MR. CHARLTON ORATES

He Had Talked With American Politicians

BUT IN CANADA'S INTEREST.

The Craze In North Norfolk Aired.

The House Plunged Into a Discussion of the Annexation Fad—Mr. Sutherland Thought the Dignity of the House Was Thereby Lowered—Hon. Mr. Foster Will Make His Budget Speech Next Week—The First Liberal Caucus—Decided to Tear Away At the N.P.

OTTAWA, Feb. 7.—On the motion to go into Committee of Supply this afternoon Mr. Charlton made the personal statement which he promised yesterday when Mr. Maclean called attention to the visits made by Mr. Charlton and others to Washington. The debate lasted about two hours, and at 5.30 the House went into committee and passed several penitentiaries' items.

Mr. Charlton, in his explanation, denied that he was disloyal and strongly objected to the Liberal party being charged with disloyalty. He charged the Government and the Government press with constantly misrepresenting the Liberal party. The charges of disloyalty hinted against the Liberals were such as to make the people of the United States believe the country was ripe for annexation.

It was perfectly true that there was a certain amount of unrest in the country. The party in power was responsible for this dissatisfaction. He denied that the Liberal party advocated annexation. There was not a Liberal in the House of Commons who had done so. The policy of the Liberals was not revolutionary in its tendencies. It was malignant, untruthful and slanderous to accuse Liberals of disloyalty.

"I repudiate," he said, "these attacks; I spurn them!" [Cheers and laughter.]

He said that he happened to be born in the United States, but he was of Scotch and English origin and was proud of the family to which he belonged. Under the laws of Britain he was, therefore, a British subject. As to his place of birth, it was a matter with which he had little to do. [Laughter.]

He was not consulted. He lived in Canada since his boyhood, but there were some of his Conservative friends who thought that 40 years' residence was not sufficient to naturalize him. He repudiated the charge of being a traitor.

Talked With American Politicians.

As to his recent visit to Washington he said that he had a perfect right to be there if he saw fit. His business was of a private character, but after that was through he had a talk with American politicians of things Canadian. He had advocated no views that were not for the interest of the Dominion. Instead of there being an eagerness on the part of the United States to swallow up Canada he found that nine out of every ten men knew very little about Canadian affairs. In speaking to Americans about Canada he urged forbearance such as ought to be expected in a larger country dealing with a smaller. He was satisfied that reciprocity could be brought about between the two countries, not such a reciprocity as the Canadian Government wanted, which would be altogether in favor of Canada, but one that would be fair to both Canada and the States.

John G. Carlisle, who was in direct line for the presidency, was in favor of making a statutory offer in favor of reciprocity, as also was W. J. Springer of Illinois.

Well Up in Secrets.

Mr. Maclean (East York) said that there was one thing that Mr. Charlton established, and that was that he was well up in the secrets of the politicians of the United States. He said, for instance, that we could have reciprocity with the United States if we desired it. He (Maclean) then read from the press a statement by the Rev. Mr. Blackstock that the Ministerial Association in Toronto did not want to have anything to do with Mr. Charlton, who was encouraging annexation to the United States. [Hear, hear.] When in Washington some years ago he had met Mr. Charlton there. He stated the other day in the House that he (Maclean) did not hold politicians responsible for what newspapers said, or the latter responsible for politicians, yet he held the Liberal party responsible for such men as Mr. Bunting, Mr. Farrer and Goldwin Smith. They were also responsible for Mr. Longley of Nova Scotia, who was also an annexationist—[cries of "No," "No" from Opposition]—who has just succeeded in handing over a part of his province to an American combine.

They ask that all the papers in the hands of the Government be brought down in connection with reciprocity, and if they were honest in the matter they would also demand that those other papers, letters and interviews of these parties mentioned in regard to their trips to Washington should also be included.

Told a Great Deal.

The member for North Norfolk said he went to Washington and told the politicians a great deal. He did not tell the House what he had to say about machine politicians and French Catholic leaders. What was the difference between the two parties on this question? The Conservative party has always held that, in the first place, we are Canadians and in the second place that we are British subjects and that we intend to establish Canadian authority on this continent and conduct our own diplomatic affairs. This was not the case with the Opposition, whose policy was not a patriotic one.

Mr. Fraser spoke at length, defending Mr. Longley, and stating that there were no annexationists in Nova Scotia, neither among the Liberals nor Conservatives. He did not hear the Conservatives attack Mr. Sol White because he was an annexationist.

Dr. Montague: The gentleman is not stating the facts.

Mr. McGregor: I have heard Mr. White talk annexation.

Dr. Montague stated that Mr. White had recently declared that he was not an annexationist, but he preferred annexation to the miserable policy of hon. gentlemen opposite.

Loyal to the Core.

Mr. Hazen said that he never accused the Liberals of being any more disloyal than the Conservatives. The country, he believed, was loyal to the core. He, however, did accuse them of having Edward Farrer as their leading editorial writer on their organ, The Toronto Globe, during the last general elections. If Mr. Longley was not an annexationist, it might be said of him that "language was given so as to conceal one's thoughts."

Mr. Sutherland said that it was lowering the dignity of the House bringing up the question at all, and he would not have said anything in connection with the debate but for the fact of what the member for Haldimand (Montague) had said about Sol White. He (Sutherland) then went on to show that White gave a lecture in Woodstock in favor of annexation. He did not believe that either Conservatives or Liberals were disloyal in Canada.

Annexation In Norfolk.

Mr. Tisdale did not understand that any Conservative member accused the members of the Opposition of being disloyal, although the action of the member for the North Riding of Norfolk (Charlton) might have given some grounds for criticism. He went on to show that a deliberate fraud was imposed on the Liberals of his riding by certain parties calling a meeting and passing an annexation resolution and having it telegraphed all over the country that the Liberals of the riding declared for continental union. The speeches of Mr. Charlton at Washington, Buffalo and Chicago, as reported in the Liberal press, gave some good grounds for remarks against the member for the North Riding of Norfolk. The Norfolk Reformer, the organ of the Liberals in the riding, came out in favor of continental union, and the secretary of the Liberal Association was the gentleman who wrote the leading article for that newspaper. It was Mr. Charlton's duty, if he was in earnest, to denounce this.

Dr. Landerkin followed, after which the matter dropped, and the House went into supply. After passing a few items the House rose, it being 6 o'clock.

After recess the House again went into supply and sat until 11 o'clock, passing a large number of items.

A Liberal Caucus.

The first Liberal caucus of the session was held this forenoon in the Railway Committee room of the House of Commons. All the members of the party now in the city were in attendance and the meeting was decidedly one of the most harmonious and enthusiastic that has ever taken place in party affairs. Mr. Laurier occupied the chair. He made a rousing speech outlining the policy which the party ought to pursue, and that was tariff reform. The cheers which greeted his remarks on the tariff question showed the unanimity that exists in the ranks for the reduction of taxation and enlargement of the Canadian markets. Mr. Laurier took very much the same line as he did at Hamilton, when addressing the Young Liberals' Association on the occasion of their annual banquet. Tariff reform will in future be the battle cry of the party, and the lines along which the party will fight to accomplish this end, with free trade as the ultimate goal, were decided upon unanimously at to-day's meeting.

Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. David Mills, Mr. Fraser (Nova Scotia) and Mr. Gillmor (New Brunswick) all addressed the meeting. The names of these four speakers will at once show, without any explanation, what the nature of their remarks was on the trade question. Sir Richard Cartwright's and Mr. Mills' position on the tariff is well known, while Mr. Gillmor was the first one to deliver an out and out free trade speech in the Canadian Parliament. Mr. Fraser is also a free trader and a staunch supporter of the Henry George theory of taxation.

Accountants' Defalcations.

On the item for legislation Mr. Speaker made a statement about the defalcations in the accountants' office. He said that the amount taken by the accountant and assistant accountant was $2256, which had been made good by the Guarantee Co. In reply to Dr. Landerkin, he said it was not true that any part of the shortage consisted of the indebtedness of members of Parliament.

Budget Speech Next Week.

Just prior to adjournment Hon. Mr. Foster announced that he would make his budget speech next week, but he could not state exactly what day.

Mr. Nathaniel Boyd, member for Marquette, who succeeds the Hon. R. Watson, Liberal, was introduced this afternoon by Sir John Thompson and Mr. Hugh John Macdonald, who arrived with Mr. Boyd this morning, and took his seat for the first time this session. Both Mr. Boyd and Mr. Macdonald were warmly received by the House. The election of Mr. Boyd gives the Government a solid Conservative contingent of 15 members from Manitoba, British Columbia and the Northwest Territories. All the great Canadian Northwest seems to be absolutely Conservative as the "solid south" is Democratic.

Mr. Grieve will ask on Thursday whether it is the intention of the Government to have the voters' lists revised this year.

Mr. Bowers has asked whether the Government proposes taking any steps towards building nurseries and hatcheries for systematically increasing the propagation and distribution of codfish in the bays and waters of Canada.

Hon. N. C. Wallace Congratulated.

OTTAWA, Feb. 7.—At a very largely attended meeting of the County Orange Lodge of Carleton, held at Bell's Corners this afternoon, a resolution of congratulation to Hon. N. C. Wallace upon his entrance into the Government, and wishing him long life in his new position, was adopted unanimously by a standing vote.

HARD ON THE TRAMP.

He Was Locked Up and Frozen In At Ancaster—Hot Irons Used to Thaw the Entrance.

ANCASTER, Ont., Feb. 7.—Ancaster village this morning was shaken from its centre to its circumference by an exciting incident which occurred at the lockup. It seems that the village constable yesterday afternoon threw into the dungeon a suspicious-looking individual whose only offence against society appears to have been that he was ill-clad and minus the stuff which procures meals and lodging.

The tramp didn't mind it much and the weather was genial. But during the night Jack Frost got in his work and early this morning old Mr. Markle, who has charge of the lock-up, called to see how the prisoner had spent the night. But Mr. Markle could not get in.

A pool of water had accumulated at the base of the door yesterday and this was frozen solid, adding doubly to the safeguards of the prison. Markle went to the blacksmith shop, heated irons and thawed the door.

When the poor tramp was found he was more dead than alive. He said he had had a great many chilling experiences in his travels, but hopes never again to strike such accommodation as was provided him in Ancaster.

MANUFACTURERS ON THE N.P.

TARIFF PROTECTION THE KEYSTONE OF CANADA'S STABILITY.

A Strong Resolution Passed By the Canadian Manufacturers' Association—No Convict Labor—Fast Atlantic Service and the Proposed Insolvency Law Discussed—The New Officers.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association held its 18th annual meeting in its office in the Canada Life building yesterday. President McNaught occupied the chair. Among those present were: George Booth, H. J. Bird of Bracebridge, Thomas Cowan of Galt, M. T. Smith, J. P. Murray, A. E. Carpenter of Hamilton, W. C. Phillips, John Taylor, John Bertram, James Watson, O. C. Anderson, J. W. Taylor, Robert Watson, William Pender, A. R. Clarke, John Dick, H. W. Marlatt, F. B Featherstonaugh, A. R. Wickett, P. W. Ellis, J. C. Copp, J. A. Parker, P. Freysing, Thomas Robertson, Joseph Simpson, J. O. Thorne, Henry New, George Lang and others.

The President's Address.

The President delivered his address, which was well received, and it was decided to disseminate it throughout the country. He upheld the N. P. and showed that any measures of free trade would diminish our present prosperity.

The Secretary and Treasurer's reports showed the standing and condition of the association to be most satisfactory and were accepted without discussion.

The N. P. Upheld.

The following resolutions were adopted. Moved by R. W. Elliot, seconded by Thomas Cowan:

Whereas, in the opinion of this association the National Policy is steadily effecting the disenthralment of the manufacturing and other industrial interests of Canada; whereas it has knit and woven into one homogeneous whole the different provinces, solidifying them into a great and prosperous nation; whereas it has produced among the people a feeling of security, of national pride and of commercial and industrial independence, without which no people can attain to the acme of happiness and prosperity; therefore be it resolved that the continued development of Canada and the happiness and prosperity of the Canadian people demand a perpetuity of the National Policy.

Resolved, That this association hereby express its continued confidence in the Dominion Government, and that with the National Policy and its system of tariff protection to Canadian enterprise as its keystone it will fairly, honestly and impartially follow that line in all matters affecting the tariff and administer the Customs laws in the spirit in which they were created.

Convict Labor.

Moved by Mr. E. A. Kemp, seconded by Robert Wilson:

Whereas, according to the ethics of protection and of the N.P., while it is the duty of the Government of Canada and of the different provinces to always legislate in favor of domestic interests and of home industries, it is also and always the duty of those Governments to refrain from enacting any legislation which will in any manner injuriously affect any of those interests; and whereas free Canadian labor, especially where employed in manufactures and industries, is injuriously affected when brought into competition with convict labor; therefore, be it resolved, that this association deprecates and protests against the employment of convict labor in any manufacture or industry where the product of labor is brought into competition in the open market with the product of free labor.

A New Insolvent Act.

Moved by P. H. Burton and seconded by E. A. Kemp:

That in the opinion of this association it would be to the interest of our merchants and manufacturers generally to have a "Dominion Insolvent Act" which, while affording the same measure of protection to creditors and relief to debtors, would also do away with the unfair system of preferential assignments which at present obtains in some provinces.

Fast Atlantic Service.

Moved by John Bertram, seconded by Thomas Cowan:

That in view of the completion of our great trans-continental railway and the fact that our system of canals and natural waterways from the upper lakes to tide water is fast nearing completion, it is of importance to every farmer, merchant and manufacturer in Canada that our facilities for carrying passengers and freight between this country and Great Britain should be put upon such a footing as will materially reduce the charges as well as the time in transit between these important points, and thus enable our people to reap the full advantage of the vast sums already spent upon our internal carrying system; this association is therefore of the opinion that the Government of Canada should grant a subsidy sufficiently large to guarantee the establishment of a fast Atlantic steamship service between this country and Great Britain.

The New Officers.

The election of officers resulted:

President—John Bertram of Dundas.
First Vice—P. W. Ellis.
Second Vice—W. H. Law of Peterboro.
Treasurer—George Booth.
Secretary—J. J. Cassidey.
Chairman of Executive—F. Nicholls.
Chairman of Tariff Committee—R. W. Elliot.

Representatives on Board of Industrial Exhibition—J. J. Cassidey, W. R. McNaught, R. W. Elliot, G. Booth, S. May.

Resolutions of thanks to the officers of 1892 were passed.

RUIN FROM AN ICE JAM.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 7.—Late last night the big gorge of ice in the Beaver River at Rock Point broke and in running out caused much damage. At one point the track of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie Railway is washed out for over a mile, while for a distance of several miles the tracks are piled high with ice.

Telegraph lines have been carried away and the water is cutting under the road bed. All of the many factories along the river have been compelled to shut down while some of them have been badly damaged.

At Freeport on the Allegheny River the lower part of the town, three squares back from the river, is inundated and people are fleeing from their houses, which are being pounded to pieces by the huge blocks of ice. Many boats and rafts of lumber have been torn from their moorings and destroyed.

MEN, WOMEN AND MONEY.

Meeting In Yorkville To Explain the Aims and Objects of the Toronto Industrial Association.

A meeting was held at St. Paul's Hall, Yorkville, last evening for the purpose of hearing the explanation as to the aims and objects of the Toronto Industrial Association. Ald. Hill occupied the chair.

Mr. James Beaty, Q.C., vice-president of the association, explained the objects of the association, and set forth in eloquent terms the great results which can be effected by the union of capital, enterprise and labor in Toronto. All that we want in Toronto is men, women and money.

He was followed by Mr. J. N. Blake, secretary of the association, who pointed out some material facts with regard to the organization not generally understood, and referred to the pamphlet issued by the association, copies of which may be had at their office, 40 King-street east. He referred to the vast deposits of iron, nickel and other ores within easy reach of Toronto, and stated that they were like the rocks salted down in the pockets of Toronto capitalists—of no use unless utilized. What does the utilization of them here mean, he asked? It means the union of labor and capital in developing these vast natural resources. It meant to the City of Pittsburg the payment of $23,487,500 in wages to 37,350 men, equal to 150,000 population in that city, supported by iron and steel industries alone. He referred to the unrivalled position of Toronto, situated equi-distant between the Atlantic ports of the United States, Montreal and Hudson's Bay, the greatest fish preserve in the world. He thought Toronto could soon be made the greatest nickel and mica market in the world, and give to Toronto another industrial section along the railway lines in the northern part of the city. He referred to the necessity of advertising Toronto, especially during the coming year at the World's Fair, and concluded with an appeal to the audience to stand by the association and their city and make it the metropolis of the Dominion.

Mr. J. R. Roaf, chairman of the Committee on Manufacturing and Mining, Exchange, Hotel and Tourists' Business, in an able speech indicated the advantages which would arise from the construction of a large fireproof central hotel, with summer hotels at Moore Park, Parkdale and Scarboro as adjuncts thereto. In a very convincing manner he set forth the benefits which would accrue therefrom and concluded with an eloquent appeal on behalf of the work of the association.

The meeting then adjourned for a fortnight.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

He Was Bookkeeper For the Walkerville Brewing Company.

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 7.—George Gilbert of Walkerville was arrested yesterday at the instance of the Walkerville Brewing Company, charged with forgery. Some time ago Gilbert was dismissed from his position as bookkeeper for the company. Auditors have been going over the books, and it is alleged Gilbert's accounts are short several hundred dollars.

The specific charge set forth in complaint is that on Dec. 23 Gilbert raised figures on a receipt from $216 to $2216. Gilbert protests his innocence. He was remanded until Thursday.

Van Horne's Enterprise.

DULUTH, Feb. 8.—Reliable information has been received here that President Van Horne of the C.P.R. has closed contracts within the past few days in St. Paul for the purchase of the North Star Construction Company, owning Duluth and Winnipeg Railroad, and also the Superior Belt Line and Terminal Company, owning one dock at Superior.

Clarets.

We make a specialty of clarets, and carry more stock and sell more than any three wholesale firms in Toronto combined, consequently we are enabled to give better value than any house in the trade. Our own bottling imported in wood from our Bordeaux and California houses (all excellent table clarets) at $4, $4.50, $5 and $5.50 per dozen quarts. Shipped in cases from our Bordeaux house, Chateau du Roc, $6.50 per case quarts; St. Estephe, $7.15; St. Julian, $8; Margaut Superior, $10, and Poutet Canet, $11.50 per case. THE SCHEDULE STILL HOLDS.

PROHIBITION OF CANADA CATTLE MAINTAINED.

Pleuro-Pneumonia in Scotland Traced to Ports Where Canadian Stockers Were Landed—The Slaughter of Scotch Cattle Cost $18,000—The Government Had to Pay That Amount.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—In the House of Commons, in reply to the interpellations of Henry Chaplin, Ex-President of the Board of Agriculture, Mr. Gardner, the present president, said that since last July 41 cases of pleuro-pneumonia had been discovered among 18 cargoes of cattle imported from the United States.

The Canadian authorities had declared that they had been unable to find a single case of pleuro-pneumonia in the Dominion, yet the appearance of the disease in Scotland had been traced to ports at which Canadian cattle had been landed.

It was certain, therefore, that some centre of disease in Canada had been overlooked or that the regulations governing the importation of cattle into the Dominion were defective. The Government, therefore, would be obliged to maintain the prohibition of Canadian cattle.

He advocated warmly the slaughter of all foreign cattle at the port of entry. He thought that neither the United States nor Canada had any good grounds for opposing such a measure. He quoted figures showing that although only four diseased Canadian cattle had been landed recently in Scotland the Government had been put to an expense of £18,000 to compensate the owners of the herds which had been slaughtered.

Daly Will Not Be Released.

W. Kenny, Q.C., Liberal-Unionist member for St. Stephen's-Green, Dublin, brought up the subject of the convict, John Daly, convicted of having been engaged in a dynamite conspiracy at the same time as James Francis Egan, who was recently liberated. Mr. Kenny asked whether the Government had any intention of releasing Daly.

Home Secretary Asquith, in reply, denied that there was any intention to interfere with the normal course of the sentence. Daly had been sentenced to penal servitude for life, and in the ordinary course a period of 20 years elapsed before the sentence of a prisoner under sentence for life was remitted.

As Daly was sentenced only 10 years ago the reply of the Home Secretary leaves no hope of his early liberation.

The Ministers have decided to apply the closure on Friday, in case the address be still under discussion at that time. Their purpose is to clear the way for the introduction of the Home Rule Bill on Monday.

The Irish Home Rule Bill Mislaid.

Some excitement was caused in the course of the day by the disappearance of the Irish Home Rule Bill. Mr. Gladstone missed in the morning a portfolio containing the Home Rule Bill, as well as drafts of other measures to be submitted to Parliament, and private papers.

Finally the portfolio was discovered in what had been assumed to be an empty despatch box put aside as disused in Mr. Gladstone's private room. There is still a mystery as to how the portfolio got there. The documents seemed untouched.

ANOTHER SHAFT BROKEN.

The Schiedam Traveled 500 Miles Under Canvas.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The steamer Schiedam, Capt. Brouwer, from Rotterdam Jan. 18 for New York and Baltimore, passed Weaver Point at 8 o'clock this morning, making for Queenstown under sail. Her shaft is broken.

Tugs were sent out from Queenstown to meet the Schiedam and they towed her into port. The steamer reports that 16 days ago she encountered terrific weather. A tremendous sea was running and the shaft broke. Canvas was set and the steamer sailed 500 miles.

THE YOUNGEST IDEAS.

They Come From the Pope and Mr. Gladstone.

ROME, Feb. 7.—The Pope is much pleased with what is said in the Queen's speech in reference to Home Rule. His Holiness has had long talks on the subject with Cardinals Vaughan and Logue. The Pope said: "Gladstone and I, although the two oldest leaders, have the youngest ideas."

Another Horror In Texas.

PARIS, Texas, Feb. 7.—News was received this morning that the body of Will Butler, a negro, had been found hanging to a limb and riddled with bullets on Hickory Creek, five miles southeast of this city.

Butler was a stepson of Henry Smith, who was cremated here Feb. 1, and made himself notorious during the search for Smith by claiming to know his whereabouts, which he would not divulge.

The Czarewitch Courting.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 7.—It is reported that the betrothal of the Princess Louise of Denmark, to the Czarewitch will be announced next summer to the family gathering at Frensbourg. The Princess is 18 years old and remarkably beautiful.

Algy Sartoris Dead.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Algernon Sartoris, who married Nellie Grant, died on Friday, at Capri, Italy. He had not lived with his wife for some years.

TRINITY'S CONVERSAT.

The annual conversazione of Trinity College Literary Institute was held last night. The number of guests was about 1500, and expressions of delight at Trinity's hospitality were universal. As the guests drove up the gothic outlines of the College, ablaze with light, showed clear against the frosty sky.

The guests were received by Provost Body in the main hall Unfortunately Mrs. Body was through illness unable to assist him. The hallway was decorated n black and crimson, which are the colors of Trinity, flanked with Union Jacks. Turkish rugs covered the floors, and exquisite upholstery gave the hall the appearance of a rich drawing-room.

The guests ascended by a curtained stairway to the Convocation Hall, which was decorated with palms and choice tropical plants.

Choice Morceaux At the Concert.

From 8.30 until 10.30 a concert was given, the program of which was as follows:

b. “Heart's Fancies.”..A. G. Thomas
Miss Kipiser.

They Did the Light Fantastic.

While the concert was going on a program of extras was being danced in the two large lecture halls of the west wing, where at 10.30, when the concert was concluded, the seats were removed from Convocation Hall and the regular program of dances was started, communication between the three ballrooms being arranged by means of an electric bell. The dancing floors were delightful, and the hundreds of light-footed, bright-eyed girls danced with the prospective canons and curates until 1.30 this morning.

Said one pretty but experienced damsel: "What I like about Trinity is its long corridors and unlimited alcoves. It gives one a chance to hide," and the young divine with her didn't express an opinion, but looked as if he liked it, too. The corridors were carpeted and curtained at intervals, and amongst the delightful features of the evening were the little receptions the students gave to their own particular friends. Nearly everyone entertained, and college life wore the most attractive colors to the guest. The happy relaxation from study and every-day duties was seen in every face and everything went with vim and sparkle.

In the east wing the library and science rooms were open to the guests and the quiet of this part of the vast building was largely taken advantage of.

The committee in charge of the arrangements was: Mr. J. H. H. Coleman, president; Mr. C. W. Hedley, first vice-president; Mr. Frank DuMoulin, second vice-president; Mr. T. W. Powell, treasurer; Mr. James Chappell, librarian; Mr. W. Butler, curator; Mr. G. C. Heward, councillor; Mr. J. G. Brown, first year councillor.

Mr. J. G. Carter-Troop efficiently discharged the onerous duties of secretary.

Some of Those Present.

Among the invited guests were: Chancellor and Mrs. Allan, Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Kirkpatrick, the Bishop of Algoma and Mrs. Sullivan, Archdeacon and Mrs. Boddy, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Blackstock, Rev. Canon and Mrs. Cayley, Canon and Mrs. DuMoulin, Lt.-Col. and Mrs. Dawson, Mrs. Fitzgibbon, Sir Thomas and Lady Galt, Chief Justice Hagarty, Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson Jones, Rev. Septimus and Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Bunting, Prof. and Mrs. Kirkland, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Langtry, Sir David and Lady Macpherson, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Moberly, Dr. and Mrs. Mockridge, Mr. and Mrs. D'Alton McCarthy, Rev. and Mrs. Street Macklem, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Nesbitt, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Henry O'Brien, Mr. Justice Osler and the Misses Osler, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Osler, Lt.-Col., Mrs. Otter, Miss Patterson and undergraduates of St. Hilda's, Miss Plumb, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Robinson, Hon. John Beverley Robinson, Hon. A. M. and Mrs. Ross, Hon. G. W. and Mrs. Ross, Dr. and Mrs. Ryerson, Col. and Mrs. Sweny, the Bishop of Toronto and Mrs. Sweatman, Mr. J. A. Worrell, Mr. D. R. Wilkie and the Misses Wilkie.

The conversat. was one of the most successful ever held within the walls of Old Trinity.

TRAINMEN BURNED TO DEATH

IN FULL VIEW OF A PASSENGER TRAIN.

A Caboose Jumped the Track and Went Down an Embankment—The Car Caught Fire—Another Man Seriously Injured—The Caboose Was Attached to a Snow Plow.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 7.—A special from Fargo says the passenger train on the Fargo and Southwestern road arriving this morning brought in two dead bodies. A snow plow with an engine and caboose was running ahead of the passenger train

Near Sheldon the tender broke away from the engine and the caboose left the track and ran down an embankment. The car caught fire and was destroyed. The three trainmen could not get out, and Conductor William Crawford and Brakeman W. J. Quinlan were burned to death in sight of the passenger train, which had arrived and was powerless to extricate the men.

Tom Smith, the third man in the caboose, was seriously injured and will recover.

THE CHOLERA SCARE INCREASES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Minister White of St. Petersburg has made report to the Secretary of State reciting the almost daily occurrence of cases of cholera in the suburbs of that city.

The Minister states that the persistence of the disease has aroused fears for the coming spring and has stimulated the authorities to adopt more vigorous measures of repression.

The reason assigned for these cases in the suburbs is that the poorer part of the population living there are accustomed to drink the unfiltered water of the neighboring branch of the Neva.

Fifty Cases in France.

The Marseilles correspondent of The Liberte says that within the last four days 50 persons have died in Marseilles of cholera-ic disease. The Sanitary Council in this city has sent Dr. Thoinot, an authority on cholera, to Marseilles to ascertain the exact nature of the disease.

BRISBANE'S DELUGE.

Buildings 60 Feet High Covered with Water—500 Houses Demolished—The City in Darkness.

BRISBANE, Feb. 7.—Water is 30 feet deep in the principal streets of the city tonight, and in the suburbs has covered buildings 60 feet high. Five hundred houses have been demolished. Hundreds of families have lost their homes and have left the city in boats.

All gas and water pipes have been destroyed and the city is in darkness. The Governor came to the city in a boat. He says that all towns between Brisbane and Ipswich are submerged. This is the greatest disaster in the history of the colony.

GOOD SLEIGHING ENJOYED.

This is the kind of weather which renders sleigh-riding enjoyable, and everyone in the city who can afford it is taking advantage of the opportunity present.

Half the pleasure is spoiled, though, if there is not an abundance of robes, and just now there is no reason why everyone should not have plenty of furs about them, for Dineen is selling off robes at prices which are fully 33⅓ per cent. below the regular figures.

Grey goat robes are marked at $6.50, $7.50 and $8.50, and black goat ones are being cleaned out at $7.50, $8.50 and $10.

Handsome black and brown bear and musk ox robes, manufactured on the premises and guaranteed, are also going at bargains.

In conjunction with the bargain sale of robes it might be mentioned that men's fur coats have been marked down below cost.

Caps, storm collars, cuffs and gauntlets are also going off at prices which make even wholesalers take a back seat.

A MIDNIGHT FIRE.

Fire, originating from some unknown cause, broke out in E. J. Fallis' gents' furnishing store, 193½ Yonge-street, at 11.45 last evening, and owing to delay occasioned by a frozen hydrant the stock was practically ruined before the flames had been extinguished.

Mr. Fallis estimates his loss at $4000; insurance $1700.

J. B. Cook's photographic gallery adjoining was damaged to the extent of $50 by smoke and water.

In a Peck of Trouble.

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 7.—Special Agent McCloy of the Customs yesterday laid information against Mrs. J. O. Peck and her two daughters, charging them with smuggling.

Mrs. Peck is the wife of one of Windsor's most prominent business men, and Mr. Peck proposes to fight matters to the end. He says the goods in question were purchased over three years ago, which is the time of limitation.

Hands Off the Czar.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—An amendment to the American Russian treaty makes all attempts to assassinate the Czar or members of the royal family an extraditable offence, regardless of motive.

Appealed the Case.

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 8.—The owners of the sealing schooner Oscar and Hattie have appealed the case to the Supreme Court. The schooner was confiscated for illegal sealing.

Don't buy bad baking powder when you can buy the "Borwicke," an absolutely pure cream of tartar powder, at the same price. Try a large 10c packet. Sold by every grocer. 135

"To Be Congratulated"—Ladies' Companion for February.

The fine, clear-cut, new type and fixtures from which this magazine is printed were manufactured by the Toronto Type Foundry of this city. Mr. J. T. Johnston, the manager of that establishment, is certainly to be congratulated on the success which, from small beginnings made only a few years ago, has been achieved by this the only type foundry in the Dominion. The Toronto Type Foundry is not alone the only type manufacturing firm in this country, but its energetic management has now secured the exclusive agency for the Dominion of all the leading type foundries in the United States.
