RECKONING THE LOSSES.

Terrible Destruction of Life and Property Caused by the Storm.

COHASSET, Mass., Nov. 27.—The damage by the fearful storm which has raged along the south shore for the past three days is far in excess of anything of the kind before known in this locality and a careful inspection of the property along the coast line from Cohasset to Windmill Point, Hull, shows it to be much greater than was indicated in yesterday's despatches. All day long wreckage of various descriptions has been coming ashore along the beach, more particularly at Sandy Cove. Huge timbers, spars, cabin furniture, fine inside furnishings, chairs, life-preservers and other articles appertaining to the steamer's outfit and many of them stamped with the word "Allentown" have been seen in the breakers off shore and found scattered along the water front. This wreckage tells too plainly that the steamer Allentown has been broken up on one of the huge sunken ledges off this port. The vessel must have gone down with all on board a very few minutes after striking.

$30,000 Damage Done at Coney Island.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.— The amount of damage done at Coney Island by the storm will probably reach $30,000.

The council of the Grand Orient Masons have decided to take part in the demonstration at the grave of the revolutionist Baudin on Dec. 2.

Erie Canal Navigation.

ALBANY, Nov. 27.—Supt. Shanahan has received telegrams from assistant superintendents along the line of the canal stating that on the Syracuse and Oswego divisions of the Erie boats can move as usual and locks 43, 44 and 45 are working in good order. Boats that ran aground Monday on Nine-mile Level are moving. There are 75 boats on Nine-mile Level west of Ilion. All moving ice is getting soft and the prospects are that all boats en-voyage will be able to reach port before Nov. 30, the day set for official closing of the canal.

Count Herbert and the Pope.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The Daily News says that it learns from official sources that in the recent interview between the Pope and Count Bismarck the former remarked: "If the events of 1870 had depended upon me everything would have been speedily arranged. Now, after the lapse of so much time, it is more difficult, but I shall regain the time lost." Count Herbert replied: "God has not made it possible for a man to recall a single moment of his experience, and Your Holiness wishes to recall eighteen years."

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 27.—The General Assembly Knights of Labor took a final adjournment at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The Committee on Law recommended that the temperance plank now in the constitution remain intact. The place for the next meeting will be chosen by the General Executive Board.

The Pope's Departure.

ROME, Nov. 27.—The Moniteur says that the Pope's departure is the probable solution of the Roman question. It is certain that several nations would contend for the honor of receiving him.

The Observatore Romano denies that the Pope is relying on the outbreak of war to gain temporal power.

The American Ejectments.

FORT DODGE, Iowa, Nov. 27.—The backbone of resistance to the Snell ejectments is effectually broken. Farmers from all parts of the disputed land were here yesterday, and five of them made settlements by which they will be allowed to resume possession of their farms. The terms made in most cases were called easy.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—The strike of the switchmen employed at the Union Stock yards because two members of the day force were appointed yard masters of the night force was declared off to-day and the strikers returned to work to-night. The matter was compromised.
