HERMIS STARTS SATURDAY REDFERN IS ON THE WAY

Suburban Winner Goes to St. Louis to Run in World's Fair Handicap.

New York, June 21.—Hermis will race at St. Louis next Saturday in the $50,000 World's Fair handicap after all. He is now on his way to the World's Fair city in a special car attached to the Exposition Flyer, one of the New York Central's fastest transcontinental trains. He is traveling as a thorobred prince should, in truly regal style, and according to sundry reports. Edward R. Thomas received yesterday from Will Shields, wired from different points up the state, he is enjoying the experience.

Young Shields wires that the horse is doing so well he has small fear he may not land at St. Louis safely and soundly in prime condition to do battle with the best horses the west can produce, before a crowd that will be representative of all the nations of the civilized world, for the richest prize ever hung up west of the Alleghenies for a mile and a quarter race between horses 3 years old and over.

The first report Mr. Thomas got was despatched at noon. It reached him at Sheepshead Bay before 2 o'clock. At that time Hermis had become so accustomed to his new surroundings that he had ceased to be interested, and was lying peacefully down on a bed of clean, fresh straw. This news heartened Mr. Thomas immensely. It was only the fear that a hard trip might make Hermis nervous and fretful that caused Mr. Thomas to hesitate about sending his horse west after his Suburban victory.

Hermis began his westward trip at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. Will Shields, like the Arab, silently folded his tent and stole away from Gravesend unawares. When his sleepy brother trainers got out, between 5 and 6, and were told that Hermis had gone away, they were incredulous. And they would not believe what they heard until they had gone over to the Shields barn and inspected the gallant chestnut's empty stall.

Mr. Thomas' friends were equally astonished and incredulous when they heard the story of the Hermence horse's departure later in the day. They were surprised, because Mr. Thomas had not made up his mind late Sunday evening that he would ship, and the chance of his remaining here seemed good. Mr. Thomas and Alex Shields came to their decision to send the horse west after a long conference, and directly they made up their minds they began their preparations to ship. They want to get Hermis to the Missouri metropolis as quickly as possible, to the end that he may quickly recover from the fatigue of the journey, if, indeed, the journey distresses him. Also, they want to get a good work over the fair grounds track under his belt. He came out of the Suburban without taking two long breaths, and has worked nicely since, he be is a great doer, and it will not do to let him fill up.

Barring accident, Hermis will be at the fair grounds, where special preparation has been made for his reception, at 2.15 this evening. It is Will Shields' plan to breeze him to-morrow and give him a good stiff work on Thursday. Hermis got a stiff work in the running of the Brooklyn handicap two days before the Suburban, and the result was so satisfactory, Mr. Shields elected to follow a similar course with reference to the World's Fair handicap.

Washington Park Closed Up.

Chicago, June 21.—There will be no more horse-racing at Washington Park this year, and a report was in circulation to-night that the track where so many American Derbies have been decided will be abandoned. The stand taken by the city authorities prohibiting betting in any form at the track is responsible for the closing of the present meeting. With the elimination of bookmakers, racegoers refuse to patronize the track. During the last two days not enough money was taken in at the gate to pay the employes of the track, to say nothing of purses, which amounted to an average of $4000 a day.

After the races had been run to-day the directors of the club held a meeting to consider the advisability of continuing the meeting for the full 25 days, and decided to close the gates for the present meeting at least. The announcement was made that all stakes left to be decided had been declared off. Among the stakes left undecided are the Hide Park Stake, the Sheridan Handicap, the Young Handicap and the Wheeler Handicap. A proposition was made to Secretary Howard to run some of these stakes at the other tracks, but it was refused.

When the edict by Mayor Harrison was issued last week it was believed that patrons would be willing to pay admission to the park to witness the races, regardless of the betting end of the game. That this supposition was wrong was plainly evident, even on last Saturday, when the American Derby was run. When last year's Derby was decided between 50,000 and 60,000 persons passed thru the gates at the track. Last Saturday, when it was known no chance to hazard money on the results of the races would be had, the attendance was fully 15,000 less, notwithstanding that all the conditions surrounding the running of the event were as favorable, or even more so, with the exception of the attraction of the bookmaker, than on the corresponding Derby Day a year ago. Yesterday, with the same restrictions regarding wagering money governing the races, not over $1500 was taken in at the gates. A year ago on the corresponding day ten times that amount was paid in at the gates.

To-day matters were even worse, less than $500 being secured in paid admissions, making to-day's attendance the smallest that has ever witnessed the thorobreds run at Washington Park. Whether the closing of Washington Park will have any effect on the running of races on other tracks in the vicinity of Chicago is not known. The Washington Park track is situated in the City of Chicago, and is under the jurisdiction of the city authorities. The other tracks—Harlem, Hawthorne and Worth—are located outside the city limits, and are outside the jurisdiction of the city authorities. Whether Sheriff Barrett will interfere with these tracks is problematical. At any rate, it is not likely there will be any more racing in Chicago until July 17, when Hawthorne opens for its summer meeting. The dates allotted to Washington Park, which were abandoned to-day, it is said, will not be given to the other tracks.

The feature of to-day's races was the Lakeside Stakes for 2-year-old fillies, with a gross value of $3560. The stake was won by The Mist. Lalonde, carrying top weight, was second, and Regale third. Weather clear and cool; track good. Summaries:
