The engagement concludes with matinee and night performances tomorrow.

W. G. URLIN'S DEATH

Inquest at Dutton Closed—Verdict of Suicide Found by a Majority of the Jury.

Dutton, Ont., Jan. 10.—The evidence in connection with the inquest into the cause of the death of W. G. Urlin was concluded yesterday. The chief witnesses were Drs. Cascaden and McKillop, who held the post-mortem examination. Their evidence went to show that, although possible, it was improbable that deceased inflicted both wounds. Two wounds were found behind the ear, around both of which were powder marks and burned skin. The bullet in the front wound was traced through thickest portions of skull for three inches, but could not be found. The bullet in back wound was traced through upper and lower parts of the brain three inches and found lodged in the upper portion.

Mary Lena Urlin, widow of the dead man, said deceased seemed to worry about his prospects, when, in fact, he was never in better circumstances in his life. He was receiving aid from his two brothers and from his brother-in-law. He complained every day for weeks of sleeplessness. She never saw him have any bright moments since he lost his position. Deceased and her brothers were always on the best of terms. She thought he lost his reason and took his own life.

Mrs. A. D. Urlin, sister-in-law of deceased, testified that after the removal of the body of Urlin from the hen-coop, in which it was found, she saw the Hertel brothers standing together in the woodshed, apparently talking. She asked what Will had taken. Albert suggested chloroform, but J. C. said we would know soon enough. J. C. denied to the coroner having found a revolver, but afterwards acknowledged it. He said to the coroner: "Come with me and I will show you what did the deed."

Edna Urlin, daughter of deceased, 16 years of age, noticed her father was melancholy prior to his death. Her father and her uncle Albert were always on good terms.

The jury in the Urlin case returned at 12:30 in the morning, eleven agreeing that W. G. Urlin came to his death by bullet wounds fired by himself while insane, and two agreeing that he came to his death by bullet wounds inflicted by himself or parties unknown.

A New Cereal Company.

[From the Canadian Grocer.]

Mr. E. A. Shoebotham, as promoter and manager of the Northwestern Cereal Company, London, is placing on the market in the two specialities manufactured by that firm, what he claims to be the two finest cereal products offered through the trade. He has had an experience of many years in the growing, manufacturing and selling of cereals and cereal goods. In 1898 he introduced in Western Ontario, for E. D. Tilson, of Tilsonburg, the then new process of flaked cereal goods, in Molina rolled wheat, flaked barley, flaked peas, pan-dried oatmeal, etc., and he recalls interesting stories of the tall guessing some of the merchants made at that time as to what the ordinary yellow pea really was, when shown to them in those large, yellow, golden flakes. Later, as agent for the Cream of Wheat Company, of Minneapolis, for over a year and a half Mr. Shoebotham successfully promoted the introduction of the product of that company, through the Canadian wholesale trade. His various wholesale and commission agencies, in addition to experience gained in his retail business of Shoebotham & Co., grocers and pure food specialists, St. James Park, London, has placed him in a position to acquire an intelligent knowledge of what the trade demands, both from the standpoint of health and that of popular favor. Believing in certain specific natural foods, thoroughly boiled or baked in the good old way, as essential to the building up and retaining of full physical and mental force, he is full of forceful argument that it is in the use of those natural elements of constant development and repair to the system, that we are, as individuals and as a people, what we are. With the latest scientific improvements to hand to equip Canadian mills and the best wheat berry in the world grown in the Canadian Northwest from which to manufacture, Mr. Shoebotham determined some time ago to produce two lines of goods, to be not only the finest Canadian, but, what he terms, the most superior health-food products in America. With that object in view and to give it his fullest attention, he sold out his retail business, and the result is the formation of the Northwestern Cereal Co., with its two initial lines, "Superior Breakfast Cream" (cereal) and "Superior Gluten Flour."

SURE REGULATORS.—Mandrake and Dandelion are known to exert a powerful influence on the liver and kidneys, restoring them to healthful action, inducing a regular flow of the secretions, and imparting to the organs complete power to perform their functions. These valuable ingredients enter into the composition of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, and serve to render them the agreeable and salutary medicine they are. There are few pills so effective as they in their action.
