The Weekly Mail.

VOL. V. NO. 24 TORONTO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1876. PRICE FOUR CENTS.

SUMMARY OF NEWS.

BY CANADIAN STEAMER.

From Liverpool, Oct. 26.

MR. MACKENZIE BOWELL.

It is quite enough to warrant attack by the Globe upon Mr. MACKENZIE BOWELL, M.P., that he is Grand Master of the Orange body of Eastern Ontario. Mr. BOWELL was lately present the laying of the corner stone of a new Orange Hall in the County of Northumberland, and, as became one loyal to himself and his professions, defended those men he was bound by his office and oaths of office to protect. The Globe says he introduced politics into his remarks. This is not the fact, as the extract given in his own columns shows. He said: "He did not intend to mix up politics in his remarks, but this question—the 12th which Bro. MARSHALL in his regalia had referred—was one which affected the Orange Institution. It was a fact that the Orangemen in Manvers had saved the Orangemen in Ontario, would the next election, rise up in power and take from them their power to defend and protect them in Parliament." Some Grits, he said, had told him that if he would be for the Orange cause, they would give him their votes. He had refused—was one which affected the Institution. He had told them "Arthur Orton is found alive." Previous letters prove this to be correct. The telegram cost Lord Ed. I have also found a survivor of the Bells with documents to prove all. My reward of £2,000 from Orton, and my

THE TICHBORNE CASE—ALLEGED IMPORTANT DISCOVERIES.

Telegrams received in London from Melbourne announce the discovery of a survivor of the Bells, and also of the real veritable Arthur Orton." Mr. Guilford Onslow, some time back offered a reward of £2,500 for the discovery of Orton, the legal myth of whom so many were incredulous. Mr. Lock, a solicitor, who defended Orton in Australia, on a charge of horse-stealing, and knows him well after a most diligent search, has at last, it is stated, discovered him in a lunatic asylum, fifteen miles from Sydney, where he has been an inmate for many years under the name of Alfred Bell. Mr. Onslow in a letter to Mr. Edward Foster, of Leeds, says—"I hasten to convey to you the news of my visit and my agent, Mr. William Lock, of Melbourne, has wired to me (Sydney Cable) by submarine telegraph 'Arthur Orton is found alive.'" Previous letters prove this to be correct. The telegram cost Lord Ed. I have also found a survivor of the Bells with documents to prove all. My reward of £2,500 from Orton, and my

THE TICHBORNE CASE.

Telegrams received in London from Melbourne announce the discovery of a survivor of the Bells, and also of the real veritable Arthur Orton." Mr. Guilford Onslow, some time back offered a reward of £2,500 for the discovery of Orton, the legal myth of whom so many were incredulous. Mr. Lock, a solicitor, who defended Orton in Australia, on a charge of horse-stealing, and knows him well after a most diligent search, has at last, it is stated, discovered him in a lunatic asylum, fifteen miles from Sydney, where he has been an inmate for many years under the name of Alfred Bell. Mr. Onslow in a letter to Mr. Edward Foster, of Leeds, says—"I hasten to convey to you the news of my visit and my agent, Mr. William Lock, of Melbourne, has wired to me (Sydney Cable) by submarine telegraph 'Arthur Orton is found alive.'" Previous letters prove this to be correct. The telegram cost Lord Ed. I have also found a survivor of the Bells with documents to prove all. My reward of £2,500 from Orton, and my

TELEGRAPHIC SUMMARY.

Americans.

William H. Baker, a wealthy resident of Taunton, Mass., cut his throat, and died on Sunday.

A daughter of Stephen Young, of Braintree, Vt., was burned to death on Saturday by her clothes taking fire from a stove.

Gen. Giles A. Smith, a distinguished soldier in the late war, and more recently second Assistant Postmaster-General, died at Bloomington, Ill., on Sunday.

The body of Philip Ochsan, a wealthy butcher, missing since 21st Oct., was found on Sunday in the East River. The body bore no marks of violence, and his watch was found in his pocket.

A committee of twelve citizens recently waited on Judge McAllister, of Chicago, asking him to resign on account of his conduct in a recent murder trial. It is not expected that he will comply with the request.

A woman named Gibson, with several children, was charged in Jersey City with confidence swindling, she having used Colonel McCloskey's name without his consent. The Cardinal was on the witness stand, and utterly repudiated her.

The Producers and Manufacturers' Bank, Thirdville, Pa., closed its doors on Monday. There had been a run on the bank during the past week. The assets of the bank are considered ample to meet all its liabilities.

Mrs. Anna Bullock, of Brooklyn, was in the habit of taking morphine to obtain relief from a headache, and died from the effects of the drug on Thursday. The deceased was married to a son of Henry Ward Beecher.

Dr. Chas. Tyson, of Newark, N.J., on Saturday, stabbed and killed Charles Weber, and fatally injured Jacob Mason, formerly a German hotel keeper. The affair is the result of a quarrel between the two men, which occurred on Friday.

Dr. Chadwick, of a fish in drying at Newark, N.J., on Saturday, stabbed and killed Charles Weber, and fatally injured Jacob Mason, formerly a German hotel keeper. The affair is the result of a quarrel between the two men, which occurred on Fri