Baseball Baltimore 7 Toronto 1 ✦ Program Sports To-day ✦ Fight Johnson At Reno

Note and Comment

James J. Jeffries will not permit his prototype, the ponderous John L. Sullivan, to get a line on him. Both were champions of the knockout type, and Jeffries will not let Sullivan have the satisfaction of a scrutiny of his work to see if he's coming back. The reason is best given in the interview at the Garden Gate, in Reno, not between Sullivan and Jeffries, but John L. and Corbett:

Corbett: Mr. Jeffries left word that if you called here he didn't want to see you or have anything to do with you.

"How is that?" queried Sullivan.

"Why, the newspapers all over the country and in England have quoted you as knocking this fight and saying it was going to be a fake, and that Johnson had been framed to lay down. You are quoted as saying that the only way Jeffries could win was thru a frame-up. That's pretty tough goin', isn't it?"

"I never said those things," Sullivan blurted. "I said, and I say now, that I want to see Jeffries win this fight, and I believe he will win it if he is in the same condition that he was in five years ago."

"Well, how do you account for what you said in Boston on the stage of the Howard Athenaeum Theatre? Didn't you declare there that the fight was to be a fake, and that the negro was to lay down?"

"I said nothing of the kind," said Sullivan.

"Well," said Corbett, "I was there in another theatre, and contradicted you from the same stage, so I know what I am talking about."

"Did you hear me say it?" said Sullivan.

"Not personally; but all the newspapers of Boston carried the account of your marks."

"Well, I can't help what the newspapers say," said Sullivan. "There are two of them in Boston that always pan me, and I shouldn't be held responsible for what they print about me. You know that they have said lots of things about you, haven't they?"

"Well," said Corbett, "everyone is liable to err at times, but you have kept this thing up for the last year. We have got a clipping even from The Manchester (England) Sporting Chronicle, in which you gave a two-column interview trying to establish the fact that this fight was a pipe for Jeffries.

"Well, there is nothing to all this for me," said John L., in a final growl, as he glared around the grounds and walked doggedly away, peering occasionally over his right shoulder as if he feared that something might occur which would be a surprise to him.

While this dialog was in protress Jeffries remained in his quarters. Ranged up inside the gate there were Sam Berger, Jack Jeffries, Farmer Burns, Ray Cornell, Bob Armstrong and several other friends and admirers of Jeffries.

Later Frank Hall, manager of Sullivan's theatrical engagements, announced that his star would return to Jeff's camp and refuse to recognize Corbett in the affair.

"John L. doesn't believe that Jeffries wanted to hand him this raw deal," said Hall.

"Jeffries was informed of this, pondered a few minutes, and said: 'If he comes near me he may get what is due him.'"

ORIOLES TRIM LEAFS IN ONLY GAME PLAYED

Score Was 7 to 1—Toronto Used Three Pitchers, While Vickers Went Route For Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, June 24.—(Special.)—The Orioles turned the tables on the locals to-day, winning by 7 to 1, in a game which was featured by the locals' hard and opportune hitting, in which Schmidt was the star of the day, he having three singles and a home run out of four times at bat.

Toronto could do nothing with big Rube Vickers when it came to getting runs across the platter, while the Orioles had a taste of three Leaf heavers, and they all met the same fate. Carroll started, the locals getting to him in the second innings for two runs. Walsh started with a single, going to second on a passed ball, and moving up to third on Schmidt's single, and scoring on Hall's sacrifice fly to Shaw. Egan was an infield out, Schmidt scoring.

The locals added two more in the sixth and three in the seventh, while the Keileyites were only able to get one in the nine innings, their counter coming in the sixth, when O'Hara scored McDonald with a three-bagger. Score:

Stake Holder Speaks Out.

NEW YORK, June 24.—State Senator "Big Tim" Sullivan, stakeholder of the Jeffries-Johnson fight, says that there is no basis for the stories that the championship fight is "fixed." Senator Sullivan has been in Europe for several years and came home today on the Lusitania.

"Reno is just as good a place for the fight as Frisco," said Sullivan. "I'm sorry to see all this talk about the fight being 'fixed.' From what I have been able to make of the matter, I am of the opinion that the fight is absolutely on the level. I am holding seventy-one thousand dollars of fight money, and fifty-one thousand dollars more is to be placed in my hands 24 hours before the fight."

War Canoes Race To-day at T. C. C. Spring Regatta

The Toronto Canoe Club will hold their annual spring regatta this afternoon on the bay in front of their clubhouse at 2.30 o'clock. The three other Toronto canoe clubs will each send a strong contingent to take part in the various events, and the meet is sure to be a big success.

Interest centres around the war canoe race, which is in a way a preliminary to the Canadian championship race next Saturday. Parkdale and I. A. A. both are figuring on winning, while Toronto and Beach C.C. are not quite so sure, but will not be surprised should they win. The war canoe crews are practically all about even, and the race should be close all the way. There is also considerably rivalry in the fours, and this also should be an exciting affair.

All the clubs have strong contenders in the singles and tandem events, and these should be about evenly divided, according to the form shown in the workouts.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Buffalo have secured Shortstop McMillan, the player that Toronto and Rochester had the protest over. McMillan will report to the Bisons in Jersey City to-day.

Jack Flynn, the Pittsburg first baseman, was operated upon Thursday. It is hoped now that the operation will cure Flynn of the ailment which has handicapped the young Pirate all season.

Pitcher Fischer, a big right-handed twirler, reported to the New York Americans Thursday.

Boston have signed Shortstop Burns of the Oakland, Cal., Club.

CONVERTING KAMSCHATKAN JEWS.

The following clever skit on a missionary report by Yom Ormerod appears in "John Bull," a London publication:

Semite Redemption and Conversion Association.—The secretary has great pleasure in announcing the complete conversion of six brave Kamschatka Jews as the result of the season's campaign. A pleasing feature is that this most satisfactory result has been achieved at a total actual cost of only two hundred pounds sterling brace, exclusive of the salaries of the secretary, the under-secretary, the assistant secretary, the assistant under-secretary, the assistant under-secretary's wife, and general office expenses. The association is therefore to be congratulated on having laid out to such advantage the fifty thousand pounds sterling subscribed by the British public this year—money which, under other circumstances, could only have been wasted on the Socialistic poor of this country itself. An autograph portrait of the twelve Kamschatka Jews, in their bathing drawers, has been forwarded to all subscribers of amounts over fifty pounds sterling, and it is expected (D.V.), that this fact alone will have a beneficial effect on the takings of the current year. The secretary, the under-secretary, the assistant secretary, the assistant under-secretary, and the assistant under-secretary's wife and children have lately returned from a ten months' cruise round the world, and are due to start next month, on a second similar voyage of duty and utility, but journeying this time from west to east instead of from east to west.

HOSPITALS IN DIFFICULTY

Two Montreal Institutions Are in a Bad Way.

MONTREAL, June 24.—(Special.)—Two of the leading hospitals are badly in need of money, and if the Notre Dame does not get relief soon the announcement is made that their patients will have to be sent to other institutions.

About the time the King died James Ross suggested that instead of building a monument they raise $500,000, half of which would be for the Montreal General Hospital and half for Notre Dame, but he does not seem to get any support, and the monument idea will be carried out.

GEN. FRENCH ADMIRES MOUNTED INFANTRY

Can Do the Most Effective Work, He Tells Calgary Militiamen, After Praising Them.

CALGARY, Alta., June 24.—"Well, colonel, if I was defending a position, and you had as good a brigade attacking it as you have to-day, I would not like to stay there long."

This was the compliment paid to Lieut.-Colonel J. C. Walker, of this city, by General French to-day at the close of a four-hour fight under service conditions, in which Col. Walker was the officer in command of the attacking forces.

Surrounded by his staff and by the officers of all the regiments in camp, Britain's greatest cavalry soldier said:

"You have the best material I ever saw. You have the horses, you have the men, and you have the country on which you can train. Your men are of fine physique, and they can ride anything and anywhere. Your officers are also good. You have the men in hand, and all of you can ride.

"Gentlemen, don't look down on the mounted rifle branch of the army. This mounted rifle role is a glorious role, and you can accomplish as much, if not more, with mounted riflemen as you can with cavalrymen. We are all prone to-day to look down on the mounted rifles, but Canada is essentially a mounted rifle country, and mounted riflemen are the men who can do the most effective work to-day.

"We must get out of the idea that the man who rides cannot do without his horse. We must be prepared to leave our horses two miles, four miles, or even five miles behind us, and to attack as an infantry force would attack, using infantry tactics and acting as if we had been infantrymen all the time."

MONTREAL'S AVIATION MEET

Will Begin To-day—Count de Lesseps is Delayed.

MONTREAL, June 24.—(Special.)—Everything is ready for the opening to-morrow of the aviation week, with the exception of the machines upon which Count de Lesseps is to perform. The noted French aviator arrived here this morning and ever since has been occupied in expressing his personal opinion of custom house officials, railways, steamships and other better-known methods of conveyance. For the count has not yet been able to find even his clothes.

Accordingly, it looks as if to-morrow's program, which has not yet been definitely fixed, will be mainly contributed by the four Wright aviators, Brookins, Johnstone, Lachapelle and Coffyn, Miltjen, the man brought from France to operate the areoplane owned by Mr. James Carruthers of Montreal, and McCurdy of Cape Breton.

Count de Lesseps visited the aviation field this morning and at once demanded that certain changes be made, in order to safeguard the public, and these are now being made.

Mrs. Maheney (H.P.) beat Mrs. Morphy (N.T.).

May Irwin dropped into the King Edward Hotel on Friday, and was greatly pleased with the new ladies' reception rooms.

Evidently Not.

It is said that George Meredith, the English writer, often spent two or three days hunting for a word that would express just the meaning he wished to convey.

"I take it that Meredith was not paid by the word for the writing he did."

As She Viewed it.

"So you are married?" he said.

"Yes, temporarily," replied the lady who had been twice divorced.

JACK JOHNSON STRIKES HOODOO COMBINATION

Peculiar Facts Connect Champion's Trip From San Francisco to Reno.

RENO, Nev., June 24.—If Jack Johnson were superstitious he might regard with apprehension certain peculiar facts connected with his trip from San Francisco to Reno last night and to-day.

When Jack left San Francisco last night, it was an undertaker who said the final words to the champion to speed him on his way. Twenty-three was the date of his departure. Early to-day, in the snow sheds near Truckee, Jack's train was delayed by a freight car derailment in tunnel No. 13, and the champion and his party finally left the train at Reno just 13 minutes past 1 o'clock, three hours after the time scheduled for his arrival. To round out this hoodoo combination, he settled down in his training quarters on a Friday.

Johnson did not follow out his plan to begin training operations this afternoon and in view of the sinister combination which was discussed on all sides no one blamed him.

Out at Jeffries' camp Bob Armstrong said that the "Jinks" hanging over the champion was complete and that if he moved around too freely he would be sure to step on and demolish the collapsible chicken-coop.

Reno gave the champion a hearty reception. There was a big crowd at the station and no one had anything but the friendliest greeting for the big black man. No time was lost by Tom Flanagan in whisking Johnson and his party to the camp prepared at a road-house three miles southwest of Reno. Jack after a glance around said he was well pleased. One of the first statements given out by Johnson following his arrival was a denial of the report that he had re-appointed George Little as his manager.

"Flanagan" he said "is the man who is looking after my business interests and he will continue to do so until after the fight. There has been no change in my relations with Little, and I want to emphasize the fact that I have severed all relations with him."

Asked regarding the settlement reported to have been made with Little, Johnson produced a legal document, dated June 22, which he said was an Agreement drawn up between himself and Little, whereby Johnson assumes to pay Little $16,500 to procure a release of all claims the deposed manager may have against the champion.

Al Kaufman will continue to act as Johnson's chief sparring partner. A boxing platform has been put up near the camp and the champion is expected to use it to-morrow. He lounged about his quarters all afternoon, chatting with numerous visitors and supervising the unpacking of his baggage.

Jim Jeffries topped off a hard day's work with a road run late this afternoon. He donned the boxing gloves for the first time here this morning, but there was scarcely a blow in the five rounds he sparred with Armstrong and his brother Jack. The fast footwork on the slippery floor of the platform was thought dangerous.

In the final round with Jack Jeffries he invited him to swing to the jaw just as hard as he could. The big fellow protruded his chin, and Jack tried two lusty right swings, both of which bounced off Jeffries' face without having the slightest effect. On the third try Jeffries ducked and the punch landed over his left eye, which is likely to be a trifle discolored to-morrow.

Nearly a thousand persons gathered at the camp, hoping to see more boxing, but Jeffries decided on a road jaunt. He went about six miles in a boiling hot sun, walking briskly when not indulging in short sprints.

In view of continued talk of possible interference by state officers, Promoter Rickard was much reassured by the receipt to-day from Ely of the following telegram from Governor Dickerson:

"Prizefighting licensed under laws of this state. My duties are to enforce laws, not to make them. There will be no interference from the governor's office, if requirements of the law are complied with. The decision is irrevocable. You may use this telegram as you see fit.

"D. S. Dickerson,
"Governor for Nevada."

It is reported that John L. Sullivan will make another call at Jeffries' camp to-morrow as a result of efforts to bring the two together. William Muldoon, at one time Sullivan's trainer, had a long talk with Jeffries to-day, following which he said Jeffries was not entirely in sympathy with the rebuff that Sullivan received from Corbett at Moana Springs yesterday. According to Muldoon, Jeffries will accord John L. a friendly reception if the veteran calls again.
