The Agricultural Society on the 27th ult. passed a resolution to be forwarded to the Secretary for Agriculture urging him to take the most stringent measures in regard to the fumigation of nursery stock brought into this province from Ontario. An unprecedented number of apple trees has been ordered for the spring's planting and some of them come from nurseries infested with the San Jose scale. Too strict measures cannot be taken to delay the inevitable coming of an orchard pest, the most insidious and terrible known, which is said to multiply itself by 300,000,000 in a single season and kill a tree in two years.

Ewart, little son of Principal I. M. Longley, has been seriously ill with pneumonia, but is now recovering.

GREAT PROHIBITION SCHEME.

Toronto, Feb. 28—A great prohibition scheme is foreshadowed in the announcement made today at a conference of secretaries of the foreign mission boards of America now being held here. Dr. Crafts, of Washington, Secretary of the International Sabbath school alliance announced that Secretary Hay had forwarded to the British government a proposal to prohibit distilled liquors and opium from all aboriginal tribes in the world.

The movement has already taken effect through the joint efforts of the two governments with regard to certain tribes in Africa, Philippines, New Hebrides and some savage tribes on the southern islands.

But a greater movement has in view a world-wide prohibition. Dr. Crafts said that both the British and American governments recognized both the moral and commercial benefits of such a policy.

News has come from North Rhodesia, Africa, of the discovery of a copper field estimated at forty square miles in area.

ENGLAND AND FRANCE NEGOTIATE.

London, Feb 28—A despatch from Paris states that the French and British governments have arrived at an agreement on all points of difference between them in regard to Newfoundland and Morocco, as well as on other issues. This understanding has been greatly assisted by the growing antagonism between Germany and Great Britain.

Great Britain, it is reported, has agreed that France is to have a free hand in Morocco while France will surrender the rights on the French shore of Newfoundland, which has been a ground of vexatious controversy for more than a century. It is also stated that England, while not agreeing to the absorption of Siam by France will not interfere with any steps which France may see fit to take in that section of Asia, where the French have already absorbed a large section of Siamese territory, and are reaching for more. No formal arrangement has been made between the English and French cabinets, but negotiations are making satisfactory progress.

COLONIES ASKED TO ASSIST.

London, Feb. 25—During the course of the debate on the naval estimates in the house of commons today, the secretary of the admiralty, Mr. Arnold Foster said that at the approaching colonial conference in London occasion would be taken to ascertain the views of the colonies on the question of contributions to the strength of the British navy.

The chancellor of the exchequer said that the government would not approach the colonies as a beggar, but in the belief that they desired to share as far as possible the burdens of the empire.

THE CANADIANS' INGRATITUDE.

(Montreal Witness.)

Commenting on the progress of the Canadian iron and steel industries, the Brooklyn 'Eagle' says it is instructive as an object lesson touching the ingratitude which United States capitalists are likely to experience when they go into alien lands and invest their money for the benefit of the natives. The alleged facts on which this 'lesson' is founded are that the Canadian stockholders in the Dominion Iron & Steel Co., of Sydney, and the Dominion Coal Co. have been gradually acquiring a controlling interest in both concerns, and have forced Mr. H. M. Whitney and Mr. A. J. Moxham and their United States allies to the wall. The 'Eagle' says the Canadians became alarmed at the amalgamation of the iron and steel industries in the United States and consequent rumors that the Cape Breton concerns would be included in the general round-up, and took measures to prevent it. To charge Canadians with ingratitude for protecting their interests in this business like manner by paying certain Americans all they asked for their stock is playing the baby act, especially as the 'Eagle' admits that 'the enforced abdication of Whitney and Moxham means that the Canadians, appreciating the tremendous natural advantages at their disposal, are determined to make their huge plane a powerful factor in the world of steel and iron.' It is also admitted that Sydney is better situated than any other point on the whole American continent, the iron regions of Pennsylvania not excepted, for iron and steel production and manufacture. The people of Canada will accept the 'Eagle's' version of the recent change in the management of the two great companies with proper equinamity, and will be pleased to know that Canadian enterprise and capital have been equal to the occasion in preserving these great undertakings from absorption by foreigners who might, at any time, find it to their interest to close them down.

CHINESE EXCLUSION.

Ottawa, Feb. 28—The report of the Chinese Commission is one of the most voluminous documents laid before parliament in recent years. With few exceptions the opinions expressed upon the subject favor exclusion or higher restriction.

The Chinese, by working for a lower wage, are barring out white labor of the unskilled class. The presence of Chinese is considered dangerous to the existence of the white working man, as the latter become dissatisfied and in many cases leave the province. In the event of their remaining they generally advise friends not to come to that locality. The fact is established that white labor cannot compete with Chinese and support families decently.

A decision is also reached that the Chinese bar immigrants who would become permanent citizens and produce conditions dangerous to the industrial peace of the community where they reside. They spend but little of their earnings and trade chiefly with people of their own race. The commissioners state that they believe it impossible for the province of British Columbia to take its place in the Dominion unless its population is free from any taint of a servile class and is imbued with a sense of the duties and responsibilities appertaining to good citizenship.

The estimated white population of British Columbia is 129,000. There are 16,000 Chinese.

The commissioners also point out that British laws recognize that aliens may be kept out of a country, especially if as a class they are undesirable. They approve of the views of the British Columbia legislature, alleging the probability of a great disturbance to the economic conditions of the province and of grave injury to the working class by the large influx of Chinese labor.

They find that the per capita tax at $100 is ineffective and inadequate to prevent the influx of Chinese population. They are also of the opinion that further immigration of Chinese labor into Canada ought to be prohibited, and in the meantime that this tax should be raised to $500 per head.

LORD ROSEBERRY.

The London correspondent to the New York Tribune cables as follows: 'The English press is still talking about Lord Roseberry's secession as a fresh proof of Liberal disunion. The divisions of that party are of long standing, and must always exist when it represents the more progressive elements of the general electorate. Only the commanding force of Gladstone's character imparted unity during the greater part of his career, and even he was not strong enough to prevent the opening of the lines of cleavage. On the home rule question the Liberal party remains divided, as it has been since Gladstone's death and the formation of the Liberal Imporialist group, including Lord Roseberry and others, is neither new nor startling. What is really important is the deliberate attempt of Lord Roseberry to prove that, like Gladstone, he is a necessary man without whom the Liberals cannot be permanently reunited. Temporarily he has failed to accomplish anything, and the want of success is due mainly to the lack of constructive ability and administrative originality.

The effect of Lord Roseberry's separation is likely to be disastrous. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's leadership of the old Radical hands has tempted him to repulse Lord Roseberry's overtures for reconciliation and he is momentarily left in command of the fortunes of the Liberal party. No one imagines that Sir Henry can reunite the party on the basis of pro-Boer sympathies and Irish home rule or in an emergency form that alternative government organization. The Roseberry group may convince the Liberals that Sir Henry is an impossible leader, even if it does not demonstrate that Lord Roseberry is a necessary leader. In this way ultimate reunion may be promoted by the temporary secession of Lord Roseberry.'

WHAT STRIKES COST.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 28—Workingmen of this State lost through strikes and lockouts from January 1 to Sept. 30 1901, 815,079 working days or 2,604 years, according to the fifteenth annual report of the Board of Mediation and Arbitration just issued by John McAckin, Labor Commissioner.

The total number of disputes recorded in the nine months was 126 involving 649 firms and 44,823 employes out of 62,536, the number employed befire the dispute.

Four disputes of large dimensions account for one-half of the unemployed workmen and aggregate days of duration, namely, the strike in the Troy factory, that of the bricklayers in New York city, the New York city vaudeville actors and the Rochester building and street laborers,

Of the 126 strikes and lockouts, 45 were for an increase of wages and 31 for reduction in the hours of work, and 27 turned upon the question of unionism. Only three disputes turned on a proposed reduction in wages.

Forty-eight resulted in favor of the workmen, 53 in favor of the employers and 25 were compromised. Of the 649 establishments involved, the workmen won in 389, lost in 111 and compromised in 150. But it is to be remarked that the compromises were almost invariably victories for the workingmen.

Great freshets are reported throughout New England and much damage has resulted.

Correspondence.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our correspondents.

The Editor of the Monitor:—

Several times since coming to your town I have been asked, 'What causes cross eyes? What shall I do?' In the hope that my answer may benefit many I wish to reply through your columns.

There are several causes, as, errors of refraction; if the eyes are very different the most defective may turn—muscular inbalance; there are six motor muscles which may not be of relative length—paralysis of a muscle. In every case one rule holds good for the young child; bandage or cover the straight eye for a half hour at a time three or four times a day till the child is old enough to have its eyes examined. This should be done as early as possible, say at three or four years old. Keep him at out door play, build up the system by every means possible, keep away from books and toys that necessitate the use of eyes for close work till you have them examined. In some cases he may outgrow any visible sign of trouble. Some can be cured with proper glasses, some will need an operation. But as you value the child's well being, follow the advice given above till you consult a specialist. There should be no thought of sending any child to school who has or has had a tendency to deviation of the eyes till you have taken the advice of a specialist. Eight (or nine) is early enough in such a case certainly. Do not think that the child who has had such a tendency and has "out grown" it is "all right." There may be a trouble there creating a strain that will debilitate or menace the whole physical system.

Let me quote from Herman T. Schlegal on the subject of muscular trouble.

"I have seen cases in which a patient could only see one day normal and the next 20-40. It has been found that 98 per cent. of all headache can be cured through the medium of the eyes, either by correcting the refractor or the heteropteris or both. Now in the refractor alone I do not think that the percentage of cure will amount to over 25 per cent. certainly not over 35 per cent. It has also been found that a large proportion of nervous diseases like neuralgia, chronic headache, nervous dyspepsia, constipation, epilepsy, insanity, etc., are due to the strain on the eye and can be cured by properly fitted glasses."

You will see by this the importance of looking after muscular trouble and the reason for suspecting its presence even when not manifest. Care for the children.

Empire Liniment is All Right

Read what Mrs. Wile, of Lunenburg Co., says concerning Empire Liniment.

Empire Liniment M'f'g Co.,

Dear Sirs,—I have used your Empire Liniment and it has done wonders for me. I had catarrh of the worst kind and your liniment removed it. I also used your liniment for corns and pains of the soles of my feet (which kept me from going about) and today I walked to Bridgewater, a distance of two miles. You may use this testimonial so that others may be benefited as I have been, and I can truthfully say that there is no liniment on earth like the Empire Liniment.

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA will generally correct this difficulty.

If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.
