The note was never lifted, and the suit was to recover its value. Verdict was for full amount claimed, $116.

As prosecution was not ready to proceed with the case, it was adjourned until Jan. 29. Ellen Culleton was charged with being a vagraut, which charge she indignantly denied. Annie Dempsey, a servant in the Notre Dame hotel, said Culleton had made use of profane language. She was discharged after promising to keep away from the Notre Dame in future. John G. Myers, on the same charge, was discharged. Patrick Doyle was remanded until further enquiries might be made. George, who lodged information some time ago against two parties for illegally retailing liquor and failed to appear in court, was arrested while on a spree. He was dismissed on the charge of drunkenness. Charles Chamberlain, who was charged with stealing a dog belonging to Robert Nichols, was remanded till Monday. The cases against William Richards and Isaac Meron, charged with selling liquors without a license, were remanded till Monday. The case against James Daly for a similar breach of law was adjourned. Dixon for taking photographs on Sunday was dismissed. J. B. Cook, up on a similar charge, stated that he was absent on the Sunday that the offence was committed and that one of his employees took the picture. After a lengthy discussion between Mr. Fenton and the magistrate, the latter declared that Mr. Cook was not liable. A summons will be issued against the servant. The case was adjourned till Monday. F. W. Mickleth-waite, on a similar charge, denied the offence. The magistrate, after hearing the evidence for prosecution, declared that a strong case had not been held and dismissed it, Chas. Veterinarians at Dinner.

The sixth annual dinner of the Ontario Veterinary college was held in the Walker house last night, there being about one hundred and twenty-five present. J. F. Smith occupied the chair. Among the professors present were Drs. Sweetapple, Cowan of Galt, Smith, Barret, Duncan and Prof. Buckland of University college. The menu was first class, and served in grand style. Fourteen toasts were proposed and responded to in a hearty manner. These were enlivened with songs by the students. G. T. Frankland replied to the toast to the local legislature in a very lively manner. Prof. Buckland's reply to Our Professors was to the point and well received. The dinner was kept up till early in the morning.

Election Petitions Discharged.

The petition against the return of Mr. McMullen as M. P. for North Wellington has been allowed to drop. The money paid in as security by the petitioners was ordered out of court yesterday morning by Judge Cameron, and Mr. J. Burr Plumb has thus relinquished his claim to the seat.

The motion to stay the proceedings in the East Hastings petition, upon the ground that the court has no jurisdiction, has met with the same fate as that in the Russell petition, and has been discharged. The same objection will probably be raised at the trial.

THE ONTARIO ASSEMBLY.

Rushing Through the Remaining Business of the House.

The house met at three o'clock yesterday afternoon.

A large number of private bills were read a second time.

Bills to establish public creameries, to encourage tree planting, and to facilitate the establishment of free libraries were read a third time and passed.

On the second reading of the bill respecting the city of Toronto and the village of Yorkville and other matters, Mr. Morris said the bill would affect the constituency of East Toronto, although he did not believe the change would have any political effect.

Mr. Badgerow wished that Yorkville might continue part of the East Riding of York for electoral purposes, as he had no desire to part from his constituents. The majority for him in Yorkville last time was fifty-eight, while Mr. Morris' majority in East Toronto was only forty-seven, which would leave leave him one behind.

Mr Bell appealed for a third member for Toronto, but said that if one were given the government would doubtless so gerrymander the constituency that the third would be a liberal. On motion for committee of supply,

Mr Creighton moved in amendment that the rapid increase of the expenditure, the annual expenditure having doubled between 1871 and 1882, while the annual revenue, a large part of which is derived from receipts on capital account, has remained nearly stationrry, and the rapid dissipation of the formerly available surplus, are, in view of the increasing requirements of the province, matters which demand earnest attention if the province, is not in the near future to have to resort to direct taxation.

Mr. Creighton pointed out the large increases in the various branches of expenditure since the downfall of the Sandfield Macdonald government, quite disproportionate to any increase in the population of the province. He claimed that the promised aid to railways yet to be granted should be capitalized and deducted from the surplus.

Mr. Ferris said the opposition had studiously refrained from pointing out where specific decreases in the estimates could be made, but confined themselves to abstract propositions. In Quebec, with a conservative government in power, $4,000,000 had been paid in eight years as interest on the public debt, whereas the government of Ontario are receiving interest on their investments. The opposition said they had confidence in the people; the people showed they had no confidence in them. (Hear, hear.) Sandfield Macdonald when he took office found a surplus already on hand of $1,000,000.

The amendment wes defeated, 25 for, 50 against.

The house went into committee on Mr. Hardy's resolution re sustaining prisoners in common jails. The committee rose and reported the resolutions carried.

Mr Wood then moved supply.

Mr. Boulter moved in amendment that in the promotion of the settlement of the free grant districts every effort should be made to further the intersets of the settlers by a liberal expenditure in the development of the resources of the country and by returning as far as practicable to the principles of the free grant act of 1868. He set forth the hardships which settlers had when going into a new country. Local mills could not get logs to cut in order to furnish lumber for the settlers.

Mr. Pardee said the present regulations were in favor of the settler. Under the old law the lumbermen stripped the territory of the timber within the five years within which they had to do it. Under the present regulations the timber was left standing, and settlers could take all they wanted for building and fencing. Local mills had to be supplied with logs, and there were mills all over through the country, so that settlers had no difficulty in getting lumber.

Mr. Meredith said Mr. McKellar had advocated that the settlers should own all the timber from the date of their entrance on the lands. It was to the influence of lumbermen coercing the settlers that Mr. Bettes, the liberal member for Muskoka, was elected. The minister of crown lands had inserted a condition in the patent, and after defending it in a district paper he had to go up to Muskoka and declare that that clause was revoked. The expenditure on colonization roads was used as a corruption fund for the friends of the minister of crown lands.

Mr. Deroche said the opposition some times posed as the friends of the lumbermen and sometimes as the friends of the settler, according to circumstances. They were the friends of Mr. McLaren when he was interfering with the rights of the settlers in disposing of their timber.

Mr. Long contended that the settler should have the right to all the timber on the land and the minerals in the earth. The policy of the government had caused settlers to leave the free grant districts and go to the United States.

Mr. Bettes explained that a few years ago the settlers used to get none of their pine on receiving their patents, for the lumberers were not then eager for pine so remote from a market. The lumberers now wanted to get pine wherever they could. By the act of 1880 the settler did get the use of the pine, which was a great benefit to the settler.

The amendment was lost, 25 to 49.

Mr. White moved in favor of a liberal extension of the franchise to sons of manufacturers and mechanics the same privileges as were now extended to the sons of farmers.

Mr Cascaden said that it was always to the liberal party that the people looked for the extension of the franchise and not to the conservatives. He thought that the franchise should be extended as many highly educated men had not a voice in the affairs of the country.

Mr. Bell said he was extremely glad to hear that liberals were in favor of an extension of the franchise. At other times the government were opposed to an extension. What the motion was in favor of was no more than justice to the mechanics in the city. The amendment was negatived 25 for and 47 against.

The house adjourned at midnight.

Air and Its Properties.

Prof. Richard's lecture on scientific topics at Shaftesbury hall last night was not as large as it was well pleased with the instructive and interesting points adduced by the professor. "Air and its properties" gave the lecture a name and the technicalities of that science were briefly and comprehensively explained by the lecturer. A variety of mechanical appliances simplified the discourse and heightened to a great extent the interest therein.

Catarrh—A New Treatment.

From the Weekly (Toronto) Mail, Aug. 24.

Perhaps the most extraordinary success that has been achieved in modern medicine has been attained by the Dixon treatment for catarrh. Out of two housand patients treated during the past six months fully ninety per cent have been cured of this stubborn malady. This is none the less startling when it is remembered that not five per cent of patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are benefited, while the patent medicines and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Starting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissue, Mr. Dixon at once adapted his cure to their extermination—this accomplished, he claims the catarrh is practically cured and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by him two years ago are cures still. No one else has ever attempted to cure catarrh in this manner, and no other treatment has ever cured catarrh. The application of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the present season of the year is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment. Sufferers should correspond with Mr. A. H. Dixon, 305 and 307 King street west, Toronto, Canada, and enclose stamp for hi reatise on catarrh 246

CONSUMPTION

And all the various diseases of the respiratory organs successfully treated at the ONTARIO PULMONARY INSTITUTE, No 135 Church street Opposite the Metropolitan church, Toronto, Ont. M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M D, M C P S O, Proprietor and General Consulting Physician. John Baxter, M D, M R C P S E, Assistant Consulting Physician. Prof P W Stewart, Secretary Treasurer and General Correspondent.

All diseases of the respiratory organs treated by "Medicated Inhalations" combined with proper constitutional remedies for the blood, etc. Nearly 40,000 cases successfully treated during the past sixteen years.

The citizens of Toronto, as well as neighboring lake and inland cities, have observed the alarming prevalence and increase of that dangerous class of maladies known as throat and lung diseases. Year by year is adding to the army of victims, and new types and phases of these affections are also multiplying. The reports of the city undertakers will disclose to the inquirer a fearful bill of mortality from this cause alone; nor is the gloomy record relieved by a comparison of results in the oft-repeated trial of the various prescriptions in common practice. The time-worn customs of bye-gone years, calomel, burning, leeching, morphine, iodine and digitalis, have in each new patient awakened fresh hopes of recovery, hopes, alas, to be blighted as were those in the hearts of patients who hoped and died while using the remedies.

More effectual remedies than those which generally prevail are called for, and it is to this end and the belief that scientific investigation in one class of complaints will be more certain to attain success in this direction, than by occasional research and observation, while the mind is divided by general practice, that led to the establishment of the Ontario Pulmonary Institute in this city during the year 1881, an institution which does afford the best possible treatment of this class of diseases.

By the permanent establishment of such an institute, invalids can at all times consult the doctor personally—being an advantage that will readily be seen and appreciated by all.

Earnest and persevering investigation and fruitful experiments with different remedial agents have within a few years been made by men of eminent scientific attainments, which have been attended with the most gratifying success. By careful research in the paths opened by these pioneers, and by independent investigation through our system of practice, we have obtained results well worthy of public attention, and our course of practice has elicited the attention of many of the best physicians of the day, as well as drawn upon us the gratitude of very many persons rescued from disease and death.

The mode of administering remedies by the system of inhalation is acknowledged by all to be the most reasonable of any ever adopted, and most satisfactory in its results.

Invalids who have failed to derive benefit from medical treatment, and who have made fruitless trials of nostrums of the day, will find in this practice abundant reason for hope, as numerous instances have been reported even of the entire restoration to health of parties in this city and vicinity who have made thorough trial of the remedies, although they had previously been pronounced in an advanced stage of consumption.

Its particular efficiency is especially noticeable in throat diseases, which, if neglected, end in consumption, nasal catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, and diseases of the heart. To this class of cases Dr. Williams gives his individual attention.

Those who desire to consult me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for an examination, but if impossible to visit the office personally, may write for "List of Questions" and a copy of my "Medical Treatise," both of which will be sent free of charge. Address,
