DISASTERS TO SHIPPING.

THE IDAHO WRECKED ON AN UNKNOWN REEF.

The Government to be asked to Re-Survey the St Lawrence.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

MONTREAL, July 26.—George Kenrick for fifty four years in the employee of the court house been appointed clerk of the court of review in place of the late J. S. Honey. Kernick is a conservative.

The agents of the Dominion Line received a telegram from Captain Brotherton this morning stating that according to the charts the steamer "Idaho," was in fifty-four feet of water when she struck, and that she run on a reef not marked on the charts.

It is also claimed that the disaster to the steamer Thornholme was caused by a buoy getting out of place. In consequence of these disasters, shippers will endeavor to get a new survey of the St. Lawrence made by the government, new lights erected and buoys re-arranged. They claim that accidents happen to vessels every year simply for the reason that the channel is not properly marked.

About 100 applications for space in the exhibition have been received, comprising almost all classes of exhibits. The McCaskill varnish prizes are drawing exhibits in the carriage line from all parts of the Dominion, and the carriage building will be probably one of the most attractive features of the exhibition for the majority of the people. The agricultural implement line will, not only in variety but quality, far surpass anything that has ever been shown in the Maritime Provinces and all leading manufacturers throughout the Dominion will be represented. Pianos, organs and other musical instruments from all the leading manufacturers thoughout the United States and Canada will form an interesting and attractive feature. The organ to be shown by Mr. F. Simms & Co., will have one of their broom machines in operation, Messrs. Parks & Sons are arranging to put in some of their cotton looms, and other portions of their machinery. All of the agricultural implements of importance will be represented in the Machinery Hall in motion. The motive power of the Machinery Hall will be furnished by one of the Wheelock engines, supplied by Messrs. Goldie & McCulloch, of Guelph, Ont., Among the machinery in motion will be S. R. Foster & Son's wire nail machines, T. McAvity & Sons' brass working machinery, J. R. Woodburn & Co.'s sugar pulverizing and confectionery machines, and machines employed in making pottery by the Acadia Pottery Co. Messrs. A Boy Loses an Ounce of His Thinking Apparatus, but will Live.

FORT DODGE, Ia., 23rd.—Willie Eberhart, a nine year-old boy living here, is getting along with an ounce less brains than he had a week ago. Willie had his skull caved in by an accident at a mud crusher a week ago, the brain protruding in places. Although it was thought the boy could not live an hour the wound was dressed and a portion of the brain weighing an ounce was taken out. The bones were placed back in position and knitted nicely. The child is now considered out of danger and the surgeons say he is sure to recover.

NOT WANTED IN HALIFAX.

THE 17th LEICESTERSHIRE NOT LIKED BY HALIGONIANS.

They Created a Riot Years Ago Which is Not Yet Forgotten—A Story of Thirty Years Ago.

HALIFAX, July 24.—There is intense excitement and indignation over the coming to this garrison of the Seventeenth Leicestershire Regiment. The cause of this is the bad blood that has existed for over a quarter of a century between Haligonians and the regiment in question. While the regiment was in the garrison nearly thirty years ago a grand celebration was held commemorative of the marriage of the Prince of Wales. On this occasion a soldier of the Seventeenth was badly beaten by roughs and that night the regiment mutinied and were joined next morning by the Sixteenth Regiment, also in garrison here at the time. The officers of both corps were made prisoners by mutineers, and were locked up in the barracks, as were men of A Battery, Royal Artillery, who had attempted to quell the mutiny. The enraged red coats then proceeded to assault citizens and commit all sorts of outrages, as well as to attempt to sack and destroy public and private buildings. The police being powerless to cope with the rioters, the citizens locked themselves up in their houses, which they barricaded as strongly as possible. For three days Halifax was entirely at the mercy of a licentious and rum-crazed soldiery. On the second day the Court House, the old Town Hall and jail were attacked and greatly damaged, and on the third day, after beating three citizens so severely that they subsequently died from their injuries, drunken soldiers attempted to destroy places of business on Water and Evansville streets. This was the last straw, for the citizens, fearing that the whole city would be destroyed, determined to put down the riot at all costs. An alarm was rung on church and fire bells and the entire male population assembled on the Grand Parade. Three hundred men of the Fire Brigade Union and the Axe and Union Protection companies were armed with axe handles, and backed by other citizens started to meet the rioters. An encounter took place on Barrack street in which the citizens were victorious, and the soldiers were beaten up the glacis of the citadel until they finally took refuge in the fort. The imprisoned officers and artillerymen were than released, and the latter, being heavily armed, kept the rioters in the barracks until the regiment were removed from this garrison a few weeks later.

It is understood a strong petition will be presented to military authorities asking that the exiled Grenadier Guards be sent here in place of the Seventeenth. It is probable that the petition will be granted, as should the Seventeenth come there is almost sure to be an outbreak of the old hostilities between the military and the town.

COMMITTED TO THE DEEP.

The Body of a Captain Cremated and His Ashes Placed in the Sea.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

NEW YORK, July 26.—A passenger from the iron steamboat Taurus on Thursday afternoon, witnessed an unusual burial ceremony on July 2.

Capt. Beazy Cromwell of the Cromwell line died at his home No 221 Fifth ave. Brooklyn, and three days later his body was reduced to ashes at the Fresh Pond crematory. Prior to his death he expressed a wish that his ashes should be committed to old Neptune.

Thursday his widow bearing a vase containing his dust boarded the Taurus and went to Long Branch. On her way back she told Captain J. E. Hobbs what she desired, and when off the Highland light the Taurus was hove too, flags placed half-mast. Capt. Hobbs made a brief addresses and the vase was lowered into seven fathoms of water, the cover being removed so that the ashes might be wasted out.

Mrs. Cromwell in speaking of the occurence said, it was always Mr. Cromwell's desire that his body should be cremated if he died ashore, and consequently as his own relations were not averse to the idea his remains were sent to the crematory shortly after he died and his ashes were returned to me. I kept them home some time in a metal case but before his death Mr. Cromwell had always expressed a wish that his body should be buried at sea.

THE BANK ROBBERY.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION OF ROBERT SANDERS, CHARGED WITH THE CRIME.

Nearly all the Missing Funds Recovered—The Prisoner Concealed Them—No One Else in it With Him—He is Committed for Trial.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

WOODSTOCK, N. B. July 25.—The preliminary examination of Robert G. Sanders, the defaulting teller of the Woodstock agency of the Bank of Nova Scotia, began yesterday afternoon before the Police Magistrate Dibblee.

Mr A B Connell appeared for the prosecution and Mr. D. McLeod Vince for the prisoner.

Mr. H. Fleming, the bank's agent, testified to the fact of loss by the bank of $4,000, to the manner in which the vault secured, and to the story as told him by Sanders of his seizure from behind by someone and being knocked unconscious. Witness described also how the package of money was marked. He said the greater portion of the money had been found and that the bulk of what was recovered had been found in the left of the vault. The parcel was found there and lacked $80 of the amount put in the parcel. It was found by Mr. Sanders, who is no relation of the prisoner.

Junior clerk, J. Marvin Walker, testified to being left in the bank with prisoner the evening of the 17th and his leaving the prisoner there. He described the condition of things when he went to the bank next day, and finding the prisoner on the floor of the vault; the conversation between prisoner and himself relative to the parcel and to his locking the street door and going for Mr. Fleming. At the close of this witness' testimony the examination was adjourned until this morning.

THE EXAMINATION CONTINUED.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., July 26.—The court opened at 10 o'clock. William S. Sanders deposed:

I remember the morning the prisoner was arrested, the 18th of this month. I heard that the charge was stealing $4,000 from the Bank of Nova Scotia. The parcel of money was afterwards discovered by the bank—I understood in full, I am not sure. I discovered that money in the loft of the vault of the bank. I went to the vault with Mr. Fleming last Monday morning. I found it in one corner of the vault loft behind a black box. It was dark there. I took a light. I handed the money down to Mr. Fleming as the property of the bank. The prisoner told me I would find the money inside the vault, overhead. I asked him if any person could get to it, he said none but the clerks of the bank. He said there was no one else concerned with him. I said to him first, I am afraid there is somebody else in it with you and they may make of with the money, He said there was no one else in it. I think the prisoner's father resides at Yarmouth. Mr. Fleming had to unlock the safe before I could get the money.

It was after this conversation with the prisoner that I went to the vault with Mr. Fleming. The young man is no connection of mine at all. I had never seen his father before that morning. The prisoner said he was very sorry for taking the money. This completed the examination.

The prisoner was committed for trial. He did not appear to be at all affected by the proceedings.

KING MILAN WANTS TO MARRY.

His Prospective Bride an American Lady Who Will Pay His Debts.

VIA C. P. TEL. CO.

PARIS, July 26.—A despatch from Belgrade in this morning's Temps, the most conservative paper in France, announces that King Milan feeling that he is legally free to marry again, will shortly take to himself as wife a young American lady of great wealth whom he met last winter in Paris. The name of the lady is not given but the truth of the story is vouched for.

The Ex King's affairs are, however in a sadly complicated condition in Paris, and only a little while ago his creditors were clamorous to a point that threatened to develop into a scandal. Several of his boon companions, members of the Washington club, a club at the corner of Avenue DeLopora and the boulevard, mourn a large amount paid in gaming debts.

His personal debts in Paris are said to exceed 3,000,000 francs all of which the wealthy young American lady is expected to pay.

THE CARGO OF ICE, which the Auther M Gibson, carried to New York from Mr. Ruel's Lincoln stack a couple of weeks ago, is said to have been sold for $4,424, or $7.50 per ton. The New York company's contract with Mr, Ruel has proved a bonanza to them.

Advices from Rio Grande state that Baitish brig Iddesleigh Bennett, from Cadiz for San Jose de Norte, has been ashore. She was compelled to jettison a portion of her cargo and is leaking badly. A survey will be held.

THE BUILDING BOOM at Edmunston continues, the only drawback being land on which to build. The government has at last decided to sell the Ordnance Land, reserved for military purposes, and forty lots will be disposed of by Mr. Milton Dayton at public action, on Tuesday, 29th inst. The upset price is fixed at $100 per lot.

The Probate Court.

In this court yesterday, Judge R. C. Skinner delivered judgement in the matter of passing accounts in the estate of James Pettingell. A claim had been made against the estate by Mrs. John H. Harding for the sum of $600. It appeared that Mr. Pettingell had had $2,900 in trust for Mrs. Harding and after his death she received $1,300 from mortgages on account of the sum so held. When Mrs. Pettingell died she asked for the sum of $600 in settlement. The executors resisted the claim on the ground that there was no trust and that the statue of limitations applied. His honor, decided that there was a trust and allowed the claim. Mr. C. N. Skinner, Q. C., appeared for Mrs. Harding and the executors, Messrs John H. Harding and H. W. Frith. Mr. H. L. Sturdee appeared for Mr. Charles H. Hay and also for James Pettingell and Clarence Saunders, heirs of the estate.

LEFT IN A RAGGED STATE.

Washington Oppinion on the Behring Sea Question.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 24.—The Behring sea correspondence was read in the newspapers, and talked about in the cloak rooms of both houses to-day, to the exclusion of most other matters. Blaine's friends praised Blaine's dispatches, his enemies condemned his diplomacy, but all agree that the situation of affairs was serious, and that it might have become more so very easily, had it not been that Harrison backed down after interfering with the negotiations by directing our revenue cutters to seize Canadian sealers, and directed them not to. In view of that modification of Harrison's orders, there is thought to be less danger of strain in our relations with Great Britain, especially as the season is drawing to a close, although the negotiations are left in a ragged state, which justifies the apprehension expressed on all sides today.

Morgan of Alabama, who stands at the head of the Democrats on the Senate foreign relations committee expressed a view frequently taken, to-day when he said: "Blaine will have to retire from the cabinet, just as he has practically retired from these negotiations. He has gone to the extreme point. He has called Lord Salisbury a liar by implications several times. I do not see how they can negotiate any more together. Blaine's natural move is to leave the cabinet and enter the field for the Republican nomination in 1892, as the head of all the Republicans who oppose the force bill and similar legislation, and all Republicans who admire a vigorous foreign policy."

Desjardin's Majority Forty Four.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

QUEBEC, July 26.—The latest returns from Montmorency give Desjardins conservative, a majority of forty-four.

The supreme court at Conord, N. H., set aside the verdict in the case of Henderson vs. Williams. Henderson lost his hands while removing an unexploded charge of powder in the Soapstone quarries at Francestown. The jury awarded him $10,500.
