FIFTEENTH YEAR — TUESDAY MORNING JUNE 26 1894. — ONE CENT.

THE MURDERED PRESIDENT.

UNIVERSAL SYMPATHY WITH FRANCE IN HER LOSS.

The Body Will Lie in State Until Friday in Paris—The Wound Seven Inches Deep—Career of the Assassin Traced—Anti-Italian Riots in Various Parts of France.

PARIS, June 25.—When the sitting of the Chamber of Deputies opened at 2.20 p.m. to-day Casimir-Perier, President of the Chamber, arose with a paper in his hand. Immediately every person in the Chamber was on his feet with head bowed. The President, in a voice trembling with emotion, read a letter from Premier Dupuy announcing the terrible crime at Lyons. Casimir-Perier then addressed to the Chamber an eulogy upon President Carnot, and in the course of his remarks associated the Chamber with the whole country in common sorrow before the tomb where disappears a life of devotion and integrity.

He then read the summons of Challemel-Lacour, convoking Congress at Versailles on Wednesday for the purpose of selecting a President of the republic.

In the Senate President Challemel-Lacour read Premier Dupuy's letter announcing the assassination of President Carnot. He then delivered an eloquent eulogy upon the life, character and services of the dead President, in which he said: "All Europe appreciated the nobility and firmness of his character and joins her regrets with ours."

Must Elect a President in Three Days.

In the course of the Ministerial Council at the Elysee this morning the question was raised as to the power of M. Challemel-Lacour, President of the Senate, to convoke the National Congress on Wednesday, the day which he has fixed for that body to assemble at Versailles.

Premier Dupuy defended the action of Challemel-Lacour on the ground that a new President must be elected within three days of the decease of the former executive. Wednesday was fixed in order to enable deputies living in places distant from Paris to arrive in time to vote in the Versailles Congress.

The council agreed to introduce a bill in the Chamber according to M. Carnot a national funeral.

Sympathy of Italy With Madame Carnot.

The prominent members of the Italian colony in Paris are obtaining signatures to an address to Mme. Carnot, wife of the dead President, expressing their horror at his assassination and their sympathy, and condolence with his family and the country.

Premier Dupuy has received a telegram from Baron Blanc, Italian Minister of Foreign Affairs, declaring in the name of King Humbert, the people of the Kingdom of Italy, the two Parliamentary Chambers and the ministry, their detestation of the horrible crime and assuring him that all share the grief into which France has been plunged by the hand of an Anarchist—a man without a country.

HOW CARNOT DIED.

His Last Words Were, "I am Glad My Friends Are Here."

Mme. Carnot, accompanied by her sons, Francois and Ernest Carnot, arrived at Lyons from Paris at 6 o'clock this morning by special train.

Mme. Carnot, with her sons, entered a carriage and was driven immediately to the Prefecture, where the body of her husband was lying. Her sons and the officers of the President's household accompanied her to the bedside. Mme. Carnot stood trembling as she gazed at the face of the dead, but shed no tears, though all about her were weeping. The details of the last moments of President Carnot are these: The Archbishop of Lyons reached the prefecture at midnight. He was at once admitted to the bedside of the dying President, where he remained alone with the wounded man for a few minutes.

The Archbishop withdrew to the adjoining room while the doctors renewed their attentions to the dying man. Within a quarter of an hour after the archbishop left the bedside the death struggles began, and the archbishop was recalled to the room. The prelate administered the sacrament of extreme unction to the dying man.

Dr. Poncet asked the President, "Do you know your state?" M. Carnot, who was then breathing feebly, replied, "Yes, I am dying."

The archbishop said, "Your friends are around you." President Carnot, in an almost inaudible murmur, said, "I am glad to find my friends here."

Almost within half a minute after this respiration and pulsations of the heart ceased.

Dressed for Burial.

The body of the dead President has been transferred from the small bed upon which he died to the prefect's bed. The body is fully dressed and upon the breast is the grand cordon of the Legion of Honor. There will be no post-mortem examination, Mme. Carnot having expressed a strong desire that the body of her husband be taken to Paris as soon as possible. It has been arranged that the body will leave for Paris this evening, arriving there before daybreak.

A catafalque is being prepared for the reception of the body at the Palace of the Elysee.

Result of the Autopsy.

Mme. Carnot eventually withdrew her objections to an autopsy. After the examination a statement to the following effect was issued:

"The liver was horribly wounded. The dagger pierced it through, a depth of five inches. The sortic vein was severed and one rib was broken. The weapon penetrated fully seven inches beneath the surface. The abdominal cavity contained two quarts of blood. Externally the wound appeared only as a cut about an inch long under the breast. The dagger must have been under strong pressure, otherwise it could not have penetrated so far.

The wound received by M. Carnot was in the upper liver, which was pierced through and through. From the first the physicians believed the wounded man was lost. He was transported on a mattress and his clothing was cut off him. In order to facilitate the bleeding the breast was opened to a length of 20 centimetres. Because of the President's weakness chloroform was not administered, and he cried out several times: "My God, will this never finish! My God, how I am suffering!"

Borne to the Train Past Silent Multitudes

Before the body was removed to the train in Lyons the Archbishop of Lyons offered prayers. The coffin was borne on a gun-carriage through the dense barracked throng that filled the streets leading to the station. The clergy in their vestments, the local officials and delegates from many societies formed the procession. They moved slowly through the silent multitude. The flourish of trumpets, the artillery salutes and the beating of muffled drums were the only sounds, the people of the city did not utter a word as the body was carried past them.

Will Lie in State Until Friday.

President Carnot's body was removed at 6.30 o'clock this evening to the railway station in Lyons and there was placed in a car heavily draped with black. At 7 o'clock the special train to which the car was attached started for Paris, with Mme. Carnot, several officers of the late President's household and a few other officials. The grand salon in the Elysee Palace has been transformed into a funereal chamber. It is hung in black drapery fringed with silver.

The chandeliers are covered with crape and the candelabra at the corners of the catafalque have been draped in black cloth. A military guard will be on duty in the Chamber until the funeral, which probably will take place on Friday.

The grand court of honor has been changed completely with crepe hangings. On the black background are flags, trophies and silver shields, some marked "C" and others "F F." A catafalque for the funeral service is building in the courtyard.

The rulers of all the civilized countries have sent telegrams expressing to Mme. Carnot their sorrow and sympathy. Thousands have inscribed their names to-day in the register books of the Elysee. Among them were personal friends, diplomatists, academicians, society leaders, business men and many workingmen. The concert halls are closed and the races have been postponed.

THE ASSASSIN'S MOVEMENTS.

A Baker by Trade and an Outspoken Anarchist.

LYONS, June 25.—The police have obtained the following information in regard to the movements of the assassin Santo. After leaving Italy he lived in Lausanne and Geneva, Switzerland, and afterwards in Lyons. From this city he went to Cette, France, where he spent the last year working as a baker. He reached Lyons from Cette at 6 o'clock Sunday evening. His real surname is Cesario and his Christian name San Hieronimo. He is 19 years old. While in Cette he earned 30 francs a month, besides his board and lodging. He was sober and industrious, but taciturn. He was a great reader and outspoken only when Anarchist theories were discussed. The police official who went to Cette to trace the assassin had an interview with Mme. Vialn, who keeps the baker shop in which the murderer worked. She says Cesario left her employ Saturday, having given up his place on account of a quarrel. He received the money due him and disappeared. He left a box containing his effects in his lodgings. This the police opened, but found nothing compromising therein. Cesario purchased the poniard with which he committed the murder Friday. This discovery gives rise to the belief that his quarrel in the baker shop was merely a pretext for leaving Cette and coming to Lyons to fulfil the murderous mission to which he was assigned by his associate Anarchists.

"Somebody Will Stick a Knife Into Him"

The Lyons police learned this morning that Vielly, alias Marius Faure, a Lyons Anarchist, was heard saying on Friday evening: "If President Carnot comes to Lyons he will be hurt. Somebody will stick a knife into him while he is riding about town." The police believed that Vielly might be Cesario's accomplice, but M. Benoist, the examining magistrate, did not attach much importance to the evidence in question, thinking that Vielly was merely an Anarchist braggart. The police in Montpelier, near Lyons, went this afternoon to the house of the Anarchist Laborie, who is believed to have harbored Cesario one night last week. He had fled. Cesario's brother was interviewed this afternoon in Milan. He said of the assassin: "He was an excellent fellow before he joined the Anarchists. I don't believe he planned the murder. His comrades undoubtedly made a tool of him."

Cesario's mother is overwhelmed with grief. He was her favorite son.

Was Expelled From Milan Last Year.

ROME, June 25.—According to advices from Milan, Cesario, the assassin of President Carnot, was born at Motta Visconte, in Lombardy. He was expelled from Milan in 1893 and took refuge in Switzerland. The Italian police notified the Swiss and French authorities of his expulsion as a dangerous character.

TORE DOWN THE ITALIAN FLAG.

Plundered and Wrecked Cafes and Mobbed Italian Workmen.

PARIS, June 26.—The French workingmen in Grenoble yesterday threw the tools of their Italian comrades from the wharves and factories and threatened them with violence. A thousand paraded the streets cheering for France and cursing the Italians. They tore down the flag at the Italian Consulate, entered the office and wrecked the furniture. They also defaced the Italian coat-of-arms. Later they plundered and wrecked several cafes.

PARIS, June 25.—Several Italians were attacked by a mob in the Qua Montebello to-day and the most strenuous efforts of the police were required to save their lives. Subsequently anti-Italian demonstrations were made in front of the Italian Embassy and Consulate. Both were promptly suppressed by the police.

Italians Fearful For Their Safety.

Only after the special train left Lyons for Paris did the indignation of the street crowds lead to violence. One mob was guided by members of the athletic societies who went to Lyons to take part in yesterday's fetes. The athletes carried flags, which they waved before the rioters as they shouted their demands for revenge. A dozen shops owned by foreigners were looted and the rioters proclaimed their intention of smashing every concern conducted by an alien. Two cafes, which had not been closed in obedience to the order for mourning, were mobbed.

A company of cuirassiers charged twice on the crowd in the Rue de La Republique before the street could be cleared. The Italian communities in Marseilles and Toulon are fearful for their safety. An Italian who was unloading a steamer at Toulon this morning made a sneering remark concerning President Carnot. A Frenchman hit him with an iron bar, cracking his skull. The Italian made a futile lunge at him with his knife in self-defence. He was arrested at once and taken ashore, where the police barely saved him from lynching.

Marched and Sought Vengeance.

In Lyons the evening has been varied by alternate periods of perfect quiet and intense excitement. Early in the evening a mob burned down an Italian grocery in the Rue Cuvier and the Italian Musical Society hall in the Rue Mazenod. The mob was dispersed by the police after the harm had been done, and for nearly two hours there was no sign of disturbance. Then a procession formed suddenly in the middle of the city and marched through the streets shouting. Hardly 15 minutes after this procession was scattered another one formed. The men were driven from the line by the police and 30 men were arrested.

A third procession was dispersed at 11 o'clock, after 25 more arrests had been made. The total number of arrests during the evening was above 60.

Between 11 and 12 o'clock some 2000 men and a few women began marching and shouting for vengeance. The police watched them closely and warned them not to be too demonstrative, but did not interfere with them.

Rochefort Looks For Aignes Mortes Over Again.

LONDON, June 25.—Henry Rochefort, in an interview to-day, said: "I fear the murder of President Carnot will be followed by reprisals against Italians and a repetition of the bloody scenes of the Aignes Mortes. I am receiving telegrams from which I have the assurance that no Frenchman or Anarchist had to do with the affair."

THE FEELING IN BRITAIN.

Carnot's Death An Irreparable Loss To France.

LONDON, June 25.—The Standard says M. Carnot's persistent devotion to Republicanism would avail him nothing in the opinion of men to whom all existing forms of government are equally odious. They will not succeed in effecting the destruction of society, but they may succeed in necessitating such restrictions upon liberty as will throw back the progress of self-government for an indefinite period. The effect of this terrible event on the French people will be to rouse their indignation to the utmost point, and should it turn out that it has been either directly or indirectly the work of the Anarchists will may they expect that new and more stringent measures will be immediately adopted for suppressing this murderous organization.

Retribution Will Overtake the Anarchists.

The Times says: "The death of President Carnot is indeed a grave loss to France, if not an irreparable one. The President was not a man of genius, but he filled very adequately the position to which he was raised. M. Carnot has been struck down because he administered the law without fear or favor, and courageously sent Anarchist murderers to their doom. The blow has fallen with deadly effect by whatever hand it was directed. If it came from the camp of the Anarchist murderers, that party will have turned against them the sympathetic feeling of Republican France and will have prepared for themselves a terrible retribution."

The Event Will Weld Frenchmen Together.

The Pall Mall Gazette says that Santo, the assassin of President Carnot, is either a lunatic or a member of the anti-Social League, which is aiming to make all government impossible. The natural good sense of the French, the paper believes, will not allow the fact that the assassin is an Italian to assist the growth of the bitter feeling which has been awakened between the two countries. France is assured of the sympathies of the world, and the event is likely to weld together Frenchmen of all parties, making the path of the next President smoother.

Sympathy of the British Ministry.

The Earl of Kimberley, Minister of Foreign Affairs, called at the French Embassy this morning to officially express his sorrow at the death of President Carnot. The Prince of Wales sent Sir Francis Knollys, groom in waiting, with a message of sympathy and condolence. The Tri-color over the French Embassy was lowered to half-mast this morning.

Repression of Dangerous Liberties Demanded.

The Westminster Gazette says: The foul murder of President Carnot will cause a shudder throughout the world. "The same heart," said M. Carnot, speaking at the Lyons Exhibition just before he was murdered, "beats in every French breast." That being the case, every Frenchman is feeling something of the fatal stab and is ready to cry for vengeance and demand repressive measures against dangerous popular liberties. No historical justification for such a course can be found. Anyone raised to a supreme position in any state, republic or autocratic, inevitably becomes a mark for the conspirator or the maniac.

In the Imperial Parliament.

Lord Rosebery gave notice in the House of Lords to-day that to-morrow he would offer a motion similar to the one announced in the House of Commons by Sir William Harcourt in regard to the death of President Carnot.

Parnellites Condole With Mme. Carnot.

DUBLIN, June 25.—John Redmond moved at a Parnellite meeting here to-day that those present express their sympathy with Ireland's old friend, France, in her affliction and extend their condolence to Mme. Carnot. Timothy Harrington seconded the motion and it was carried unanimously.

The Court Will Go Into Mourning.

LONDON, June 25.—Following the precedent adopted at the time of the death of the late President James A. Garfield, the British Court will go into mourning for a week out of respect to the memory of the late President Carnot.

The news of the assassination of President Carnot caused much grief in the White Lodge, where only yesterday the Duke of York received a message of congratulation from the late President.

FOR THE QUEEN'S SAFETY.

Elaborate Preparations to Guard Her Majesty on Her Journey To-day.

LONDON, June 25.—The Morning News says Casario was catalaged in Scotland Yard as dangerous. He never has been in England, but his record was known. In consequence of the murder all English royalties and politicians will be carefully guarded by detectives knowing the chief Anarchists. Elaborate arrangements have been made to guard the Queen on her visit to White Lodge to-day and the Prince of Wales at the opening of the Tower Bridge on the 30th. The Czarewitch is almost surrounded by detectives.

GERMAN SYMPATHY.

Kind Words For Carnot, A Victim to Grimmer Fanaticism.

BERLIN, June 25.—The National Zeitung, referring to the assassination of President Carnot, says the entire civilized world is filled with horror. There is the greatest probability, it believes, that the murderer belonged to an international society of Anarchists. M. Carnot has fulfilled his duties so that nobody could possibly complain of him personally. Germany, in spite of what separates her from France, sympathizes with her in her mourning.

Concerning the murderer The Zeitung says the question again arises, What international means can be put into operation to fight the enemies of humanity? It is generally expected among German public men that M. Casimir-Perier will succeed to the Presidency.

The North German Gazette says: In the annals of French history yesterday's date will be soiled by an abominable crime. The wise moderation of M. Carnot in all directions did not spare his life from criminal fanaticism. His death will sound a note of warning to the entire world against the results of defective culture.

THE FRENCH PRESS.

Describe the Murder as the Act of a Lunatic.

PARIS, June 25.—La Patrie says the loss of President Carnot will be universally regretted.

La Petite Parisienne says the crime is a great humiliation to a country possessing universal suffrage.

La Paix says a united cry proceeds from the populace against Anarchism, which is a synonym for incitement to murder.

The Figaro says President Carnot may have committed political faults, but his private character as a man always merited the respect of his adversaries. His faults were easily forgotten, but his dignity, generosity and the correctness of his attitude were not possible to forget.

Gil Blas says that abroad President Carnot conquered the esteem of Governments by his high probity, politically and at home by the purity of his private life.

La Lanterne declares that the crime is entirely dissociated from politics and expresses thanks that the criminal is an Italian.

The Intransigeant says the murder was the act of a lunatic. It is impossible that M. Carnot had personally raised any hatred sufficient to cause a desire for his death.

Most of the theatres in the city are closed this evening. The civil courts were closed to-day.

Royalty's Sorrow and Sympathy.

ROME, June 25.—King Humbert to-day sent a telegram to Mme. Carnot saying: "The blow that struck your husband struck at the same time my heart. The Queen's grief is profound. Italy is wounded not less than France. All share your mourning." The municipal authorities publish an invitation to all citizens to unite in common mourning with France, and appeal to all governments to take every precaution to safeguard society against Anarchists.

LONDON, June 25.—Queen Victoria to-day sent a long despatch to Mme. Carnot expressing her deep sorrow and sympathy. Lord Kimberley to-day telegraphed the Marquis of Dufferin, British Ambassador at Paris, instructing him to express, in the name of the Queen, Her Majesty's horror and deep regret at the murder of President Carnot.

The Kaiser's Messages.

KIEL, June 25.—The telegram sent by the Emperor to Paris this morning was as follows: "Express to the Government of France my indignation at the murder of President Carnot, whom I esteemed so highly."

The Kaiser's telegram to Madame Carnot read: "The Empress and I are profoundly afflicted by the horrible news. Be persuaded, madame, of our entire sympathy. Our sentiment at this moment is with you and your family. God give you strength to support you under the terrible blow. Your husband, who was worthy of his great name, is dead, like a soldier on the battlefield."

CARNOT WAS THREATENED.

Daily Menacing Letters Received Since Vaillant's Execution.

LONDON, June 26.—The Paris correspondent of The Daily News says: "President Carnot's body will be laid in the Pantheon beside that of his grandfather. The President shrank from visiting Lyons and hesitated a long time owing to weariness, his health having never recovered from the strain caused by the fetes in 1889. However, when his entourage mentioned the rumors that the Anarchists in Lyons were determined to avenge Vaillant, he felt in honor bound to go. Since Vaillant's execution he has received daily menacing letters. He disdained to notice them and refused to take any extraordinary precautions. Despite the sincere public grief, Paris maintains a cool head. There are no disorders and no disposition to excite bad blood."

"Anarchist" Defined in Law.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—One result of the assassination of President Carnot was the introduction in the House to-day by W. A. Stone (Pa.) of a bill defining the term "Anarchist" and providing penalties for crimes attempted by Anarchists.

The U.S. Senate Adjourns.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Senator Morgan, chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations, offered a resolution expressive of the sympathy of the people of the United States with the French Republic and tendering sympathy to Mme. Carnot and her family.

The resolution closed by declaring that the Senate adjourn out of respect to the memory of the dead President.

AMERICAN ENGINEERS.

Entertained By the City and Sir Casimir Gzowski Yesterday.

Three hundred members of the American Society of Civil Engineers, accompanied by many ladies, came over to Toronto yesterday on the Chippewa from Niagara Falls, where the annual convention of the society is being held.

They were received at the wharf by the Mayor and the members of the Reception Committee, by whom they were conducted to the Queen's Hotel, where a first-class luncheon was served.

Words of Hearty Welcome.

The Mayor made a felicitous speech of welcome. He was even facetious about the ladies and the Scriptural admonition, "Be not forgetful to entertain strangers, for some have entertained angels unawares."

The ladies blushed at the praise of their own loveliness, and the gentlemen applauded when His Worship said he supposed the masculine escorts regarded their fair charges as angelic.

Then the Mayor loyally sounded the praises of the city of Toronto and of the fair Dominion. "Although proud of being under the British flag, we have great respect for the United States, over which floats the Stars and Stripes. [Applause.] We respect the energy, enterprise and progress of the people of the United States." [Renewed applause.]

The Triumphs of Engineering.

Then His Worship praised civil engineering and said many complimentary things about the men who build our bridges, construct our railroads and undertake such stupendous works as the Victoria Bridge at Montreal. He briefly told the story of George Stephenson, the pioneer railway engineer, and enforced the lesson of self-education and indomitable perseverance.

Reciprocal Good Wishes.

In the absence of Col. Craighill, president, Mr. Charles Macdonald, returned thanks. He was cheered on speaking of the Union Jack as "the pride and joy of every right-feeling member of the Anglo-Saxon race."

"In bringing the ladies with us we combined the lines of beauty with the lines of strength. [Laughter.] We shall carry away with us lively recollections of the kindness of the Mayor and citizens of Toronto." [Cheers.]

The visitors were then given a ride in the electric cars provided for them by the Toronto Railway Company.

The Garden Party.

Later in the afternoon the visitors repaired to the beautiful grounds of Sir Casimir Gzowski, where they were right royally entertained. Speeches, congratulatory and reciprocal, were made. A sumptuous repast was served. The sweet strains of the Queen's Own band added a charm to the proceedings.

At night a special train conveyed the visitors back to Niagara delighted with their visit to Toronto and the kindness they had received.

A SPICY DIVORCE CASE.

The Marital Troubles of a Former Toronto Couple Aired in a Chicago Court of Justice.

"Take your decree," said Chancellor Tuthill of the Chicago Circuit Court Saturday at the conclusion of the evidence in the case of Watt v. Watt. On January 12, 1889, George F. Watt, at that time an employe of The World, was married at Toronto by Pere Lamarche to Blanche Perreault. Subsequently they went to Montreal, where Mr. Watt had a position on The Herald, and in September, 1891, removed to Chicago.

In June, 1893, Mr. Watt found in the waste-basket in his wife's rooms a large number of fragments of paper which he succeeded in pasting together and found to be a tender missive to his wife, signed "C. V."

Forgave Her.

Mr. Watt at once separated from his wife and caused a bill for divorce to be filed. Won by the tears and prayers of the apparently penitent woman, moved by her threats of self-destruction and family entreaties, he extended a conditional forgiveness to her and continued to support her until February of this year, when he found that she had again been unfaithful.

The evidence of H. F. Starrett, a young electrician, showed that the defendant was now living with one Charles Eberlein, proprietor of the Woodbine, a well-known West Madison-street saloon.

Well Known in Toronto.

Whether Eberlein is the "C.V." who wrote the letter in the case did not appear in the evidence, but one who remembers that Sam Weller spelled his name with a "We" might perhaps be near the truth if he ascribed the authorship of the document to a man whose name every Toronto race-patron and every reader of The World's sporting columns would hail as an old acquaintance in the pigskin.

R. F. Pettibone, for a number of years night editor of The World, appeared as the complainant's solicitor.

ATTEMPTS AT OBSTRUCTION.

MESSRS. MARTIN AND MULOCK WASTE THE TIME OF THE HOUSE.

An Unwarranted Attack On Lieut.-Governor Mackintosh — Sympathy With France in Her Loss—A Holiday On Thursday To Welcome the Intercolonial Delegates—Proceedings in the Senate.

OTTAWA, June 25.—His Excellency the Governor-General, on the advice of his Ministers, to-day cabled Lord Dufferin, British Minister at Paris, requesting him to convey to the French Ministry the sincere sympathy of the Canadian Government with the French people in the calamity which had befallen them in the assassination of President Carnot.

Sir John Thompson to-day sent a message of condolence to Madame Carnot conveying his personal sympathy with her in her heavy bereavement.

Hon. Mr. Foster has returned to the city, but has not been sufficiently improved in health by his trip to enable him to resume his duties in the House for a few days yet.

The flags on the Government buildings have been flying at half-mast all day out of respect to the murdered President of France.

A Good Day's Progress, Despite Obstruction.

Although Mr. Joseph Martin, aided and abetted by Mr. Mulock and others, wasted about two hours of valuable time to-night on an unwarranted attack on Lieut.-Governor Mackintosh on account of some speeches made by him during a recent tour, Sir John Thompson was much disgusted with the obstructive tactics adopted by the Opposition. Still the number of minor Government measures which were advanced a stage was greater than on any one day this session and the amount of progress made had been good.

The Insolvency bill from the Senate was introduced and read a first time, this is not taken to indicate any intention of its becoming law this session.

Parliament Will Take a Holiday on Thursday.

The formal opening of the Colonial Conference on Thursday next will be made the occasion of a holiday in both the Senate and Commons. Hon. Mr. Bowell has given notice that he will move in the Senate on Wednesday that when the Senate adjourns it stand adjourned until 3 o'clock on Friday, and Sir John Thompson has given a similar notice for the Commons.

In the Senate.

The Senate only had a short session to-day, running through the order paper in about an hour.

Hon. Mr. Angers introduced the bill to consolidate and amend the Dominion Lands Act, which was introduced last year, but not pressed, the amendments made in the Commons to the Montreal Harbor Act, the Safety to Ships Act and the Act respecting the Manitoba and Northwest Railway Company.

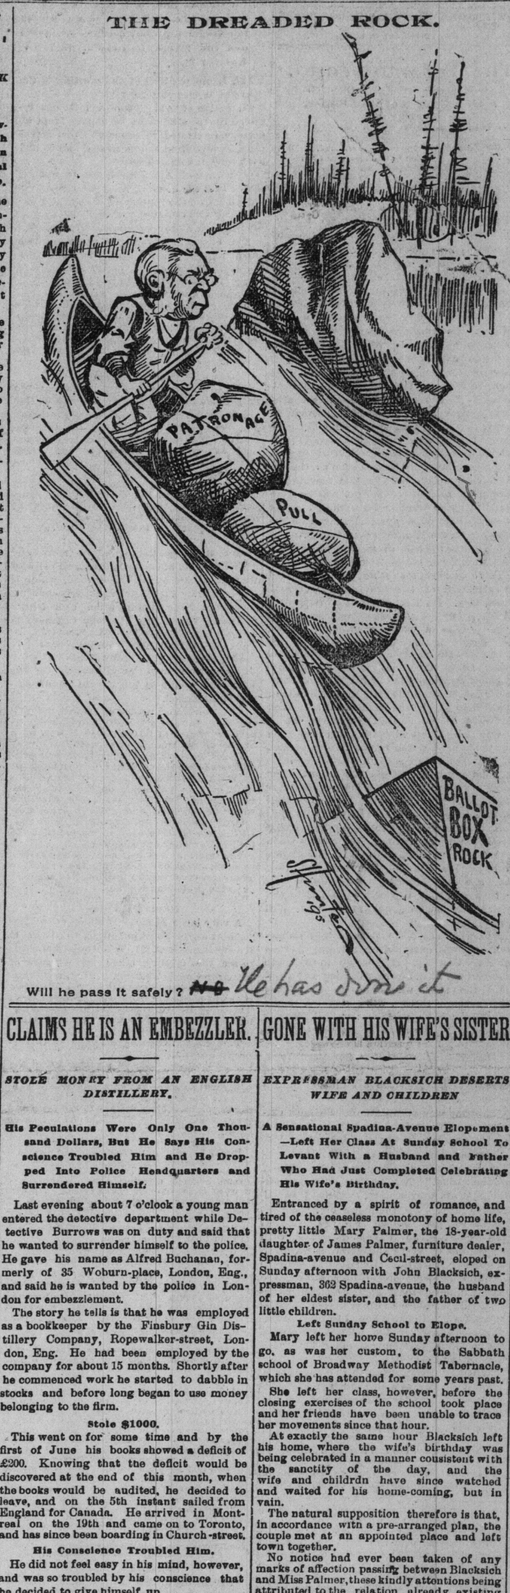
THE DREADED ROCK.



CLAIMS HE IS AN EMBEZZLER.

STOLE MONEY FROM AN ENGLISH DISTILLERY.

His Peculations Were Only One Thousand Dollars, But He Says His Conscience Troubled Him and He Dropped Into Police Headquarters and Surrendered Himself.

Last evening about 7 o'clock a young man entered the detective department while Detective Burrows was on duty and said that he wanted to surrender himself to the police. He gave his name as Alfred Buchanan, formerly of 35 Woburn-place, London, Eng., and said he is wanted by the police in London for embezzlement.

The story he tells is that he was employed as a bookkeeper by the Finsbury Gin Distillery Company, Ropewalker-street, London, Eng. He had been employed by the company for about 15 months. Shortly after he commenced work he started to dabble in stocks and before long began to use money belonging to the firm.

Stole $1000.

This went on for some time and by the first of June his books showed a deficit of £200. Knowing that the deficit would be discovered at the end of this month, when the books would be audited, he decided to leave, and on the 5th instant sailed from England for Canada. He arrived in Montreal on the 19th and came on to Toronto, and has since been boarding in Church-street.

His Conscience Troubled Him.

He did not feel easy in his mind, however, and was so troubled by his conscience that he decided to give himself up.

Buchanan is a fine man about 30 years of age and is well dressed. He is a Scotchman by birth, but has resided in London for the past six years.

Buchanan was locked up pending investigation.

The investment annuity policy of the North American Life Assurance Company, Toronto' Ont., provides that at death, or if on the endowment plan, at the maturity of the endowment period, the company will pay the amount of insurance in 20 or 25 equal annual instalments, the first of such to be paid on the occurrence of the event, or at the end of the endowment period. A much lower rate of premium is chargeable on this than on the other plan of insurance, on account of the payment of the face of the policy being extended over a period of years.

GONE WITH HIS WIFE'S SISTER

EXPRESSMAN BLACKSICH DESERTS WIFE AND CHILDREN

A Sensational Spadina-Avenue Elopement—Left Her Class At Sunday School To Levant With a Husband and Father Who Had Just Completed Celebrating His Wife's Birthday.

Entranced by a spirit of romance, and tired of the ceaseless monotony of home life, pretty little Mary Palmer, the 18-year-old daughter of James Palmer, furniture dealer, Spadina-avenue and Cecil-street, eloped on Sunday afternoon with John Blacksich, expressman, 392 Spadina-avenue, the husband of her eldest sister, and the father of two little children.

Mary left her home Sunday afternoon to go, as was her custom, to the Sabbath school of Broadway Methodist Tabernacle, which she has attended for some years past.

She left her class, however, before the closing exercises of the school took place and her friends have been unable to trace her movements since that hour.

At exactly the same hour Blacksich left his home, where the wife's birthday was being celebrated in a manner consistent with the sanctity of the day, and the wife and children have since watched and waited for his home-coming, but in vain.

The natural supposition therefore is that, in accordance with a pre-arranged plan, the couple met at an appointed place and left town together.

No notice had ever been taken of any marks of affection passing between Blacksich and Miss Palmer, these kindly attentions being attributed to the relation already existing between them. Miss Palmer's parents are in comfortable circumstances and are highly respected within their wide circle of acquaintances. They are much distressed, because of the unwelcome notoriety given them by their daughter's thoughtless act. The shock has completely prostrated Mrs. Palmer, the mother of the girl.

All efforts to trace the couple have thus far proved fruitless.

Wiman Secures a Stay Until Friday.

NEW YORK June 25.—Erastus Wiman has been granted a stay until Friday. It will be remembered that Judge Ingraham, after he had sentenced Mr. Wiman, directed the sheriff not to take the prisoner to State Prison until Tuesday. The order issued by Judge Barrett to-day is made returnable next Friday and then in all probability an extended stay will be granted. Wiman said, now that the legal proceedings had been commenced, he felt certain of vindication.

"To have a good character is a great comfort in such times, and then to receive such assurances of sympathy as I have from perfect strangers. It cheers me more than all the bolts and bars in the world depress."
