CURIO COLLECTOR POISONED BY RING OF BORGIA PERIOD

Zurich, Switzerland, Oct. 4—What is thought to be the poison of the fifteenth century Borgias has been transmitted to a curio collector here with serious effect. The collector recently bought a ring in Turin, Italy, made in the form of a serpent and guaranteed to be or the Borgia period. The buyer wore the ring, and, returning here, found that his ring finger and forearm had swollen. A doctor was called and declared that poisoning had set in and was due to the ring.

Investigation found that there was a small hole under the serpent's head, and from this the poison was emitted, but time had weakened its strength.

FEAR MAGUIRE, MISSING AFTER BANK VISIT, HAS MET WITH FOUL PLAY

Montreal, Oct. 5—Patrick Maguire, an employe of the F. P. Weaver Coal Company and a well-known longshoreman, is missing, as is also the sum of $6,000 which he is alleged to have withdrawn from the Sterling Bank on last Saturday morning. The general belief is that he met with foul play. The money was the weekly payroll of the coal company.

BETTING "DOWN UNDER."

(Sydney Bulletin.)

In fact, the betting mania has reached a stage so acute that half Sydney seems to be getting its living, or part of it, by taking bets from the other half. There is something to be said for the race course fielder (albeit there are far too many courses about Sydney, and dates should be reduced by at least half), insofar as the state recognizes his unproductive calling and protects him in the exercise of it. But his s. p. relative is a lawbreaker and a tax-dodger, a loafer and the cause of loafing in others; and he should be warned off for the undesirable he is.
