June 25 JOSHUA S. TURNER.

A BACHELOR'S CONSOLATION.

A Romance of the Needle.

BY ROCKAFELLOW.

I.

In a snug little cot, not a thousand miles off,
Lived a lonely, contented old "bach,"
Who cooked his own grub and dined by himself,
And had no one to sew on a patch.

II.

With his cat, and his dog, and his little pet mouse,
Our hero, 'twas said, wanted nothing;
But a needle were sharp, and would frequently stick,
So he oft went with holes in his clothing.

III.

There no doubt were misses and maids quite near
Who would fly to relieve his distresses,
But he oft had declared he could never abide
The appearance of hoopskirts and dresses.

IV.

Now, this lucky old bachelor heard by a friend,
Or read in his morning journal,
Of the wonderful stitching of sewing machines,
And considered the matter nocturnal.

V.

Having fully determined to get a machine,
He spent a whole day in inspection,
For an hour or so would never suffice
To select from so large a collection.

VI.

For some thought the "Wheeler & Wilson" the best,
And others the "Wilcox & Gibbs,"
While others affirmed that the agents of both
Were too much inclined to tell fibs.

VII.

And a few for the "Florence" were ready to fight,
While most liked the "New Family Singer,"
Another one swore the "Osborne" was best,
The last one, I think, was a shaker.

VIII.

So first to the "Wheeler & Wilson" he went,
Where he found them making a shirt,
At the end of each seam they used needle and thread,
And by experience he knew they would hurt.

IX.

Then down to the agent of "Florence" he went,
And told him the part that he was stuck,
So the "Florence" a certain advantage had gained
By the feed that could make it sew back.

X.

But our Bachelor friend was dissatisfied still,
For the "Florence" so complicate seemed,
He feared the minnies might "get out of fix,"
And could never be wholly redeemed.

XI.

Then they told him another advantage they had over other machines in the West,
That four different stitches with it they could make,
And from four he might sure get the best.

XII.

Our hero replied, "What's the use of the our!
If one of the stitches is best,
Why that is the right one to use all the time,
And what will you do with the rest?"

XIII.

The "Howe" and the "Wilson" both vainly he tried,
The "Domestic" and "Osborne" as well,
But the "Howe" was too heavy, the "Wilson" too light,
And the "Osborne" broke down on a fell.

XIV.

The "Finkle & Lyon" or "Victor" he tried,
The "Zeins," "Bices," "Leavitt" and "Weed,"
Till worried and vexed with his fruitless research,
He scarce hoped in the end to succeed.

XV.

After trying in vain many other Machines,
Without any hope of success,
He called where the "Singer New Family" was kept,
And they quickly relieved his distress.

XVI.

For here half a dozen machines were engaged in stitching of different sorts,
Which they did so complete, and with so little noise
He acknowledged the truth of reports.

XVII.

In lightness of running, in stillness and speed,
In construction so simple, yet strong,
Sure none but the "New Family Singer" would vie,
Though he'd searched through the infinite throng.

XVIII.

From the others [illegible] strong
That he vainly endeavored to break it,
And so many advantages in it combined
That he quickly decided to take it.
