TRINITY UNIVERSITY.

Two Names Recommended for the Degree of D.C.L.—Certificates Cancelled.

The Bishop of Niagara presided at the May meeting of the corporation. There were also present the Chancellor, the Provost, the Dean, the Registrar (Prof. Jones), Profs. Clark, Huntingford and Cayley, Archdeacon Dixon of Guelph, Rev. W. B. Carey (Kingston), Dr. Langtry, Canon Cayley, Rev. A. J. Broughall, Messrs. C. J. Campbell, E. Martin, Q.C. (Hamilton), R. T. Walkem, Q.C. (Kingston), R. Bayley, Q.C. (London), and J. A. Worrell, Q.C.

The vacancy created by the death of Mr. Lewis Moffatt, one of the college trustees, was filled by the appointment of the Hon. Mr. Justice Osler.

On the recommendation of the Executive Committee it was resolved to cancel the certificates and erase from the register the names of two students in dentistry who have been found guilty of personation at recent medical examinations at Trinity Medical College.

A statute was passed appointing the hood for the degree of D.D.S. to be of scarlet cloth lined with brown silk.

The names of Chancellor Woolworth of the Diocese of Nebraska and Rev. John Pearson, rector of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Toronto, were recommended to convocation for the honorary degree of D.C.L.

A STRIKE ON THE DRILL SHED.

The Laborers Quit Work—Want to be Paid 21 Cents an Hour.

There was trouble yesterday between Major Stewart of Ottawa, contractor for the masonry of the new Drill Shed, and his employes. According to a recent agreement between the Bosses' association and the Labor Union builders' laborers were to receive 21 cents an hour. Major Stewart, who is not a member of the bosses' organization, has been paying 20 cents an hour, and on receiving a demand from his men for union wages he refused to accede to the request.

The laborers, who are really bricklayers' assistants, quit work yesterday and the bricklayers had of course to cease also. Major Stewart will endeavor this morning to replace the laborers, who number about 40. However, it is probable that union bricklayers will not be permitted to work with non-union laborers, and the enforced idleness may continue for some time. It is said by both sides that it is a matter of principle, and Major Stewart states that he does not want to fight with his men, but that he was approached in the wrong spirit. Otherwise the men might be enjoying now their remuneration of 21 cents an hour.

IT WAS A POOR SPECULATION.

The Willard Tract Depository Changes Hands—The Shareholders Heavy Losers.

Though the "Willard Tract Depository" will continue to do business at the old stand it will be under different auspices than those of the past. The business has been purchased at the rate of 50 cents on the dollar by F. H. Revill & Co. of Chicago, and as this is valued at $50,000 the trade creditors of the company are secured. The old shareholders—130 in all—lose all the money they put into it. The board of directors, composed of W. H. Howland, S. H. Blake, Robert Kilgour, George A. Cox, J. D. Nasmith, Rev. H. M. Parsons, Elias Rogers and Henry O'Brien, are liable for a mortgage on the premises of $80,000 and for $30,000 paper in the banks. It is thought, however, the collateral assets will secure these gentlemen from further loss. The causes of the large losses of the Depository are supposed to be due to extensive publication of books and the departure from the original business of disseminating religious literature. The business had been in existence about 14 years, and was organized by S. R. Briggs. It took its name from a similar institution in Boston. Manager Robertson will open a book store across the street.

Messrs. Revill & Co. will conduct the business under the old name, the Willard Tract Depository. Some of the men who were employed in the depository when managed by Mr. Briggs, and who subsequently went to Revill & Co., will return and take their former positions.

Who Will Get Grip?

The proprietors of "Grip" say that a good many people are figuring on the purchase of that paper at the sale by tender next week.

Messrs. Sam Hunter and H. M. Russell, local cartoonists, will probably make an effort to secure it conjointly.

Mr. S. Frank Wilson is also figuring on the paper, while Thomas Bengough has a scheme on foot in regard to the matter, although no one can say whether the illustrious J. W. will have a share in the deal also.

The most interesting name, however, which has yet been put up is that of Mr. J. S. Carter-Troop, of Trinity.

Mr. Troop hails from Montreal and after taking the arts course at Trinity has been recently studying divinity. He is a great social favorite and probably the most popular man in residence at Trinity. For some time past he has been editor of The Trinity University Review.

A Visitor From Japan.

The Rev. Dr. Learned, Professor of Church History and New Testament Literature and Exegesis in the Doshisha University, Kyoto, Japan, in connection with the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, will visit Toronto about Wednesday of next week and will be the guest of Mr. Fraser, Menlo Grove, Walker-avenue. Dr. Learned hopes to gain some insight into our educational system and visit some of the literary institutions of the city.

County Court.

In the County Court yesterday Judge Morgan reserved judgment in the case of Cartwright v. Metropolitan Life.

In the case of Toronto et al v. Wismer, which is a suit brought by the city and Richard Disse to against Frank Wismer for $200 rent for the occupancy of Crosby Hall in the Esplanade, judgment was given for the city with full costs.

The case of O'Connor v. O'Leary is in progress.

A Charge Against Woodstock's P.M.

Samuel B. McCoy, the Woodstock druggist who has been convicted of unlawfully selling liquor, a motion to quash which will be heard at the opening of the Common Pleas Divisional Court on Monday, now charges Woodstock's Police Magistrate, Gilbert C. Field, with having altered the records of the Police Court at his trial. The matter will likely be argued in connection with the motion to quash the conviction.

Beautiful Lumber.

The Royal City Planing Mills of New Westminster, B.C., has shipped to Toronto 21 sticks of lumber, 12 inches square and 69 feet long. The timbers were loaded on two cars, and their beauty even in Westminster, where such sights are not rare, attracted considerable attention.

An Old Libel Suit Revived.

Judge Titus at Buffalo yesterday denied a motion for a new trial in the old libel suit brought by Charlotte Smith against The Buffalo Express. The plaintiff, who resides in Toronto, recovered a verdict of $4000 against the defendant about a year ago.

WHEN NIAGARA RAN DRY.

A Remarkable Event in the History of Our Great American Cataract.

It is forty-five years ago that the great Niagara River went dry. It was the only time in history that this extraordinary freak of nature was ever known to take place.

Many have questioned the occurrence and some have denied that such a thing could be, but on the morning of March 31, 1848, the waters receded and the bed of the river above the Falls was exposed to view. The best witness of this event is Bishop Fuller of Hamilton, Ont. In an interview with the New York Times' correspondent he said:

"I did not see the occurrence myself, but I was told of it the next day by my brother-in-law, Thomas C. Street, M.P., who had a grist mill on the rapids above the Falls. He said that his miller knocked at his bedroom door about 5 o'clock in the morning and told him to get up quickly, as there was no water in the mill race and no water in the great river outside the mill race. He said he was startled at the intelligence and hurried out as soon as he could dress himself. There before him he saw the river channel, on whose banks he had been born thirty-four years previous, almost entirely dry.

"After a hurried breakfast Mr. Street and his youngest daughter went down about three-quarters of a mile to the precipice itself, over which there was so little water running that, having provided himself with a strong pole, they started from Table Rock and walked near the edge of the precipice about one-third of the way toward Goat Island on the American shore. Sticking her father's pole in the crevice of the rock, Miss Street tied her pocket handkerchief firmly on top of the pole. Mr. Street said that he turned his view toward the river below the Falls and saw the water so shallow that immense jagged rocks stood up in such a frightful and picturesque manner that he shuddered when he thought of his having frequently passed over them in the little Maid of the Mist.

"He then returned home and drove from the Canada shore about a half mile above the Falls, opposite Goat Island, and then drove out into the river bed. When he told me this he reproached himself very much for not having sent for me. I was about eight miles distant, but he said that, although he had several times thought of doing so, he each time concluded not to do it lest before we could reach the wonderful scene the waters would again come rushing down the river bed. Of course everyone was speaking of the wonderful event when I was out there the next day, and I have heard others who witnessed it speak of it since that time.

"Mr. Street's theory to account for the recession of waters was this: That the winds had been blowing down Lake Erie, which is only about eighty feet deep, and had been rushing a great deal of the water from it over the Falls. Then suddenly changing, the wind blew this little water (comparatively speaking) up to the western portion of the lake. At this juncture the ice on Lake Erie, which had been broken up by these high winds, got jammed in the river between Buffalo and the Canada side, and formed a dam which kept back the waters of Lake Erie a whole day."

Quiet Life of An Ex-Empress.

The widowhood of ex-Empress Frederick of Germany is passed in semi-retirement and in the performance of acts of charity. She is one of the few royal ladies of Europe who may be said to take more than a passing interest in scietnific things, and though by no means a bluestocking, she devotes considerable time to literary studies. Since Frederick's death she has wielded but little influence in public affairs, although the San Francisco Report says she possesses marked ability in that direction. Of course everybody remembers the diplomatic story crediting her with procuring the downfall of Bismarck and his withdrawal from his commanding position in German politics, and that it was brought about to even up an old score she owed the grim chancellor. Ex-Empress Frederick's years of widowhood are passing quietly and unevntfully. Her devotion to Frederick's memory and her love for her books are the predominant features of her life. She treasures jealously the desk at which her husband wrote his diaries. She is greatly liked by the poor of Berlin, to whom she is a veritable Lady Bountiful, with a big private list of pensioners. Her hair is slightly silvered, but she still has the same quiet, soft voice and fascinating smile that made her look like an angel to those who saw her by the bedside of her husband at San Remo four years ago. Three brief months of Imperial honors have been followed by a life of sadness, unrelieved save by her studies and her love for her son's children.

The Newspaper Man.

"My son, I don't know if your youthful conception,
Has breath in the scope of its nebulous plan;
To wield comprehension of that one exception
To workaday mortals, the newspaper man.
But if you'll agree to a feeble description
From one of their number, I'll do what I can,
To blend in the way of a little prescription,
The mixture that's known as a newspaper man!

"Take a brain that is steeped in solution of knowledge,
Most varied and picturesque under the sun;
Then add just a pinch of the salt of the college,
A flavor of wit and a soupcon of fun
For a relish, Bohemian sauce is the caper,
And a mind that will stretch from Beersbe ba to Dan;
In fancy or fact, when it comes to 'the paper,'
Or touches the heart of the newspaper man!

To a memory that clutches the veriest trifle,
"And a hand that's tireless when work's to be done;
And an eye that is quick as the flash of a rifle,
And keen as the eagle that flies to the sun.
Take strength and endurance, and loyal devotion,
And add all the grit and the courage you can
To the heart that's as big and deep as the ocean;
And a hundred to one on the newspaper man!

"With a brew of ideas that, seething and boiling,
Run out into molds that are models for men;
Add a ceaseless encounter with planning and toiling,
For the world of to-day that is ruled by the pen.
Add the honey of friendship, the dew of affection,
And the esprit de corps that gets down to hard pan;
And paste in your hat the whole mortal collection,
As the regular stock of the newspaper man!"

—John J. Gormly, in New York Sun.

Patti's Castle Home.

In the beautiful Swansea valley in Wales, commanding a view varied and picturesque, nestles Patti's castle, known the world over as Craig-y-nos. Here she will enjoy the twilight hours of her life, surrounded by all the luxuries that she can desire. There she has a pretty theatre, richly decorated, that will seat 300 guests, and music and theatricals will minister to the pleasure of those lucky ones that may enjoy her hospitality. The castle is built of stone and is lighted by electricity. It cost $1,250,000, and not the least important of its features is a Kimball grand piano, which the great cantatrice values highly.

Saw Him With a New One.

A boy was sent by his mother to their next-door neighbor with the following message: "Mother wants to know if you'd please to lend her a preserving kettle, 'cause as how she wants to preserve." "We would with pleasure boy, but the truth is that the last time we lent it your mother preserved it so effectually that we have never seen it since." "Well, you needn't be so saray about your old kettle. It was full of holes when we borrowed it; and mother wouldn't a troubled you only we seed you bringing home a new one!"—Scottish American.

TIPS FROM WALL-STREET.

The following was received from Monroe, Miller & Co. over their private wire at their Toronto office:

New York, May 11.—After a weak opening the market rallied and throughout the remainder of the session was strong and recoveries were made in all the active stocks. There was a good distribution of business, but the buying was principally by shorts to close contracts. The market was temporarily affected by the bank failures in the west, but reactions were only fractional; the railways and the industrials shared alike in the movement. In the last half hour of business the market sold off ½ to 1½ per cent. on the withdrawal of support given by shorts earlier in the day. Bonds inactive but strong for Northern Pacific 5s., which showed an advance of 10 per cent. as compared with the lowest prices for yesterday. Money 2 to 5 per cent. Sales of stocks to 5 o'clock: Railways 328,000, Industrials 183,500.

GOSSIP FROM CHICAGO.

John J. Dixon & Co. received the following despatch over their private wire from Walker & Co. to-day:

CHICAGO, May 11.—This morning everybody has some wheat for sale and prices suffered a severe decline from yesterday's close, and then to make it more panicky a National bank failed, and rumors of bank failures in Indianapolis broke the market down to 76c for July. Towards the close it firmed up with crowd the buyers. There has been good deal of long stuff sold out to-day, and will make the market more easily to bull when the money market gets easier and Goverament is fully realized as being bullish, as we think it is. Cables lower. The weather has turned in stormy again. Receipts not so big: clearances very big. Corn been bulled easily to-day in spite of the weakness in wheat. The local crowd covered shorts, while the shippers were taking all the cash offered. Receipts of hogs were about as estimated. Prices were lower, influenced by low hog markets and weakness in grain. The provision market opened easy and some lower, but quickly recovered on a little buying. The only feature of the day has been the moderate but steady buying of September lard by Cudahy & Wright. See nothing on which to predict a material decline.
