ALBERT BRADLEY DEAD.

The Toronto Banker's Injuries Result Fatally.

MRS. BRADLEY'S BODY FOUND.

Supposed Victims From Tilsonburg and London.

CORPSE NUMBER 25 RECOGNIZED

As That of T. R. Stringer of Port Dover, Ont.

Touching Details in Connection With the Identification of Mrs. Bradley's Body by Her Father—Heartrending Scenes at the Morgue—Many of the Victims Are Headless and Will Probably Never Be Identified—Toronto Parties Who Were Missing Satisfactorily Accounted For.

Additional particulars of the disaster on the Grand Trunk at Battle Creek, Mich., but add to the awful character of the affair. It was a carnival of death, a holocaust of the most ghastly description; nothing so horrible has been known anywhere in America for years.

The improvised morgue in which the mutilated and flame-scarred bodies were placed was visited Saturday by hundreds of persons. Among the earliest visitors were W. B. Clarke and W. B. Clarke, jr., of Sarnia, Ont., father and brother of Mrs. Albert Bradley of Toronto, Ont., who was among the missing, and Mr. T. W. Nesbitt and Dr. Johnston of the same place. They came to search for Mrs. Bradley. After scrutinizing closely the charred remains of several corpses the elder Mr. Clarke suddenly uttered a piercing shriek and, pointing to one of the bodies, exclaimed in tones of bitter anguish, "There is my poor Emma." His grief was pitiful in the extreme, and moved many of the spectators to tears. His son claimed the body as that of Mrs. Bradley, his sister. The grief-stricken father was finally led away from the place, almost heartbroken over the terrible fate of his beloved daughter.

Rev. Dr. Johnston of Lindsay with his sister, Mrs. Dr. Hodgins of Deer Park, and Miss Eliza and Miss Maggie Bayne of this city, sisters-in-law of Rev. Dr. McDavish, were supposed to be on the train, but it has been learned that they went by an earlier train, and a telegram was received Saturday night announcing their safe arrival in Chicago.

Considerable anxiety is felt regarding the safety of Reeve Humberstone of York, but Mr. David Birrell of York Mills states that Mr. Humberstone went via C.P.R., that he saw him in the C.P.R. office here when he secured his ticket last Thursday.

Bertrand N. Scott, who was conductor of the ill-fated train, is a Canadian, and lived for many years at St. Thomas. He was at one time on the M. C. R. and latterly has been a conductor on the Chicago and Grand Trunk. He is a brother of Mr. Harry Scott, late of the St. Thomas postoffice, and a brother-in-law of Mr. J. A. Robinson, barrister.

Mr. Bradley Also Dead.

A despatch was received from Battle Creek last night announcing the death of Mr. Bradley in the hospital, having been unable to withstand his terrible injuries.

The remains of Mrs. Bradley, which were burned almost to a crisp, were brought to Sarnia and arrangements were made for the interment to take place this afternoon from the residence of her brother, W. B. Clarke. It is possible, however, now that Mr. Bradley's death is announced, that the funeral will be postponed and husband and wife be buried together.

A despatch was received by The World stating that Father Clark of Brantford, Ont., was supposed to be among the dead. Enquiry at the Palace, however, establishes the fact that there is no priest of that name in Brantford or elsewhere in Canada. Father Clark of Newfoundland was at the World's Fair recently, but has arrived home. There are several Father Clarks in the United States.

Body No. 25 at the morgue was identified as that of T. R. Stringer of Port Dover, Canada.

THREE FROM LONDON.

J. A. McGarvey Was a Resident of the Forest City.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 21.—The man J. A. McGarvey, mentioned in the despatches from Battle Creek as having been burned beyond recognition in the Grand Trunk wreck, turns out to have been a resident of this city. Mr. McGarvey was a well-to-do builder and leaves a family. Robert Green, the owner of a large clothing store here, was on the fatal train and has not been heard from. A dozen people boarded it here and it is feared more than the above have perished.

Robert D. Colgrove, market gardener of this city, is believed to be among the victims. At the request of the railway authorities, his son has left for Battle Creek to try and identify the remains.

McGarvey Fully Identified.

PETROLEA, Ont., Oct. 22.—Mr. T. A. McGarvey, a passenger on the ill-fated train at Battle Creek, proves to be Mr. T. A. McGarvey, one time a resident of this place, but latterly of Springfield, Mass., son of Mr. E. McGarvey, London, Ont., and brother to Mr. W. H. McGarvey, the oil merchant of Austria. The body was identified by a receipt found on his person from The Petrolea Advertiser, dated June 2, 1893.

TILSONBURG PEOPLE MISSING.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Dorland of That Town May Have Perished.

TILSONBURG, Ont., Oct. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. O. Dorland of this place started for Capron, Ills., on Thursday afternoon via Woodstock and tunnel route intending to visit the World's Fair on return trip. After the accident at Battle Creek friends here feared they were among the victims, and in answer to telegrams sent to Capron word was received this afternoon that they had not arrived. The only hope of their safety is that they changed their minds and stopped in Chicago on their way out. A brother of Mrs. Dorland's will leave here for Battle Creek to-night.

The State Will Investigate.

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 21.—Railroad Commissioner Billings left for Battle Creek early yesterday morning immediately he was advised of the horror, and spent the day investigating the matter as best he could. He will attend the sessions of the coroner's jury and in every way lend his official position to aid the officers in arriving at a proper solution of the matter. He will also endeavor to have it positively settled whether the coaches took fire from the lamps or stoves, or both, with a view to having other means of lighting and heating coaches adopted on Michigan roads.

A Strathroy Man Killed.

STRATHROY, Ont., Oct. 22.—John Brown, clerk with P. O'Dwyer, merchant, is believed to have perished in the Battle Creek wreck. He boarded the train with Mr. T. A. McGarvey, the Londoner whose body has been identified.

Brown carried a silver watch with initials engraved "W. P." similar to the one reported found on an unidentified young man. Rev. A. McKeon, his mother and Miss Crotty left to-day for Battle Creek.

A Woodstock Man Missing.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Oct. 22.—It is believed that H. H. Powell of the firm of Patrick & Powell was one of the victims of the Battle Creek wreck.

Frank Rogers, who was injured, was a switchman here, and William Thompson, also hurt, worked the Clark farm near here. Both will recover.

A New Jury Impanelled.

The coroner this afternoon discharged the jury drawn yesterday because of public criticism over the accidental fact that one of the members of the jury was a brother-in-law of the superintendent of the road, and another an attorney for the railroad. Another jury will be impanelled this evening. Investigation by the railroad authorities shows that the wreck took fire from the stove instead of the oil lamps.

ANOTHER G. T. WRECK.

A Fair Special Runs Into a Freight But Nobody Is Killed.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—A World's Fair special on the Grand Trunk railway ran into the rear of a freight train at Glencoe, thirty miles west of here, Saturday morning in a fog. The special's engine and two cars on the freight train were wrecked. None of the passengers were hurt. Engineer Chalmers of Windsor, driver on the special, was severely injured.

ALL DUE TO A DOG.

William Gibson, a Lisgar Blacksmith, Has an Arm and Leg Cut Off on the C. P. R.

Sunday morning William Gibson, a young blacksmith residing at Lisgar, Halton County, was admitted to the Toronto General Hospital suffering from the effects of an accident which has already cost him the loss of a leg and an arm, and which may result fatally.

Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock Gibson hired a livery rig at Brampton to visit some friends at Alloa.

Shortly after leaving Brampton a dog sprang out of a side road and frightened his horse, which shied and threw Gibson out of the rig onto the G. T. R. track. The fall stunned Gibson and he lay on the track until nearly 7 o'clock, when he was run over by the Chicago flyer, which passes through Brampton at 6.45 p.m.

Shortly afterwards, a farmer named McClue, who was passing the place, was attracted by Gibson's groans, and removed him in a carriage to the office of Dr. Heggie, Brampton, where it was found that the right leg was completely crushed off above the ankle and the left arm below the elbow.

Dr. Heggie dressed the limbs and accompanied Gibson to the hospital, where it was found to be necessary to amputate both limbs.

Gibson stood the amputation well, and as he has a strong constitution he may recover. Nothing has yet been heard of the whereabouts of the horse and rig.

EARL ABERDEEN AT THE FAIR.

He Spent a Busy Day Saturday Holding and Attending Receptions.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—A reception was given by the Governor-General of Canada, Earl of Aberdeen, to the Canadian commissioners, exhibitors and others at the Canadian pavilion at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. His Excellency spoke eloquently of the exhibits and of the praise they deserved, and also of the extreme pleasure it afforded him to meet them as Governor-General of Canada. The Lieut.-Governor of Quebec followed with an excellent speech, and three hearty cheers were given to His Excellency the Governor, Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain, to Commissioners J. D. Larke, G. R. R. Cockburn and Mr. Tasse.

At 4.30 a reception was given to the Earl and Lady Aberdeen by Director-General Davis and the officers of the Exposition. All were present, besides distinguished foreign commissioners and others. A toast was given by Director General Davis to His Excellency and Lady Aberdeen. The Earl responded at length with a generous tribute to the World's Fair. The Earl then visited the New York Building, and a great crowd gave him a cordial reception.

At 6 p.m. His Excellency visited the Manitoba exhibit, which gave him great pleasure, and after visiting the Canadian exhibit in the Art Gallery finished up a busy day at a banquet given at the New York building.

TORE DOWN THE UNION JACK.

Chicago Irish Cause a Ruction Because the Flag Floated Over Blarney Castle.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—There was almost a riot in Lady Aberdeen's village of industries to-night. A second attempt was made by about 15 Irishmen to pull down the Union Jack which has been floating from the tower of Blarney Castle in honor of Lady Aberdeen's husband, the Governor-General of Canada.

The Irishmen gained access to the top of the tower and tore down the English emblem because they did not consider it ought to be unfurled in an Irish village. They were detected in the act by some of the village employes and the guards drove the offenders out into the Midway.

The gang returned stealthily in a short time and climbed over one side of the fence. The guards were on the alert, however, suspecting that another attempt would be made as soon as the flag was strung up again and pounced upon the intruders.

The Prisoners Rescued by Sympathisers.

Then came the exciting part of the scene. The guards summoned the patrol wagon and tried to arrest the whole number in the face of threats from a crowd of several thousand sympathizers who quickly gathered around the village. The wagon came on the double-quick and the force of guards tried to cope with the anti-English visitors. They no sooner had got one or two of their prisoners into the wagon than the men who pressed around it pulled them out.

Three of the ringleaders were finally taken prisoners after a pitched battle of some minutes' duration. The Earl of Aberdeen arrived at the village with his secretary just after the battle and was very indignant at the insult which had been offered the flag of Her Majesty's dominions.

Single Taxers Elect Officers.

The annual meeting of the Single Tax Association for the election of officers took place Saturday night in Richmond Hall. The retiring president, Mr. A. C. Campbell, occupied the chair. These officers were elected: President, Alexander Brown; 1st vice-president, J. L. Dawkins; 2nd vice-president, R. J. Berkinshaw; secretary, G. J. Bryan; recording secretary, A. M. Westwood; membership secretary, T. K. Powell; treasurer, O. S. Hudson. The new president, after thanking the members for the honor done him, gave a slight outline of his policy for the propagation of single tax in Toronto. The Executive Committee will meet next Friday night to discuss plans for future work.

German Learned in Five Weeks.

Miss Clara Barton, International President Red Cross Society, wrote: "Professor Haupt's well-conducted German classes are a benefit to a community."

To-morrow and Wednesday at 3.30 p.m. professor gives interesting lectures free to the public on his system, by which he imparts a practical use of German during a five weeks' course of daily lessons, the learner attending one hour daily. The lectures are preliminary to a course to be given at 9.30 a.m., 3.30 and 7 p.m., to begin Thursday, this week. Confederation Life Building.

AMNESTY OF DYNAMITARDS.

THE UPPERMOST QUESTION IN ENGLISH POLITICS.

Home Secretary Asquith States Plainly That the Irish Convicts Must Remain—Redmond Would Make Their Release the Price of the Irish Support of the Liberals.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—In a speech delivered in Fifeshire last night Home Secretary Asquith referred to the Irish dynamiters now in prison and said he had arrived at a decision in regard to them.

The dynamiters, Mr. Asquith said, had been fairly convicted, and it would not be right to extend towards them any further considerations than shown to any other class of convicts. The Home Secretary admitted that there was one case whereon he entertained reasonable doubts.

Asquith's Reply to Redmond.

The Observer in commenting on Mr. Asquith's speech says: "His energetic language in regard to dynamite and those who use it as a political weapon may possibly be taken for a reply to Mr. John E. Redmond's recent amnesty speeches. It certainly expresses beyond the possibility of doubt the secretary's determination to have convicted dynamiters remain where they are.

Redmond's Address at Cork.

CORK, Oct. 22.—John E. Redmond, M.P., for Waterford, the Parnellite leader, in a speech delivered in this city to-day said that the amnesty of the Irish dynamiters was demanded because the Irish people believe that all the Irish political prisoners were honest patriots.

The Parnellites should show such determination that it would be impossible for a Government depending for a continuance of power upon the Irish votes to refuse to grant amnesty. The speaker said he did not believe that Home Rule would be achieved without a year's further struggle and sacrifice.

Leamy and Pearce-Mahony made speeches in a similar strain. After the adoption of resolutions embodying these views a procession was formed and marched through the main streets.

The Parnellites' Triple Demand.

DUBLIN, Oct. 22.—A big Parnellite demonstration was held here to-day. The meeting advocated a policy of hostility towards the McCarthyite party, who it claimed had bargained with the Liberals to allow the postponement of the Home Rule agitation in Parliament, to defer the release of the Irishmen now in English prisons serving sentences as dynamiters, and "to continue the whole monstrous system whereby the unfortunate victims of oppression are left to die on the roadsides."

Resolutions were enthusiastically adopted urging the release of the dynamiters, reinstatement of the evicted tenants and the repeal of the Coercion acts.

Call Secretary Asquith a Murderer.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The Social Democratic Federation held a demonstration in Trafalgar Square to-day. The attendance was small.

In the procession one of the banners carried described Home Secretary Asquith as a murderer. Aveling and Hyadmann were among the speakers.

FOR BRUTALITY TO BABIES.

An English Father and Mother Sentenced To Hard Labor.

CHESTER, Oct. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Phelan were yesterday sentenced to imprisonment for cruelty to their children, aged 20 months and three years. Mrs. Phelan got nine months' hard labor and the husband six months. The prisoners were taken to Knutsford jail. As the prisoners were placed in a third-class carriage for conveyance to jail the crowd hooted until the carriage, blinds carefully drawn, drew out of the railroad station. The prisoners were greatly depressed and hoped to escape, as they did at the previous trial. The press comments agree that the sentences were not inadequate.

LORD VIVIAN DEAD.

The British Ambassador to Italy Succumbs to Pneumonia.

ROME, Oct. 22.—The funeral services of Lord Vivian, British Ambassador to Italy, who died Saturday of pneumonia, will be on a grand scale. They will be held in the English Church on Wednesday next, and all the diplomatic corps and all the Government officials will attend. It is said the officers of the British squadron now in Italian waters will be among the mourners.

Military honors will be paid to the deceased by the Italian troops. The guard of honor will consist of the Communal Guards now stationed at the British Embassy.

All the Canadian mineral waters are bottled in Toronto. "Sprudel" is bottled at the spring, and that is the reason physicians recommend it. Wine improves with age but water does not.

Local Jottings.

Charles Cross was arrested Saturday charged with committing an aggravated assault on W. W. Vanderwater.

The 48th Highlanders have consented to take part in the military tournament at Guelph on May 24, 1894.

Four lads, William Charlton, Queen east; Ronald McDonald, Belfair-avenue; Harry Wilson, Herbert-street, and Arthur Wilson, Herbert-street, are charged with larceny. J. W. Johnston is the complainant.

The Toronto Orchestral School were photographed in the Pavilion on Saturday of last week. One hundred members were present. It is thought that the picture will be an excellent one owing to the very fine light afforded by the Pavilion surroundings.

The recital to be given by the Toronto Bicycle Club this evening promises to be one of unusual merit. Fannie Steele Anthony, the elocutionist of the evening, is a lady who occupies a high position in her profession.

Saturday night a fire damaged the butcher shop occupied by Mr. J. T. Newton, 570 Queen west, to the extent of $500, and the cigar store at 572 Queen west occupied by Thomas Collaton. The fire was caused by rendering fat in the butcher's shop. The loss is covered by insurance.

W. P. Barrett has leased to W. Boulter & Son, Picton, the premises at one time occupied by Jacques & Hay on the Esplanade. The premises are now being fitted up. The firm will employ 200 hands in their business of canning fruit and vegetables.

Professor Haupt, as will be seen in another column, has been induced to organize another course of lessons in Toronto. He lectures to-morrow at 3.30 p.m. in Assembly Hall, Confederation Life building, to which the public is invited. The three classes begun several weeks ago are very large and composed of the best people of the city.

The annual rifle match of C Co., Q.O.R., was held on Saturday afternoon on the Lake Shore ranges. Good scores were made, following being the winning scores in the general match: Corp. Orr 63, Corp. White 60, Pte. Good 56, Lieut. Wyatt 52, Corp. Smith 48, Pte. Rombough 46, Pte. Johnston 37, Pte. Green 36, Pte. Neill 33, Sergt. Burns 33, Pte. Macdonald 32, Pte. Stutzenitch 30; one 30 counted out.

REDISTRIBUTION OF TAXES.

Quebec Government Urged to Levy One Mill on Real Estate and Abolish Exemptions.

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 2.—Premier Taillon and Treasurer Hall had a long interview with representatives of the Boards of Finance, French Chamber of Commerce and Citizens' Tax Committee yesterday on the redistribution of the taxes when these bodies presented a joint report recommending the imposition of a tax of one mill on all real estate and the abolition of all tax exemptions. The questions were discussed at length and the Ministers promised consideration, but seemed disinclined to accept the advice, as the country members would oppose the measure.

No Pleuro-Pneumonia in Canada.

Dr. D. McEachran, Dean of the Faculty of Comparative Medicine at McGill and Government Inspector of Live Stock, returned from Chicago to-day, where he attended the first veterinary conference. A resolution was unanimously passed declaring that contagious pleuro-pneumonia had been eradicated in the United States, does not now and never existed in Canada, and favoring the free admission of cattle from one country to the other. Dr. Gladsden read a paper showing that there was no pleuro in the States. Dr. McEachran gave similar testimony, based on his own observation in Canada.

TO OUST SIR RICHARD.

The Reason for His Sudden Appearance in South Oxford—Is He to Be Frozen Out?

There is more than appears on the surface in the announcement of Sir Richard Cartwright's intention to hold a series of meetings in South Oxford this week. After maintaining a Napoleon-at-St. Helena sort of silence while Mr. Laurier and the whole retinue of Ontario Liberals were traveling up and down the province, Sir Richard is now to appear upon the stage of his own constituency.

Why this attention to South Oxford, a riding which is not thought to be unsafe? The majority in 1891 was 734, and that was a bad year. In 1887 it stood at 1112. The opinion generally in South Oxford is that Sir Richard will have some difficulty in securing the nomination at the next general election. There is a widespread feeling among the Liberals that Mr. S. H. Janes of this city, who was formerly a resident of the county, and who may again remove there, should be chosen. Personally Mr. Janes has no desire to supplant Sir Richard, but great pressure is being put upon him to allow his name to go before the convention.

This explains the sudden activity of Sir Richard.

Rumor has it that the dissatisfaction with Sir Richard in the Liberal camp, headed by Liberal Whip Jim Sutherland, has something to do with the fact that Sir Richard did not go on the recent Liberal tour and devote his talent to the task of encouraging and "enthusing" the rank and file and generally imparting genial warmth and vim and courage to the Liberals throughout the Province.

MACMAHON'S FUNERAL.

His Body Laid to Rest With All the Pomp of State Ceremony.

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Amid all the pomp of peace and war the remains of Marshal MacMahon, ex-President of France and Duke of Magenta, were conveyed to-day from the Church of La Madeline across the Seine to Hotel Des Invalides, there to rest until the great reveille is sounded by the heavenly trumpeter.

Many emblems of mourning were displayed along the route.

Among the floral offerings was a beautiful display of lilacs, violets and roses sent by Queen Victoria, inscribed: "Regrets and profound sympathy." The Princess of Wales sent a handsome pillow of ten roses and chrysanthemums inscribed, "Tribute to my admiration for the illustrious soldier."

The Marquis of Dufferin, the British Ambassador, was present at the ceremony in his official capacity.

M. Dupuy, Minister of Public Instruction, and General Loizillion, Minister of War, delivered stirring orations over the body.

What An Awful Mistake Some of the East Enders Make!

One of the greatest mistakes some of the East Enders have made of recent date is to drop into Mr. Howell's Cut Rate Shoe Parlor, 119 Queen-street east, looking for fresh. Now, it is impossible to receive anything but solid material. He advertises cut rates and bargains, but his motto is (not how cheap) but how good. Those who deal at his West End store know that. He wants to establish the same reputation at his East End branch.

Publicity the Life-Blood of Trade.

With whatever retiring and delicate feelings a man may be endowed by nature, when he embarks in business he enters a field where silence and unobtrusiveness are the guide-posts to oblivion. The man of business must stop the public in its rush along the sidewalk. In his startling and seductive window displays, quinn not only arrests attention, but induces the public to share his own enthusiasm.

Great Compliment to Sprudel.

Mr. J. A. Martin, manager of the Headquarters sample room, says that notwithstanding the large number of mineral waters on the market 95 per cent. of their customers ask for "Sprudel" and will not take any other water.

Sunday Duck Shooting.

Residents on Dunn and other lakeside avenues were annoyed yesterday afternoon at the occupants of a yacht shooting ducks on the lake. The police were telephoned but on a boat with bluecoats putting out the yachtsmen hurriedly made for the Western Gap. Efforts will be made to identify them.

Sandford Fleming on the Pacific Cable.

THE WARIN MASHONALAND

Australia Offers Volunteers—The Trouble May End in a Month—Further Skirmishes.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The Times' Cape Town despatch says: Two of the British columns are marching to the southward along the watershed near the Matapose Hills, avoiding the rivers and bush. The Goold-Adams column expects to reach Buluwayo to-day.

AUSTRALIA OFFERS HELP.

The Bendigo Militia Desirous of Assisting in the Zulu Campaign.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 21.—Gen. Tulloch, commanding the forces at Fort Victoria, Mashonaland, has declined an offer made to him by the Bendigo (Australia) militia to furnish 100 men to assist in the operations against the Matabeles.

Gen. Tulloch, in declining the offer, thanked the militia for their proffered assistance, which, he said, proves that federation of the Imperial colonies already exists.

He advised, however, that the men reserve themselves for the protection of Australia, or to hold themselves in readiness to assist in preserving India, which will probably be necessary when the inevitable war between the powers begins.

No further news has been received here since Tuesday from the Fort Charter on Fort Victoria columns. When Dr. Jamesor reported to Col. Cecil Rhodes his arrival at Indaimas Mountain in capital order Dr. Jameson expressed the hope that the columns would reach Buluwayo at the end of the month.

Capt. White with a force of picked men is scouting from ten to twenty miles ahead of the columns.

Before the columns made the junction the Fort Victoria column met a force of 2000 Matabeles. The latter fired upon the colonists but did not descend from the hills. When attacked the Matabeles retreated in the direction of Buluwayo, leaving all their cattle which were captured. It is learned that the Royal Regiment of the Matabele army is massing at Shangani, and the columns therefore continue to gather. The Insuako regiment retreated before 20 colonists.

A body of Mashodas brought to Victoria a large number of cattle captured from the Matabeles.

In the recent engagement with the Mashona scouts 35 Matabeles were killed.

Chief Indaima yielded on arrival of the company's columns. A small body of Matabeles recently entered the Tati district. The leaders were killed and others captured.

A Matabele chief has arrived at Palapye from Buluwayo with a mission from King Lobengula.

It Was a Decisive Victory.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—All the papers concur with the morning newspapers in pointing out the importance of the Matabele fight. It is remarked that the engagement was evidently much more than a brush with the advanced bands of Lobengula's warriors. It is conceded that the fight was a regular battle on a field chosen by the enemy. It is asserted that the Fort Victoria columns must have engaged some crack regiments.

FIGHTING AT MELILLA.

Moors Show Remarkable Bravery in an Engagement With a Gunboat.

MADRID, Oct. 22.—There was no further firing to-day upon Melilla. The Moors yesterday showed remarkable bravery. After the first shots from the gunboat Venadito the Moors rushed down to the beach and returned the fire, their shots falling a hundred yards from the Venadito.

The Moors removed their families and goods out of gun range and are now re-occupying their former positions. They continue to construct earthworks and have two field pieces, one old, one new, both manned by renegade Christians. The Spanish minister at Tangier estimates the Moorish force at about 50,000. General Margallo calculates the Moorish force at 30,000. The Spanish Government is preparing five transports to take reinforcements to Melilla.

AN ENGLISH QUACK EXPOSED.

The Pall Mall Gazette Causes a Sensation.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The sensation of the week is the slashing attack by The Pall Mall Gazette on the proprietors of the Electropathic Belt, which is advertised by wholesale as a universal curative agent.

The belt has been frequently denounced by technical papers and experts as absolutely worthless, but this is the first time that an influential daily newspaper has dared to attack this source of immense income through advertisements.

Calls Them Charlatans.

The Pall Mall Gazette in a series of articles claims to be in possession of documentary proof that the manager and supposed medical assistants are charlatans without the slightest medical or electrical education and have been practising a system of extortion on their timid and suffering clients, their right-hand man being nothing but an ex-oriental furniture salesman.

It alleges that more than 17,000 cases of rupture have been treated by the company's quacks at fees varying from 5 to 100 guineas.

The articles were provoked by a proposal to issue new capital and extend the operations of the company.

Appeals to the Press.

The Pall Mall Gazette appeals to respectable newspapers to have courage to refuse the assistance of their advertising columns, without which such a system would be unable to exist, and publishes a letter received from the manager suggesting subject matter for a free glowing editorial puff of himself and his wares in consideration of his large advertisements.

Similar letters, The Pall Mall Gazette says, undoubtedly have been sent to other papers. These articles will either force the manager into the most sensational libel suit of many years or be a death-blow to the company.

Why They Refuse to Pay.

Dr. William A. Smith of Welland died in January. He was insured for $2000 in the Temperance and General Life Assurance Co. The company now decline to pay the insurance, as they allege Smith was addicted to the use of narcotics. Now an order has been issued to name the times and places when and where the narcotics were used.

ARE THESE THE ROBBERS

WHO HAVE BEEN BURGLARIZING ONTARIO POSTOFFICES?

Toronto Police Think They Have the Men in Custody Who Ransacked the Fenelon Falls and Dundas Postoffices—A Lot of Stamps Found in Their Possession.

Saturday evening Detective Slemin arrested Frederick Jacques, Bay-street, and John Clark, 114 Ann-street. They are held on a charge of burglarizing. The complainant is Postoffice Inspector F. D. Barwick. When arrested they had a large quantity of postage stamps in their possession, principally eight-cent denomination. Both men have been convicted before. Detective Slemin saw the men in Yonge-street and recognized them. He watched them for a time and when they entered J. H. Rogers' fur store he nabbed them.

Last Thursday night the postoffice at Dundas was robbed. The thieves got away with $10 in cash and $260 worth of stamps. A day or two previous Fenelon Falls postoffice was burglarized. The detectives think they have got the parties. Clark recently did time in the penitentiary.

THE SILVER COMPROMISE.

The Repeal of the Purchasing Clause to Take Effect Oct. 1, 1894.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The details of the compromise on the silver question have been practically agreed upon. Democratic Senators are pledging themselves in writing to abide by it.

The compromise agreed upon provides that the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman Act shall take effect Oct. 1, 1894, and that the bond question shall be eliminated entirely. It also provides that the four and a half million of silver which must be purchased under the act shall be coined from time to time as shall the seigniorage now in the treasury, and that which shall grow out of the further purchases. All greenbacks and treasury notes under $10 in value shall be retired and silver certificates or coined silver dollars shall take their place.

STATE OF U. S. FINANCES.

The Statist Says a Loan Must Be Shortly Raised.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The Statist says the position of the United States Treasury is grave, and it will be necessary to raise a loan before long, as the gold reserve is £3,000,000 sterling less than required, and it is expected that the gold must be largely drawn upon.

PUSHED TO HIS DEATH.

Ejected For Insulting a Woman a Norwood Man Is Killed.

NORWOOD, Oct. 22.—John Hill went into the house of W. J. Hicks and acted in a disrespectful manner towards Mrs. Hicks. Hicks who was sleeping in an adjoining room hearing his wife scream, rushed out and struck Hill and then pushed him out of the door where he fell striking his head against a stone which caused almost instant death.

Hicks is a quiet, peaceable and industrious man. He at once surrendered himself to Magistrate Pearce, who had him placed under arrest. The magistrate telegraphed to Peterboro and the inquest will be held to-morrow.

Mrs. Hicks was a Miss Bowie of Toronto previous to her marriage.

DOMINIONVILLE, Ont., Oct. 22.—A defective pipe caused a fire at the residence of John McDermid of Roxboro, and in assisting to remove his goods McDermid was cremated.

George is a Romancer.

George Harris, a boy tramp, called in The Detroit Free Press office last week and informed the editor in charge that he was on a record-breaking trip from Toronto to Chicago. He said that Mr. Holderness of the Albion Hotel had wagered $500 with the proprietor of the Palmer House, Toronto, that he could make Chicago in three days without cash.

The boy must have known something of Toronto, because he got the names right. But nevertheless the story was imaginary. Mr. Holderness says that there isn't the slightest foundation for the yarn.

THE OLD COAT COMPETITION.

The World's Old Coat Editor is busy in this department. His first caller on Saturday was Col. Denison, T.B. [The Beak]. He is the possessor of a cavalry cloak worn by his father in the rebellion of 1837-8 and regularly worn by the Colonel when going about his grounds in cold weather. It is over 55 years of age and certainly an old-timer. But the competition is open only to coats which have sleeves and waistcoats which have not sleeves and go under the arms. Now a cloak is neither a coat nor a waistcoat, and after much deliberation the jury assisting the C. E. ruled out the cloak. But it was decided to give it honorable mention. If the coat jury had let in cloaks some one would have asked to get in a hat, and the hat competition may be another story.

The Colonel says old Mr. Howard, the donor of High Park, wore constantly up to his death a blue cloak that he brought from England long before the rebellion. Who has that blue cloak now?

Mr. G. Griffin, postal clerk on the Grand Trunk, has a brown velveteen coat, split behind, made by Gibb of Montreal and still in regular house use. Recently he wore it to church in the evening.

Somebody called up the Old Coat Editor on the telephone and said he had a coat 30 years old and a waistcoat 23 years. He will be investigated to-day.

A man from Dundas has telegraphed not to close the competition until he can get down.

The Odd-Eyed Department Getting Into Swing.

RESPECTED SIR: If your correspondent who boasts of having odd eyes is really desirous of getting married and wants to win the heart of Miss Oddeyes let him give his name and I think we can get him a wife. I know a sweet young lady who is possessed of a lovely pair of odd eyes waiting to be matched. Yours truly,

HATS WANTED.

Everyone Wants One of the New Hats Just Received by Dineen.

It is a well-known fact that the weather affects business to a great extent, but it is surprising to notice the great demand for fall hats that has been observed at Dineens' during the last week.

Old Sol's rays still diffuse some warmth and it is probable that many fall hats will be sold, for the demand as yet shows no signs of decreasing. In fact the trade has been so much better than is usual at this season that, in order to keep a complete stock of the new-style hats, Messrs. W. & D. Dineen found it necessary to re-order in several lines. The new hats have arrived and are now in stock.

Needless to say, there is nothing later than the hats comprising this latest consignment, and all citizens who wish to be up to the times in the very important matter of headgear should supply themselves from Dineen's magnificent stock without delay.

There's just another week of October, and therefore there's only one more week of Dineen's October fur and hat sale. Prospective purchasers will consult their best interests by visiting Dineen's before the end of the month.

THE OPINIONS OF A PHILOSOPHER.

Robert Grant's Latest—A Sequel to "The Reflections of a Married Man."

An unusually large circle of eager readers will be found waiting for Robert Grant's "Opinions of a Philosopher," for his "Reflections," to which this is a sequel, appealed to and made friends of a larger public than any book of its class in recent years. Everyone who remembers at how many points, both tender and laughable, the story of Fred and Josephine's young married life in the "Reflections" touched his own, will be anxious to follow the couple through their middle life. To-day at John P. McKenna's, bookseller, 117 Yonge-st, near corner King, The illustrations reflect admirably both the grave and the comic elements in the story.

Social Problems.

The main floor of the Auditorium was tolerably well filled yesterday afternoon to hear Mr. Louis Post speak on the single tax. Mr. S. T. Wood, past president of the Single Tax Association, occupied the chair.
