SPIRIT OF THE TIMES.

Lacrosse.

The Orients after a hard game yesterday defeated the Beavers, 2 goals to 0. The first was made in 12 minutes, but it took 1 hour and 10 minutes to pass the ball through the poles the second time. The Beavers were strengthened by several players from the Unions and Y. M. C. A's, Milligan, Davis, Magee, Tufts and Jones lending their services.

The game was an excellent one and well contested, and the winners had to work for their victory. Like the previous day the attendance was not large, and this is to be regretted as half the fun is in having a big crowd's assistance in picking out the good and bad points of the players.

In the evening the Beavers entertained the visitors at a supper.

Yesterday morning an altercation took place between Mr, Geo. P. Jardine, of Moncton, and C. Bruce Macdougall, editor of the Restigouche Pioneer, at Campbellton. The Rector rose at the wedding supper and said: 'I am about to propose'—Then he paused and glanced, accidently perhaps, at an unmarried lady of his congregation who he known to admire him very much, and the guests roared with delight, thinking they were about to be treated to a public popping of the question. As soon as he could get a hearing he blushingly continued—'the health of the bride.' The wedding guests were disappointed.—Chaham World.

Mr. G. Sheriff, of Lake George, N. S., can take the purse for this season in raising calves and chickens. His first cow came in with two very fine heifer calves—twins. The next came in with one steer and one heifer calf—twins. They are all fine calves and are doing well. George thinks now there is money in stock raising. One of his best hens stole her nest away, and after being absent for about three weeks, she put in an appearance one day with twenty-five chicks following her. They are all doing well.

A correspondent tells how while a party of ladies and gentlemen were spending their vacation at Bellisle recently, a number of ladies with but one gentleman (a very gentle man, too,) went up the Pentogoet river on a fishing trip; when some distance from human habitation and in the dense forest, suddenly they heard a crackling in the bushes followed by some noises as of wild animals. All were very much startled. The gentleman (he carried a revolver) tried to shin up a tree, leaving the ladies to fight the supposed bear alone. He had scarcely reached a place of safety when the cause of his alarm, a consumptive cow, placidly strolled out of the thicket.

The accommodation train from the north on Tuesday night struck and run over a cow at a sharp curve near Woodstock. The engine left the rails and pounded across the bridge, then plunged down a 50 feet embankment to the river's edge with the tender and three freight cars. Geo. Gabels, driver, and John Kemp, firemen, kept to their posts until the engine struck and turned nearly bottom up. Gabels crawled out in a pool of water, hot water and steam rushing on him. The water into which he went, however, prevented him being scalded fatally. He is badly bruised and scalded about the legs, but his injuries are not considered dangerous. Kemp climbed out over the wreck of the tender unhurt. The cars were wrecked and 30 sheep in one of them were killed. There were about 40 passengers, but noneof them were injured.

Presentation to Rev. Dr. Goodspeed.

The congregation of the West end Baptist church gathered together last evening to bid farewell to Rev. Dr. Goodspeed who leaves next week for Toronto. The following address was presented the reverend gentleman.

"Dr. Goodspeed, Rev. and Dear Sir:—

"Having learned with deep regret of your early departure from the city, the undersigned members of the Carleton Baptist church and congregation desire to express to you in this public manner their feelings of respect and esteem, and to record their deep sense of gratitude to you for the special interest you manifested in the temporal as well as spiritual prosperity of the church of which you are an honored member.

"Though burdened with the cares and responsibilities of editorial work, you always found time to devote to the best interests of the church and Sabbath school, and your removal will be deeply felt in these as well as other departments of our work.

"While regretting that we will not longer be benefitted by your wisdom and experience, we rejoice to know that interests with which we are denominationally identified will profit by both. Our prayer is that a kind Father may have you and your esteemed partner in his keeping."

Favourite "Swears."

Show me your "cuss word" and I'll tell you what you are. This variation of the somewhat musty proverb is, says a writer in the Morning Advertiser, suggested by a survey of the favorite "swears" of eminent Americans. The anthology of expletives is not uninteresting. Mr Chauncey M. Depew affects "By gosh," Collector Estrardt exclaims "Gee whiz," Mr. Whitney contents himself with "By golly," which Mr. Russell Sage converts into "By gum." Senator Platt relieves emotion with "Great Cesar," ex-President Cleveland cries "My lord," Postmaster Van Cott finds emphasis in "Jemmy Cripps," Mr. Ives shouts "Great hailstones," in moments of excitement, Col. Dan Lamont vents his feeling in "dry rats," Mr, Keene remarks "I'll be hornswoggled," the president of of the Fourth National Bank uses a double-barrelled "detonating comma"—as thus, 'Great Scott and General Jackson, 'Major Grant yells "Holy smoke," while Comptroller Miles says "Darn it all;" and so approaches the dubious 'dodgasted" and "goldarned" which figure so frequently in the pages of Transatlantic humour. It is to the cre dit of these typical Americans, all celebrated men in their own country, that they restrict themselves to innocent oaths. The temptation to swear lies, it is affirmed, in the profanity or in its suggestions thereof; but all these gentlemen have moulded their methods on the ingenious moral system of the Rev. Waldo Messanos, pastor of the West Twenty fifth Baptist church. When this clergyman steps upon a tack or is otherwise incensed into strong language' he lifts up his voice in exclamation—"Beefsteaks and onions," "Ham and eggs, 'Bread and butter, 'A plate of ice cream,' and by the time he has got through with hollering these "incoherencies" finds his temper calmed and his rage vanished. It is satisfactory to know that as the gentleman in Sheridan's comedy remarked." Your damn is out of fashion" in the United States. But the substitutes lack picturesqueness and expression.

Notice to Mariners.

New York, Sept 2—Captain George Sanbey, of the sloop Elbert T, reports that the steam yacht sunk on Great Kill Shoal, half way between Kill buoy and the shore, is a very dangerous obstruction to express steamers through the Kill. The yacht burned and sank on the shoal last Tuesday night, and she is just awash at low tide. No buoy has been placed over the wreck, and there was nothing to mark its location until Capt Sanbey attached a tender to it, which now floats over the yacht. The sloop James Rockwell struck the sunken yacht last Thursday and had to be beached to prevent her sinking.
