An Able-Bodied Classified Advertising Medium

You can't expect much help from a classified medium which has its head where its feet ought to be and its feet where its head ought to be.

Crippled classified columns are hopeless. Classified offers arranged without shape or form are beyond the pale of service.

What you want—from the standpoint of service and convenience—is a physically perfect medium—like The London Free Press' A-B-C Classified Section.

Here is a classified medium whose strength is derived from its physical perfection. All its parts are systematically arranged to constitute a symmetrical whole. It isn't mixed up, muddled, distorted or crippled in any way.

It is strong enough to serve you—and serve you well—every single day of your life.
