HAPPENINGS OF A DAY IN BUSY EAST LONDON

THROATS BLESSED IN CATHOLIC CHURCH

Feast of St. Blazius Was Celebrated Today in London.

Today is the feast of St. Blazius and is being celebrated in the Catholic churches throughout the world. At St. Mary's Church, East London, two masses were celebrated at the same time, both commencing at 8 o'clock.

The masses were solemnized at different altars by Father Tobin, the assistant rector of St. Mary's, and Father Foster, of Mount Carmel.

On Feb. 3 of each year the Catholic Church celebrates the feast of St. Blazius, bishop and martyr. As St. Blazius lived fifteen hundred years ago, and as the practice of appealing to him in throat troubles has been maintained since that time, the custom is an old one.

The custom of invoking St. Blazius' aid commenced when the saint was confined in a prison awaiting sentence for professing Christianity. He had somewhat of a reputation, and among others who came to him was a mother with her son. A bone had become fastened in his throat, and medical practitioners had been unable to remove it. St. Blazius touched the little fellow's neck and immediately he was restored to perfect health.

Since that time the custom has been continued each year, and the Catholics of the world will probably continue to invoke the aid of St. Blazius for centuries to come.

The throats of several hundred persons were blessed at St. Mary's and St. Peter's Cathedral today.

GEORGE COOPER DIES OF HEART TROUBLE

Popular East Ender Passes Away After Four Weeks' Illness.

The death occurred at the residence of his mother, Mrs. Robert Cooper, 11 Pearl street, this morning of Mr. George Cooper, a well-known and very popular resident of East London.

Mr. Cooper was 27 years old, and had been ill for only about four weeks with heart trouble. He was employed at McClary's in the molding department.

Besides his mother, Mr. Cooper is survived by six brothers and two sisters, Mrs. George Knox, of Toronto; Mrs. William Pincombe, Exeter; Mrs. Wilbert McFalls, Centralia; Mrs. George Nethercott, Petrolea; Misses Beatrice and Dorothy; Jonathan, of Hardisty, Alberta, and Hamlyn, at home.

The funeral will be held on Friday morning to the Grand Trunk station, interment being made at Exeter.

POLICE ARE ON TRAIL

Of a Man Who Is Alleged to Have Taken Money From a Milkman.

The county police are looking for Fred Nesbitt, an Englishman, who came to this country recently, and who was employed by Mr. Joseph Blaney, a milkman, who resides a short distance east of the city limits, and who is said to have taken several dollars, which he collected from customers, together with a quantity of clothing.

A warrant has been sworn out by Blaney, and the police expect to round Nesbitt up shortly. He decamped a few days ago after collecting a sum of money, it is alleged.

At the same time a young man employed by a neighboring farmer left, also taking a sum of money, and some clothing, it is alleged. The money taken from Blaney's home was mostly quarter lots of coppers put up in packages.

OLD CHUTES TO BE REMOVED.

Arrangements are being made to remove the old coal chutes on the Grand Trunk at Egerton street, according to an official.

It is said that the old chutes are dangerous, and that coal will be taken in the future at those recently erected at Adelaide street, near Horton. The new chutes are much more modern, and it is possible to take coal in half the time there. The old building will probably be torn down and removed to Woodstock.

Another story is to the effect that the old chutes are condemned and very unsafe. This is, however, denied by one of the officials.

TIGERS WON THE GAME.

The Tigers walked away from the Champions in the All Saints Carpetball League last evening, defeating them by a score of 106 to 65.

The Tigers have been playing very fast all season, their opponents being outclassed in last night's game. A picked team from the All Saints' League will play the Foresters tonight in the club rooms on Hamilton road.

LATE MRS. DOIDGE.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Ann Doidge, wife of Mr. John Doidge, who died at her home, 1045 Mary street, on Monday evening, after a long illness, was held this afternoon to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

The service were conducted at her late home by Rev. G. N. Hazen, of Centennial Methodist Church, at 2 o'clock, the funeral being held at 2:30.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Edward Jury, Wm. Copp, William and James Tuke, George Heaman and Fred Eymond.

A MIRACULOUS ESCAPE FROM DEATH

Engineer Ross of William Street Saved a Man's Life.

A young man, who resides in the east end, and who is addicted to the use of cocaine, had a miraculous escape from death at the Rectory street crossing of the Grand Trunk a few nights ago, when Mr. George Ross, of William street, the engineer in charge of yard engine No. 48, threw over the emergency brake and stopped as the buffer beam was rubbing his clothes, as he stood on the tracks.

The engineer, who was making up train No. 418, shortly after 10 o'clock noticed the young man standing on the south rail at the crossing. He whistled but did not shut down, as he thought he would step out of the way.

He was in such a dazed condition, however, that he did not hear the signal. "I thought that we would strike him," said the engineer, "and I was horrified when he did not move. I threw over the emergency brake, which worked splendidly and we stopped so closely that I thought he was struck. He was still standing there, however, and did not know that the engine was touching his clothes until I yelled to him to look out.

"We were running very fast and had the brakes failed to work he would certainly have gone beneath the wheels."

It is said that there are several young men who are addicted to the dope habit who loiter around the crossing, and who are utterly unconscious of their perilous position.

HAS NO MONEY.

New York, Feb. 3. — In a statement made public today by his wife, Broughton Brandenburg, who is wanted in connection with the selling to the New York Times of an article which he represented as having been written by the late Grover Cleveland, but which was subsequently declared spurious by Mrs. Cleveland and others, gives as his reasons for forfeiting his bail the fact that he is without funds with which to retain handwriting and other experts to refute the expert testimony to be offered by the prosecution.

As soon as he has obtained money enough to cover the cost of such expert testimony, he declares in his statement that he will return and face trial.

TRAINING IN FIELD WORK.

The members of the R. C. R. at Wolseley Barracks are being trained in field work at present, and this morning were trained in the vicinity of the brick yards.

The men were taken over about eight miles of territory, and took the positions of field work. During the fall, route marches were held, the regiment marching from ten to fifteen miles a day for three days each week.

CENTENNIAL CHURCH SERVICE.

Rev. J. W. Baird, pastor of Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church, again occupied the pulpit at Centennial Methodist Church last evening, preaching an evangelistic sermon on the "Wells of Salvation."

He stated that the Word of God, prayer, the ordinances of God's house, were all wells of salvation, but the greatest well is the Lord Jesus Christ.

Rev. G. N. Hazen, the pastor, conducted the services, a large congregation attending.

LONDON TRAINMEN ARE INTERESTED

In the Arrest of the Five Men at Toronto Charged With Robbing G.T.R.

Local Grand Trunk conductors are keenly interested in the arrest and charges preferred against the five conductors on the eastern branches of the road.

"It comes as rather a surprise to everyone," one conductor told The Advertiser this afternoon. "We thought the matter had ended a couple of years ago, when the trouble occurred, and some men were let out. The company's detectives have been working pretty quietly. As far as we know, they have not been working on this division, but, of course, we couldn't tell. Spotters might be working all around us, and we wouldn't know anything about it."

No Investigation Here.

Superintendent Nixon, when asked regarding the matter, stated that he knew nothing of any investigation being carried on locally. All work of that nature, he said, would be handled from Montreal, and he would not be likely to hear of it.

Two plans were worked by the alleged conspirators. One was for some of the men to issue blank tickets, numbered and initialled by the vendors, which the purchaser handed the conductor on the train, and was taken to Montreal. In this scheme Imperial Bank checks, which much resemble the Grand Trunk tickets, were used, and by this means both conductor and passenger avoided unnecessary suspicion. In this case $4 was paid for the ticket.

Another Scheme.

The other scheme was for the man outside of the railway service to sell a ticket for some point near Toronto, and as far as the police can find out, the conductor on the train knew the number and passed the man to Montreal. In this scheme Jacob Woods, of 117 York street, seems to have been working independently, while in the other the police claim men were working both the Toronto and Montreal ends.

A Quick Clean-Up.

The arrests Tuesday night, both from the Montreal and Toronto ends, were all made within an hour. The Thiel agency had asked the assistance of the local detective force, and last night Detectives Wallace, Archibald and Tipton left for the east. The thing was pulled off most successfully, and while the men in Toronto were working there, the detectives sent to Montreal were watching their men.

The case was dismissed, with the costs to be paid by the accused.

DECISION LATER IN ELECTION CASE

Justice Says He Didn't Consider Pritchett's Evidence To Be Vital.

(Special to The Advertiser.)

Toronto, Feb. 3.—In concluding the crown's opposition today to the appeal of the defendants in the London election case, E. Bayley, on behalf of the attorney-general's department, cited authorities in an attempt to show that Pritchett's corroboration was conclusive.

"Does this case depend on Pritchett's evidence?" queried Mr. Justice Garrow.

"No," returned Mr. Bayley.

"I shouldn't think it was vital," ventured the judge.

Mr. Johnston concluded his argument this afternoon. Judgment will be reserved.

Toronto, Feb. 2.—Mr. Johnston's main plea this morning in the London election case was that the prosecution of the alleged offense was barred by statute, as the action must be taken within two years.

In introducing the matter, E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., remarked that he appeared for all but Sifton, who had been made a crown witness.

Mr. Johnston quoted from the objections he had raised at the trial before Judge Winchester, to whom he had made three protests.

Mr. Johnston charged that the police magistrate had given no opportunity of electing.

"This is new to me," said Mr. Staunton.

Mr. Johnston had nothing to say as to what effect this fact of his would have, but he urged that it was a fact, just the same.

Mr. Johnston went on to tell how the grand jury had found a bill, how an assize trial was pending and how the defendants had then surrendered themselves to the sheriff. The trial by Judge Winchester had followed.

Mr. Justice Osler reminded Mr. Johnston that the defendants had elected to be tried by Judge Winchester.

"That does not restrain us from questioning his jurisdiction."

"No," assented the court, "but you spoke of electing as to trial."

Mr. Johnston did not withdraw his objection, however.

Judge Winchester asks, in part: my finding?

Was it competent for the crown to charge in various courts, "a conspiracy in Toronto and London and at other places," or was the crown bound to elect to proceed on some one conspiracy?

Had I jurisdiction?

Is the evidence sufficient to support

Mr. Justice Teetzel is taking Mr. Justice Meredith's place today as one of the five judges.

Barred by Statute.

Mr. Johnston said that he would plead that the prosecution for the offence alleged was barred by statute, as action must be taken within two years.

Mr. Johnston analyzed the counts, and he declared that all the defendants were not being tried for the same offence, nor for the same offence stated in different ways.

"The alleged conspiracy in Toronto, if any," said Mr. Johnston, "took place in 1898. The judge has held that as far as the Toronto case is concerned, Messrs. Reid, Mulloy and Wiley had no connection with it whatever."

Mr. McEvoy argued that a conspiracy could only become such at one place. Nor was it a conspiracy until it was consummated.

G. Lynch-Staunton, K. C., of Hamilton, for the crown, held that the consent of the defendants did not establish the jurisdiction of the court. Any competent court had inherent jurisdiction if consent were given. The crown had endeavored to establish a continuous conspiracy at Toronto, London and elsewhere. Moreover, he held, the court of appeal had no jurisdiction to criticise or quash a judgment on account of any informality in the charge sheet.

Argument will be continued on Wednesday.

MR. SMALLMAN TO NEGOTIATE

city, as we can easily come to an agreement covering the operation of Sunday cars."

Praise for London.

"I notice many improvements in your city, Mr. Mayor," said Mr. Moore. "It is growing larger, and you have some fine new buildings."

"How is Mr. Everett?" asked his worship.

"He is improving slowly," he answered. "He comes down to the office two days a week now, and is considerably improved."

It is understood that the old directors will all be re-elected, and that Mr. Everett will still act as president, and Mr. T. H. Smallman as vice-president.

Receipts Satisfactory.

A statement of the receipts could not be secured, but the directors are satisfied.

"We are satisfied, and we are not, if you can understand that," said Manager C. B. King. "We are ahead of last year, and we are pleased with that. However, we did not do as much as we expected. In view of the depression, I suppose an increase is something to be thankful for, at least. Otherwise we are in good shape.

"Our rolling stock is in good condition, and the road is in very good shape."

By Our Formula

We produce in Hood's Sarsaparilla a medicine that has an unapproached record of cures of Scrofula, eczema, eruptions, catarrh, rheumatism, anemia, nervousness, that tired feeling, loss of appetite, etc.

The combination and proportions of the more than twenty different remedial agents contained in Hood's Sarsaparilla are known only to ourselves, so there can be no substitute.

This medicine makes healthy and strong the "Little Soldiers" in your blood,—those corpuscles that fight the disease germs constantly attacking you.
