HEAVY GOING MAKES VERY SMALL MARKET

Practically Nothing Save a Few Loads of Hay Offered This Morning.

There was a very small market this morning. The roads which were bad yesterday, have in some localities been rendered considerably worse through drifting. Especially are the highways bad toward the west, and a good many of the farmers are engaged in cutting the roads out.

A few loads of hay were offered and sold at about the usual figure, from $14 to $15.

It is expected that there will be a very good turnout on the market tomorrow as the roads will be cleared by then.

LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, Feb. 3.—Cattle—Trade was active and prices firmer today. Owing to the snowstorm trains were late and the total run of cattle offering was light. In addition several export buyers are now in the market, picking up anything they can get of reasonable weight to help fill a good export demand. Heavy butcher cattle around 1500 lbs were bought for export purposes. This had the effect of stiffening prices for anything approaching good butcher cattle that might be left. Prevailing prices were: Choice butchers, $5 25 to $5 60; fair to good, $4 90 to $5 10; medium, $4 60 to $4 85; good cows, $4 50 to $4 65; medium, $4 to $4 25; common mixed, $3 25 to $3 75; export cattle, $5 90 to $6 10. Lambs—Steady, at 7c, the top. Sheep—Steady, at $4 50 to $5; bucks, $3 50 to $4. Hogs—Weak, at $8 10 f. o. b., and $8 25 fed and watered.

At a meeting held last night a butchers' association was formed, with W. J. Neely president. A resolution was adopted that after Feb. 10 no member of the association shall buy any cattle that have been corn or meal-fed after reaching the market. Watering and hay feed only will be allowable. It is claimed by the butcher buyers that the meal feeding practice has grown to be a serious abuse of the privileges of the market, and against the interests of fair trading. The association is the outcome of an agitation which has been carried on for some time past, and will likely cause considerable stir among the drovers.

Prevention of Tuberculosis.

An address was given in the High Street Methodist Church on Thursday afternoon, having for its object the prevention of tuberculosis. The anatomy of the lungs was described, showing clearly that pulmonary disease cannot be cured while the patient is leading an indoor life. The ventilation of the body, together with the system of elimination, including regular bathing, was dwelt upon at some length. The lack of proper bathing facilities is responsible for the burden placed upon the lungs, said the speaker. Two very pitiful cases of tuberculosis in this locality, having come to the notice of many, had aroused interest. Those present were urged to constitute themselves a vigilance committee that persons in the incipient stage might seek the out-door life before it was too late.

GORDON CLARK KILLED

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Was Fine Workman.

Much regret is expressed by the engineers of the hydro-electric commission on the unfortunate death of Gordon Clark. Chief Engineer Sothmann and the other engineers speak very highly of his work, and declare that he was one of the best field men they had.

"My engineers speak very highly of Gordon Clark, both as to his character and ability," said Hon. Adam Beck. "He was one of the best field men we had, and was sure of rapid advancement in the work of the commission. I am extremely sorry for his sad death, and particularly in view of his bright prospects."

It was stated that Gordon Clark took the chance to ride to Ingersoll on the freight in order that he would be in time to go with the gang this morning. They intended finishing up the work there, and would be in London on Saturday to commence work on the St. Thomas line.

The body is expected in London tomorrow morning.

Too Late to Classify.
