ARGENTINE SURPLUS OF WHEAT SMALL

Shrinkage in Estimate Caused Advance at Chicago—Corn Weaker.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Shrinkage worse than at any previous time this season appeared today in estimates of the Argentine exportable surplus of wheat. Prices here made a corresponding advance, and closed steady with a gain of 1-8 to 3-8c net. Other leading staples all finished at a loss compared with the night before—corn, 1-4 to 3-8c; oats, a shade to 1-8c, and provisions, 2 1-2 to 10c.

Revised figures from threshers brought the probable yield of wheat in Argentina down to where the margin for export could not be put at more than 6,000,000 bushels against 18,000,000 bushels a year ago. The effect of this bullish news was increased by dread that the cold wave northwest of Chicago might spread over the winter crop belt and cause a dangerous sudden freeze.

Improved European demand for wheat here, thruout the west and at the eastern seaboard gave prices an additional lift, which, however, failed to last, the bulge having led to rather heavy selling on the part of a leading firm. Nevertheless the dip from top figures was kept within 3-8c, and was not regarded by the bulls as more than what might naturally have been expected.

Statements that the number of meat producing animals on farms had decreased 5 to 7 per cent. as compared with last year, tended materially to pull down the price of corn. The market made only a temporary response to early advices that the Argentine crop was failing to maintain recent high promise.

Oats weakened with corn. Selling from commission houses developed as soon as prices had shown a little upturn.

Provisions regained much of a decline due to more liberal receipts of hogs than expected. The rally came about in consequence of the reported falling off in the total of meat-producing animals on farms.

LORD STRATHCONA'S LIFE WAS SHINING EXAMPLE

Times Lauds Achievements of Great Empire Builder—New Zealand's Tribute.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(Can. Press.)—Right Hon. Thomas Mackenzie, the high commissioner for New Zealand, said to The London Daily Mail:

"In the passing of Lord Strathcona there is removed from our midst one of the greatest outstanding men of the century. I lose a dear personal friend, the most capable of counsellors and advisers. He was one of our greatest empire builders. It is upon such lives as his that the foundations of our great empire have been so well and truly laid. With all he was one of the humblest, sincerest and most unassuming men I ever knew."

The Times prints two columns of an obituary notice of Lord Strathcona as well as half a column of editorial, in which it characterizes Lord Strathcona as a supreme instance of a successful business man, whose devotion of all his energies to a task imperially important was a shining example of public spirit.
