"German Syrup"

J. C. Davis, Rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, Eufaula, Ala.: "My son has been badly afflicted with a fearful and threatening cough for several months, and after trying several prescriptions from physicians which failed to relieve him, he has been perfectly restored by the use of two bottles of Boschee's German Syrup. I can recommend it without hesitation." Chronic severe, deep-seated coughs like this are as severe tests as a remedy can be subjected to. It is for these long-standing cases that Boschee's German Syrup is made a specialty. Many others afflicted as this lad was, will do well to make a note of this.

An Episcopal Rector.

J. F. Arnold, Montevideo, Minn., writes: I always use German Syrup for a Cold on the Lungs. I have never found an equal to it—far less a superior. ®

JUDICIAL SALE OF VALUABLE CITY property—In the High Court of Justice, Chancery Division, re Murray vs. Warner. By virtue of a judgment herein dated the 16th day of May, 1892, there will be sold, with the approbation of James Shanly, Esq., re master at London, at J. W. Jones' auction rooms, London, on Saturday, June 4, 1892, at the hour of 2:30 o'clock p.m., by J. W. Jones, auctioneer, the following very desirable property, viz.: Those parts of lots 123 and 124 on the west side of the Wortley road and north side of Askin street, having a frontage on Askin street of 182 feet 5 inches, and a frontage on the Wortley road of 124 feet, together with a right of way of 10 feet wide from Askin street, which said lands are more particularly described in a deed thereof from one George A. Hall to the late A. S. Murray. The property is situate in the most desirable part of the city of London, viz., in that portion thereof formerly known as London South. There is a good frame house upon the premises. The property will be sold subject to a reserved bid fixed by the said master, and to the current tenancy thereof, and to a mortgage from the late A. S. Murray to the London Loan Company of Canada for $1,500, with interest at 7 per cent. from the 17th day of November, 1891. The other conditions will be the standing conditions of the Court of Chancery. Terms of sale: 20 per cent. cash and the balance within 30 days thereafter. For further particulars apply to Messrs. Jones Bros. & Mackenzie, barristers, etc., Toronto, or to GIBBONS, McNAB & MULKERN, vendors' solicitors, London. JAMES SHANLY, master at London. 60i txtyv

TOPICS OF TO-DAY.

The Montreal Star (Independent Conservative) says that "'Obstruction' is an overworked word in the Government press. It too often means an unwelcome advertisement of a 'job.'"

‡‡‡

When rings and syndicates have cornered everything on earth, they will doubtless turn their attention to the air and water. The sea, it is claimed, produces more food per acre than the land. What a chance for the combines?

‡‡‡

The Empress of Russia has been at some trouble in order to procure a unique present for the golden wedding of her mother, the Queen of Denmark, this week. The present consists of a team of six horses, perfectly white and of the rarest breeds. In order to get the six together the imperial studs all over Russia had to be searched, and the present, which is about to leave St. Petersburg, is said to be one of the most costly that will be sent to the "golden" bride and bridegroom at Fredensborg.

‡‡‡

There was recently transported from the mine of the Santa Barbara Asphalt Company of La Patera, California, a large block of asphaltum, weighing as it was taken from the mine some two and one-half tons, and believed to be the largest block of asphaltum ever mined in one mass. The mine in question has only been opened about one year. Though chiefly used, as is well known, for street paving, its employment is increasing for other purposes, large quantities being now consumed in making floors for warehouses, cellars, wineries, breweries, etc., as it renders floors absolutely watertight, besides being not affected by acids or gases. For lining dams, leeves, and reservoirs, a thin coat of the article put on in a melted state presents a permanent watertight surface, preventing loss by seepage, even when backed by only an earth embankment. It is claimed to make conduits of wood almost, if not quite, as durable as iron.

‡‡‡

Apropos of rain don't you all remember the awful waterproofs worn by women ten years ago. The shapeless blue things, capes scalloped and bound with black, hanging in the slinkiest way imaginable and making the prettiest pair of shoulders in the world look frightful. So full in the skirts, as well as to utterly preclude the possibility of holding it up as it should be and consequently always muddy in patches. Nowadays the gossamer or mackintosh is as stylish a wrap as any of the girls' garments, fitting perfectly, with a tailor cut and finish, made of the daintiest imaginable materials. A charming garment, to be worn on the chance of a rain, and not a hated alternative to be avoided at all possible risk. And then the umbrellas. They are so pretty. Somebody counted from different colors the other day, red, and blue, and brown, and slate, quite as attractive as a sunshade and often carried indifferently for both purposes.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

The Free Library Question.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

With Mr. Anderson, I am glad the question of a free library has come up for discussion, and thank the workingmen for it. It might well have a place among the schemes for rendering our city attractive as a place of residence, and if this be the issue of the discussion, by all means give our friends of the union their share of the credit. Only I hope they will not go on much longer imputing statements to me, especially after distinct denials, which they must have known all along I never made.

Mr. Brent, speaking for the unbelieving class, who so patiently tolerate orthodox books in the free library, claims a right to a share of infidel literature on the ground of mutual consideration, and the certainty that truth will ultimately prevail, and rebukes ministers for their "unwarrantable zeal in spending public funds to which they contribute nothing." To this I reply that Mr. Brent should know, if he does not, that ministers are ratepayers like others, and when the workingmen take our money for the purchase or circulation of books—same thing, the board to the contrary notwithstanding—and invite our young people to come and read them, they make us partners in the concern, and should give us a voice in the choice of their Library Board, as well as respect our right to criticise their selection of books. All that the Ministerial Association did in their unanimous resolution was to urge care and caution in the use of public funds for such purposes, and declare their preference for the older and more responsible Mechanics' Institute. Had the association known that the board had been remodeled, and would so continue, since Mr. Brent's time, when, presumably, the infidel books were introduced, their resolutions might never have been passed. But the objectionable books are still there, and the need of the caution they urge is all the more apparent when men like Mr. Anderson, amid fatherly advice to the Ministerial Association, joins Mr. Brent in urging that "in a free library all classes of readers must be considered." If that means that any and all books called for are to be supplied, a little reflection will make it so plainly wrong that Mr. Anderson will be the first to say, "Of course, discretion must be used," and perhaps to add, "Of course, bad books should be kept out." And that is exactly what the ministers meant. We live in a Christian community, whose laws are founded upon the Bible, and whose Government, by repeated deliverances of its high judiciaries, has been declared a Christian Government, which will not tolerate, for example, the use of its public halls for the propagation of infidel doctrines, and which claims the right to prevent the introduction of immoral or other objectionable books, like those of Bradlaugh and Ingersoll, through its mails and custom houses. It is true, no doubt, that truth and morality would triumph, but that is no reason why we should help error and evil. Ours is a civilized country, and, no doubt, civilization will prevail, but that is no reason why we should help those who do not accept our sanitary standards in opposing or obstructing reforms demanded by "the greatest good of the greatest number." If they wont help us to fight dirt and disease, they shall not hinder. Even more important is it, in the moral and mental world, that a high standard should be maintained, and in this I am sure the Ministerial Association would not wish to reflect against the workingmen or their societies indiscriminately. Their letters show a growing sense of its importance, and Mr. Brent's experience illustrates it. If all the members of the Library Board are what the Amalgamated Engineers say of their own delegates, I am sure none could wish for better.

I am glad of this opportunity to say how highly I respect the manifest purpose of self-culture and self-help as asserting itself among our workingmen, and hope ere long we may have a good free public library belonging to the people, and managed for the people, by a board chosen by the people. OBJECTED TO HER OWN POST-MORTEM.

Her Son Celebrated the Joyful Event by Getting Drunk Promptly.

COLUMBIA, S.C., May 24.—Mrs. Hanna Green, stout, apparently in good health and about 60 years old, arrived in Columbia a few days ago to visit relatives with whom her son John was living. John left his mother early yesterday morning and went to work. Upon returning in the evening he was shocked to find the old lady dead. He decided to bury her in Fairfield.

Upon applying for a permit to remove the body the son was informed that a certificate from a physician must be produced. John sought the aid of the coroner, who deferred action until this morning. The corpse had been prepared for burial and placed in a coffin. This morning, the coroner, after viewing the body and hearing the circumstances of the death, thought it might be a case of poisoning. He decided to hold a post mortem.

The county physician was summoned, and was about to insert a knife into the corpse, when, to the horror to all, the old lady slowly opened her eyes and sat upright in the coffin. She said she objected to the proposed dissection. She had been in a trance for nearly eighteen hours, and when she awoke was in her usual state of health. She is a chronic sufferer from dyspepsia. John celebrated the event by getting drunk.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Consumptives.

Do not give up until you have tried Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, which makes flesh and blood, is a positive cure for coughs and colds, bronchitis, sore throat, and all lung troubles tending to consumption. Mr. Job Scales, of Toronto, writes: "A short time ago I was suffering from Kidney Complaint and Dyspepsia, sour stomach and lame back; in fact, I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude."

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the sytem. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convert the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia.
