WIT AND HUMOR.

If a dealer in grave stones were to fail, some newspaper would be sure to refer to the disaster as "a bust in marble."

Thousands of lives saved annually by the use of West's Pain King, the household remedy for chills, colds, flux, summer complaint, dysentery, colic and cholera. Only 25c. All druggists.

According to newspaper authority every Confederate officer who has a grown-up daughter is the father of "the belle of the South."

All leading druggists will gladly inform anyone as to the wonderful merits of West's Pain King. The standard remedy for flux, dysentery, summer complaint, cholera morbus, cholera, colic, etc. 25c.

When rockets were soaring July 5, little Ella, ætat 4, was in delight, save for a slight fear that was on her mind. "Mamma, don't you fink the angels will be scared."

West's Pain King is a purely vegetable compound for the certain cure of chills, colds, flux, dysentery, diarrhœa, summer complaint, colic, cholera morbus, cholera and cholera infantum. 25c. All Druggists.

A man had much rather be fined $50 for driving than to be told that his horse couldn't trot fast enough to break the statute.

West's Pain King excels all other remedies in promptly curing dysentery, diarrhœa, flux, colic, cholera, cholera morbus and all diseases of the stomach and bowels. Price only 25c. All druggists.

A Chicago jeweller is said to have invented a self-winding watch. Now let the same genius apply himself to the invention of a self-winding watch key.

Why will you suffer when 25c. will buy a bottle of West's Pain King and one dose will cure the worse case of colic or cramps and a few doses will cure summer complaint, pysentery, diarrhœa or flux. All druggists

"Is there an elevator in this building?" asked a gentleman of the newly colored hall boy. "Ella Water," sighed the boy, "do'no; you'd better 'sult the 'rectory, sah."

Dr. Tanner fasted forty days and lived. It would not be safe at this season of the year to go a single day without a supply of West's Pain King in the house. Ready at a moment's notice and costs but 25c. All druggists.

"Wall," said the granger, "what be that ticker worth?" pointing to an ornate and intricate piece of time-recording mechanism on the shelf. "That, sir," said the clerk, "is a wonderful time-piece. It is worth two hundred dollars, and will run three years without winding." "Great Scott!" gasped the granger. "Three years without winding! Say, mister, how long would the thing run if she was wound up?"

West's Pain King acts promptly, cures quickly. Never fails to cure bowel complaint, colic, cholera morbus, cholera. Costs but 25c. and is always ready. Enquire regarding its merits of any druggist.

The editor of an educational journal having stated that whipping is a better mode of punishment than detention after school hours, because it sets the blood in circulation and caused increased activity of the brain, some of the boys sent him a letter of condolence on his misfortune in not having been whipped more and detained after school less frequently when he was a boy.

It is of the greatest importance that all bowel and stomach complaints should be attended to at once, especially at this season of the year. West's Pain King is prompt, reliable and certain never to fail. Only 25c. All druggists

Oh, sweet is the whang of the wanglemane,
And the snore of the shark in the twilight pail,
And the krall crawled up the window pane,
(Love me, love me in the grewsome gale).
Gone is the wanglewane, weird and wold,
Down to the quiet of the nether land,
Where the horn toads glide and the musty mold
Eats the lily in my lost love's hand.

Cholera will visit us this summer. Be prepared by securing a supply of West's Pain King, to be kept within reach. Disinfect your premises, as cleanliness and West's Pain King will carry you safely through. Only 25c. All druggists.

Some of the German critics still claim that galvanism was discovered by a German named Swammerdam 130 years before Galvani called attention to it, and ask "that the name be changed so as to do justice to their countryman." That is a useless appeal; the human race can never be induced to change from galvanism to Swammerdammism.

DO NOT DELAY.—Do not delay, if suffering any form of Bowel Complaint however mild apparently may be the attack, but use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is the old, reliable cure for all forms of Summer Complaints that require prompt treatment. Ask your druggist and all dealers in patent medicines.

A physician, passing a gravestone cutter's shop, called out: "Good morning, neighbor; hard at work, I see. You finish your gravestones as far as 'In memory of,' and then wait, I suppose, to see who wants a monument next." "Why, yes," replied the old joker, "unless somebody's sick, and you are doctoring 'em, then I keep right on."

JUST THE THING.—W. J. Guppy, druggist, of Newbury writes: "Dr. Fowler's Wild Strawberry is just the thing for summer Sickness. I sold out my stock three times last summer. There was a good demand for it." Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is infallible for Dysentery, Colic, Sick Stomach and Bowel Complaint.

Clergyman—"No my dear, it is impossible to preach any kind of a sermon to such a congregation of asses." Smart young lady—"And is that why you call them 'dearly beloved brethren.'"

For weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, consumption, night sweats and all lingering coughs, Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is a sovereign remedy. Superior to cod liver oil. By druggists.

Lotta is worth almost four times as much money as her sister star, Mary Anderson. But, then, Mary says Lotta's almost four times as old.

A SUCCESSFUL RESULT.—Mr. Frank Hendry writing from Seaforth, says: "I purchased one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters to purify my blood. It did purify it, and now I have excellent health." As a blood purifying tonic and system regulator the result of taking B. B. B. is always successful.

HE SWAM THE WHIRLPOOL.

The Feat that Killed Webb and Scott Performed at Last—A Boston Man Gets Through, Bruised, Breathless, and $3,000 Richer.

NIAGARA FALLS, Aug. 22.—The feat of swimming the most angry bit of water in the world, as Capt. Webb described it, was successfully accomplished this afternoon by a Boston policeman, and the barrel navigators have been called in. William J Kendall was the man who did what Capt. Webb could not do, and he made $3,000 by the operation. Kendall, an athletic young man, went to Sault's Western Hotel at noon and told William Walker, a hack driver, that he wanted to swim the rapids.

"You must be crazy," said Walker, jokingly, for he thought the stranger was only fooling. This did not prove to be the case, however. Walker concluded the man was in earnest when Kendall produced a small cork vest about two inches thick, which he proposed to wear.

"I don't want to be arrested," said the Boston policeman, "and you had better say nothing about it, for I will pay you nothing if you give me away."

The horses were hitched up and Walker drove Kendall to the Suspension Bridge with Frank Sault. Leaving the carriage at the top of the bank, they walked briskly down the long path to the old Maid of the Mist landing. They reached there at 1½ o'clock, and Kendall took a drink of whisky out of a flask which he had in his pocket.

"I'm game, boys," he said to Sault and Walker, "and I want you to be sure that you know I go through after I get in the water. Tell all the people you can to look at my passage through the rapids. If you do it before, I will be stopped."

Kendall stripped off his clothes and put on the cork vest. "If I am alive," he said, "I will try to swim ashore at the whirlpool, for my bet did not include going through the lower rapids, and as they are no worse than the first ones, I don't see the use of doing it.

It was just 2 o'clock when Sault fastened on the cork vest and Kendall dived into the water. He swam a dozen strokes toward the centre of the river, and was caught in an eddy, which carried him back towards the falls, and then he floated down to the rapids in the counter current. As the water began boiling, Kendall turned in a perpendicular position and began treading, evidently afraid that he was being sucked under by the undertow. In this way, at 2.05 o'clock, he struck the first breaker, which submerged him for a moment. His hands could be seen moving with a swimming motion above the water as the huge waves dashed him high out of it.

Then began the race between life and death. Kendall did not try to dive, because he believed that Capt. Webb had split his head by running foul of a rock while diving through a breaker. He was submerged nearly half the way, and from his story later he was insensible the last half of the trip. The rapids tumbled him about, and once opposite the Devaux College grounds his body was thrown over ten feet out of the water; then it was sucked under for half a minute and appeared several hundred yards further down.

"That killed him," shouted a man with field glasses on the promontory, and as Kendall exhibited no more life the few other spectators thought so too. The body, apparently lifeless, was thrown out in the whirlpool in about three minutes. The exact time could not be learned, but by a comparison of watches it is evident that it did not take longer than three minutes to travel the three quarters of a mile.

Soon after reaching the whirlpool, Kendall was drawn under and reappeared a few hundred feet away. He soon exhibited life and swam away toward the Canada shore. In ten minutes he reached a rock near the shore and slung there until he was aided ashore by Tom Riley and George Toby, who saw him swimming ashore and ran to help him.

"Leave me alone," said Kendall. "I'm about gone; let me be."

Riley and Toby pulled him ashore and got some whisky for him. He was carried in a sheet to Frank Lawson's place, and waited there for Walker who had driven down with his clothes over the old road on the Canada side. Walker took the exhausted swimmer to the Waverly House at Suspension Bridge, where he was kept in bed for a couple of hours. Dr. Hunter examined him and found no serious bruises. He said that the water had pretty badly pounded the flesh, and by to-morrow Kendall will hardly be able to walk. To-night the policeman dressed himself and was brought back to the Western Hotel, where the Sun reporter had a talk with him.

Kendall is 6 feet 2 inches tall, weighs 195 pounds, and is a well-built muscular fellow. He is of light complexion, has a smooth face and a clear blue eye.

"How did I come to do it?" repeated Kendall. "I did it to make money, and I figure that I am in $3,000 by the trip. I did not care for fame, and all I wanted was enough witnesses to show that I went through all right. A few days ago I had a discussion about Capt. Webb's trip with some friends. I am a pretty good swimmer and said I thought I could do it. Finally one of the party, I will not tell you his name, said that he would bet $500 that none of us could do it. I said that I had $1,000, and would bet that. I wanted to put the stakes up with Col. Taylor of the Boston Globe. The bet was finally arranged, and other fellows made bets amounting in all, I should think $10,000 on the trip. Besides the $3,000 I get, I suppose some of the men who won on me will give me something."

"When did you get here?"

"I left Boston yesterday afternoon, and reached here at 10 this morning. I immediately began preparations for the trip. I wore the cork vest, though I did not think it would do much good, and I would have been just as well off without it, except in the whirlpool.

"It was just 2 o'clock when I got in the water, and I was in the rapids about five minutes. The current circled a little, and carried me 300 feet toward the falls. I laid on my back at first, and when I got that far I swam toward the counter current on the Canadian shore. When it caught me it carried me to the bridge quickly, and a minute later I was caught in a couple of waves and shot right ahead. I heard folks on the bank holler, and just then I was thrown into a hollow. It was
