DOCTORS WORKING HARD.

Toronto Has Been Struck Harder This Year Than in Seven Years.

There is Someone Within Its Grasp in Nearly Every Home in the City—Whole Families Are Laid Out by It — What the General Symptoms of the Epidemic Are—One Doctor Says He is Busier To-Day Than in 15 Years—Complications Sometimes Follow the Disease — Some of the Sufferers —A Talk With the Druggists—A Few of the Alleged Cures.

It amuses the funny man to be facetious, and to remark that grip gives the lazy man a chance to take a day off. He will add, if you don't choke him, that grip by any other name is not as terrible. Yet, granted a continuance of the present damp state of the weather and "I see the funny man's finish!"

All of which leads The World to state that an epidemic of grip in all its old-time virulence has come into our midst. Hundreds of citizens, yesterday, sympathetic for their fellows, are to-day overcome by the disease and feel an unexplainable disinclination to be interested in anything. Those who yesterday scoffed at the idea of getting grip are to-day praying for a speedy release from its chilling clasp. Let him who sneers beware lest he be the next on the list!

Like That of Nine Years Ago.

The city doctors declare that the present form of the disease is in every way similar to that of the attack of nine years ago, which re-appeared in two years, and has been a yearly visitor in a more or less malignant manner, ever since. They have hundreds of patients on their hands and are put to great shifts to comply with the demands made upon their powers. No serious results are anticipated, for the citizens, rendered cautious by past experiences, have sought a prevention ere a cure was called for.

A Few Symptoms of Grip.

As there are many different men, so there are many varying symptoms, but in every case there are certain, standard, stable signs that tell more forcibly than words that grip has clutched another victim. It begins with icy chills playing tag up and down one's spine. You shiver when a door opens and can detect a draught through a pin-hole. An irritable disposition sits lily upon you, and you have forgotten how to smile. Headache, neckache, shooting pains in the eyes, backache, watery eyes, nostrils incommoded, cold chills, hot flushes, loss of appetite, ennui, and other similar sickening details are all salient signs that you are a marked man. These are followed by general debility, you can't stand alone and your head is in a whirl and you talk disconnectedly. Your knees are weak. You are losing your grip. You have got the grip.

Doctors Working Overtime.

Almost every doctor in the city is working overtime just now.

One well-known practitioner said yesterday that he had been busier during the last couple of weeks than he had been during the past 15 years of his practice. While a few of the medical profession were inclined to think that the present increase of sickness was owing to exposure and the changeableness of the weather, the majority say without the slightest hesitation that it is nothing more or less than grip, and that in a more virulent form than in any of its previous visitations.

Complications Follow It.

According to the statements of many prominent physicians, over 75 per cent. of the present sickness is caused by grip. In many cases complications follow, the most usual ones being pneumonia, bronchitis and neuralgia.

The majority of those suffering appear to be women, but in not a few instances whole families are taken down at once.

Some of the Sufferers.

Some of the sufferers from grip The World learned of yesterday were:

THE SENATE REFORM SCHEME

Mr. Donald MacMaster Discusses the Latest Fad of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

WAS THE SENATE'S ACTION WRONG?

Mr. Bergeron Says Mr. Tarte Was the Originator of the Scheme—Will Parliament Be Dissolved?

Montreal, Jan. 6.—(Special.)—Mr. Donald MacMaster, Q.C., a leading constitutional lawyer, says: "Now, upon what score does Sir Wilfrid propose this radical change, the undoing of the fundamental principles of our constitution? The Senate erred, he says, in rejecting the Drummond County Railway bill, and the Yukon Railway bill. Grant that it erred; it had the right to err, and the Ministers had the right to appeal against the error to the political sovereign—the people. They did not appeal, so we must look at the Senate's action with cool and philosophical mind, to see if there was an error in their action.

"Primarily the Senators had the right to exercise their own best judgment and to reject these bills, unless, as Mr. Dicey and Mr. Bagehot say, it is clearly final that the will of the House of Commons was the will of the nation, and demanded their enactment. Could it be said that the nation had made up its mind? These bills and the subject of them were not discussed at the time of the last general appeal to the Canadian electorate.

"Both the proposed bills were new, and public opinion had hardly had time to form, and such as had formed was mainly adverse. How can it be said under these circumstances that the opinion of the nation was wrong and 'universal' in support of the measures submitted?"

Mr. J. G. H. Bergeron, M.P., told your correspondent to-day that Mr. Tarte alone is the originator of the Senate reform scheme. The member for Beauharnois states that the Government program is as follows, and that Conservatives all over Canada should be prepared for it:

"They will introduce their fit reform measure next session, pass it in the Commons, and when the bill is rejected by the Senate the Ministers will then ask the Governor-General for a dissolution, going to the country on the cry of Senate reform. There can be no doubt that this plan of campaign was decided upon after the Ministers returned from Washington, and found that they had no reciprocity tale to dangle before the electorate of Canada. In sheer desperation Tarte sprang forward with Senate reform, the Cabinet accepted it as drowning men catch at straws, and Laurier started off for Montreal."

SALISBURY AGREES WITH IT

The Czar's Proposals for Disarmament Endorsed by the Premier of Great Britain.

A VERY IMPORTANT DELIVERANCE.

Sympathy is Not Confined to the Government, But is Equally Shared by Popular Opinion.

London, Jan. 6.—The reply of Lord Salisbury to the proposal of Emperor Nicholas for a disarmament conference of the powers, which is just published, promises the cordial co-operation of the British Government, and asks for an indication of the heads of discussion at the conference.

In the course of the document, which was transmitted through the Rt. Hon. Sir Charles Stewart Scott, British Ambassador at St. Petersburg, Lord Salisbury assures the Czar of the Government's cordial sympathy. He goes on to say: "This sympathy is not confined to the Government, but is equally shared by popular opinion, which has been strikingly manifest by the numerous resolutions adopted by public meetings and societies. There are, indeed, few nations, if any, which, both on the grounds of feeling and interest, are more concerned in the maintenance of general peace than Great Britain. The statements which constituted the grounds of the Emperor's proposal are but too well justified. It is unfortunately true that, while a desire for the maintenance of peace is generally professed, and while, in fact, serious and successful efforts on more than one recent occasion have been made with that object by the great powers, there has been a constant tendency on the part of almost every nation to increase its armed force, and add to the already vast expenditure on the appliances of war.

"The perfection of the instruments thus brought into use, their extreme costliness and the horrible carnage and destruction which would ensue from their employment on a large scale, have acted no doubt as a serious deterrent from war, but the burdens imposed by this process on the populations affected, must, if prolonged, produce a feeling of unrest and discontent, menacing to both internal and external tranquility."

Lord Salisbury says: "Her Majesty's Government will gladly co-operate with the proposed effort to provide a remedy for the evils and, if in any degree it succeeds, they feel that the sovereign to whose suggestion it is due will have richly earned the gratitude of the world at large."

Lord Salisbury then promises that a delegate and representative will take part in the proposed conference whenever the invitation is received, and expresses the hope that the invitation may be accompanied by some indication of the special points to which the attention of the conference is to be directed, as a guide in the selection of the British representative and his assistants.

IS ROSTAND A PLAGIARIST?

Chicago Millionaire Dealer in Real Estate Declares He Wrote "Cyrano de Bergerac."

Chicago, Jan. 6.—According to papers filed in the United States Circuit Court late this afternoon, Edmund Rostand is a plagiarist. S. E. Gross, a millionaire real estate dealer of Chicago, and founder of the suburb of Grossdale, claims that he, and not Rostand, wrote the great play of "Cyrano de Bergerac," and he asks the court to enjoin Richard Mansfield, A. M. Palmer and all others who have produced the piece from further performing it.

Mr. Gross alleges that he wrote the play in 1876, twenty-three years ago, simply as a literary diversion. He also had it published, and in 1879 placed copies of it in the hands of A. M. Palmer and A. R. Cazauran, Mr. Palmer's reader, for inspection. After keeping the play three or four years, Mr. Gross says, the copies were returned to him with a note from Mr. Palmer declaring the play a good one, but suggested several changes in it. These Mr. Gross would not consent to, and the play was laid away and not thought of until Richard Mansfield produced it in New York.

MRS. HABBERTON MEANS BUSINESS.

She Intends to Find Out Whether a Woman Can Dress in England as She Pleases.

London, Jan. 6.—Mrs. Habberton, who devotes life to the propagation of the principles of rational dress, has started an association devoted to the same end, and has brought action against a country innkeeper for refusing to serve a lady who, dressed in rationals, applied for refreshments. Mrs. Habberton declares she is determined to see if the law discriminates against members of her association, for innkeepers are bound by law to serve all respectable customers applying for accommodation. The grand jury to-day returned a bill against the innkeeper.

As a matter of fact, the general manager's resignation has not yet been received here, but he probably brings it in his pocket.

The story is that the Baltimore and Ohio offered to double Mr. Underwood's salary, which was $10,000, and to give him the handsome bonus of $100,000.

SPANISH QUEEN HOLDS A LEVEE.

Over One Thousand Uniformed Officers Passed Before Their Majesties Yesterday.

London, Jan. 7.—The Madrid correspondent of The Standard says: "In accordance with the usual custom on 12th Day, the Queen Regent and King Alfonso held to-day (Friday) an exclusively military levee, which was attended by all the marshals except Martinez de Campos, who is indisposed. Over 1000 officers passed before Their Majesties, the most observed in the throne room being General Weyler and General Polavieja. There were also many prominent commanders from the colonies. A crowd of sightseers outside the palace gazed silently on the brilliant throng of uniforms."

NELSON DINGLEY IS DYING

The Representative From Maine Can't Last Much Longer, So the Doctors Say.

VITALITY ALARMINGLY DECREASED

Patient is Delirious Most of the Time and Talks on the Tariff Question.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The condition of Representative Nelson Dingley of Maine, who has been ill with pneumonia for almost a week, has undergone a marked change for the worse and to-night his physicians hold out little if any hope for recovery. Although the lung has improved considerably and the cough lessened, the effects of the pneumonia have so weakened the system as to decrease the vitality to an alarming extent. The poison from the sickness has permeated the whole system, which renders it less potent to stand the terrible strain. Much of the day the patient was delirious and appeared to be uttering extracts from speeches he made on the tariff question in the House of Representatives. He was conscious only when aroused. The physicians say there must be a radical change one way or another very soon.

It Will Be Cosier Than Ever.

G. W. Muller has arrived at a satisfactory settlement with the insurance companies, his loss being promptly adjusted by the companies interested. The loss on the building has not yet been adjusted, owing to the sickness of one of the appraisers. Mr. Muller will not identify himself with a fire sale. He is sending to the auction rooms all damaged goods. The architect is preparing plans for enlarging and re-fitting the smoking room. Already Mr. Muller has passed many new cigars through customs. He is open every day and evening—ready for business. It will be interesting to watch the new smoking room grow into a cosy resting place.

Would Seem to Have Got Into the Hands of the Toronto Railway Magnates After All.

H. A. EVERETT SAYS HE KNOWS IT,

But President William McKenzie Fenced When Tackled on the Subject by The World.

Cleveland, Jan. 6.—Word reached this city to-day that the franchise of the Havana Street Railway Company had been secured by the Toronto Street Railway Company, in which Henry A. Everett of this city is interested.

"I am interested in the Toronto company as a stockholder only," said Everett. "I hear from Toronto to-day that the company has secured the Havana franchise and is also operating the road."

Mr. McKenzie a Good Fencer.

Mr. William McKenzie was seen in regard to the above despatch, and said he had no intelligence concerning the matter.

"Are you operating the road?" was asked.

"Well, no," replied the magnte, with a laugh.

"Have you secured the Havana franchise?"

"I can't say as to that. If I had, I would have more definite information. I don't care to express an opinion upon the despatch."

"Would Mr. Everett be likely to know more about it than you?"

"That is not likely." And with a pleasant good-night, Mr. Mackenzie rang off.

CANADA RIGHT IN IT.

Our Manufactures Get There as Against the World.

GERMAN EMPEROR'S HOME

Owes Its Comfort in Cold Weather to the Work of a Toronto Industry.

Palace of Justice at Pretoria, the Park Hospital in London, Edinburgh County Hospital and Imperial Board of Trade Building, Berlin, All in the Same Category —Truly, This is a Time When Canada is Going Up Against the Manufactures of the World.

Of course no protected country can hope to do an exporting business in manufactured goods. That is one of the economic impossibilities upon which all orthodox free trade authorities have insisted, do insist and will continue to insist till the end of time. Yet this impossible thing has happened and is happening with ever-increasing frequency.

Yesterday The World called at the works of the Dominion Radiator Company, Dufferin-street, and in conversation with some of the officials of the company learned that that flourishing concern is deliberately and systematically setting the aforesaid free trade maxim at naught. A glance at the record of orders and shipments showed that the manufactures of this company are finding they way into nearly every country under the sun.

In All Parts of the World.

Among the notable buildings and institutions which are being warmed by radiators made by the Dominion Company are the Palace of Justice at Pretoria, South Africa; the Park Hospital at Lewisham, near London, England, an institution composed of 20 separate buildings and covering 56 acres; the Edinburgh County Hospital and the Imperial Board of Trade Building, Berlin. The orders for some of these institutions were obtained in the face of the keenest American competition.

Emperor William's Palace.

Royalty owes its comforts during cold weather to Canadian radiators in some instances at least, for the Dominion Company supplied the entire heating apparatus for the German Emperor's Palace at Berlin and the King Oscar's at Stockholm. The Old Parliament Buildings at Dublin were also entirely equipped with heating apparatus by this company, and now there can again be nearly as warm a time in that historic pile as when it was heated by fervid Irish eloquence before the union. Away in distant Natal Toronto radiators have been installed. The World was shown a photo of a splendid building which has been erected in Durban, South Africa, by the Permanent Mutual Investment Society of that city, for which the Dominion Company supplied the entire heating outfit, and here it may not be amiss to say that all the furniture for this magnificent building was made by the Globe Manufacturing Company of Walkerville, Ont.

Pumps for Great Works.

The Northey Manufacturing Company could give The Globe some valuable points just now for an article upon Canada's growing time. They have just completed a number of very large contracts and are up to their eyes in work upon others on the way to completion. They have supplied the entire pumping machinery for the Laurentide Pulp Company's paper and pulp mill at Grand Mere, Quebec. They have shipped a hydraulic mining pump, weighing 40,000 lbs., and having a capacity of 2000 gallons per minute, to Ashcroft, B.C. They have also built a triplex power pump of five million gallons capacity for the Montreal Water and Power Company. This is the largest pump of its kind ever made in America, and will be operated by a 450-horse-power motor. Mr. C. Morgan of the Northey Company is about leaving for a business trip to the Pacific coast.
