PROMINENT WOMEN GUESTS OF HONOR

Women's Century Entertain "Jenny Canuck" and First Woman Inspector.

Eighty guests, men and women, were entertained by the board of the Women's Century at a luncheon at the King Edward on Saturday, Judge Emily Murphy and Miss Marty, M. A., LL.D., the first woman inspector of schools in Canada, being guests of honor. The editors of the paper, Mrs. Campbell McIvor, Mrs. L. A. Hamilton and Mrs. Morgan Dean—were hostesses, one at each of the three tables, and among those present were: Lady Falconer, President local Council of Women; Mrs. John Bruce, national president of the Daughters of the Empire; Dr. Stowe-Gullen, Dr. Margaret Johnston, Mrs. Blanche Reid Johnston, Miss Mary MacMahon, president Business Women's Club, Miss Byrne, New York, Mrs. Campbell, secretary Women's Institute.

In introducing Judge Murphy, Mrs. L. A. Hamilton referred to the birth of The Women's Century seven years ago, the determination and capacity for work that marks its editor-in-chief, Mrs. McIvor, and to its policy of internationalism which is followed by the paper.

Mrs. Murphy made what was later referred to by speakers as a beautiful and brilliant address, in the course of which she asked for bigger returns in goods and smaller demands in the matter of price from eastern manufacturers. She asked the local council to go into the matter of gathering statistics on the subject of "equality of pay for men and women," and prophesied that results would be startling. She also scored a resolution reported as authorized by women physicians at a recent conference in New York, countenancing children of unmarried mothers because of the low birth rate.

Miss Marty, M. A., LL.D., who was introduced by Mrs. J. P. Garvin, made her maiden speech, inasmuch as most of those present had not heard her before. She made a charming impression and advocated greater academic recognition for women, and prophesied bigger opportunity along this line. In particular, she pointed out that there is only one woman professor—Dr. Carrie Derrick of McGill— in any Canadian university, while she was sure many others could fill similar positions.

The function, on the whole, was an exceptional tribute to the success of Women's Century.

ALL PUPILS MUST BE VACCINATED

Otherwise They Will Be Excluded From School, Says Dr. Hastings.

Dr. Hastings, medical health officer, has notified the principals of schools and colleges that all pupils who have not been vaccinated within the past seven years must be vaccinated in the next eight days or be excluded from the schools. The M.O.H. reported to the local board of health Saturday morning that he had taken this action, and the board formally approved of the step. A further appropriation of $10,000 to meet the expense of fighting the smallpox outbreak was also recommended.

Dr. Hastings submitted a report on the situation, and added that he wanted the board of health to go on record as to whether they supported the M.O.H. or not.

"You need not worry about that," said the mayor, "the question is whether or not there is an epidemic."

Dr. Hastings: "It doesn't require an epidemic. There are between two and three thousand cases already in the city. The cases are of a mild type, but if proper measures are not taken the disease may become more virulent."

Mayor Church hoped that as the cases were of a mild type there would be no panic.

Parents who will now keep their children at home rather than submit them for vaccination, it was pointed out, are anxious to know whether their children will be permanently debarred from attending school until they are vaccinated.

Dr. Hastings said he would make an announcement on this point in a short time.

The M.O.H. said he had power to enforce the vaccination ruling under the vaccination act passed in 1914.

Cases reported so far number 113, 24 of which have been reported in the last 24 hours. Six patients were discharged from hospital yesterday, and 18 remain in hospital. There are 93 houses under quarantine, in which there are 80 patients and 337 "exposures."

There have been no deaths so far.

DR. BARBOUR PREACHES

New Incarnation Needed to Bring Peace to Stricken World, Says Noted Divine.

"Nothing will bring peace to the stricken world but a new incarnation of the spirit of Jesus," said President C. A. Barbour, D.D., of the Rochester Theological Seminary, during the course of his sermon to a large congregation in Convocation Hall on Sunday afternoon. The noted divine emphasized the great need of knowing God, and he pointed out that to know the Almighty was to corporate God's holiness into our daily life and to be a Jesus in our measure.

With reference to the teachings of the Bible, the speaker stated that it was intended by God that this statement of great principles should be applied in the lives of the people. He continued that there was a great portion of religious phraseology used without any real or definite meaning.

President Barbour dealt at some length upon the life beyond and what it meant to mankind. "When man realizes that he has a heritage of living on eternally more special interest should be taken in life after death," stated the speaker.

WORLD'S DAILY BRAIN TESTS

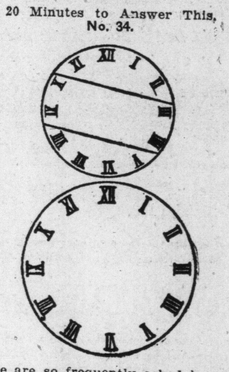
20 Minutes to Answer This, No. 34.



We are so frequently asked by correspondents for an elucidation of our old problem of a clock dial wherein it is required to divide it into four parts, each of which shall bear numbers footing up the same total, that we are impelled to respond to an encore. So here we present the problem again:

The smaller design shows how the dial may be divided into three sections, each of which contains numbers adding up 26.

Now, all we are required to do is cut that other dial into FOUR pieces, observing that same condition that each shall have numbers to produce a like total. Can you give it?

SOCIETY

Conducted by Mrs. Edmund Phillips.

Sir John and Lady Eaton opened their conservatories on Saturday afternoon to the members of the Rose Society, the Horticultural and the Retail Florists Association, and many people took advantage of the invitation. The swimming pool was drained and filled with chrysanthemums, which were a mass of blossom, the orchid house was also very lovely, and Sir John Eaton will have a large exhibit at the Horticultural Society's exhibition which opens at the Exhibition on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Wise is giving a dance for her daughter Miss Margaret Wise, in the Jenkins Gallery on Tuesday the 6th of January.

The Women's Historical Society gave a very successful bridge party and dance on Saturday afternoon in the galleries of the Women's Art Association. Miss Mickle, the president, and Lady Stupart, and Mrs. Seymour Corley, received the numerous guests in the hall, the ground floor was given up to the dancers, and sixteen tables of bridge were played upstairs, tea being served both upstairs and down, so that there was no crowding and everything went so smoothly that the society were asked to repeat the dance. Those present and assisting included Mrs. W. H. Ellis, Mrs. Bridges, Mrs. Horace Eaton, Mrs. Kanes, New York, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. W. H. P. Jarvis, Mrs. Blyth, Mrs. Edgar Jarvis, Jr., Mrs. Duckworth, Miss Laura Clark, who has just returned from Fergus; Mrs. J. P. Watson, Mrs. Davies, Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. James Bain, Miss Des Brisay, Miss Chauncey Tocque, Miss Tocque, Miss Malone, Miss Mackellar, Mrs. Hamilton Jarvis, Mrs. Hoskins, Mrs. Coulson, Miss Hoskin, Mrs. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Hyland, who told wonderful fortunes; Miss Edith Cook, Mr. Mac Cook, Mrs. Jamieson, Mrs. Bearstow, Miss Sweeny, Mrs. Ryder, Mrs. F. Johnston, Mr. Jennison, Miss Jennison, Miss Pierce, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Brayley, Mrs. Thomas Corsa, Mrs. G. M. Hobberlin, Mrs. Pipon, Miss Parsons, Miss Herrington, Mrs. FitzGibbon, Mrs. McNaughton, Mrs. Cory. The prize winners at the bridge were Mrs. Edgar Jarvis, Jr., Mrs. H. H. Robertson, Miss Boswetherick, Miss Doris Stupart, Mrs. Slaght, Haliiyburg; Mrs. W. T. Hallam, Mrs. F. Morgan, Mrs. Harry Bickle, Mrs. G. Brooks, Mrs. Wilson, Miss Evans, Mrs. Fred Jacobi, Mrs. Balfour Musson, Miss Norah Cooke, Mrs. Hunt, Mr. B. Marsh, Mrs. Leadbitter.

Mrs. W. H. Gooderham is giving a dance at the King Edward on the 2nd of January, for her daughter, Miss Helen Gooderham.

Mrs. C. L. Shaw was the hostess of a tea on Friday at her flat in the Hampton Mansions for Mrs. Shaw, Walkerton. Mrs. Porter officiated at the tea table, which was arranged with a centre of emoroidered linen and a silver bowl of bronze chrysanthemums. Mrs. Shaw wore blue georgette crepe, and Mrs. Fred Shaw was in white crepe de chine.

Miss Wynne-Roberts, V.A.D., who has for the last three years served in France, has returned to Canada by the S.S. Sicilian, and Captain L. W. Wynne-Roberts, R.E., who for four years served with the Royal Engineers in India, Mesopotamia and Persia, has arrived by the S.S. Royal George. Both are with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wynne-Roberts, 20 Selby street, Toronto.

Saturday afternoon was artists' day at the Heliconian Club, when the hostesses were Miss Marion Long and Miss Estella Kerr, the latter wearing black georgette crepe, with fringe of seal furs. Mr. Wyly Grier was the speaker, and his subject was "Painters, and Their Works." Vandyke, Holbein, Rubens, Reynolds, Romney and Gainsborough, which greatly interested his audience. Miss Lilly Adams and Miss Muriel Stark poured out the tea and coffee, and songs were sung by Mrs. Homuth Craigie, accompanied by Miss Helen Wilson, the guest of honor being Mrs. Agar Adamson, the hon. president, who was made very welcome. Some of those present were: Mrs. R. S. Gagen, Mrs. Van Koughnet, Mrs. C. W. Jeffreys, Hon. Justice and Mrs. Craig, Mrs. and Miss Tobin, Mrs. J. A. Harper, Miss Ellen Mackenzie, Miss Alice MacKellar, Mr. Lewis Clemens, Mrs. D. H. Todd, Miss E. J. Dempster, Miss Ella Harcourt, Mrs. W. D. Robertson, Mrs. P. Parker, Mrs. F. Miss Madge Churchill has returned to town after a six months' tour in Ireland.

The Sir Douglas Haig Auxiliary gave a dance and reunion in Columbus Hall on Friday night for members of the 201st Battalion. About 500 men and friends were present, all spending a delightful evening. Guests were received by Mrs. W. E. Groves, president, who was gowned in black satin and jet; Mrs. S. Rodgers, general convenor for the dance, black silk crepe, and georgette crepe; Mrs. F. R. Heakes, in blue satin and georgette. Members of this auxiliary have worked hard all thru the war to provide comforts for the soldiers, and on Friday evening had the joy of celebrating with them.

Mrs. John A. Walker gave one of a series of dances for the Orthopaedic Hospital at Jenkins' Friday night. The galleries looked lovely with the new collection of Belgian paintings on the walls, and the favorite orchestra played extremely taking music. The dance, like all that Mrs. Walker organizes, was a great success, rewarding her for the work she puts into all she does so thoroly. She was assisted by her son, Mr. Jack Walker. She received, looking very pretty, in a handsome gown of silver and green, with pearls. A buffet supper was served, and the tables were decorated with beautiful chrysanthemums. A few of those present included the following: Miss Dack, in a lovely gown of pale blue velvet and satin brocade, with blue jeweled trimming on the corsage; Mrs. W. H. Clemes, very handsome draped gown of turquoise blue satin over silver embroidery, and shoulder straps of brilliants; Mr. Fletcher, Mrs. Fletcher, very handsome in a magnificent gown of rose and silver brocade, with corsage of silver, embroidered with brilliants, and diamond necklace; Mrs. Harold Clemes, black satin with blue fan and rope of pearls; Mrs. Bruce, black satin and lace with rose fan; Mr. Clemes, Mr. Bruce, Mr. Garvin Clemes, Mr. Adair Gibson, Col. and Mrs. Hardy; Mrs. McWilliams, in blue and silver brocade, and tulle over silver; Miss Gladys Gage, coral satin with girdle of pale blue and gold lace corsage; Mrs. W. EVERYONE who has used a wooden tub or galvanised tub, knows of the defects—leaks, splinters, rust, dents. All these are impossible with an Eddy Tub—Because it is made of Indurated Fibreware—all in one piece without seams or hoops.

Indurated Fibreware is wood pulp ground to preserve the long fibres intact, then moulded and pressed into shape—baked in terrific heat to flint-like hardness. This makes it hard and durable as steel, yet light and resilient as wood.

ALLEN ENTERPRISE BIRTH ANNIVERSARY

Thirteenth Year of Wholesome Picture Entertainment by Noted Firm.

Today the Allen Theatre enterprises celebrate the thirteenth anniversary of their birth, and also the second anniversary of the opening of the first Allen Theatre in Toronto.

Thirteen years ago today Mr. Allen and his two sons, Jule and Jay J. Allen, became interested in motion pictures. At that time movies were being shown regularly only in Toronto and Montreal, but Mr. Allen and his sons decided that Brantford offered an opening for the new amusement, and so they rented a store and the Theatorium was born. So successful was this venture that a second house was opened.

Before the opening of the Theatorium Mr. Allen laid down two rules for the conduct of his theatre. First, none but clean, wholesome pictures should be shown; second, every patron must leave the house satisfied, no matter the trouble or expense. These two rules have been the cardinal principles of the Allens and constitute one of the big reasons why today they have theatres in operation or under construction in every leading city in Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

In Prairie Provinces.

With the two Brantford houses as a nucleus a chain of theatres thruout the smaller cities of Western Ontario was organized. Movies were then springing up in every town, and the Allens became interested in distributing pictures. Later they saw greater opportunities in the prairie provinces, and sold holdings in Ontario and settled in Calgary, where they established the Allen, the then finest house in all the Dominion. Again the vision that has been the Allen's became of service. They were able to corral the best pictures and their business became little short of marvelous.

It grew so rapidly that it became impossible to direct the activities from Calgary and the natural move was to Toronto. Here they brought the Famous Players Film Service and the Monarch Film Company, the former handling the product of one of the largest American producers and the other English productions and independent product. Only in the last few weeks these two companies have been consolidated.

With their move to Toronto the Allens were still alive to the opportunities in exhibition. They began to build and acquire theatres in eastern Canada. The Allen in Toronto is today just two years old. With the eastern houses and the great holdings in the prairie provinces the Allens then needed only the west to complete their dominance of Canada. Some six months ago this was consummated with the purchase of the Schuberg interests controlling eleven theatres in Vancouver, Victoria and Winnipeg.

Five Houses in Toronto

Today the Allens have five houses in operation in Toronto, the Allen, Danforth, Bloor Street, Royal and Beaver. The Danforth was opened only a couple of months ago and there are soon to be opened the St. Clair, College, Beach and Parkdale, all neighborhood houses in a sense, but representing the most advanced policies in theatre construction.

In operation in the rest of Canada there are now two in Montreal, two in Quebec, two in Ottawa, one in Peterboro, Cobourg, Hamilton, London, Nanaimo, Moose Jaw, Swift Current, Windsor Brandon, and Calgary, two in Edmonton, two in Victoria, two in Kitchener, three in Regina, two in Victoria, five in Winnipeg and four in Vancouver. New houses are under actual construction in Halifax, Montreal, four in Toronto, London, Windsor, St. Catharines, Winnipeg and Vancouver. Contracts have been made for the erection of houses immediately in a number of other cities and while definite names are not available it may be said that the plans of the Allens are to have the finest theatre in every principal city in the Dominion.

Invaded States

The Allens have now invaded the United States. Two houses, representing an investment of four million dollars, are under construction in Cleveland and Detroit. Still other evidence of their activities is shown by the presence of Jay J. Allen in England, where he has gone to arrange to have the best English pictures brought direct to Canada instead of thru American exchanges as is the case at present. In the meantime Jule Allen is carrying on in Canada, the father having retired from active business.

Possibly few people know it, but they need take off their hat to no other city in the world as far as movies are concerned, for Toronto is literally the capital of the motion picture theatre world, greatly as a result of the enterprise of B. Allen and his two sons.

HOME-MADE BREAD

Home bread-making reduces the high cost of living by lessening the amount of expensive meats required to supply the necessary nourishment to the body. The increased nutritious value of bread made in the home with should be sufficient incentive to the thoughtful housewife to give this important food item the attention to which it is justly entitled. Bread made with Royal Yeast will keep fresh and moist longer than that made with any other.
