NOVA SCOTIA

ANTIGONISH, N.S.

ANTIGONISH, July 4.—Hay will be a light crop, as the weather continues very dry. Clover is a complete failure owing to the hard frosts last winter. Grain is coming on fairly well. The farmers held their annual excursion to the government Farm, Truro, on June 2, and enjoyed a pleasant day. The prospects for the apple crop are good—Tom Brown.

ONTARIO

GRENVILLE, ONT.

GRENVILLE, July 4.—We have commenced haying. We have completed almost all of our cultivating. There will not be as much hay as last year. We are having very dry weather. We can cut down heavy hay in the forenoon and draw it in the afternoon. Grain is heading out and corn is well advanced. Some of our farmers have started to sell new potatoes, which is a record for this time of year. The supply of milk is falling off.—G.W.C.

GLENGARRY, ONT.

GLENGARRY, July 3.—Haying is now generally stopped, and owing to the extreme heat of May and the small amount of rainfall during both May and June the hay is earlier and also better than last year. A larger area of corn has been planted, and is looking well. The season has been favorable for controlling the weeds. Grain crops look fair. W.E. McK.

HASTINGS, ONT.

CHAPMAN, July 3.—Haying machine has begun, but has been hindered somewhat by wet weather. Alfalfa is a fair crop, and the first cutting has been harvested in good condition. Red clover is fair, but timothy will be light. Spring grain and corn are making good growth. Hogs are worth $7.25 a cwt.—H.N.T.

SIMCOE, ONT.

ELMVALE, July 3.—The weather has been very dry. Crops are all short. The hay crop cannot be more than two-thirds of an average. Pastures are becoming dry. The prices for week for eggs was 16c; butter, 15c; hay (old), $19. Considerable old hay is still in the hands of farmers. The price of straw will be in demand later at a good price. Owing to the drought strawberries were little more than half a crop. Apples are small, cherries and plums are scarce; to be seen.—C.S.B.

WELLINGTON, ONT.

FERTUS, July 3.—We have been having a very dry weather. The crops are all short. The hay crop cannot be more than two-thirds of an average. Pastures are becoming dry. such a long, dry spell that the root crop is not coming at all. Some farmers are plowing up their mangels. This is a great loss. Hay will be light. Some farmers are cutting up their alfalfa. Fall wheat is 75c; oats, 22c; barley, 60c; peas, 75c; buckwheat, 45c; butter, 15c; eggs, 15c; wool, 18c to 22c; $19 to $21; potatoes, 80c to 90c; good cattle, $3.50.—W.B.

ELORA, June 17.—The middle of June is past, and this part of Ontario never gave promise of such an abundant harvest and crops were never so far advanced. Alfalfa is the only crop that looks like being under the average owing to so little rain in May. Cattle for pastures are very scarce, less in number than for many years, indicating a shortage for feeding next winter. Those who bought feed last fall, however, and fed at a loss will be able to buy at low prices another season. This would suggest fewer beef cattle next spring. Prices for fat stock at the live price are good, but too low at the present paid for feeders. Farmers are busy, but owing to large applications through the emigration department, help has been more readily secured.—G.W.

BRANT, ONT.

Prolonged drought and excessive hot weather have hastened the crops in western Ontario towards an unusually early maturity. In Brant county an editor of Farm and Dairy has found haying well under way and fall wheat fast approaching the cutting stage. Some two fields of fall wheat on the lighter soils were almost ready to cut. The season has been an extraordinarily dry one, yet the crops give promise of fair to average yields.

The hay, which early in the season was thought to be exceedingly light and much of it gave promise of not exceeding from one-half to a ton per acre, has turned out much better than was expected. Very few fields, if any, are giving less than a ton and a half, and from this on up to two and a half tons per acre; although appearing to be thin in the top it seems to have a thick, low growth, which is the reason for yields better than anticipated.

Alfalfa, of which there is now considerable grown in Brant county, has all been cut the first time, and notwithstanding the drought it has produced a better second growth most beautiful to see. Many pieces of alfalfa, although considerably winter-killed, have given a satisfactory first cutting, the average cut being two good loads to the acre.

SUPPLEMENTARY FEEDING

Pastures have become hard and brown, and while affording a good living for young stock they must be supplemented with other feed for the milks. Much of the spring seedling to red clover in Brant county has been lost on account of the dry weather, and the prospects are that the dairy cows will have to be fed extra from now until late next May again, no matter what the weather may be from this time forward since there is little if any old clover and no new seedling to come on and furnish fall pasture.

The fall wheat promises well. Much of it by the time this report reaches Farm and Dairy readers will be cut and in shock. The straw is of good average length and stands up well. The fly has reduced the yield by at least five bushels to the acre in many fields.

Spring grain seedling on fairly well in spite of the drought. Barley is looking exceptionally well, and has headed out with splendid long heads, better than is usually seen. Oats will be very short in the straw unless a good rain comes soon, which, if it were to come now as the crop is shooting into head, would work wonders in increasing the yield.

Small fruits are less than an average crop. Strawberries are a successful crop, and raspberries, although many are set they are being dried by the prevailing weather conditions, and without rain cannot be expected to yield up to the average. Apples range from a fair to a short crop, with the exception of fall and earlier varieties which will probably be nearly an average crop.

HALDIMAND, ONT.

CANBORO, July 6.—Increased acreages of oats and corn have been reported. Barley has decreased. Fall wheat never looked better. Spring grains are not so good owing to drought. Alfalfa is a fair crop, but not as good as last season, as it was somewhat winter-killed.—J. H. Houser.

MIDDLESEX, ONT.

APPIN, July 3.—Haying is in full swing. The weather is very hot. Pastures are becoming very short and parched, and all crops will be very short if rain does not soon come. Fall wheat will be cut by the 15th inst. The extreme heat and drought are hastening wheat and spring crops, and harvest will be over in July unless a change comes in the weather.—C.M.M.

ELGIN, ONT.

PROME, July 3.—Crops are very light owing to the dry weather of the last two months. Haying is the order of the day and a short job it is. Young clover is not showing up much, and unless we get rain very soon will be a complete failure. Pastures are very dry.—S.J.H.

BRUCE, ONT.

SKINKESP, July 6.—A great number of apple trees are being set out this year. Many were set out last year and 1912 will see a larger number yet. Some are setting out peaches but we fear that our waters will be too cold. The only way to find out, however, is to try. The apple crop will not be heavy this year.—J.D.

WALKERTON, July 5.—The spring grains are well advanced and promise a full crop. Fall wheat is good. The hay crop varies a good deal. In some sections it is up to the average, in other places light. Roots are fair, but need rain. Strawberries are good, other small fruits well. All other fruits are very light.—J.A.L.

ABSORBING ON BIG KNEE

If you have a horse with a big knee, procure a bottle of Absorbine and begin treatment as directed in the pamphlet which accompanies the remedy, and you will be surprised at the marked change it will bring about. William Jag, Huntsville, Ont., Feb. 1911 reported his use of the remedy in the letter printed herewith: "I have used Absorbine repeatedly with good results. I have used Absorbine on two knee joints of horses, and got first class results." Pamphlet giving detailed instructions sent free upon request. W.

Trade Mark Registered. Pronounce it RUE-BER-OID.

is entitled, "RUBEROID—WHY?"

There's nothing dry or heavy about it. It's a breezy little story of some of the adventures of "The Ruberoid Man."

But at the same time you'll find it just as full of sound, common-sense roofing information as it is of interest.

Write to-day for a copy of "Ruberoid—Why?" (No. 2)—it's free for the asking.

Have you ever seen "SOVEREIGN" Sheathing Felt? If you haven't, ask for a sample of it, too.
