THE BORDER TOWNS.

St. Stephen, Sept. 9.—Today is the last day of the much enjoyed carnival of sports which St. Stephen has indulged in during the past three days. The weather has been ideal and the streets have been thronged with visitors who have greatly enjoyed the amusements provided for each day. On Monday afternoon the grand parade, led by Surveyor General Grimmer, and Colonel Chipman, as marshals, brought out an immense number of people. There were five bands and the music was most lively and gay. There were a variety of representations, both in trade and fancy floats. The fire companies from the St. Croix towns, Augusta (Me.), and Amherst (N. S.), with their engines and hose carts decorated with flowers and banners helped to make the parade attractive. Among the noticeable fancy floats were "Children's Wash Day," which captured the first prize. On this float were Miss Georgia Young, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Young and Miss Helen and Master Frank MacNichol, children of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. MacNichol. This float was all in white drawn by a pair of black Shetland ponies, owned by Miss Young. The second prize was awarded to the Wa-Wa Club of seven young ladies, who represented "British Colonies." The young ladies were Miss Florence Newnham, as Australia; Miss Alice Sullivan, as India; Miss Louise MacMonagle, as Ireland; Miss Pearl Murchie, as Scotland; Miss Jessie McWha, as Canada; Miss Amy Sullivan, as Britannia, and Miss Muriel Keirstead, as Angel of Peace. The float was driven by Mr. Hayden Murchie, who represented John Bull. In the floral representation of Mr. J. R. Sedegnest, which was drawn by four black horses, Misses Mabel Algar, Zilpha Sullivan, Lorena Hunt and Mabel Hawthorne in Grecian costumes, of pink, violet, yellow and blue silk, stood at each corner of the float with floral banners of asters, the color of their dresses. There were many others that were most beautiful but space forbids description. Miss Harriett Maxwell and Mrs. John Boyd, who represented the "Gold King Mine," received many compliments as well as a prize. On Monday evening there was a ball in the curling rink, which was repeated on Tuesday evening, with great success.
