CIRCULATING LIBRARY.

THE Subscriber would respectfully intimate to the public that he has taken one of Mr. Ward's new Stores, adjoining Mr. Burrell, in King-street, where he intends opening a general LITERARY INSTITUTION, to be conducted upon the principle of a Circulating Library. A varied Stock of BOOKS, in every Department of Literature, kept for the use of the subscribers, with an addition of all New Works immediately after their publication, such as English, Scotch, Irish and American REVIEWS, MAGAZINES, JOURNALS, MISCELLANIES, LITERARY NEWSPAPERS, and various other PERIODICALS, &c., which will be let out as Books. It is to be presumed that there is literary taste in the community not only to appreciate the design but to furnish a sufficient number of patrons to ensure the carrying out such an undertaking successfully, and he now respectfully calls upon all the Ladies and Gentlemen in the City to come forward and evince a disposition to encourage the project, and pledges himself to do his part fully, and his utmost exertions shall be used to establish an institution both useful and creditable to the public.

Catalogues, containing Rules, &c. may be had on WEDNESDAY NEXT, the 29th instant, at the counter, gratis. Also will be kept for sale at the above Store, a good assortment of BIBLES, TESTAMENTS, HISTORIES and Miscellaneous Works, School Books, Wove and Laid Foolscap, Post and Note Papers; Quills, Steel Pens; red, blue, black and indelible Inks, and a great variety of other articles usually kept in Book Stores.
