THEY WOULD HAVE NONE OF IT

THE EXECUTIVE REFUSE TO ENDORSE THE AQUEDUCT SCHEME.

The Committee Want to Know Who Are the Promoters, Where the Funds Are Coming From, and Ask Other Pertinent Questions — No Information Forthcoming and the Scheme Sat Upon.

It took the Executive Committee about two hours yesterday afternoon to annihilate the famous resolution of Ald. Hewitt's swift Gravitation Committee endorsing E. A. Macdonald's grand canal scheme. During the discussion some of the aldermen gave an excellent imitation of a farce-comedy entitled: "Chasing Bubbles, or Where Are We At?"

Ald. Lamb was the first to speak on the question. He took a sort of on the fence position. It was some time before his colleagues could make out just what he was at; but they finally ascertained that he did not want the resolution of Ald. Hewitt's committee killed. He endeavored to prolong its life by having it referred to the City Engineer and City Solicitor, but he failed to give any good reasons for this and his motion was lost. He admitted he was in favor of this grand scheme, but thought the company was looking too far ahead.

At this point Ald. Shaw asked who composed the company. No one was in a position to answer, and Ald. Lamb, continuing, took strong objections to the company calling itself the Toronto Aqueduct Company. Toronto has a good name in the money markets and the word affixed to the name of any company might mislead capitalists and induce them to invest in a scheme with which the city had no connection. It should be ascertained who composed the company and whether it was bona fide or not before the city had anything to do with it. The city should also see that proper safeguards are used to protect the public so that investors would know their money was properly spent.

Ald. Carlyle thought it would be ridiculous to send such a resolution as that of the Gravitation Committee on to council. The company should tell the public more about itself, who composes it, who their engineers are and where the money is to come from.

The Mayor drew attention to the fact that if that draft agreement was passed by the council it would give the company permission to establish waterworks in opposition to the city. He would like to see some responsible men come forward and identify themselves with the scheme. He did not want the city to become a party to anything of this kind.

Ald. Hallam was surprised that anyone should be guiled by any such wildcat scheme. He had nothing to say against Messrs. Macdonald, Hewitt and Leslie, but they are not in a position to carry out the work financially, nor were any New York capitalists going to trust them with $60,000,000 to spend. The council should not lend itself to any such scheme, as not a man Jack of the promoters could put up a dollar.

The Mayor interjected it would be foolish for the city to have anything to do with it until it is known that there is something at the back of it.

Ald. Crawford said the committee had no right to sit and consider the question at all. The committee met for business and should not waste time. The Beaver-Redway fizzle should be a lesson to the council wasting time over companies that had no visible backing. The scheme is practical, but can only be carried out by men with brains and capital. If there are any connected with this company they should come forward. As it is now, the committee should treat the matter with contempt. It is simply a speculation and the city should not touch it. When the company shows that it means business it will be time for the council to take a hand in the matter.

The Mayor repeated again that the company had no right to come before the committee with what appeared to be a wildcat scheme. If Mr. Macdonald has any solid men connected with him he should let the committee know who they are.

Ald. Leslie gave a repetition of his speech of last Thursday night in favor of the scheme.

Ald. Carlyle reminded the committee of the hurried manner in which the Gravitation Committee had been called for last Saturday, and that a similar attempt was now being made to rush the resolution through the Executive.

Mr. Macdonald was allowed to address the committee, and started in by abusing the members of the press who could not see this canal scheme in such brilliant hues as he did himself. He made a number of vague statements and failed to give satisfactory answers to questions asked him by the aldermen.

Ald. Hewitt also took an opportunity of "roasting" the press, and admitted that he did not know the names of anyone connected with the company.

Ald. Leslie's motion that the resolution be sent on to council was lost on this vote:

THE EXPRESS MESSENGER KILLED.

He Fought Three Train Robbers Who Were Bombarding His Car.

PARSONS, Kan., Sept. 4.—The Western express on the Frisco was boarded by three robbers at Mound Valley, 12 miles south of this city, just as it entered the station at 3.20 this morning. The engineer and fireman were covered by one of the men, while the other two made for the express car. They demanded that the door of the express car be opened. The messenger refused to comply with their demands, and they commenced to fire into the car.

The firing into the express car had awakened many of the passengers, while others were awakened to find themselves looking down the barrels of Winchesters. They were frightened and dumped the contents of the purses and pockets into a big sack which one of the robbers carried. The robbers secured nearly $200 in money, eight or 10 gold watches and some wearing apparel. Two of the robbers were masked.

The plucky messenger returned the fire, and was heard to cry out, "I am killed." At the cessation of firing from the express car the robbers pried open the door and found that the cry of the messenger was no ruse. He was dead. They took possession of the train and ran it about a half mile from the station, when they proceeded to go through the passengers.

The robber, who was not masked, was about 25 years of age, about 5 feet 9 inches in height, apparently weighed 140 pounds, wore a black mustache, with hair a shade darker than the mustache, and showed traces of Indian blood.

The name of the dead messenger was William Chitman, and his home at Springfield, Mo. The robbers are supposed to be the same three men who robbed the Santa Fe depot at Independence, Kan., last Friday night.

The hold-up has caused intense excitement and an armed posse are now in pursuit of the robbers. The news of the robbery spread and the people of the Mound Valley turned out of their beds only to find the robbers gone. No money was secured from the express car, for, with the messenger dead, the robbers were unable to open the safe.

DROVE A RAZOR INTO HIS STOMACH.

Determined Suicide of a Frenchman—Cut His Throat and Arm, Then Used a Hammer.

PARIS, Sept. 4.—An engraver of considerable talent, M. Emile Victor Toulot, who lived with his daughter, aged five, suffered great pain from an internal complaint. He had on many occasions asserted his intention of killing himself. At 5 o'clock yesterday morning, while his daughter slept, he took his box of razors and a hammer and lay down on his bed. First, he seized one of the razors and cut his throat with it. Blood flowed in abundance, but death did not come. The unhappy man then took another razor and opened the big vein of his left arm. Then, placing the blade of the razor on the lower part of the stomach, he hammered it till it disappeared in the flesh.

The noise of the hammering awoke the child. Frightened by the sight of so much blood she began to scream till the neighbors rushed in. The engraver was still breathing and was taken to the St. Louis Hospital, but it is not expected that he can recover.

AN ENTIRE FAMILY CREMATED.

Father and Four Children Burned to Death in London.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—A family named Wall were burned to death this morning in their shop in Hammersmith, a suburb of London.

The father, a widower, lived with his four children on the third floor of the building in which he carried on his trade. The fire broke out early on the first floor. Before the fire brigade could be summoned the first two stories were ablaze.

Wall and his children were at the front windows appealing to the crowd in the street for help. Ten minutes before the firemen came all five had fallen back suffocated. Their bodies are still in the ruins.

AUSTRIAN MANŒUVRES.

They Will Take Place in Galicia in Spite of the Cholera.

VIENNA, Sept. 4.—The Emperor Franz Joseph of Austria Hungary left Ischl this morning to attend the manœuvres in Galicia. It was decided early in the week that he should not leave Ischl until he should be due at the Hungarian manœuvres, which will begin on Sept. 9.

The Austrian press has raised such a clamor, however, about the exposure of the troops in Galicia to cholera and has reproached the Government so bitterly for assembling a large force from the infected districts, that the Emperor felt he must show his willingness to brave all the perils to which he subjected his army.

Germany and Italy are the only powers which will be represented by attaches at the manœuvres. No other countries were invited to be represented.

The district in which the operation will be carried out is swampy, rife with typhoid fever and dysentery, and is bordered with what is known as "cholera spots."

Directing Surgeon Kowalski of the Vienna Hospital and the Vienna Board of Health warned the Government that military operations in such a region must tend to spread cholera. The only concession of the War Office, however, was to agree not to call out the reserves from places known to be infected.

Rumors have reached Vienna that cholera has already appeared among the troops marching to the field of the manœuvres.

CHOLERA'S PROGRESS.

Three More Deaths Reported at Hull and Grimsby.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Another patient—the daughter of the previous victim—died of cholera in Hull yesterday. These cases have been pronounced Asiatic cholera. It is reported there were two deaths from cholera in Grimsby yesterday.

One Fresh Case in Hull.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—One fresh case of cholera was found in Hull to-day. He added that every precaution was being taken against the epidemic.

Berlin's Water Supply Infected.

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—A 4-year-old boy was rescued in an unconscious condition from the water in the Nordhafen in this city on Aug. 24, and has been attacked with cholera. He is now in the Moabit Hospital. This case is regarded as proving that the water is infected. There are three women and one man in the Friedrichshain Hospital suffering with Asiatic cholera.

THE CRONIN MURDER AGAIN.

EX-DETECTIVE COUGHLIN TO HAVE A NEW TRIAL.

A Short History of the Crime and the Motive for the Same—Most of Those Concerned in the Tragedy Have Appeared Before a Higher Court—New Evidence Said To Be Forthcoming.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 3.—Within a few days the last scene will be played in the celebrated case of the murder of Dr. Cronin. Daniel Coughlin, the ex-detective and the last survivor of those who were sentenced to imprisonment for life for the murder at Lakeview on May 4, 1889, will appear in court shortly for a new trial.

On Jan. 19, 1893, the Illinois Supreme Court reversed the finding of the lower courts and granted Coughlin a chance for liberty on the ground that the jury which heard his case was prejudiced. State's Attorney Kern said to-night that the case would surely come up within 10 days. A great many of the witnesses at the previous trial are dead or have moved from Chicago to places unknown. Few of the old lawyers have been retained. The friends of the accused allege that much new evidence will be introduced, and hint that some of it will implicate people in Chicago whose names thus far have not been associated with this famous case. The impression prevails here that Coughlin will be acquitted at his second trial and set at liberty.

It was on Saturday night, May 4, 1889, that Dr. Patrick Cronin was called from his home in North Clark-street, near Division-street, Chicago, ostensibly to attend a man who had been hurt in an accident.

On May 22 a body was found in a sewer catch basin north of the city, which, though decayed, was identified as that of Dr. Cronin, of whom no trace could be found after the night of the 4th.

The motive for the removal was supposed to have been found in the fact that Dr. Cronin had charged certain officials of the secret Irish society, the Clan-na-Gael, with misappropriation of funds.

On June 29 a special jury indicted Daniel Coughlin, John F. Beggs, Patrick O'Sullivan, Martin Burke, Patrick Cooney, Frank Woodruff and John Kunze. Cooney never was brought to trial, and Woodruff left the city and never was brought before the court. Burke was caught at Winnipeg, Canada, and he, with the other four, went before the court in October, but the trial was renewed, finding Beggs not guilty, Kuntz guilty of manslaughter with a penalty of three years imprisonment, and Coughlin, O'Sullivan and Burke guilty of murder, with the penalty of life imprisonment. They were received at Joliet prison on Jan. 14, 1890.

Patrick O'Sullivan died on May 5, 1892, at Joliet prison. Martin Burke died on Dec. 9, 1892, in the same prison. He was the fourteenth person connected with the Cronin trial to die since the famous trial ended.

LABOR DAY DEMONSTRATIONS.

The Day Observed in Montreal and Several Other Cities.

MONTREAL, Sept. 4.—This is Labor Day and the city enjoys one of the brightest days of the season. The procession formed at 9 o'clock in Craig and Gosford-streets and marched through the principal streets, which were decorated all along the lines with Union Jacks, French flags and the Stars and Stripes. A halt was made at Place d'Armes for the purpose of laying the corner-stone of a monument to be erected in honor of Sieur de Maissonneuve, the founder of Montreal, who landed in that city May 17, 1642. The City Council, Citizens' Committee and representatives from the Trades Congress and the Trades and Labor Council occupied honored positions. The funds for erecting the monument were subscribed by the citizens independent of nationality or creed, The French Government subscribed 500 francs.

Speeches were made by the Mayor, Judge Pagnuelo, Senator Murphy, L. Z. Beaudry, President of Trades and Labor Council, Montreal; G. T. Bealea, Toronto, and ex-Mayor McShane, after which the procession re-formed and marched to the Exhibition grounds. The City Council subscribed $6000.

The Seceders' procession, known as the Federated Trades Council, marched, about 300 taking part, and holding their picnic in Royal Park.

The Labor Congress.

The Congress will convene for regular business to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock in the City Hall. There will be some 100 or more delegates in attendance.

Among the questions which will receive special attention will be those of the Canadian tariff and independence. The session will close on Friday night next.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Perfect weather characterized Labor Day in New York. All the big manufactories were shut down. All wholesale establishments, business exchanges, down-town offices and most of the retail shops were closed. The labor parade was the feature of the day.

Big Demonstration in London.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 4.—Labor Day demonstration here proved an entire success. About 2000 representatives of the city's industries paraded to Queen's Park, where an address on "Labor" was delivered by J. T. Marks, followed by a well-arranged program of sports. Business was generally suspended during the afternoon.

WIMAN OPPOSES SAVINGS BANKS.

Too Much Money in the Hands of a Few—People Ought to Build.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Erastus Wiman discussed savings banks at Prohibition Park, S.I., yesterday. He questioned the wisdom of placing $454,000,000, the amount of money deposited in the savings banks of New York and Brooklyn, in the hands of a few officials. It was a great responsibility, he said, and in his opinion twice the number of officers would guard the hard-earned money of the people with greater safety.

Mr. Wiman thought that the present financial stringency was owing to the fact that the banks were compelled to hoard up vast amounts to meet the withdrawals of depositors, thus paralyzing trade and seriously affecting business interests. He advised the organization of building and loan associations in connection with churches, believing that thus much of the money deposited in savings banks would be used in the erection of cottages and apartment houses.

A SUSPICIOUS ACCIDENT.

The Death of Young Harmborough Under Investigation by the Scotch Authorities.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The intervention of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York has roused the Scotch authorities to investigate the mystery surrounding the death of young Harmborough, shot while hunting near Loch Fyne early in August.

The published account of his death was to the effect that, while climbing a fence, he accidentally set off his gun and received the full charge in the head. It has been ascertained that just before his death Harmborough was negotiating for a life insurance of £10,000, to be assigned to his friend Monson, grandson of the Viscount of Galway and cousin of Lord Houghton, Viceroy of Ireland.

An Inveterate Borrower.

Monson is an undischarged bankrupt and an inveterate borrower. He was out hunting with Harmborough at the time of the accident. It has been proved that the shot which entered Harmborough's head came from Monson's gun.

Another suspicious circumstance is that all of Harmborough's wounds were in the back of his head. Monson explained the former bit of evidence against him by saying that on the morning of the accident he and Harmborough exchanged guns.

Not a Plausible Story.

His story is not regarded as plausible and he has been arrested on suspicion.

The man Scott who helped Monson carry Harmborough's body to the house after the accident has disappeared since the investigation of his master's death began.

The coroner has ordered that Harmborough's body, which was buried at Ventnor, Isle of Wight, be exhumed for examination.

REVISING THE U.S. BANKING LAW.

National Banks to Become State Institutions—The 10 Per Cent. Tax Repealed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—A Washington special to The Sun says: It has been ascertained that, besides Speaker Crisp, Secretary Carlisle and the two members of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, Hale of Missouri, and Warner of New York, President Cleveland took part in the conference at the Treasury Department on Saturday. Secretary Carlisle was requested to draw up a bill changing the banking laws. The bill, it is said, will provide for the reorganization of the national banks as State institutions, and for the repeal of the 10 per cent. tax, so as to permit them to issue currency the same as national banks now do. The currency will be based upon state, municipal and other bonds or private securities of such a character as to meet the approval of the Government authorities.

The present system of examination by the United States will be continued and the Government is to stand good for the redemption of the currency in gold. Such state banks as now exist will be permitted to issue currency provided they comply with the requirements of the new law, but against such banks as do not reorganize in compliance with the law the 10 per cent. tax will still stand. That feature of the present law which provides that banks may issue currency only to the amount of 90 per cent. of their bonds will probably be retained, as it is expected that the extension of the privilege to the many state institutions which would take advantage of it would sufficiently increase the volume of currency. It would thereafter naturally expand with the growth of the new banking system.

A Tariff Bill on the Cards.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The House Committee on Ways and Means to-day began the series of hearings it will give before it undertakes the preparation of a tariff bill for presentation to the House. The first person scheduled to be heard was Representative Harter of Ohio, who will advocate the placing of agricultural implements and flour on the free list, or including them within the reciprocity treaties that are made.

You Will Hear More Like Them.

Since the Sunday street cars were defeated those who need them and are seriously inconvenienced thereby are speaking out. Here are two instances that The World ran across yesterday:

George Dunstan, real estate agent, had a fine Parkdale lot sold for the erection of a handsome residence. "But will only buy there," said the purchaser, "provided I can get to St. James' Cathedral to church, and until I see how the Sunday car vote goes I'll not close." Mr. Dunstan tried to close him last week, but the gentleman would not listen to him.

On Sunday a member of one of the Sons of England lodges died suddenly. The secretary of the lodge had to walk miles in notifying the other members, in seeing the undertaker, in going to newspaper offices with the death notice, etc. He could not afford a coupe.

Dr. Burns of College-street happened to hear the relation of this last instance. He said: "There isn't a doctor in town but that comes across one or more such cases of hardship almost every Sunday."

The public ought to keep track of such instances. The World will publish them from time to time. We believe that many persons voted against Sunday cars because they are not acquainted with the hardship that comes to many from a denial of them.

"SWIPT MACNEILL REFUSES TO BE NAMED."

CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE

The Caricature in Punch That Led to an Assault in the Lobby of the Imperial Commons.

A cable despatch a few days ago stated that Mr. Swift MacNeill, Home Rule M.P. for South Donegal, had assaulted the well-known artist, Mr. Harry Furniss, in the lobby of the House of Commons, for caricaturing him in Punch. It was narrated in the cablegram that Mr. MacNeil meeting Mr. Furniss told him that as he was too little to kick he would content himself with twisting one of his ears. The irate M.P. suited the action to the word. Mr. Furniss did not retaliate, but reported the occurrence to the sergeant-at-arms, who informed the Speaker. As the latter gentleman declined to interfere Mr. Furniss probably decided to allow the matter to drop. At any rate, up to date no more has been heard on this side of the Atlantic of the little incident. Above is the caricature that caused all the trouble, with the accompanying text from Punch's Essence of Parliament.

"Once the Blameless Bartley singled out Member for South Donegal, mentioning him by name as responsible for particular exclamations. 'Don't presume to mention my name,' said MacNeill, leaning across gangway.

"'Look here, Bartley,' said Tommy Bowles, "if you're going on that tack you must come and sit at this side. When I saw MacNeill put up his mouth to speak I confess I thought I was going to be swallowed whole. You sit here: there's more of you."

The London correspondent of The Newcastle Chronicle, describing the affair, says: "Nobody could plume himself more readily on artistic treatment than the excitable member for South Donegal. His face is singularly expressive, his locomotion somewhat unsteady, and his nervous irritability keeps him in almost constant motion. But, self will does not believe there is anything eccentric about his speech or movements, he gets very angry when observers come to a different conclusion. This was the case during an altercation in the Lobby to-night. The member and the artist having met by chance, the caricatured told the caricaturist what he thought about him, and, as the result of a little bandinage, the man of pictures was assaulted."

The correspondent concludes with a threat which appears as much out of place as the caricature and the assault. He says:

"From all this it will be seen that the Nationalists are becoming unpleasantly arrogant, and that it may be necessary to reduce them to their proper level before many months elapse."

ARRESTED AFTER PRAYERS.

HE WAS LEAVING CHURCH WITH HIS SECOND WIFE

When He Was Arrested On a Charge of Bigamy—Left His First Wife to Support Six Children—Became Converted and Three Weeks Ago Married a Prominent Lady Churchworker.

GREENWICH, Conn., Sept. 4.—After the service at the North Cos Cob Methodist Church Sunday evening, Thomas Fenwick was arrested by Officer Fitzray and locked up in the Greenwich Jail on a charge of bigamy.

Fenwick is 50 years old. He formerly resided in North Cos Cob, but left there 10 years ago with his family and settled in New Haven, where they lived happily for several years. On the death of a child in 1886 Fenwick left his wife, Mary, with six children without even waiting to attend the funeral, and has been drifting about the country ever since. A year or so ago he returned to North Cos Cob, where he attended the revival meetings then being held at the Methodist Church.

He experienced a change of faith, joined the church, and since that time has led the prayer meetings. He became infatuated with Miss Julia Harmon, one of the most prominent leaders in church work. The infatuation was mutual, and the result was their marriage in Bedford, N.Y., three weeks ago.

The first Mrs. Fenwick became acquainted with the facts last week, and she and two married sons came from New Haven to investigate, and placed the case in the hands of Officer Fitzroy. When the officer went to the church he saw Fenwick and his second wife engaged in fervent prayer. Fitzroy arrested him at the close of the service. Mrs. Fenwick No. 2 was prostrated.

Fenwick will be given a hearing before Judge Hoyt in the Greenwich Borough Court to-morrow morning. The first Mrs. Fenwick and her sons and daughters will press the case.

A C. P. R. ABSCONDER CAUGHT.

Clarence R. Barry, Charged With the Larceny of $1539, Arrested.

HALIFAX, N.S., Sept. 4.—Clarence R. Barry, late ticket agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and agent of the Dominion Express Company in this city, was arrested in New York yesterday afternoon as he was about to board the Allan steamer Nebraska, which was to sail immediately for Liverpool.

He was taken into custody by a detective on a charge of larceny of $1539 from the railway company. Barry disappeared suddenly on the 26th, and an examination of his accounts had disclosed the deficiency. Barry will be returned to Halifax as soon as requisition papers have been secured. The prisoner denies his identity and says that the wrong man has been arrested.

Mr. Barry was on his way to his old home in Ireland. He was to appear before a commissioner of the Supreme Court last Monday in regard to the shortage of the amount above stated, but on Saturday night he quietly boarded the steamer Olivette and took passage for Boston. From there he proceeded at once to New York.

Detective Power left for New York last night with the necessary papers and will bring Barry back to this city.

POKER LEADS TO MURDER.

In a Quarrel One Player Fatally Shoots Another.

LANSING, Mich., Sept. 4.—At midnight Saturday Byron M. Brown, an old and well-known resident of this city, shot and killed Montgomery Hendershott in a quarrel over a poker game. The only witnesses were Fred Carr and a young man named Hornley, both of whom have been detained. They are very reticent regarding the murder, and all that is known is that trouble arose over a game of cards, and ended in shooting. Hendershott lived only half an hour. He leaves a widow and four children. Both the murderer and his victim were printers, employed in the office of Robert Smith & Company, State printers.

The Alva Given Up for Lost.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—A special to The Herald from Kingston, Jamaica, says: No tidings of the missing Atlas Line steamer Alva have been received at Fortune Key, one of the Bahama islands, where she would put in if disabled or had met with any severe stress of weather. News has been received from Hayti, where she was to call, but the steamer had not put in there or at any other Haytian port. She has been given up as lost.

One Way of Locomotion Still Left.

Walking is a healthful and invigorating exercise universally recommended by the medical faculty and approved by the experience of mankind. Now that Sunday cars have been defeated people who purpose taking a post prandial promenade to the parks on Sunday cannot fail to appreciate the advantage of having a pair of quinn's three for a dollar black cashmere half hose.

UP TO M'SHAUGHNESSY'S.

"Have you fellows got your income tax papers?" said McShaughnessy Saturday night to half a dozen travelers and warehousemen who had dropped into Mac's for the usual half-hour's smoke and chat. "I tell you, gentlemen," said McShaughnessy, "this assessing on income is the biggest 'fake' in Canada. Of course you all know I am with one of the big grocery houses. Collins, our eastern man, and myself are the heaviest-paid men in the house. Well, we are assessed for two hundred apiece, while some of our fellows who don't draw half our salary are coolly put down for $800. We sent the bookkeeper a brace of partridge or duck—when in season. This is all that is necessary.

"The men in the offices say what income tax a fellow shall pay. Those city fellows have nothing to do with it. There is one poor little fellow in the warehouse who pays taxes on his income, taxes on a chattel lot and then they tax his income. Mind, every dollar he can scrape together outside his bare living goes to pay interest and taxes. It's a howling shame! Some men are taxed twice and three times over. They are kept hustling all the year round; they barely get through scraping and saving to one year's end when before next year's are staring them in the face. The willing horse pulls all the load. Let me give you fellows a pointer if you want to escape paying income tax get on the 'sunny side' of the bookkeeper; you can bank your bottom dollar he is the man who does the assessing. If the B.K. likes a fellow he gives him a couple of hundred; if not he puts his income down for all the law allows. It's a kind of municipal autumn handicap and the office fixes the weights. The whole thing is a robbery and a farce.

"There are lots of men in Toronto whose income is derived from thousands from investments in building and loan companies and banks who go "scot free," but the fellow who is in receipt of six or eight hundred a year salary and has a small equity in a piece of property, has to get hold of the heavy end of the log and do the lifting, while the hundreds who are exempt touch the light end and do the grunting. Is it any wonder so many are throwing up their little homes and going to board? The fact is no man on a limited salary can keep house in Toronto.

From being a city of homes it will soon be a city of boarding houses and flats. MICAWBER.

THE COWS WERE ALL DRUNK.

Each of Farmer Christman's Animals Was a Walking Distillery.

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 4.—When Farmer Jacob Christman went to a pasture field yesterday he was astonished at the antics of his large drove of cows. They were all staggering about like so many drunken men. They bellowed, threw their heads and tails in the air and acted like circus horses prancing to the time of a brass band. It was the worst lot of jig steps the farmer had ever seen. The cows were intoxicated, but how they came to be so was a mystery until A. K. Evans, a veterinary surgeon, was called. He found that the cattle had broken into a corn field and the green corn they had eaten fermented in their stomachs, causing intoxication.
