MUST DEPEND ON FOREIGNERS TO WORK FARMS

German Landowners Face Problem Owing to Exodus from Rural Districts to the Towns.

Berlin, April 5.—The Farmer's league, whose annual convention in Berlin just closed declares that the exodus from rural district to city, has made is impossible for the landowners to find enough native farm laborers. They have to depend on the hordes of Russians, Poles and other foreigners who invade Germany each spring and return to their homes in the autumn, taking out of the country the savings of their six months' work. The problem has recently become graver in view of the announced intention of the Russian government to forbid its subjects from coming across the border. This would mean that the German farmers would have to look elsewhere for no less than 400,000 laborers, at a time when army increases are about to take a further block of 180,000 ablebodied men away from productive pursuits.

Prominent speakers of the Farmer's league asserted that laws limiting the right of domiciliary choice of persons under eighteen years old should be enacted. This would mean that the peasants, whose right to choose their own domicile and to move about freely was established by the Imperial constitution more than forty years ago, would return to serfdom. It was also proposed that even adult inhabitants of rural communities should not be permitted to move to cities without first proving that they had secured a home there. How such a law could be enforced was not explained.

The same conditions make for the drift to the cities in Germany that are observed elsewhere. These are primarily the superior educational and social advantages. Another great factor here is the law wages prevailing in rural districts. An official report shows some 300 governmental districts, corresponding roughly to the American township, in which the prevailing wage for laborers 21 years of age and upward is 48 cents daily or less.

G., chief commissioner of the dominion police, has arrived to represent Canada at the meeting of the commission which will make the preliminary arrangements for the international penitentiary congress in London next year. The party visited the sugar camp at which about 1,000 maple trees were tapped, and demonstrations of maple syrup and sugar making by old fashioned and improved methods were given. A resolution was pessed asking the Quebec and Dominion governments to impose heavy penalty on adulterators.

MAY RIVAL THE TITANIC DISASTER

Premier Morris, in London, Says Loss of Two Sealers Means Great Calamity for Newfoundland Fishermen's Families.

London, April 6.—Sir Edward Morris, Premier of Newfoundland, accompanied by Lady Morris, arrived yesterday by the Olympic from New York. Interviewed by your correspondent, he stated that he had been apalled by the wireless message received on board ship the day before landing, conveying the news of the sealing disaster. He stated that the latest official report gave the total loss as 75 men with 67 bodies recovered and brought to St. John's on Saturday, together with 50 survivors under treatment. He had received no news of the missing Southern Cross, with its crew of 170 men. If these have to be added to the known loss, declared Sir Edward, the tragedy would be as great as that of the Titanic, and perhaps greater in some respects, since the widows and orphans of the victims are all relatives of poor fishermen. Sir Edward had heard that a public appeal was contemplated in Great Britain, Canada and the United States for aid of the sufferers. Though sealing was a very hazardous occupation, it had been comparatively free from serious disaster for the past 50 years, with the exception of the loss of the Greenland with 50 men about 15 years ago.

Sir Edward before sailing for England visited Washington to arrange the preliminaries for next year's arbitration concerning the claims of the United States against Newfoundland arising out of the fisheries treaty of 1818. The claims total about $200,000 and are based by the United States on alleged improper seizures and illegal collection of revenues. Arbitration was already proceeding at Washington in connection with United States claims against Canada. Sir Edward stated the Hague award of 1910 had proved satisfactory, as since that time there had not been a solitary claim arising out of American fishing in Newfoundland waters.

Sir Edward comes to London to float a loan of £400,000, authorized by the legislature for the completion of the government's railway system. Several recent branch extensions of the railway will be opened this summer. Sir Edward and Lady Morris will remain in England about one month.

IMPROUEMENTS TO LACHINE CANAL TO COST QUARTER MILLION

Montreal, April 5.—Considerable improvements are being made on the Lachine Canal which will cost over $250,000, and involve the erection of a new power house, the provision of a series of new sluce gates, and the cutting of a new inlet to the canal in order to give a greater flow of water. The canal has been drained now for more than a month. The city water department is conecting its pumping station with the Lachine Canal to provide an emergency supply of water and to obviate a water famine such as occurred for eight days following Christmas Day through the collapse of the eight foot conduit connected with the St. Lawrence river.

TWO GERMANS LIKELY TO BE GIVEN RED HAT

Prince Max of Saxony, for a Time Considered Probable Candidate—Late Cardinal Kopp a Loss to Church.

Berlin, April 5.—Candidates for cardinals to fill the two vacancies left in the Sacred College by the deaths of Cardinals Kopp and Fisher, are being discussed. At least two German prelates are expected to receive the red hat at the consistory this spring.

The apostolic muncio at Munich, Mgr. Dr. A. Fruehwirth is prominently mentioned.

Prince Max of Saxony, younger brother of the King of Saxony and now a professor in the Catholic theological seminary at Cologne, was at first picked as a probability. But some have eliminated him, recalling that he incurred the displeasure of the Pope several years ago by his views on the Greek Orthodox church, expressed in a published book.

One of the most likely candidates, according to resports form Rome, is Bishop Korum of Treves. His name, however, has been unfavorably received in government circles with which he has been in conflict often.

The selection of the right man is believed to be a real problem at the Vatican. The Pope, it is said, desires to appoint men who have not been identified with recent potical struggles and who are on good terms with the government.

The death of Cardinal Kopp deprives the Catholic church at once of its highest functionary and its strongest personality in Germany. Kopp played an important part in restoring amicable relations between the Vatican and Prussia after Bismarck's campaign against the Catholic church. In later years the emperor recognized his efforts to promote good relations between Rome and Berlin by calling him to the Prussian peerage and conferring upon him the order of the Black Eagle, the highest Prussian order. It carries with it a patent of nobility and the right to use the conveted "von" before the holder's name, of which, however, the cardinal never made use. The Emperor further made him a member of the commission to reform the Prussian school laws and entrusted him with other important missions.

EARL GREY TO VISIT CANADA

London, April 6—Earl Grey leaves Sydney today for England, returning via Canada. He told an Australian journalist that he stood hat in hand before the energy and enterprise of a people who, with little more than half the population of London, were able to accomplish so much in the way of public works and the development of internal resources.

ENGLISH BARONET MISSING SINCE 1853

London, April 6—England has lost a baronet. Sir Henry Burnaby, descendant of one of England's oldest families is entered as "missing in the new roll of baronets just prepared. Every other man who has the right to the ancient title was known to be alive but no trace could be found of Sir Henry Burnaby of Broughton Hall, Oxfordshire. The Registrar of the Roll of Baronets appends a note to his entry of Sir Henry in which he says, "No information can be obtained as to Sir Henry Burnaby. It is not known whether he is alive."

Sir Henry is eighty-five years of age if still alive. He was formerly in the navy, and the last heard of him was in 1853 when he went to Spain and married. He never claimed the Baronetcy, which dates back to 1767.

"Other Baronets are missing" said the Registrar" but I know they are alive somewhere. Some of them get to remote corners of the world, such as New Zealand and California, and the tracing of them involves much labor.

The compilation of the new roll of baronets has been rendered necessary by the fact that a number of persons have assumed titles either wrongfully or on a doubtful basis.

London, April 6.—Fly swatting has been declared to be useless in a manifesto issued by 123 medical health officers, who appeal to the public to co-operate with the health authorities in getting rid of the breeding places of flies. The manifesto gives statistics showing the part played by the fly in spreading infantile and other diseases. In urging measures of household cleanliness, and also instruction in schools as to the habits of the fly by means of moving pictures, the statement is made that experience has shown that it is useless to tackle the individual flies.

The party will sail May 21 from Hamburg and travel in the United States strictly incognito. The sole purpose of Queen Eleanore is to study the American hospitals and the method of training nurses in this country.

A CAMPAIGN AGAINST DRINK IN RUSSIA

Minister of Railways Sending Out Car of Exhibits Showing the Results of Excessive Indulgence in Liquor.

St. Petersburg, April 5.—The educational campaign against intemperance has started with a vim in Russia. At the instance of the Minister of Ways and Communications a large railway car has been fitted out with exhibits showing the results of excessive indulgence in alcohol. It will be taken all over the railways of Northern Russia by a lecturer and several attendants. The car will be sidetracked at the principal stations and lectures on the evils of drink will be given to the railway employees. The lectures will be illustrated by magic-lantern slides.

It is increasingly apparent that the recent changes in the cabinet were due solely to the desire of Emperor Nicholas to strengthen his campaign against alcoholism. He is determined to do away with "the national vice" and he has instructed his new ministers to attack the drink evil vigorously.

It is understood that the new administration proposes to reduce the vodka, the national drink; to increase the penalties on illicit trading; and to refuse hereafter to consider drunkenness as a mitigating circumstance in cases of crime. Excise officials are to be held to a stricter accountability for what goes on in their districts.

How the government proposed to meet the loss of revenue on vodka is not known. Receipts from taxes on liquors last year were $101,540,000 against total receipts of $6,118,000 from all sources.

The government intends also to take measures to render financial aid to small farmers and rural industries. The form of this relief has not yet been decided, but it is probable that it will include a system of co-operative country banks, based on the system in operation and other continental countries.

AFTERNOON TANGO HAS CAUGHT FANCY OF SOCIETY DOWAGERS

London, April 5.—The afternoon tango fad is becoming wearisome to the young unmarried diplomats. The dowagers of society were reluctant to take up the new dance, but the craze had now become general among the old ladies who did not intend to forego quickly the new lease which it has given them on youth. Hence the woe of the young diplomats, for the dowagers are giving countless afternoon dances to which they all are invited.

It would be fatal to the social careers of the young men to disregard them. The diplomats are the selected victims, not only because they are the natural dancers, but because they have their afternoon free.

The dancers have increased so that many of the diplomats attend one daily. One young diplomat complains that neither age nor weight can keep the enthusiastic dowagers off the floor, and he declares if he in tangoing with a duchess weighing 200 pounds, and who in years had reached almost the allotted span, is not earning his salary he would like to know why not.

ITALIAN GOVERNMENT'S MILITARY PROGRAMME

Rome, April 5—The government's programme, as outlined by Premier Salandra in the Chamber of Deputies Thursday, was endorsed today by the chamber after a discussion lasting several days by a vote of 303 to 122. Premier Salandra stated that in addition to raising the peace footing of the Italian army to 275,000 men, it would be necessary to recruit 30,000 more for service in Libya.

This would represent a further expense of $3,400,000, annually in addition to $76,000,000 which must be spent during the next five years for fortifications and the provisioning of the home forces. These and other expenses, he said, would be provided for by internal financial measures, without recurse to a loan.

Thin Blood is Poison To the Nerve Centres

Headaches, Irritability, Sleeplessness, Discouragement Result—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food the Great Restorative.

A nervous temperament may be inherited, but nervous troubles only come when the nerve centres fail to derive proper nourishment from the blood.

Under ordinary circumstances the loss caused by wear and tear on the nervous system is restored by the nutrition contained in the blood.

When the blood gets thin and watery the nerves are starved and poisoned, and troubles of a serious nature appear.

Brain fag, headaches, sleeplessness, irritability, low spirits and discouragement are among the symptoms of a starved nervous system.

There is nothing like Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a means of forming new, rich blood.

Through the blood stream nutrition is carried direct to the nerve centres and is converted into nervous energy.

Every beat of the heart, every breath of the lungs, and all the functions of digestive and other vital organs are dependent for life and energy on the nervous system.

Consequently the whole system is benefitted when health and vigor are restored to the nerve centres.

The nerves of the stomach resume their functions and digestion is improved. The appetite sharpens, the liver, kidneys, and bowels gain strength, and the blood derives further nourishment from the food taken into the body.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is reconstructive and upbuilding in its influence, and therefore of lasting benefit. Fifty cents a box, six for $2.50, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates, & Co., Limited, Toronto.
