King Street Methodist Anniversary.

The King Street Methodist Church was prettily decorated with flowers yesterday on the occasion of the anniversary services of the church. In the morning the pulpit was occupied by Rev. C. E. McIntyre, who preached from Exodus, xxxiii, 14. The title of the sermon was "God's Presence Among His People," the speaker dwelling particularly on the many privileges which God's people enjoyed as compared with the wicked. He ridiculed the idea that unchristian people could extract more pleasure from their lives than could God-fearing people, and pointed out the many enjoyments of a lasting nature which followed the Christian through life, his peace at death and his after and eternal reward. Rev. George Boyd preached at the evening service to a very large and deeply interested congregation. The music by the choir was of an especially meritorious order.

The Electors Are Responsible.

Rev. H. C. Speller, pastor of Adelaide Street Baptist Church, in his sermon last evening dealt largely with the duties and responsibilities of municipal electors. He took his text from Matthew, xxvii., 25: "His blood be on us and on our children." He referred to the well-known law of heredity by which disease and suffering are entailed on children through the transgressions of their parents against physical laws, and held that the same rule governed spiritual matters. The actions of our lives, he said, shape themselves in the lives of those who follow us. We put forth actions and the results are beyond our control. The preacher argued that while the parent is largely responsible for the moral or immoral tendencies of the child, the citizen is equally responsible for the morality or immorality of the community. If representatives are elected who make bad laws, bad results must inevitably follow. Men too often mark their ballots for party—not for home and country. The elector gives his vote to the candidate who will put a sidewalk down in front of his property regardless of how that candidate may vote on the matter of increasing the number of licensed liquor shops. Men talk about the heartless character of the liquor seller, and yet allow their boys to grow up with the idea that the Government had a right to derive a revenue from the cursed traffic. If we elect men to office who say it is right to sell liquor by the glass; if we plant the billiard saloon, the rum-shop and the gambling parlor in the community, we are responsible for the results, and the blood of the victims is "on us and on our children."

WILCOX, Pa., Nov. 23.—A frightful wreck took place on the Philadelphia and Erie road yesterday near here. An extra freight was going down grade at high speed when a car wheel broke. Drowned While Skating.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 24.—Ald. Andrews and wife were drowned in the Assiniboine River on Saturday evening. They were out skating for a little exercise before dinner, and while going in an easterly direction near Main street bridge they dropped into a hole about 50 feet square. Both were well known in the city. Ald. Andrews was a member of the Manitoba bar, and son of Rev. A. Andrews, Methodist minister at Qu'Appelle. Mrs. Andrews was only 20 years of age, and had just returned with her husband from a honeymoon trip to the old country. She was a daughter of Rev. Mr. McBean, and sister to Mr. George McBean, Canadian Pacific Railway traveling passenger agent.

Mr. Job Scales, of Toronto, writes: A short time ago I was suffering from Kidney Complaint and Dyspepsia, sour stomach and lame back; in fact, I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude.".
