INDIANS ARE BASEBALL CHAMPIONS, WIN LAST GAME 3 TO 0

COVEY'S THIRD VICTORY CLEVELAND CHAMPIONS SHUT OUT THE DODGERS

Big Pole Made World Series History by Allowing But Two Runs in Three Series Games—Final Score Was 3 to 0, With Brooklyn Never Dangerous.

Cleveland, Oct. 12.—The Cleveland American League Club won the supreme baseball title here this afternoon when the Indians defeated the Brooklyn Nationals in the seventh and deciding game of the 1920 world's series by a score of 3 to 0. Tonight Cleveland is celebrating in a manner in keeping with the honor.

The shutout victory was chiefly engineered by Stanley Coveleskie, the spitball pitcher of the local team, who has proved his remarkable skill and endurance during the series. Backed by an air-tight defence on the part of his teammates at the critical moments of the game, the Shamokin, Penna., coal miner let the Robins down with five hits. But two Brooklyn players reached second base during the nine sessions at bat, and but five of the invaders were left on the bases all told.

Coveleskie's feat in winning three of the five games necessary to clinch the championship for Cleveland will go down as one of the outstanding features of world's series history. The Brooklyn batters accumulated but two runs off the moistened slants of "Covey" in the twenty-seven innings in which he officiated on the mound. He let the Robins down with one run in the first game at Brooklyn on Oct. 5, allowed them a second tally on Saturday and shut them out today. It is doubtful if a more masterly exhibition of pitching has been seen in any world's series since 1906 when Christy Mathewson, then at the zenith of his twirling career with the New York Giants, shut out the Philadelphia Athletics in three games.

A Real Combination.

Great as must be the credit accorded Coveleskie for his remarkable feat, the general offensive and defensive work of the other members of the Cleveland Club cannot be dimmed by the individual glory of their star box man. The Indians, as a team, grew more impressive as the series progressed, and their feat in winning four straight games from Brooklyn after getting away to an indifferent start stamps the club as one deserving of all the support and enthusiasm which their efforts have evoked in this section.

In shutting out the National Leaguers in the final clash this afternoon the Indians, led by Manager Tris Speaker, rose to playing heights which bore out the complete confidence of the club backers and fans. They reached the spitters of Burleigh Grimes, the National League star deliverer of this type of pitching, for seven solid hits, clinched the game before the half-way mark, as it ultimately proved, and topped the play with several pieces of baseball strategy, that demonstrated the possession of mental alertness which marks the difference between keen thinking and a mechanical playing baseball club.

Confident Always.

That these outstanding features were appreciated by the Cleveland followers of the club and the middlewestern section of the country generally has been apparent since the day the team returned from Brooklyn. But today the demonstration which marked the final put out of Myers and clinched the championship for the Indians, surpassed any similar scene in several seasons. Thousands of men, boys and women poured out of the bleachers and stands and simply engulfed the victorious players like a human avalanche. It was a continuous battle for the members of the team in their march toward the dugout, scores of fans endeavoring to shake their hands or pat them on the back.

Tris Speaker, sensing the coming outburst of enthusiasm, made a dash from centre field toward the grand stand, where his mother and other relatives occupied a low tier box. His progress was slow, but once he reached the rail he vaulted over the iron front and into his mother's arms like a small school boy. The scene was so unusual that for a moment there was a complete cessation of the cheering which, however, broke out with treble vigor when Mrs. Speaker hugged, patted and kissed her grey-haired son, and the latter responded in a manner which indicated that he regarded his mother's approval far above any other rewards that might come to him as a result of the victory of his team.

Mother Happy.

When Speaker finally left his mother's side and started for the club house, he was fairly besieged by requests to shake hands and autograph programs and photographs. When he finally disappeared into the passage way of dressing quarters, the crowds swept back to the Speaker box where they cheered and demanded a speech from his mother. Mrs. Speaker met the demands of the fans by waving her hand and was soon joined by Owner James C. Dunn of the club, who addressed the throng for her. During the height of the demonstration, Charles Ebbets, owner of the Brooklyn team, came up and congratulated the executive of the winning team.

That the citizens of Cleveland propose to properly honor the occasion was shown by a conference which took place between Mayor W. S. Fitzgerald and leading business men of the city, almost before the final cheers had died away. It was tentatively decided to hold a public reception and welcome for the players of the team in the public square of the city within the next day or two. If this takes the preliminary trend shown in rewarding the stars of the series to date it is quite likely that every member of the club will have automobiles, watches, medals and other souvenirs of their conquest sufficient to fill several storehouses before the fans permit them to retire to a well-earned season of inactivity.

The closing act of the baseball drama was staged under ideal weather conditions. A sun of midsummer strength shone down on the fans from a cloudless sky with an intensity which made it almost imperative to remove coats and vests even in the shaded sections of the grand stands. Every seat and foot of standing room inside of the park was crowded to utmost capacity long before the teams began their battle, while trees, house-tops, telegraph poles and towering advertising signs overlooking the park were black with men and boys who clung to precarious perches thruout the entire one hour and fifty-five minutes of action.

Largest Attendance.

It was announced tonight by the National Commission that the paid attendance had been 27,525, and the gate receipts $83,900. It was the largest attendance and receipts of any of the seven games.

That those who witnessed the closing contest saw a game of usual standard is shown by the box score, but there were thrilling features. Despite the two errors charged to Shortstop Sewell he made two plays which went far to eliminate the youngster's mistakes. In the fifth inning he stopped Miller's smash back of second base while on the dead run, and got the batter with a fine throw to first. In the same inning Coveleskie was almost knocked down by a line drive from Grimes' bat, but chased the ball half way to third and got his man at the initial bag. In Cleveland's half of the fifth, Right-fielder Griffith made a thrilling try for Speaker's triple which scored Jamieson. After a long sprint he got his finger tips on the ball just as he crashed into the stand, but could not hold the hard-hit sphere. Second Baseman Kilduff also came in for a great round of applause in the second session when he came in on the grass on a full sprint and scooped up Smith's bounder which had cleared Grimes' head by several feet, and, while clear off balance, whipped the ball to Konetchy for the out

First One Flukey.

Cleveland put across the first run of the game in the fourth inning. After E. Smith had grounded out, Gardner beat out a hit past Kilduff and went to third on a hit and run play when W. Johnston singled to right. Sewell flied out and Johnston followed with a delayed steal. The ball was slippery, and when Grimes threw to second after taking Miller's quick return, the ball went wild, and Gardner scored.

The Indians annexed their next tally in the fifth inning. Covey opened the inning by striking out, but Jamieson came thru with a scratch infield hit. Wamby flied out, and Jamieson stole second. Speaker followed with a hard drive against the newly-erected stands in right centre field, and Jamieson crossed the plate.

The final run of the series came in the lucky seventh. O'Neill started the inning with a double to left centre, but the plucky little backstop was run down when Covey grounded to Grimes. Coveleskie, however, managed to take second while O'Neill was being retired, and he romped home when Jamieson drove the ball to right field for two bases.

It had been planned to send Rube Marquard against the Indians in an attempt to check the winning streak of Speaker's men, but owing to the court action of this morning, in which the pitcher was charged with violating the exhibition ticket ordinance and fined $1 and costs, Manager Robinson switched to Grimes in a last forlorn hope.

Analysis of the pitching records in the final world's series game indicates that the superior control of Covey was responsible for his victory today, just as it was in the previous two games he won. The Cleveland hurler kept putting them over the plate, and the Brooklyn batters were forced to hit his first offerings.

Wonderful Control.

Covey pitched only 90 times in the nine innings, while Grimes and Mamaux, the Brooklyn twirlers, were forced to throw 133 times. Only 21 of Covey's efforts were called balls, 25 were strikes, 8 foul strikes and 3 fouls. He retired 12 men on flies and 16 were out on easy grounders. Five hits were made by Brooklyn. Covey pitched only four times in the fourth inning.

The two Brooklyn pitchers sent over more strikes than Covey, but they also threw many more balls. Together in eight innings they pitched 51 balls, 35 strikes, 14 foul strikes, seven fouls, put out 11 men on flies, 10 on rollers and allowed seven hits.

Grimes' record for seven innings was 47 balls, 31 strikes, 12 foul strikes, four fouls, nine men out on flies and ten on ground balls and seven hits. Mamaux threw four balls, four strikes, two foul strikes, three fouls, retired two men on flies, none on grounders and allowed no hits.

Scored a Shutout To Wind up Series

League Park, Cleveland, Oct. 12.—Cleveland, the American League pennant winners, are the baseball champions of 1920. They defeated Brooklyn by a score of 3 to 0 today, and won the big championship in baseball. Coveleskie, winning his third game of the series, held Brooklyn helpless. The series ended with five victories for Cleveland and two for the National League champions. The official box score follows:

CIPHERS ALL THAT DODGERS GATHERED

Coveleskie Rang Up His Third Victory of the World Series.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 12.—Coveleskie shut out Brooklyn today, 3 to 0, and Cleveland are world baseball champions. The detailed story of the last game follows:

First Inning.

Brooklyn—Olson popped to Gardner, hitting the first ball pitched. Sheehan fell down swinging at the ball, and the crowd laughed. Sheehan flied out to Jamieson, who came in fast to make the catch. Johnston took Griffith's grounder and tossed to Coveleskie, who failed to touch the bag. It was an error for Covey under the rule. Wheat sent a high fly to Wamby. No runs. No hits. One error.

Cleveland—Jamieson was out at first, Koney, unassisted. Wamby flied to Wheat. Speaker popped to Sheehan. No runs. No hits. No errors.

Second Inning.

Brooklyn—Sewell threw out Myers at first. Gardner threw out Koney at first. Kilduff was out at first, Sewell to Johnston. No runs. No hits. No errors.

Cleveland—Kilduff threw out Smith at first on a pretty play, taking the ball behind the box and making a snap throw. Sheehan took Gardner's grounder and threw over Koney's head. Gardner held first, while the Clevelanders claimed that he was entitled to go to second on the overthrow. Umpire O'Day allowed the claim, and Gardner walked down to second. Johnston walked. Sewell lined to Griffith. Kilduff threw out O'Neill at first. No runs. No hits. One error.

Third Inning.

Brooklyn—Miller fanned, his third strike being a drop ball which he failed to go after. Grimes got a Texas leaguer back of short. Sewell mussed up Olson's grounder and it went for an error. Sheehan's grounder hit Olson on the leg and Olson was declared out. Sheehan is credited with a hit and Grimes was sent back to second. Griffith flied to Smith. No runs. Two hits. One error.

Cleveland—Covey fanned. Grimes took Jamieson's smash and threw him out at first. Grimes' hand was hurt in getting Jamieson's hot grounder, and play was suspended. The crowd applauded Grimes when he resumed pitching. Wamby scratched an infield hit. Kilduff threw out Speaker at first. No runs. One hit. No errors.

Fourth Inning.

Brooklyn—Wheat got a hit up against the screen for a single, but went out at second stretching it, Smith to Wamby. Gardner took Myers' bunt and threw him out at first. Koney hit a fly to Jamieson. No runs. One hit. No errors.

Cleveland—Smith was out at first, Kobey, unassisted. Gardner got a hit past Kilduff. Johnston singled to right, and Gardner went to third. It was the hit-and-run play. Sewell flied to Wheat, Gardner holding third. Gardner scored on a delayed steal, on which Grimes, after intercepting the throw, threw wildly to centre field. It was a stolen base for Johnston. O'Neill flied to Griffith. One run. Two hits. One error.

Fifth Inning.

Brooklyn—Kilduff lined out to Speaker. Sewell took Miller's grounder behind the bag and got his man at first. Covey knocked down Grimes' wicked smash and threw him out. No runs. No hits. No errors.

Cleveland—Covey fanned for the second time. Jamieson scratched an infield hit along the third-base foul line. Wamby sent a high fly to Wheat. Jamieson stole second. Jamieson scored on Speaker's three-base hit to the exit gate, Smith filed to Myers. One run. Two hits. No errors.

Sixth Inning.

Brooklyn—Olson sent a fly out to Speaker. Wamby threw out Sheehan at first. Griffith flied out to Speaker, who ran back to make the catch. No runs. No hits. No errors.

Cleveland—Gardner grounded out to Konetchy. Johnston walked. Sewell flied to Myers. Johnston went out stealing, Miller to Kilduff. No runs. No hits. No errors.

Seventh Inning.

Brooklyn—Wheat lined out to Smith. Wamby threw out Myers at first, coming in on the grass to get the ball. Koney got a hit, which Sewell was only able to knock down. Sewell made a mess of Kilduff's grounder, Koney reaching second. Lamar batting for Miller. Wamby threw out Lamar at first. No runs. One hit. One error.

Cleveland—Krueger now catching for Brooklyn. O'Neill shot a long hit into left-centre for two bases. Grimes took Covey's intended sacrifice, and O'Neill was run down between the bases, the play being Grimes to Sheehan to Olson to Koney. Covey reached second on the run-down. Jamieson got a double into right, Covey scoring. Wamby flied to Myers. Speaker was given a base on balls. Smith walked, and the bases were filled. Gardner forced Smith, Kilduff to Olson. One run. Two hits. No errors.

Eighth Inning.

Brooklyn—Schmandt hitting for Grimes. Sewell threw out Schmandt at first. Gardner threw out Olson at first. Sheehan flied to Smith. No runs. No hits. No errors.

Cleveland—Mamaux now pitching for Brooklyn. Johnston fouled to Sheehan. Sewell flied to Myers. O'Neill struck out. No runs. No hits. No errors.

Ninth Inning.

Brooklyn—Griffith flied to Jamieson. Wheat singled to centre. Myers forced Wheat, Sewell to Wamby. Koney forced Myers, Sewell to Wamby. No runs. One hit. No errors.

GEORGES CARPENTIER SCORES KNOCKOUT, DEFEATING BATTLING LEVINSKY IN FOURTH

Frenchman Had Had Better of Every Round, Putting American Down Twice in Second and for Keeps Early in the Fourth.

Jersey City, N.J., Oct. 12.—Georges Carpentier, the French heavyweight, made his initial bow as a fighter before an American gathering of patrons of pugilism tonight and knocked out Battling Levinsky, who held the United States light heavyweight title, in 67 seconds of the fourth round. Carpentier, who holds the light heavyweight championship title of Europe, is now the world's title holder of that division.

Early in 1918, Jack Dempsey, who subsequently won the world's heavyweight championship, knocked out Levinsky in three rounds at Philadelphia. Tonight he failed to equal Dempsey's time in finishing Levinsky, but he is the only one outside of the champion who has knocked out Levinsky since the latter became prominent as a fighter.

Weather conditions were conducive to the comfort of the spectators, many of whom, however, took the precaution of bringing overcoats or wraps to protect them thru a lengthy sitting in the open air.

When the first of the preliminary bouts was called every seat in the ball park was occupied and a fringe of humanity lined the boundaries of the outfield.

"Babe" Asher, St. Louis bantamweight, had a shade of merit over his opponent, "Cupie" Collender, of Minneapolis, in the six-round curtain-raiser.

In the second bout Frankie Burns, the veteran Jersey City featherweight, outfought and severely punished Patsy Johnson of Trenton in every one of the six rounds.

Marcel Thomas, the French welterweight champion, who trained with Carpentier and Ted "Kid" Lewis, who claims to hold the British title, were the principals in the six-round semi-final. The weights were announced as 147 for Lewis and Thomas 149½. Thomas used a clever and took effectively, but was outclassed, Lewis catching him off balance with a hard left and almost put the Frenchman thru the ropes as the gong sounded for the end of the second round. In the third and fourth stiff right swings to the face staggered Thomas, who fought back pluckily. Lewis kept pounding him the last two rounds, and Thomas was bleeding from the nose and mouth at the end of the sixth round. It was Lewis' fight nearly all the way.

Carpentier with his manager and seconds entered the ring at 9.55 and received a welcome of hearty cheers, to which he responded by bowing gracefully several times. Levinsky followed two minutes later and then the men were formally introduced. Announcer Humphries stated that they were to fight twelve rounds for the light heavyweight championship of the world. A corps of photographers then began snapping pictures of the men as they stood together in a neutral corner of the ring.

Carpentier's weight was announced as 170½ pounds, and Levinsky's 175. Harry Ertle of Jersey City was introduced as the referee for the main bout.

The men shook hands at 10.20.

First round—Carpentier led left and right, landing lightly. Levinsky sent left and right to the body at close quarters. Carpentier landed a hard right on the forehead and blocked a right clearly. Carpentier sent right and left to body. Levinsky countered right on head. Carpentier crossed his right to face and hooked left to stomach. Both were very cool and sparring at bell. Carpentier's round.

Round two—They exchanged body blows. Carpentier stood off and motioned Levinsky to come in. Carpentier sent right and left to face. Then he drove his right to head and followed with left and right to the jaw, sending Levinsky down in his corner for a count of eight. Again with stiff lefts and a right swing to head Carpentier sent Levinsky down again for another count of eight. Levinsky was groggy, but weathered out the round.

Round four—Both fiddled for thirty seconds. Then Carpentier drove Levinsky across the ring, landing lefts and right at will, finally sending Levinsky down in a corner for the full count. Levinsky was not unconscious, but he was tangled up in a corner on the ropes while he was counted out. Time of round 1.07.

Carpenter and Dempsey.

Taking a line thru Levinsky, Carpentier has earned the right to meet Dempsey for the world's championship.

Levinsky was in splendid condition, and so was Carpentier. From the middle of the first round, when the Frenchman began to cut loose, the outcome was inevitable. His blows were well delivered and effective, while Levinsky's plucky returns were too light to cut any figure. Twice in the second round Carpentier sent Levinsky to the floor of the ring with hard right crosses. During the third session Carpentier slowed up a bit and seemed undecided as to what his next move should be. When he did start after his man, however, he used both hands powerfully and Levinsky, who always was credited with being able to absorb punishment, was visibly weakened.

In the final round Carpentier simply battered Levinsky into submission and when the Battler fell almost thru the ropes in his outstretch corner he was unable to get up while Referee Ertle counted him out.

Levinsvy was badly punished, while Carpentier did not show a mark when he left the ring.

RUGBY GOSSIP

Senior Meds had the college interference rule down to perfection yesterday and as a result smothered Senior Dents 18 to 0 in their opening Mulock Cup fixture yesterday. The back divisions were about on a par, but Meds had a big margin on the line, breaking thru for big gains with the interference. The teams:

Sr. Meds (18)—Flying wing, Devitt; halves, Price, Luke, Henderson; quarter, Harkins; scrimmage, Graham, Gratz, Gordon; insides, Galt, McHaffey; middles, Pritchard, Swan; outsides, Cosgrove, Symington.

Sr. Dents (0)—Flying wing, Roberts; halves, Griffith, Egan, Heis; quarter, Simon; scrimmage, W. Long, R. Long, Allen; insides, Phillips, Blackwell; middles, Mallory, McGowan; outsides, Pearlman, McDonald.

An Ottawa despatch says: Ottawas had only a light workout yesterday afternoon in preparation for their game against Montreal next Saturday. It is recognized that while the Senators have one of the strongest lines in years, it is greatly in need of a punter and a running half with a sure pair of hands.

It was announced last night that the Ottawas were again making desperate efforts to strengthen and that they would probably have one or two city leaguers in uniform when they lined up against the Winged Wheelers on Saturday next. Joe Lanthier of St. Patricks, Rene Joliat of New Edinburghs and Willis Touhey have been recommended to President Church and Manager Coghill, and efforts will be made to have them try out in senior company.

It may be decided to use Dave McCann at half and Ellis Thomas at quarter.

Dunbar, the good outside wing, surprised the soldiers by turning out for the double tuie workout last evening. His trouble has been water on the knee, but it has subsided quickly and he will likely be in Saturday's game against the Tigers.

Hume Crawford will join the Argos tonight. Wendell Holmes has failed to turn out, and he will likely pass up the game this season.

Bradfield was tried at quarter last night. Jess Spring was an onlooker, and may join the squad later in the week.

FIVE FROM OTTAWA.

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—The Ottawa Bicycle Club will send five representatives to Toronto on Saturday next to compete in the annual Dunlop road race. The riders will be: Fred Burges, two and ten-mile Canadian champion; Ray Thompson, five mile Canadian champion and Quebec provincial champion; Bill Spence, the local road specialist and winner of the spring handicap; Harry McLean and Clifton Taylor. The riders will be accompanied by a trainer and a manager. The flying squad will leave here on Friday night.

INDUSTRIAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE.

Matches for Saturday are as follows: Nelsons, Limited, v. Gutta Percha, at Dovercourt Park. Referee, J. Millsip, 30 Adams avenue.

Canada Cycle & Motor v. Goodyear Tire, at Weston. Referee, G. G. Mills, 121 Ennerdale road.

Toronto Carpet v. Massey-Harris, at Oakwood Park. Referee, M. J. Hurley, 106 King Edward avenue.

Simmons, Limited, v. Van der Linde, at Wychwood Park. Referee, J. Roxburgh, 815 Dupont street.

Games to commence at 3 p.m.

GIANTS OFF TO HAVANA.

New York, Oct. 12.—Thirteen members of the New York Giants left today for Havana, where they will play sixteen exhibition games with Cuban baseball teams. Johnny Evers will have charge of the squad until Manager John J. McGraw joins them later in the month.

O'NEILL AND WHEAT LEADING HITTERS

Cleveland Out-Slugged the Dodgers—Speaker Led in Total Bases.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 12.—The new world's champions outbatted their rivals for the seven-game series, .244 to .200. The Indians cracked out 53 hits to Brooklyn's 43. They played an uphill battle for the batting honors, and when they went into the four-game series on their home grounds they pulled away from their opponents. The American Leaguers had eight men batting .300 or better, while the National Leaguers had only three.

Nunamaker, who was at bat twice during the series, cracked out one hit, and he finished with a mark of .500. Steve O'Neill, who caught the entire series, with the exception of one inning, when he gave way to Chett Thomas, had a big margin over the rival backstops, being credited with seven hits in twenty-one times at bat. Two of his hits were doubles. He was tied with Jamieson and Bagby, team-mates, and Wheat and Mitchell of Brooklyn, with an average of .333. Wheat was easily the best batter of the Brooklyn team.

Speaker led in total bases, with 12, the result of eight hits, which included two doubles and a triple. Wheat was close behind the Indians' manager, with 11 bases compiled on nine hits, which included a brace of doubles.

Only two home runs were made in the series, and these were made by Bagby and Elmer Smith in one game. Cleveland knocked out eight doubles to Brooklyn's five, and the Indians were credited with two triples to their rivals' one. As a team, Cleveland had the edge on total bases, with 71, compared to 50 for Brooklyn.

Batting honors between the Johnston brothers went to W. Johnston, first-baseman of the Indians. He finished with an average of .273, compared to .214 made by his brother Jimmie.

TOTAL ATTENDANCE FOR SERIES GAMES

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 12.—The total attendance for the seven games of the world's series between Cleveland and Brooklyn was 178,357, it was announced tonight. The total receipts were given as $564,788; of this, $56,478.80 goes to the National Commission, $293,432.94 to the owners of the two clubs, and $214,876.26 to the players.

ROBBIE SAYS PITCHING BEAT HIS BROOKLYNS

Cleveland, Oct. 12.—"Cleveland has a wonderful ball club, and Tris Speaker and his men certainly deserve the splendid support they have received from the city," Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, said tonight after his club had lost the seventh and deciding contest in the world series to the Cleveland Indians.

"It was a well-fought and honestly-played series. We did our best, but we could not hit Cleveland pitching. That's all there is to say."

Manager Robinson also took the opportunity to deny rumors that he would manage the New York American League Club next season.

"The owners of the Yankees aren't negotiating with me, and I'm not negotiating with them," he said. "Reports that I am going to change teams are foolish and untrue. I expect to be right back in the National League fight next season piloting Brooklyn to another pennant."

SEGAN GOT DECISION.

Boston, Oct. 12.—Nate Segan of Revere won a decision from Young Kloby of Lawrence today in a ten-round bout advertised for the New England welterweight championship.

MARQUARD WILL BE ABSENT NEXT YEAR

Heydler Says He Has Hurt Game by His Foolish Action.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 12.—Richard (Rube) Marquard of the Brooklyn Nationals was fined one dollar and costs in the local municipal court here this morning on a charge of violating the exhibition ticket ordinance. President Heydler of the National League, who was in court with Marquard, stated that, as the violation was merely technical, he would take no further action in the matter.

President Heydler said, however, that he did not believe that Marquard would be in the National League next year.

"Marquard has hurt Brooklyn and he has hurt the National League by his actions," said Mr. Heydler. "Baseball does not want men of his calibre, and I don't think he'll be back in the league next season, altho I probably won't take any official action myself."

Marquard, who had asked for a special hearing of his case, in view of the fact that he might participate in today's game, appeared in court accompanied by National League Attorney Jos. Heintzman. The case was quickly disposed of. Judge Silbert, after listening to testimony of the detective who arrested Marquard, and the statement of the Brooklyn pitcher, said that he felt that Marquard had been sufficiently punished by the wide publicity following the act, and that he would fine him $1 and costs, and dismissed the case.

It was brought out during the testimony that Marquard had but twenty-four tickets for the Cleveland games, and that when approached by a Brooklyn friend, who asked him if he had any for sale, made a semi-joking remark that he had at a price several times their face value. Marquard's statement was overheard by a detective, who, when he saw the tickets in the hands of the pitcher, arrested him on the charge of speculating.

Judge Silbert said that, following the recent exposure of the baseball scandal, it was a shame that a foolish action on the part of Marquard should have occurred at this time.

SOCCER NOTES

All the Willys-Overland signed-on players are particularly requested to turn out for training at the West End Y.M.C.A. on Thursday evening next, October 14, 1920, at 8 o'clock.

William Davies meet for training on Wednesday evening at 7.30 in the gym. of the King Street Methodist Church, corner of East King and Bright streets. Anyone wishing to become connected with a nice sociable club are specially invited to attend this meeting.

A general meeting of the Linfield club will be held on Wednesday night in Riverdale Presbyterian Church Hall, at 8 o'clock. Members and players are requested to attend, as there is important business to transact.

Beavers will hold their monthly meeting on Thursday, Oct. 14, in the Riverside club rooms, corner Bolton and East Queen streets, at 8 o'clock sharp. All players and members of both teams are requested to be on hand, as there is much important discussion to take place at this meeting.

The Linfield Rover F. C. of East Toronto have the honor of winning the first championship of the T. & D. Juvenile Soccer League and along with it the handsome Clarke trophy and medals.

The Linfield Rovers' management have spared no time and expense in gathering together a formidable team to represent their club. They have gathered together some of the best juvenile soccer players in the city, not only from the east end, but also from the west end of the city.

They have in goal Burnett, a sturdy youngster, and heady goalkeeper. The full back division is looked after by Gray and Frost, last year with the champion Crescent team of West Toronto. These boys have played their positions together on four different teams in the past four years and play them perfectly. The half-back division is well played by Edgar, Heitzman and Williams, three sturdy footballers and good checkers. Heintzman, the centre half, is the captain of the team. The attack of the forward line is led by Billy Woolacott, the lucky centre forward, who is ably assisted by his two inside men, Waygood and Smith. The wings are looked after by Tilley and Lancaster, two speedy runners and good kickers.

Much credit is due to Mr. Thos. Unsworth and Wm. Jaeger, the two trainers of this team. These men have been untiring in their efforts to round out a championship team and are now reaping the reward of their hard work.

Besides winning this league and the coveted Clarke trophy, this team is ready to meet Kenwoods for the final of the Powell Shield and are also waiting to play the winner of the Crescent-Rover game for the Bailley Trophy.
