SEVENTEENTH YEAR — SIX PAGES—MONDAY MORNING MARCH 30 1896—SIX PAGES — ONE CENT

WHAT WILL BE RESULT?

WILL THE NOVA SCOTIA SYST[illegible] BE THE ONE ADOPTED

By the Conferees at Winnipeg. Who Are Trying to Settle the School Difficulty?—An Attempt Will Still Be Made to Pass the Remedial Bill Into Law—Ottawa Topics.

Ottawa, March 29.—(Special).—Reports from Winnipeg to the Government yesterday and to-day all point to a compromise on the school question. What the nature of the suggested settlement is no one outside the circle of Cabinet Ministers knows definitely, although the general impression is that something like the Nova Scotia system will be agreed upon. In brief, while the Nova Scotia system does not recognize Separate schools, under the law, Catholics have practically their own schools, their own teachers and receive provincial aid to their schools. All Catholics, however, contribute to the Public schools in the matter of taxation. There should be no difficulty in reaching a settlement on these lines, as Mr. Ouimet, the Ministerial champion of Catholic schools, has admitted that it would be acceptable to the minority in Manitoba.

It is stated, however, that no matter what understanding is reached in Winnipeg, the Remedial bill will, if possible, be passed into law with the proviso which was referred to the other day.

Many Conservatives here hope this determination will not be carried into effect, as they consider it implies a lack of trust in Manitoba to carry out the agreement which everyone expects is to be reached.

Fishing in the St. Clair River.

Mr. Costigan, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, has reached a decision regarding the changes in fishing regulations for the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers. Hitherto the American fishermen on these rivers have not been restricted. There has been no close season in spring or fall. United States fishermen have been allowed to use destructive methods of fishing, including bare hooks, as well as an excessive number of pound nets. Under these conditions they have certainly monopolized the lion's share of the fishing in the narrow waters. The Minister has, therefore, decided to grant every privilege to Canadian fishermen that is now enjoyed by U. S. fishermen, limited only by certain restrictions which are statutory. These latter will include the issue of licenses. The deputation which was here the other day asked for free fishing, but the Minister will not concede this, holding that the department must retain some control over the fisheries. It is hoped that Mr. Costigan's decision will lead the American authorities to see the necessity of agreeing upon fair regulations in waters contiguous to both countries. Otherwise it is obvious that the fisheries in these rivers, Detroit and St. Clair, must soon come to an end, and Lake Erie, for which they are the spawning grounds suffers in consequence.

Religion in Schools.

Dr. Carman, superintendent of the Methodist Church, preached educational sermons here to-day. To-night at Dominion Church he said it should not be difficult for Anglicans, Roman Catholics, Methodists, Presbyterians, Baptists and all other Christian denominations to agree upon some form of religion to be taught in the schools of Canada. If such an agreement were arrived at the public authorities would not dare to refuse to accept it. His honest conviction was that the very people who were making the greatest howl about religion in the schools were people who were keeping God and religion out of the schools.

The B.C. Seal Catch.

Mr. Earle, M.P., who has several vessels engaged in the sealing industry, has reports up to last Monday of the coast catch of the British Columbia fleet. The Oscar and Hattie is the top liner, with 240 skins, one of Mr. Earle's vessels, the Fawn, being second, with 180. This represents six weeks' work, but the catch is not up to the average, owing to the bad weather.

To Keep Lobsters Alive.

Experiments are now in progress at Halifax, under the direction of Prof. Prince, Commissioner of Fisheries, with a view to determining the best method of keeping lobsters alive when away from their native habitat. The Fisheries Department proposes to send lobsters and lobster spawn to be placed in the waters of the Pacific next month. Similar attempts on the part of the United States proved unsuccessful. If Canada succeeds it will be a great feather in her cap.

Supplementary Estimates.

The supplementary estimates for the current fiscal year will be presented to-morrow. There is no doubt about their passing, as the money is really needed for expenditure already occurred. The main and supplementary estimates for the next fiscal year, however, are not likely to pass.

AT WORK IN WINNIPEG.

The Commissioners are Completely Dumb as to What is Transpiring—All Seems to be Speculation.

Winnipeg, March 29.—(Special).—[illegible] was accomplished by the Schools [illegible]ssion yesterday can be gathered [illegible] a careful watching of the move[illegible] the commission. They are com[illegible]umb to the subject under consid[illegible]ns, but close observers of their acti[illegible]s say they are all buoyed up with the hope of immortalizing themselves by effecting a settlement, but the consummation has not yet been reached. The commission had only one meeting on Saturday, the understanding having been reached in the afternoon that the conference arranged for at 5 o'clock should not take place. The reason for this action is stated to be the desire of the Manitoba Ministers to consult Premier Greenway, who has been out of the city, on the proposition of the federal commissioners. From the number of cipher telegrams passing between the federal commisssion and the Ottawa Government, there is an impression that Manitoba made an offer that the commission thought advisable to submit to headquarters. The prevailing opinion here is that if the commission continues to meet after to-morrow an amicable settlement is assured. It is claimed that in the proposals if each side were too unyielding there would surely be a break-off by Monday.

FLOOD AT NIAGARA FALLS, ONT.

Muddy Creek Overran Its Banks—The G.T.R. Yards Under Water.

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 29.—Muddy Run Creek flooded its banks to-day, caused by the great quantity of snow that was on the ground in the back country melting rapidly before a warm summer sun and south wind. The water rose rapidly, and soon had Bridge-street a raging river of three feet of water, with cascades, as it rushed down the street over Niagara's precipice. The G.T.R. yards were inundated with two feet of water, completely suspending work for the afternoon. Their passenger trains were handled with much difficulty, but without delay. The water from the yard rushed over the bank at the railway entrance to the Suspension Bridge, forming no mean cataract. It is expected that a good deal of damage has been done to the street and also to ballast in the G.T.R. yards and filling of cellars with water. At 9 p.m. the water is subsiding. The intake sewer for ordinary circumstances, was not of sufficient capacity to take the increased waters.

FRESHET AT THE HUMBER.

That Western Stream on a Rampage—Waters High But Damage Slight.

The rain of Saturday night and the warmth of yesterday melted much of the snow which still lies deep in the fields, and every rivulet became a rushing stream. The creeks emptying into the Humber were much swollen yesterday and the flood broke the ice up early in the day, the river rising much above its normal level. The lowlands and marshes in the valley were soon flooded, and at its mouth the river was 18 inches above its ordinary level. But little damage was occasioned so far as could be learned late last night, although it was rumored that the high dam at Weston had given way before the enormous pressure.

At 10 o'clock last night the flood had reached its height, and the roaring of the torrent could be plainly heard in the Junction. After that time the water began to fall gradually, and it is thought the freshet is over.

ANXIETY AS TO THE OUTCOME.

Thus Far Twenty Whites Have Been Killed by Matabeles.

Cape Town, March 29.—According to advices received here, the rising among the Matabeles is not so serious as the first despatches portended, but there is nevertheless much anxiety as to what the final outcome will be. A despatch received to-day from Buluwayo, the principal town of Matabeleland, says that thus far 20 whites have been killed by the natives.

Sir Hercules Robinson, Governor of Cape Colony and High Commissioner in South Africa, has cabled to Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, in London, that Captain Nicholson telegraphs from Buluwayo that he has 350 rifles and plenty of ammunition. Captain Nicholson thinks that the revolt will not spread. The only detachments of the native police who are known to have certainly deserted are 30 who shot Commissary Bentley. Another 30 were very restless, and were disarmed, after which they deserted.

Several of the white settlers who were missing and who were supposed to have been massacred by the natives have arrived safely at Buluwayo.

Governor Robinson has furnished a mounted escort to convey 500 rifles belonging to the British South Africa Company from Mafeking, on the Transvaal border, to Buluwayo.

Among the victims of the Matabeles were a family consisting of husband and wife, three grown daughters and three sons. Commissary Bantly and the other persons massacred were horribly mutilated. After death their faces were covered with dried grass, which was then set on fire, rendering the features of the victims unrecognizable. A late despatch from Buluwayo said that it was feared an attack would be made on that place to-night.

Gang of Juvenile Pickpockets.

A few days ago Miss Reid of the Public Library had her purse snatched while she was entering the library. On Saturday Detective McGrath arrested Michael Skerritt, a lad who lives with his parents at 24 Bulwer-street, and who is thought to be the thief.

A considerable number of pocket-picking cases have been reported recently, and the police were at their wits' end to find the thieves. It is now thought that a gang of little boys are the offenders and that young Skerritt is one of them.

JUST IN THE NICK OF TIME

DID A PARTY OF BOYS STOP THE ATLANTIC EXPRESS.

As it Sped on to Certain Death Near Dundas Yesterday—They Saw a Washout and Ran Back and Waived Their Coats at the Engineer, Who Choked off Steam.

Hamilton, March 29.—(Special).—What might have been a disastrous railway accident was averted this morning by the presence of mind of a number of boys on the track, who seeing the dangerous condition of the track signalled the approaching train which was stopped on time. About 25 yards of track on the Grand Trunk almost four miles from the city and about two miles from Dundas was covered with rocks and debris washed down upon it from the mountain above by the torrents of water from the melting snow rushing down the precipice. The Atlantic express, due here at 2.52, from Chicago, and bound for New York, came bounding down the grade from Dundas and twirled around the curve a short distance above where the blocked track was at about 60 miles an hour. Engineer Martindale had seen a number of boys waving their coats signalling the train to stop, and although he reversed the engine and applied brakes the train went on. When it reached the blocked track the speed was considerably lessened, but the engine and mail car went through the stones. The baggage car ran off the track and the train soon came to a standstill with such suddenness that the passengers received a severe jolt.

Eleven boys from Dundas were walking down the track, and seeing the condition of it pulled off their coats and ran back to signal the express, knowing it was nearly due, and this was all that saved perhaps the loss of several lives, as the entire train would probably have rolled over the embankment had not the speed been stopped. The names of the boys are: J. Ranger, W. Gartner, R. McKay, J. Bailey, H. Scott, J. Cronin, C. Webster, F. Bickford, C. Slingerland, F. McLaughlin and G. Hunter.

The washout caused considerable delay with the trains. The express with an opera troupe on board, remained at Dundas till six o'clock, when the track was cleared. On the afternoon train from Toronto to connect with the express for the east were about a hundred people from Toronto, including two opera companies, and these were forced to wait at Hamilton till about 4 o'clock, when a train was made up. Among the Toronto people were: T. G. Blackstock, on his way to British Columbia; Captain Miller of the Queen's Own, and W. F. Maclean, M.P., on his way to New York. The Pacific express from the east went around by Caledonia.

After a Free Drink.

A short time ago there was a robbery in Labatt's bottling cellar, Hughson-street south. To-night the police saw a light in the cellar, and Chief Smith, Sergt.-Maj. Prentice, Detectives Reid and Blakeley and P.C.'s Duncan, and English surrounded the place. They found J. Andrews, T. Cathcart and J. Moran, with young Taylor, who has charge of the place, drinking in the cellar. The first three were taken to the Police Station, and will be charged with trespass, in the morning.

Assaulted the Constable.

Tim Connors and Mike Mullaley were arrested to-night for assaulting Harry Brockband, near the corner of York and Caroline-streets. Mullaley, when being arrested, also assaulted P.C. Duncan.

TO OPPOSE MR. SPEAKER WHITE.

The Liberals of North Renfrew Select Mr. Thomas Mackie as Their Candidate.

Pembroke, March 28.—A convention of the Liberals of North Renfrew to nominate a candidate in the Liberal interest to oppose the Hon. Peter White at the coming election for the Commons was held in the Town Hall here to-day. The hall was crowded to the doors; indeed, the crush was so great that many who came were unable to gain entrance to the hall. R. C. Miller, president of the North Renfrew Liberals, occupied the chair, and on the platform were Mr. Bain, M.P. for Wentworth, Messrs. Thomas Murray, W. Murray, Henry Jamieson, A. Cameron, Beachburg; S. E. Mitchell, Dr. McKay and others.

On motion of Thomas Murray, seconded by A. Cameron, Mr. Thomas Mackie, the well-known lumberman, was unanimously chosen candidate, amidst great enthusiasm.

A long address was then given by Mr. Bain. Mr. Thomas Murray also spoke at considerable length. Never before was the representation of leading Liberals from all parts of the riding so large and enthusiastic. To-night a mass meeting was held, when, in addition to the other speakers, Mr. J. Israel Tarte, M.P., gave an address.

CONDUCTORS NOT GUILTY

DEFRIES, MULLIGAN AND TAMBLYN DISCHARGED.

The Montreal Jury Said the Grand Trunk Had No Case—A Big Railway Deal—Mr. Anderson's Legacies Amount to $115,000—Philanthropist McDonald's Creed—Montreal Topics.

Montreal, March 29.—(Special)—Messrs. Samuel H. Defries, John Mulligan and Fred Tamblyn, who, with John Stone, were charged with conspiring to defraud the Grand Trunk Railway in their capacities as conductors of the company between Montreal and Toronto, were found not guilty in the Court of Queen's Bench here yesterday afternoon. The case, which had been on since Tuesday last, caused great interest in this city and throughout Ontario and Quebec, where the men were well known. Conductor Stone did not face the music, and getting rid of his belongings in Montreal, went to Florida and invested in an orange grove. During the March term of 1895, Conductors Defries, Mulligan and Tamblyn were placed on trial, but the jury failed to agree, 11 being for acquittal and 1 for conviction. The following jurors were sworn in Tuesday to try the case once more: A. S. Brown, Timothy Mooney, Duncan McInnes, Peter Campbell, John Duffy, John McCarthy, Patrick McNamara, James O'Gorman, James O'Brien, Henry Hart, William Beatty and Eugene Morreau, the last-named being the only French-speaking juror. Half were Roman Catholics and half protestants. Messrs. Donald MacMaster, Q.C., and H. C. St. Pierre, Q.C., conducted the defence in a very able manner, while Mr. M. J. F. Quinn, Q.C., looked after the Crown's end faithfully and well.

Judge Wurtele addressed the jury a little over an hour, and though His Honor was strictly impartial, the charge was against the conductors in the box.

At 5 o'clock the court was adjourned until 5.30, and the 12 men went out to deliberate. When the president of the tribunal again took his seat and the jury had announced that they were ready for a verdict, it was an anxious moment for the accused. The foreman having been asked if the jury had decided upon a verdict, he replied, "Yes, we find them not guilty," and there was an immediate outburst of applause, which was quickly and sternly suppressed.

"I move for their discharge," said Mr. MacMaster, and when Judge Wurtele had been told that there was no other charge against the men, His Honor looked towards the trio of happy-looking faces and said: "Gentlemen, you are discharged." Thus ended one of the most interesting cases ever tried before the Court of Queen's Bench of the district of Montreal.

A Railway Deal.

As foreshadowed a day or two since, a railway deal of considerable importance has just been closed in this city between the directors of the Montreal Park and Island Railway and a powerful syndicate with Mr. Wm. G. Reid, the well-known contractor, at its head. The amount involved will reach well on to $1,000,000, and the construction of the 35 miles of electric tramway, including right of way, ties, rails, power houses, car sheds, rolling stock, electric appliances, etc., will give employment to 1500 men during the months of spring, summer and fall. The double-track line to Lachine, a distance of seven miles, will be completed by the 1st of September and the rest of the system a few weeks later on.

Creed Does Not Bother Him.

A writer in La Presse wants to know if it be true that Mr. W. C. McDonald, McGill's great benefactor, is a Catholic, and further asks why the millionaire does not remember Roman Catholic institutions? As a matter of fact, Mr. McDonald was born and brought up a Catholic in Prince Edward Island, but it is understood that his mind at present is more occupied with scientific subjects than with any narrow question of race and creed.

Mr. Anderson's Will.

Besides the amounts mentioned on Friday as embracing the late Robt. Anderson's donations to the several institutions, it appears that $4000 additional goes to the Montreal and Winnipeg Presbyterian Colleges for scholarships, making the total amount of the bequests $115,000.

Honorably Discharged

Mr. W. Sorrer of this city, who was charged before the Court of Queen's Bench with having committed perjury, has been honorably discharged.

QUEBEC'S LATEST LOAN.

Mayor Wilson Smith of Montreal Secures the $3,000,000 at a Good Price—Will be Placed in Canada.

Montreal, March 28.—(Special).—In the face of the very keenest competition from London, New York, Paris and from Canadian money lenders as well, Mayor Wilson Smith has secured the three millions, 4 per cent., 40 years provincial loan, which was exclusively foreshadowed in The World a week or two since. The last Quebec loan netted about 94 to the province, and although the exact price of the present one has not yet been divulged, your correspondent understands that the premium is a large one, so it will be seen that this transaction establishes the fact that the credit and general financial standing of the province has been fully restored. No other provincial or municipal loan has ever met with such success in this province since Confederation, and it speaks volumes for the financial standing of His Worship, as well as for the Taillon Government. The Mayor, it is stated, will place the entire loan in Canada and the province will not have to pay one cent of commission or expenses of any nature whatever. The New York banking firm which captured the Toronto bonds from Mayor Smith a year ago was one of the strong competitors against which His Worship had to contend in Quebec last week.

Messrs. Harrison Bros., the well-known bankers, who were among the tenderers, declare the loan to be splendidly advantageous for the province.

'TIS BUT A FLEETING W EEK

And Easter's Grand Advent Will Be Duly Celebrated.

How many thousands in every land honor the blessings of the palms, whilst multitudes who think nothing of this all know that Palm Sunday is the welcome precursor of Easter Sunday, when all are so glad to bid farewell to winter and hail the joyous spring. Now no one willingly allows Easter Day to pass without buying a new hat. This is done in the best way at the best place for the best quality and at lower rates than elsewhere in Canada at Dineens', King and Yonge-streets. For 25 years this firm has tried to educate the people to wear nothing but really first-class hats. They cost but little more than the common ones and they last twice as long and look more than twice as good. No better stiff hats can be bought anywhere than the three stamped X ones of Dineens' at $2, $2.50 and $3, nor the standard silks at $4 and $5. The boys can have a pick of any quantity of hats to suit them at 50c, 75c and $1. And of Tam o'Shanters, peaks, toques, fez, there is no end—headwear for young and old, good and cheap. According to the purse is each customer supplied, but no one ever got at Dineens' an inferior article bepuffed as the best.

A MOST ATROCIOUS MURDER

MAN IN A MASK ATTACKS A WHOLE FAMILY.

Only One Escapes Injury—Father and Mother Beaten Beyond Recognition—Daughters Felled to the Floor With a Crowbar—The Motive Was Not Robbery—Hunting For the Assassin.

Cleveland, O., March 29.—At 1 o'clock this morning a crime of almost unparalleled atrocity was perjetrated near Tallmadge, a village five miles north of Akron. Alvin Stone, aged 69, and his wife, aged 62, while asleep at their home, were brutally murdered by an unkown man, who literally beat their heads to pieces, after which numerous knife thrusts were made into the bodies of the dead. Two daughters, Hattie, aged 29, and Emma, aged 27, and the family manservant, A. F. Stillson, were also attacked. All three were fatally injured.

They were beaten about the head with a blunt instrument, which must have been of great size and weight.

Alvin Stone was among the most wealthy and prominent of Summit County farmers, and his wife was also a member of one of the wealthiest families in northeastern Ohio. The object of the murderous assault on the family was not robbery, as numerous articles of value, including two gold watches of the aged people, which were on the bedroom dresser, were not take. The crime is shrouded in mystery, and the whole country is agitated. The only suspicion as yet rests on John Smith, who is employed at Edward Parler's blacksmith shop, one-eighth of a mile from the Stone homestead. Smith was discharged by Alvin Stone two weeks ago. The two men had angry words and Smith departed in great anger. He is now under surveillance.

Only One Escaped Injury.

One member of the family alone escaped injury—Flora, the youngest daughter, aged 16. She is laboring under intense nervous excitement, but was able to-day between hysterical sobs, to tell what she knew of the affair. The old folks, she said, occupied a chamber on the lower floor. Hattie and Flora slept unstairs, Emma across the hall, and the hired man at the rear end of the hall on the same floor. About 1 o'clock this morning Flora says she heard a scream from Emma. She jumped from bed, and opening the door started to cross the hall. Hattie followed her. Flora, turning before she entered Emma's room, the door of which was open, saw a masked man strike Hattie over the head with what looked like a crowbar. Hattie, with a groan, fell senseless to the floor, while Flora ran back to her room and hid under the bedclothes. Hattie, despite her frightful injury, arose, and, going into Flora's room, asked her to throw something over her head. Flora was too frightened to move. Hattie left her room, and entering that of Emma noticed that the window was open and that a ladder reached up to it from the ground.

Ran for Help.

She wrapped a quilt around her and went down the ladder, running to Charles Sackett's farm, a quarter of a mile away, where she told her story and collapsed. Two of the Sacketts hurried to the Stone house, while another summoned a physician. When they arrived the house was dark. The side door was open. Entering the room occupied by the old folks they were confronted by the two horribly mutilated bodies of the father and mother. Emma was found unconscious on the floor of her bedroom. She had been struck over the forehead and is still unconscious. The hired man was found in his room in the same condition. He had also been struck over the forehead. Flora was found hidden under the bedclothes, overcome with fright but unhurt. In a few minutes the whole neighborhood for miles around was aroused, and hundreds assembled about the Stone homestead.

Hunting the Murderer.

The Akron police department was notified and Detective Dunn, Marshal Mason, Sheriff Griffin and First Deputy Hart hurried to the scene. They arrived at 9 o'clock. They found what appeared to be tracks of a man leaving the side door which was found open and ending at the road. The rain which had steadily poured all night had obliterated the tracks along the road. Bloodhounds were put on the track, but they could do nothing owing to the rain. The impression seems to be that Smith is not the right man, and committees are organizing this evening to scour the country in every direction.

This evening a strong clue leads towards Ravenna, where a strange horse and buggy were left last night by an unknown man, who acted very suspiciously.

HERBERT BOOTH'S FUTURE.

He is to Take Command of the Army in Australia—A Mounted Corps in the Rocky Mountains.

Winnipeg, March 29.—(Special.)—Commandant Booth, head of the Salvation Army in Canada, arrived in Winnipeg to-day, o his return from a farewell tour of the Canadian Northwest, British Columbi, Washington, Idaho, Montana, and North Dakota.

The commadant reports union and enthusiasm in the ranks of the army all along his line of travel, and that the recent disruption in New York will have no evil effects in the west. While in British Columbia Commandant Booth organized a mounted corps to travel through the mining districts in the Rocky Mountains in an effort to evegelize men whose life is given up to the search for gold. He also determined on the establishment of a rescue home for fallen women at Helena and Spokane.

Commandant Booth stated to your correspondent that he is in almost daily communication with Ballington in an effort to induce the latter to return to the army and his place in the family, and he is not yet without hope of reconciliation.

Speaking of pending changes in the army, the commandant imparted to your correspondent the first intimation of his future locations. He said he is going to Australia to relieve Commandant Coombes, who had been his predecessor in Canada.

Where Commandant Coombes is going, or who taakes command in Canada, is not yet known, but the announcement will probably be made at mass meetings here and in Toronto to-morrow night.
