THE PASTOR'S WIFE.

AN INTERESTING INTERVIEW WITH MRS. (REV.) F. B. STRATTON.

Threatened With Paralysis—Weak, Emaciated and Unable to Stand Fatigue—Pink Pills Restore Her Health.

From The Napinee Beaver.

The Rev. F. B. Stratton of Selby is one of the best known ministers in Bay of Quinte conference, of which body he is the president. During the two years Mr. Stratton has been stationed at Selby, both he and Mrs. Stratton have won hosts of friends among all classes for their unassuming and sincere Christian work. Some time ago Mrs. Stratton was attacked with partial paralysis, and her restoration having been attributed to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a reporter of The Beaver was sent to interview her. In reply to the reporter's question, Mrs. Stratton said that she had been greatly benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and was perfectly willing to give her experience that those similarly afflicted might be benefited. Mrs. Stratton said that before moving to Selby she had been greatly troubled by a numbness coming over her sides and arms (partial paralysis) which, when she moved, felt as though hundreds of needles were sticking in the flesh. For over a year she had been troubled in this way, and with occasionally a dizzy spell. She was becoming emaciated and easily fatigued and was unable to get sleep from this cause. The trouble seemed to be worse at night time. Mr. Stratton had become greatly alarmed at her bad state of health, and it was feared that complete paralysis would ensue as Mrs. Stratton's mother, the late Mrs. Weaver of Ingersoll, had been similarly stricken, at about the same age. Knowing a young lady in Trenton, where Mrs. Stratton had been previously stationed, who had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, it was determined to give them a fair trial. When Mrs. Stratton began using the Pink Pills she was very thin and her system badly run down, but after taking the pills for a time all symptoms of paralysis disappeared, and she found her health and strength renewed and her weight increased. Mrs. Stratton is about fifty years of age, younger looking lady is seldom seen at that age.

In reply to the reporter's inquiry as to what Pink Pills had done for his wife, Mr. Stratton said: "Look at her, look at her, doesn't she show it," and the reporter could not but admit the truth of the statement.

These pills are a positive cure for all troubles arising from a vitiated condition of the blood or a shattered nervous system. Sold by all dealers or by mail from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y., at 50 cents a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50. There are numerous imitations and substitutes against which the public is cautioned.

Wild Duck Shooting.

The shooting of wild ducks becomes legal on and after Monday next, Sept. 2. This is the weak spot in the present Game Act. All our ordinary game should either come in on Sept. 1, or wild duck shooting should be delayed till the 15th. As it is at present, the hunter after wild ducks is almost certain to put up coveys of grouse in the bushes surrounding marshes, and nine times out of ten some of them are bagged. As a consequence when the 15th arrives the coveys of these birds are all scattered and made very wild, and the honest sportsman is compelled to put up with skim-milk while the dishonest one carries off the cream. As we have said above, this is the weak feature of the present act, and we should very much like to see it amended so as to provide that all ordinary shooting should become legal on the same date—let that date be either Sept. 1 or 15.

The School Building at Blantyre Park.

It is stated upon pretty good authority that the structure which was erected in Blantyre Park for the Roman Catholic Industrial School will be turned into an orphanage and occupied by the bigger boys now living at the Sunnyside institution. The change is due, it is said, to the expense of equipping, with the necessary machinery, the building where the trades of boot making, carpentering and printing were to be taught, and providing the teachers for them. The building, which is of red brick, faced with white stone and four stories in height, cost, with the outlying sheds, $11,000.

The Touch of a Magician's Wand.

All tumbled down, crushed to the earth, swept away as by the wand of a magician. What? The high prices for wines. There is a magic in the world still. The entire people can now drink good, wholesome, stimulating wines, since the Bordeaux Claret Co. undertook to make the price $3.50 and $4.50 per dozen quarts, delivered to any part in Ontario. It was not believable at first. It was said the wine was not wine at all. But the best judges in the land visited the cellars; the foremost citizens all over the country purchased, and to-day the trade is so enormous that the orders cannot be overtaken. A beautiful wine, having age and fruitiness, and strength giving properties at nominal prices, which place it within the reach of all. Address—Bordeaux Claret Co., 30 Hospital-street, Montreal.

East Toronto Notes.

Mr. W. H. Clay, village clerk, is in Guelph attending the Foresters' Convention as a delegate from the lodge in East Toronto.

William Fawcette, retired farmer, is moving the four-roomed frame building of his, standing on Lyall-avenue, to Edward-street.

Robert Rattray of Coxwell-avenue, who was summoned at the instance of Hugh Gorman for keeping an alleged ferocious dog, settled the case out of court by the payment of $1.60, and has followed this up with a cross case against Gorman.

The flour mills at Little York will now bear the firm name of Mahaffy & Son.

The local bicycle club are taking frequent spins along the course, to be followed by the R.Q.T. road race on Sept. 14.

Norway Public school opens on Monday.

Very many persons die annually from cholera and kindred summer complaints who might have been saved if proper remedies had been used. If attacked do not delay in getting a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, the medicine that never fails to effect a cure. Those who have used it say it acts promptly and thoroughly, subdues the pain and disease.

Discovery of a Pyramid in Mexico.

New York, Aug. 30.—A special to The Recorder from Guanajuaofi, Mexico, says Jesse Reagan, J. R. Even and Frank Bickford of Alabama, who have been spending several months hunting and making explorations in the country north of here, have discovered a large, ancient pyramid. Their excavations into this pyramid have brought to light many relics of the Aztec or other ancient people of Mexico.

Nihilist Activity in Russia.

Cologne, Aug. 30.—The Cologne Gazette publishes a despatch from its correspondent in St. Petersburg asserting that Nihilism is now more active throughout Russia than at any time since the death of the Czar Alexander II. The Nihilists have gradually grown bolder since the accession of the new Czar. Recently the police have quietly made a number of arrests and more are expected to follow.

TRADER STOKES HANGED.

The Ex-Missionary the First White Man to Be Executed in Central Africa.

The latest newspapers from London contain the account of the hanging of a white man in Central Africa. He is the first white man to meet that ignominious fate in that region. His name was Stokes, and he has had a remarkable career. Stokes was one of the first missionaries who were sent to Victoria Nyanza. In the course of a few years he thought he saw a chance to make a fortune in Africa, and he abandoned the missionary field. The growth of his influence was remarkably rapid, and was owing to his intimate knowledge of the country and the great success of his business enterprises. It was due to Stokes far more than to any other one man that Mwanga, the fugitive King of Uganda, was able to regain his throne. He has now been hanged in the northeast corner of the Congo Free State by an officer of the state, and the despatch from Zanzibar says the affair is creating great excitement there.

The cable despatch from Zanzibar is confirmed by another despatch from Brussels, telling of recent events in the Congo State. It appears that when Captain Dhanis, who drove the Arabs of the Upper Congro across Lake Tanganyika and out of the Congo State, came home on leave of absence, Commandant Lothaire succeeded him in command of the troops. Marching north down the Congo, he caught and executed Chief Kibonge, who was mainly responsible for the murder of Emin Pasha. At the same time he learned that a white man had been selling guns and powder to the Arab slavers and to Kibonge. Later he caught this white man on the Iturl River. He proved to be the trader, Stokes. A court-martial was organized to try him, and he was found guilty and hanged. The Iturl River is in the northeast part of the state.

Fifteen or sixteen years ago Stokes was sent to Uganda by the Church Missionary Society of England, and for several years he was one of the most active of the pioneer missionaries in that country. He seemed to have an unusual faculty for winning the favor of the natives and for keeping missionary enterprises moving. He was believed to be a man of exemplary character and Christian zeal.

Everybody who kept track of this enterprise was much surprised ten or eleven years ago to hear that Stokes had suddenly left the missionary service and had embarked in business on his own account as a trader. He seemed at the same time to have abandoned all the high principles he had professed, and was willing to do anything to make money. His principal trade goods were guns and powder, because they were what the natives most eagerly craved. His business was regarded as nefarious, but he developed it to large proportions before the prohibition of the gun and powder trade with natives was established. It is said that he has since secretly carried on the trade on a large scale, in spite of the prohibition.

He had some connection with the big Indian traders on the Zanzibar coast, but nobody seems to know just what it was.

Some years ago he sent into the interior a caravan of 2000 porters. It was said at the time to be the largest trading caravan ever seen in tropical Africa, with the exception of one party sent to the coast by Tippu Tib.

In 1888 the cruel King of Uganda, Mwanga, was driven from his throne by the Mahommedan element in his country dominated by the Arab traders. As long as they were supreme Stokes could do no more trading in Uganda. The fact was widely published in the following year that Stokes was really the man who put Mwanga back on the throne and enabled the missionaries to return to Uganda. Mwanga's native supporters were mostly massed in the Buddu district, and it was Stokes' guns and powder that enabled them to win the day.

During the year when nothing was heard from Stanley, who was on his Emin relief expedition, and there were many reports of his death, Stokes kept men in Uganda instructed to bring news of the explorer to the coast by forced marches. He withdrew the men, however, just before Stanley reappeared.

The crime of which he was said to be guilty, and for which he was put to death, is of the most despicable character. He was found guilty of supplying munitions of war to the Arabs with which to fight his own race. The whites have been at war with the Arabs simply because they persisted in raiding for slaves, a murderous business which all civilized nations declared at the Brussels Conference must be suppressed.

The C.P.R. and Exhibition Specials.

The arrangements made this year by the C.P.R. differ somewhat from those of former years, they being remodelled to better suit the large numbers which annually patronize the company on their visit on the Exhibition.

September 10 (Tuesday), a special train will leave Orangeville at 7 a.m., coming via the Valley, and another special will leave Flesherton on the 11th (Farmers' Day), coming via the Bruce, and calling at intermediate stations.

Return specials will leave Parkdale after the fireworks, at 10.15 p.m., on the 10th, for Flesherton, via the Valley, and 13th, for Orangeville and Galt, of course stopping at intermediate stations. September 14 and 16, specials will leave Toronto, Union Station, at 5 p.m., for Orangeville, via the Bruce.

The regular trains will also be altered as follows: Sept. 10 to 13, inclusive, train due to leave the Union at 5, for Havelock and intermediate stations, will leave Parkdale at 5.50, and Toronto Union at 6.10 p.m., while on the mornings of the 10th to 14th, inclusive, the train from Wingham, Teeswater, Elora, Fergus, Orangeville, will come right through to Toronto, and passengers will therefore not change at Streetsville Junction. On the same days the train due to leave Toronto at 4 p.m. for these points will leave Parkdale at 3.50 p.m., and run right through.

It will thus be seen that passengers' comfort has been well looked after this year. A neat booklet, giving the daily program at the Fair, as well as full detail of the above arrangements, with a time table of the C.P.R., included, has been gotten up, and can be obtained free at 1 King-street east. It will be very handy to send to friends in the country.

The Canadian Pacific Railway's Manitoba and Northwest exhibit will be in its usual position near the grand stand, and, considering the enormous crops which it has this year been that country's good fortune to have, a special effort has been made to make an attractive display. A free illustrated lecture will be given each evening of the second week, with stereopticon views on "Canada's Homes for Millions." The district of Algoma has also sent its quota of fruits, vegetables, etc., which will be exhibited in the C.P.R. Hall.

Music and Education.

Mr. Calvin R. Cady, normal class instructor, Chicago Conservatory of Music, will lecture in St. George's Hall on Tuesday evening next, Sept. 3. In selecting for his subject, "Music and Education," the lecturer has chosen wisely for his initial appearance before a Toronto audience. The musical profession will no doubt show their appreciation of a high-class lecture by filling St. George's Hall to overflowing.

Mr. Cady is a particularly clever exponent of the musical art, his preparatory education being received at Oberlin, after which he spent three years at Leipsic, at the same time being a private pupil of Plaidy, Dr. Paul Richter and Dr. Papperitz, in the studies of piano, organ and theory, thereby securing a solid foundation in the science and art of teaching. After five years at the Oberlin Conservatory as teacher of piano and advanced harmony, he accepted and occupied for eight years the chair of music which was created for him at the University of Michigan, which position he resigned to enter the wide field offered by the Chicago Conservatory of Music. Mr. Cady is widely known as an original thinker and musical educator of the highest order. Many of his students are from the schools of Berlin, Leipsic and Stuttgart."

Messrs. Nordheimer are conducting the sale of tickets.

Labor Day.

Last excursion of the season to St. Catharines on Monday, Sept. 2, by steamer Lakeside, leaving Yonge-street wharf at 2 p.m., going through the locks of the Welland Canal. Returning leaves St. Catharines at 7 p.m. Fare 50c.

THE RELIEF OF LUCKNOW.

The Leading Special Attraction of the Industrial—Grand Historical and Pyrotechnic Spectacle.

The grand military and pyrotechnic drama, "The Relief of Lucknow," which will form the concluding feature of each day's program of special attractions at the approaching Toronto Industrial Fair from Wednesday next until the close, presents one of the most romantic and thrilling episodes of the Indian Mutiny. About five hundred performers will take part, representing Indian mutineers, Nautch girls and people of all classes and every arm of the British land service. The opening of the piece shows the handful of British residents and soldiery beleaguered in Lucknow by a host of Sepoy mutineers. Nugad, a Hindoo who has remained faithful to the English, enters bearing despatches, which, after running the fire of the besiegers, he succeeds in delivering to Gen. Inglis, the commander. The British, assured of help at hand, cheer loudly, and the mutineers make a desperate attack, which, after some sharp fighting, is repulsed.

The next scene shows the coronation of the King of Oude with all the circumstances of Oriental pomp and ceremony, and great rejoicing of the natives, who are assured by Nana Sahib that they will soon cut the throats of the English. They are reinforced by another regiment of Sepoys, who throw the heads of their murdered officers at the feet of the king. The festivities are concluded by a performance of acrobats, march of Amazons and dance of Nautch girls. Meanwhile, the fighting between the besieged garrison and the mutineers is vigorously going on, and is accompanied by several exciting incidents.

The British, anxious to find out what is going on in the rebel camp, send out the faithful Nugad, disguised as an Indian juggler, as a spy. While examining the defences he is seized and taken before Nana Sahib. He persists in representing himself as a juggler, but is confronted with a real juggler, and is unable to imitate his slight-of-hand performance. When about to be led to execution he intimates that he possesses magical powers and can show them visions of the future. He seizes a censor of incense, throws powder in the flame, which produces a red light, and waves the incense about. The king and others appear entranced, and their visions are reproduced on the wall of the palace of the Rajahs, and expose the following tableaus under strong lime lights: "Behold Britannia," "Britannia the Protector of India," "Britannia Attacked," "Britannia Triumphant," "Britannia the Avenger of Cawnpore," and "The Empress of India." Nugad steals away as the people awake out of their trance, and succeeds in escaping.

The English prepare for an attack in force. Suddenly a woman starts up, exclaiming that she hears the Highland pibrock. Though at first incredulous, all listen eagerly, and at length is heard distinctly the sound of a distant fusillade and the bagpipes playing, "The Campbells are Coming." The besieged burst into a hearty cheer, and make ready for a stubborn defence. The mutineers advance to the assault, and, with bags of powder, blow up the gate. A furious battle takes place, and at the opportune moment the Highlanders come up, driving the Sepoys before them. The mutineers everywhere break into an ignominious flight, vanishing into the town. Flames and explosions break out everywhere, and the city is wrapped in flames. The firework set piece, "The Empress of India," is lighted.

The march past the grand stand is headed by a grand tableau on a float drawn by British troops, representing Britannia surrounded by representatives of the army, navy, colonies, etc. The captive ringleaders of the mutiny are lashed to the mouths of the cannon ready to be blown from there, and other Indian captives follow behind. Generals Havelock, Outram and Inglis appear on horseback, the band playing, "See the Conquering Hero Comes."

The firework program, with which the entertainment closes, comprises a profusion of all the latest and most brilliant effects known to the pyrotechnic art.

"Did Wrench and Assault Zella."

Jersey City, Aug. 29.—William T. Hoffman, of counsel for Zella Nicolaus, to-day applied to Judge Lippincott for permission to amend the original complaint of his client of assault and battery against George J. Gould, by adding that Mr. Gould did, in April, 1893, in New York city, wrench and assault Zella. The court granted the permission and a separate suit for $50,000 will be brought against Mr. Gould.

An Enormous Catch of Frogs.

Peterboro' Times.

Two frog catchers who are experts at the business made a good record on the night of the 14th inst. Mr. William Forrest, who resides on the eighth line, Seymour, and Mr. J. W. Potts, whose residence is at Percy Boom, caught 2876 frogs in six hours on the Jordan Creek in North Hastings. They skinned the lot and shipped them at Bannockburn to dealers in Buffalo, N.Y. The whole number after being skinned weighed 351 pounds, for which the catchers expect to receive 20 cents per pound.

More Troops For Cuba.

Madrid, Aug. 30.—Several battalions of troops left Cadiz and Valencia yesterday to reinforce the Spanish army in Cuba, and the final contingent of troops will leave to-day.

Language Insufficient

To Describe the Sufferings of Mr. John Boyer, Banker, Kincardine, Ont.

A Victim of Indigestion

In Its Most Distressing Forms—Seemingly a Hopeless Case Perfectly Cured By South American Nervine.

IS is the face of a banker, however viewed. There is written plainly the careful, cautious, conservative man of finance; one who weighs every detail, and who, generous in disposition, is yet firm and resolute in the conduct of his business, as a banker must needs be.

This is the man who suffered, as few men have suffered, anywhere, from indigestion. His own words are these: "About a year ago, as a result of heavy work, no doubt, I became very much troubled with indigestion; associated with it were those terribly distressing feelings that can hardly be described in any language, but they are so common to the dyspeptic. I had tried various methods of ridding myself of the trouble, but without success; at last I tried South American Nervine. The result, in one word, I may say, and I gladly say it, cured me, and I have no hesitation in recommending any person affected with any stomach trouble to try South American Nervine."

Mr. Boyer is not the man to heedlessly give a testimonial for a proprietary medicine but the strong words that he uses of South American Nervine come from a grateful heart. He was sick, nigh unto death, and this medicine made him well again.

This Great Discovery will cure radically in every case of indigestion, dyspepsia, nervousness and general debility. It is fittingly termed a Great Discovery.

Over a million Dodge Pulleys are now in successful operation. They are given the call almost unanimously by the manufacturers of this country, and in many foreign markets. Imitation is said to be the sincerest flattery. Since the "Dodge Pulley" has been on the market there have been many so-called "wood split pulleys" invented, some direct infringements of our patents and some of an evasive character.
