Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is a peculiar medicine. It is carefully prepared from Sarsaparilla, Dandelion, Mandrake, Dock, Pipsissewa, Juniper Berries, and other well-known and valuable vegetable remedies, by a peculiar combination, proportion and process, giving to Hood's Sarsaparilla curative power not possessed by other medicines. It effects remarkable cures where other preparations fail.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best blood purifier before the public. It eradicates every impurity, and cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Boils, Pimples, all Humors, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Sick Headache, Indigestion, General Debility, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Complaints, overcomes that tired feeling, creates an appetite, and builds up the system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Has met peculiar and unparalleled success at home. Such has become its popularity in Lowell, Mass., where it is made, that whole neighborhoods are taking it at the same time. Lowell druggists sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than of all other sarsaparillas or blood purifiers. Sold by druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. CRICKET.

The Harriston Club are contemplating a short tour in August. If convenient they will meet a team from this city on Aug. 21.

A meeting was held at Ottawa Tuesday afternoon to consider the question of an inter-Provincial cricket match between teams from Ontario and Quebec. The match will take place probably at Toronto and next year either at Ottawa or Montreal.

A meeting of cricketers will be held at Messrs. Blackburn & Cox's office Thursday afternoon to make arrangements for the tour of 1890. The matches proposed were Windsor and Detroit, Aug 16 and 18; Cleveland and Buffalo, Aug. 19 and 20; Toronto and Hamilton, Aug. 22 and 23.

The first of the two cricket matches between the bachelors and benedicts, of Chatham, was played Tuesday, resulting, after an exciting finish, in favor of the benedicts by two runs. Laing, 16, and Wells, 21, were the only bachelors to obtain double figures, while Atkinson, 17, and Little 19, were the top scores for the victors.

ASYLUM VS. "D" COMPANY.

Following is the result of yesterday's cricket game played on the asylum grounds between teams from "D" Company, I. S. C., and the asylum:

THE WHEEL.

LAWRASON VS. OWENS.

To the Sporting Editor of the ADVERTISER: Sir,—In reply to Mr. Owens's refusal to accept my challenge as appeared in your paper of the 29th inst., I would say he either does not understand my challenge or he is trying to evade it, as he is well aware that he does not hold the championship of the city of London, for the Irvine medal was presented for the championship of the Forest City Bicycle Club as is engraved on the medal, "Championship F. C. B. C," and was not for an open race. Mr. Owens has been personally informed by myself that I intend leaving London in August, and in fixing his date Sept. 1 or after he knows I cannot possibly be here, but I will extend my time to the day on which he leaves on his holidays, viz., the 9th day of August. S. F. LAWRASON.

London, July 30.

OWENS TO LAWRASON.

To the Sporting Editor of the ADVERTISER: In reply to Mr. Lawrason's letter in this morning's issue I would deny absolutely having any knowledge of his intending going away in August. Mr. Lawrason has been entered in five road races in this city, in all of which I was also entered. Of these he has ridden in four, of which he won one and I won three, and he refused to ride the fifth. In the face of these facts I feel I am not called upon to ride against him any further. However, I am entered for the race for the McColl medal next week, which he is also eligible to enter for. I may also state that I am satisfied with the road championship of the F. C. B. C. (of which Mr. Lawrason is captain), as I have already won the same for this year. This closes all correspondence on my part. Yours truly, W. G. OWENS.

LAMB TO LAWRASON.

To the Sporting Editor of the ADVERTISER: Sir,—I see by this morning's ADVERTISER that Mr. S. F. Lawrason there states that he is challenging Mr. Owens for the championship of the city of London and not for the road championship of the F. C. B. C. If this is correct I would state that he has made a mistake in the party challenged, as I am now the holder of the championship of London, and intend to claim the same until defeated. Yours truly, JAS. LAMB.

THE OAR.

Jacob G. Gaudaur, the oarsman, has deposited $225 to row Edward Hanlan at such time as may be mutually agreed upon at Lake Minnetonka for from $1,000 to $5,000 a side, on perfectly smooth water, the winner to take everything. Hanlan, it is said, has been making bluffs at Duluth, but refused to put up money. Gaudaur puts up his forfeit and says he means business, and if Hanlan wants to row now is his chance.

THE TURF.

The trotting mare Eva Wilkes, record 2:26¼, has been sold for $2,500.

The managers of Dundee Park, near Paterson, N. J., offer $20,000 for a race between Sunol and Axtell next fall.

LIVELY TIMES AT CLEVELAND.

CLEVELAND, July 29.—Five thousand people attended the grand circuit races which opened here to-day. The weather was perfect and the track in splendid condition. In the first heat of the 2:21 class Veritas cut across the track at the first quarter and tried to take the pole. He collided with Poahantas Prince, running the latter against the fence. Poahantas Prince got away from his driver and run once and a half round the track. The horse was not injured, but the sulky was smashed. Veritas was distanced for foul driving. Poahantas Prince was badly winded and was drawn in the third heat. In the second heat of the race Alleta got beyond control of her driver and ran twice around the track. Summary:

Commenting on the outlook for lacrosse the Toronto Empire says: "While anything very great can hardly be expected for a year or two, it should surprise no one if, so far as London and Hamilton are concerned, baseball's misfortune should prove lacrosse's opportunity."

In the district of Sheing Teh, Canton, there are various secret societies of young women banded for celibacy, known for example as the "All Pure Sisterhood" or the "Never-To-Be-Married Sisterhood." A member of one of them was on the verge of being compelled to break the rules of her society by marriage, and in order to prevent it the entire band, the girl included, went and drowned themselves.

For a year a draughtsman named Hazen, aged 42, with his wife and six children, had lived in Paris in great difficulty. Finally they resolved to commit suicide and take the children with them. They sent the latter out to buy charcoal, and with the windows closed Hazen lighted the stove and the whole family lay down on the floor to die, the mother clasping the youngest child in her arms. They were found two days afterward all dead but the mother. Upon her recovery she said that when asphyxiation began the eldest daughter began to cry, but lest she should excite the neighbors her father threw himself over her face, and they were found in that position.

The hog claims even the historically polite France for his own. At a discussion by the Town Council of Havre upon the regulations for city car lines one member complained that in these days men sitting in a car never thought of giving their places to women, even though the latter might have to stand outside on the platforms in the rain. He moved the adoption of a by-law empowering conductors to compel men seated in the interior to surrender their places to women outside. Several other councilors gallantly supported the motion, but the majority concluded that the temper of the age would not permit any such social revolution. The episode has excited considerable attention in Paris, where there is general mourning over the decadence of French manners.

BEAUTY AND BRAIN.

They Do Not Go Together, Says This Authority.

[London Spectator.]

The most beautiful black race in Africa, a tribe in Nyassaland, on whose looks even missionaries grow eloquent, who are really as perfect as bronze statues, are as ignorant as fishes, and, though they have discovered the use of fire, have never risen to the conception of clothes of any kind. The Otaheitan, when discovered, was as uncultured as the Papuan now is, yet the former approached as nearly to positive beauty as the latter does to positive deformity. The keenest race in Asia, and all who know them assert, the strongest in character, the Chinese, is decidedly the ugliest of mankind; while the Hindoo, if sufficiently fed, is, even when ignorant as an animal, almost invariably handsome.

The Circassians, who know nothing, and are rather stupid than exceptionally intelligent, are physically a faultless race, far more so than the Germans, who though the best trained people in the world, display a marked commonness of feature, as if the great sculptor Nature had used good clay, but taken no trouble about the modeling. Some of the very ablest among them belong to the flat-nosed, puffy-cheeked, loose-lipped variety.

The keenest race in the world, and probably the one most susceptible of culture, the Jew, presents few types of beauty, being usually at once hook-nosed and flabby-cheeked, though in physique, as in thought, that race occasionally throws out examples. The tamed Arabs of Egypt, who seem to possess poor brains, and, of course, have no education, are often extraordinarily handsome; while in 1860 the grandest head in Asia, a head which every artist copied as his ideal of Jove, belonged to an Arab horse dealer, who, outside his trade, knew nothing.

No modern man of culture would pretend, in mere perfectness of form, to rival the old Greek athletes, who, intellectually, were probably animals, or the Berserkars, who were for the most part only hard-drinking soldiers. The royal caste which has been cultivated for 1,000 years, seldom produces beautiful men, and still seldomer beautiful women; most princesses, though sometimes dignified, having been marked as to features by certain ordinaries often wanting in the poor, and especially the poor of certain districts, like Devon, in England, and Arles and Marseilles, in France. Devon is no better taught than Suffolk, but mark the difference in peasant forms. In the last century the ablest men in Europe were remarkable for a certain superfluity of flesh, of which Gibbons' face is the best known and most absurd example; and in our own time intellect, even hereditary intellect, is constantly found dissipated from good looks, and even from distinction, some of the ablest men being externally heavy and gross, and some of the ablest women marked by an indefiniteness of cheek and chin, as if they had been carved by the fingers in putty. No stranger ever saw Tennyson without turning round, but Browning would have passed unnoticed in any English or Austrian crowd.

The air of physical refinement, which is what continuous culture should give, is precisely the air which is often lacking among the cultivated, as it is also in many aristocratic families. Indeed, though caste must mean more or less hereditary culture, it is doubtful if it secures beauty. It does not in the royal houses, and in any regiment, though an officer or two will probably stand first, the proportion of splendid men will be found greater among the non-commissioned than the commissioned officers. Science can no more make a Circassian than a one-legged race, and the physical attributes, like the grace of God, are independent of thinking. If they were not, we should some day have a race of heroes indeed, stalking among lesser men, as Kingsley depicts his Goths stalking among the far more quick-witted and better-cultivated Alexandrians. An entire race like Alexander the Great, the man in whom, of all mankind, brain power and physique were united in their highest perfectness, would soon be more intolerable than the Venetian aristocracy whom Mr. Disraeli derided, denounced and worshiped.
