the referee gave the match to Sheehy Charles Moth, the wrestler, who was second for Lyons, had some hot words with Sheehy, during which the former drew a revolver, but was prevented from using it by those present. Sheehy's weight was 190, and Lyon's 197.

Bicycle Spokes.

The Toronto Bicycle Club's handicap road race will take place this afternoon on the Kingston Road. The distance will be about 20 miles.

HIS GRAMMAR SCHOOL PAPER.

John Ross Robertson Hauled Over the Coals by County Councillors.

The County Councillors yesterday morning confined themselves in great part to the discussion of routine business. The bridge over the River Rouge at Markham village was ordered to be examined and its condition reported upon. The report of the committee on education gave a satisfactory showing of the condition of the various schools, and $1000 was appropriated for a new bridge on the town line between North and East Gwillimbury.

In the afternoon the somewhat quiet proceedings were enlivened by a question of privilege asked by Deputy-Reeve Robinson of Aurora. He said that two articles had recently appeared in The Telegram. The first was bad enough, but the second was if possible still nastier. It was evident that the man who wrote them did not know what he was writing about, as the individual in question had attended the January session of the Council and had reported him (the speaker) as being in favor of the continuance of the toll gate system in York county, when he was not. The writer had grossly misrepresented the proceedings of the Council. It was true that The Telegram had but little influence in Toronto, and still less outside, but as some people might try to believe these misstatements, he thought that the Council should take notice of them.

Reeve Bruce of Markham Township remarked that when a gentleman made an assertion he generally tried to prove it. The writer in The Telegram had not done so, however, and therefore he was no gentleman.

Councillor Anderson told how John Ross Robertson published his first paper in the old Grammar school. He charged 50c. for the year's subscription, there were only two issues, and no attempt was made to refund the money to the subscribers. It would be better if Mr. Robertson would occupy his time in trying to explain away this little transaction.

Councillor Clendenning threw in the remark that the management of the Grammar school sheet was similar to the method pursued by the proprietor of The Telegram in his book-piracy. Councillor Anderson then suggested as a means to get square that the councillors should sue the paper for libel, but this was laughed out of court, and the matter was allowed to drop. The remainder of the session was occupied in discussing and passing bylaws and reports.

Suicide of a Canboro Farmer.

DUNNVILLE, June 8.—Ezra Swick, a farmer living about eight miles from here in Canboro, committed suicide by hanging himself in his bush last night. The body was found this morning. Some time ago Mr. Swick entered into partnership with a young man and opened a store in Canboro. Getting their goods, Mr. Murgatroid of Smithville, the partner, collected all he could and left. Mr. Swick mortgaged his farm and implements to pay the debts. Yesterday everything was taken from him under the mortgage, and this working on his mind is supposed to have caused the rash act.

The Week's Business Disasters.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days number for the United States 207 and for Canada 28, or a total of 235 as compared with 205 last week and 225 the week previous to the last. The business casualties on the Pacific Coast are exceptionally numerous still, there being no less than 42 reported there during the week, which is far above the average.

An extraordinary special credit for the War Department amounts to 47,250,000 florins, of which 16,000,000 florins have already been expended; 13,750,000 will be used for future requirements, the balance being reserved for urgent emergencies.

Arrested Inside Prison Walls.

Four years ago the residence of Judge Lacourse, Berlin, was broken into, and among other articles His Honor's $150 gold watch stolen. Detective Burrows recovered the timepiece the day after the commission of the crime, but neither he nor Chief Klippert of Berlin could get trace of the thief until last week, when the latter learned that he was serving time in the Central Prison and would be released yesterday. Chief Klippert got here in the morning and waited round the warden's office until William Thomas, the man wanted, appeared, when he arrested him and took him to Police Headquarters, starting back to Berlin with him in the afternoon.

Mrs. Celeste Coon, Syracuse, N.Y., writes: "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning, excruciating pain in my stomach. I took Parmelee's Pills according to directions under the head of 'Dyspepsia or Indigestion.' One box entirely cured me. I can now eat anything I choose, without distressing me in the least." These pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when a cathartic is required.

Conundrum.—If one boy for one dollar can buy one suit that will wear for one year at the Army and Navy stores, how many years' wear will six men get out of six suits that they buy at six dollars each at the Army and Navy stores? All who attempt to solve the above we would first advise to visit the Army and Navy stores, and we are satisfied that when they examine the quality and workmanship of their suits they will be compelled to give the problem up, as some of our customers say they look as if they would wear forever, and they are only to be found at the Army and Navy, 135 King-st. east, and 138 Yonge-st., cor. Temperance. ed

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the internal lining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has ever been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener than once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, the results of the application of which they are equally ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King-street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

CORPUS CHRISTI AT THE ABBEY

An Impressive and Beautiful Service at the Convent in Wellington-Place.

The festival of Corpus Christi was observed at Loretto Abbey, in Wellington-place, by a procession which marched around the grounds connected with the convent building. The first figure in the cortege was that of a little boy, who carried a large golden crucifix, around which were entwined wreaths of rare flowers. Following came a young lady bearing aloft a handsome banner, the long streamers from which were held by a number of young girls uniformly attired in white. Then followed about two hundred young ladies, pupils attending the convent. These were also dressed uniformly, and each wore a long white veil. Several beautiful banners were carried in the procession. The young ladies were followed by the nuns, whose black garments presented a striking contrast to the bright surroundings. Next in order of procession were a number of boys from the Bond-street School. They were attired in black, and each wore a rich crimson sash over his shoulder. They were employed in strewing flowers before the Blessed Sacrament, which was borne by Rev. Father Rooney, under a canopy of rich moire antique, to a temporary altar erected on the western verandah of the building. Benediction being given, the procession reformed and marched back to the chapel.

Then use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and hope will return and despondency disappear. Mr. R. H. Baker, Ingoldsby, writes: "I am completely cured of dyspepsia that caused me great suffering for three years. Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery is the medicine that effected the cure after trying many other remedies."
