Want New Provincial Police Force Demanded by Municipal Association

Many Motions Put Forward, But Most of Them Killed.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—The Municipal association this morning decided that it was not advisable for that body to recommend any change in the system of municipal auditing. Resolutions were carried in favor of the construction of a provincial police force, urging that a strong stand should be taken in favor of the thorough enforcement of railway taxation.

The association supported a proposal that qualifications of a candidate for the position of schol trustees should be the same as those for members of the council, and the opinion should be given to elect trustees by the general vote with the assent of the electors.

A motion that no member of a joint stock company doing business with a council should be allowed to become a member of that council was defeated.

A motion of Mr. Stephen Grant, of London, for the assessment of loan corporations upon their capital or earnings, was defeated.

A motion by City Solicitor Doherty, of St. Thomas, favoring the amendment of the municipal act to exempt municipalities from liability for damages as the result of accidents on the highways carried.

A resolution was introduced by Controller Hopwell, of Ottawa, proposing that legislation should be asked for to provide that no municipal franchise in voting the use of the public streets should be granted except on a vote of the property owners. Resolutions were carried in favor of the repeal of the Conmee act.

GALT'S BYLAW GIVEN SETBACK

Judge Anglin Reserves Judgment—No Price Stated in the Measure.

THE MAYOR WANTS NEW VOTE

Or Some Guarantee in the Contract in Case Price Exceeds Estimate.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—Mr. Justice Anglin today reserved judgment on the motion of M. A. Secord, Galt's town solicitor, for a mandamus constraining Mayor Thomas Patterson, of Galt, to sign the power bylaw and contract with the hydro-electric commission.

"I will consult my brothers," said his lordship, Mr. Justice Latchford having granted a similar order against Mayor Huber, of Berlin, and Chief Justice Falconbridge having ruled on a point at issue in the Hamilton case.

Mayor Patterson was his own lawyer today, but he was more successful than Mayor Huber had been, as he gave Mr. Justice Anglin such food for thought as to lead to further consideration.

Wants a Definite Price.

"My objection is this," said Mayor Patterson. "The bylaw passed by the people placed the price maximum of $22. The bylaw I am asked to sign specifies no limit. The schedule of the contract gives nothing but an estimate. I have no wish to block the bylaw passed by the council, but I do wish to safeguard the people. I have said time and again, 'Insert a clause in the contract saying that the price shall not exceed $22, or, if it does, that the people will be consulted again, and I will sign bylaw and contract.' I mention to your lordship a public meeting support of my position."

Mr. Secord took issue with Mr. Patterson on the latter's statement that the public meeting was representative.

Mr. Patterson retorted that the meeting had been both large and representative. Former Mayor Cant, who now sat behind him in court, had presided, and a leading manufacturer, Dr. Redford, also a former mayor, had been present.

Quoted From a Letter.

Mr. Secord quoted from the letter written by the secretary of the hydro-electric commission, the letter accompanying the contract. This stipulated that, should the tender price exceed the estimated price, the municipality should be consulted further.

"The commission are honorable men," said Mr. Secord.

"It's not a question of honor, but of contract," suggested Mr. Justice Anglin.

"Why should a letter go behind the contract?" asked Mr. Patterson, "and the contract makes no such proviso."

Mr. Secord then informed his lordship that a mayor could not refuse to sign a bylaw passed by the council.

"After signing the bylaw and contract, his worship may take action to set them aside, but he cannot refuse to obey the council, the people's voice. The very same questions came up in the Huber case."

"But Mr. Patterson says the limit was to be $22, on the strength of which the people passed bylaw 848," said Mr. Justice Anglin.

Mr. Secord reiterated that his worship must sign 904. He had no choice.

Wants Another Vote.

"Craving your indulgence," argued Mr. Patterson, "I would submit that the people must vote on money bylaws."

His lordship seemed to be impressed by Mr. Patterson's contention as to the original prices, and their omission from the second bylaw, but would confer with Mr. Justice Latchford as to the points on which the latter had ordered Mayor Huber of Berlin to sign the Berlin power bylaw.

Mr. Patterson's objection that F. Stewart Scott, co applicant with the town, had not been authorized by the Galt council, was met by the remark that authority was not necessary.

"Mr. Justice Anglin seems to think that a mayor is something more than a ruboer stamp," said a lawyer, 'and further, he seems to think that the schedule is merely an estimate, and does not bind."

CABINET COUNCIL FAVORS CONTRACT

Order-in-Council Passed by the Ontario Gov't Approving Hydro Contract.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—The Ontario cabinet at a meeting this afternoon passed an order-in-council approving the contract drawn up between the Hydro-Electric Commission and the McGuigan Company for the erection of power transmission lines.

The decision of the commission to ask for tenders at once for step-down stations was approved.

The contract for the transforming stations will be let by the commission within one month. A meeting has been called by Ald. Fryer, of Guelph, chairman of the Niagara Power Union, for next week in this city, and invitations sent out not only to the municipalities belonging to the union but all as far east as Cobourg. The intention is to form a larger union and by securing in detail the requirements of each, to enable the commission to plan a line east of Toronto and north to all the municipalities within a radius of at least 60 miles.

ACTOR CONFESSES TO KILLING WIFE

Boston Startled by a Horrible Crime, in Which a Young Woman Is Slain.

Boston, Sept. 3.—The most horrible and brutal crime committed in Greater Boston since the death of Susan Geary, a chorus girl, four years ago, and one much resembling it, was disclosed tonight, by the discovery of the torso of Mrs. Honorah Jordan, an actress, aged 23 years, of Somerville, in a trunk in a boardinghouse at 7 Hancock street, on Beacon Hill, this city, Later the head and bones of the limbs were found in the furnace of the Jordan home at Somerville, and the scalp hair and other grewsome remains were taken from the kitchen range of the house.

Chester Jordan, aged 29 years old, an actor, of 59 Medford street, Somerville, is held by the police, charged with the murder, and tonight, according to the officers, he made a full and complete confession of the crime. According to Jordan's alleged confession he accidentally killed his wife Tuesday night in a quarrel at their home, and becoming desperate over what he had done, went out and bought a butcher's knife and hack-saw, cut-up the body and placed the torso in a trunk. He then planned to take the steamer Harvard, which was scheduled to leave last night for New York, and throw the parts of the body overboard. The fact that the Harvard was laid off owing to an accident disarranged his plans, and he was obliged to hire a hackman to take the trunk to a Boston boardinghouse to await a more favorable opportunity.

The Discovery.

The discovery of the crime was due to the suspicions of the hackman, George W. Collins, who had in mind the numerous robberies which have taken place in and about Boston recently, and surmising from its weight that the trunk he was carting about contained silverware, notified the police. Collins reported that he had first taken the trunk from the North Station this morning, it having come in from Somerville on a local train. It was first taken to the South Station, where he left it. Later he was called upon by Jordan to carry the same trunk to No. 7 Hancock street, a lodginghouse kept by Mrs. John Haley. The hackman then reported his suspicions to the police.

Sergeant Michael Crowley was detailed to go over to the Hancock street house and investigate. When he reached the house Jordan was not in, but the officer was shown the back room on the second floor which Jordan had engaged and found the trunk. At this time the trunk was not opened. About 5:20 Jordan returned and on being accosted in the hallway by the officer at first denied his identity. Later he admitted who he was. Asked about his trunk he denied that he had one. He was ordered to his room by the officer, however, and commanded to open the trunk.

Jordan did not appear nervous or alarmed, but hesitated to open the trunk, and it was not until after considerable argument on the part of the officer that he produced the key to the trunk and inserted it in the lock. Turning his head Jordan threw up the cover of the trunk and then sank back on his knees, burying his face in his hands and sobbing. Sergeant Crowley staggered back aghast at the disclosure, for in the open trunk before him lay a sickening mass of hacked flesh, a woman's torso, filling the greater part of the trunk, while pieces of flesh from other parts of the body were stuffed into the corners. The entire interior of the trunk was bespattered with blood. There was no covering of any sort over the remains. Jordan submitted without protest to the handcuffs and was led to the station and locked up.

Jordan Tells All.

Giving his name and address, he declared the body in the trunk was that of his wife and appeared perfectly willing to tell the officers everything concerning the case.

For more than four hours tonight Jordan was closeted with the police officials of Boston and Somerville, and time after time went over the horrible details.

While professing that he was dazed when the crime was committed, yet by the clearness of his tale it seemed apparent that whatever preceded the actual killing the most careful plans were laid for the disposition of the body and the covering up of the crime.

Jordan's story of the murder, which was given the officers, was substantially as follows:

He stated that he was married in September, 1904, to Mrs. Honorah Eddy, whose maiden name was O'Reilly, and whose home was in Somerville. He did not know who his wife's first husband was or what had become of him. The couple went on the vaudeville stage, Mr. Jordan taking the part of a tramp and his wife that of a nurse in a sketch. They went west. About three years ago they returned to Somerville. Mrs. Jordan, according to her husband, had taken to drinking of late, and, he claims, was associating with other men, and he became jealous. It was in a jealous quarrel Tuesday night last that the trouble started, which ended in the death of the wife.

Jordan declares that his wife struck him first, and that he then knocked her down and was terrified to find that he had killed her.

This happened Tuesday night. Fearing discovery, he conceived the idea of cutting the body up, taking it away on one of the steamers, and throwing the parts overboard, and then reporting to the police the fact that his wife had left him.

Jordan, according to his confession, went out and bought a heavy butcher's cutting-up knife. With this and a razor and shears he severed the head from the body, and after putting the scalp and hair in the kitchen range, placed the skull in the furnace in the cellar. The legs and arms were cut from the body, and the flesh sliced off in strips, leaving the bones of the limbs practically bare. The bones were placed in the furnace, and the pieces of flesh piled into a trunk with the torso.

CHURCHILL—HOZIER

Member of the Asquith Cabinet Will Marry on Sept. 15.

London, Sept. 3. — The marriage which has been arranged between Winston Churchill and Miss Clementine Hozier will take place, probably in St. Margaret's Church, Westminster, on Sept. 15. It is now learned that the engagement was made several weeks ago, but the couple by mutual agreement decided not to announce it until just one month previous to the wedding.

A long friendship has existed between the Churchill and Hozier families, and the engaged couple have known each other for several years. Miss Hozier was presented at court four years ago. Her mother, Lady Blanche Hozier, is a daughter of the seventh Earl of Airlie. By a curious coincidence the career of Lady Blanche's late husband was similar to that of her prospective son-in-law. Sir Henry Hozier was in the Third Dragoon Guards ,and went through the Abyssinian campaign of 1867 as assistant military secretary to Lord Napier of Magdala. He served with the Royal Artillery in China, and took part as a newspaper correspondent in the war between Austria and Denmark and the war between Prussia and Austria in 1866.

Mr. Churchill, who is president of the board of trade in the present Cabinet, is the fourth member of the Asquith Government to be married while in office. Other ministerial weddings have been: Lord Loreburn, the lord chancellor, and Miss Violet Hicks Beach ,at St. Stephen's Chapel, last December. Reginald McKenna, first lord of the admiralty, and Miss Pamela Jekyll, at St. Margaret's, Westminster, on June 3. C. F. G. Masterman, parliamentary secretary of the Local Government Board, and Miss Lucy Lyttleton, at Westminster Abbey, on June 2.

GREAT FUTURE FOR JAP.

London, Sept. 3.——W. T. R. Preston, writing in the National Review on the future of Japan, says that 50 years hence Japan will have a population of 70,000,000, a larger revenue than Great Britain has today, and her manufactured products will find market everywhere throughout the world. Both from a national standpoint and as individuals, Japan will be taking rank as one of the wealthiest countries in the world long before that period has been reached, and the western world will wonder that it ever listened to pessimistic forebodings concerning the future of Japan. This is a nation, he says, the west can now well afford to treat with magnanimity.
