LONDON'S ELECTRIC ROAD.

Prospects Are Bright for an Early Consummation

Of the Deal—Deputation to Toronto Re Springbank Line—Lawyers Busy.

Word was received in the city last night from Toronto that the Springbank Electric Railway Bill would come up in the Local House today, and Ald. J. W. Jones and City Solicitor T. G. Meredith went to Toronto during the night. Messrs. Ivey and Carr of the street railway company went down yesterday afternoon.

Word was received in the city this afternoon that the consideration of the bill had been postponed until Friday.

Electric railway matters are progressing swimmingly and harmoniously, and the much-wanted document will soon be ready to be laid before the council in its ancient English formula of hereintofores, hereinafters, and whereuntos. There are numerous minor matters centering around the vital points of the franchise that have to be mutually agreed upon between the solicitors representing the different parties, with the supervision of those having in hand the city's welfare. The draft of the franchise sent from the committee, voluminous as it was, is but a mere skeleton of the document that must be made to "hold water" for about 30 years.

That the agreement will go through there is not the slightest ground for doubt, and those who are on the inside track say that when things are finally in shape they will go with a hum that will surprise people.

"If the franchise goes through when can you have your lines electrified?" was asked of Manager Carr.

"Well, that just depends on how quickly we can get our orders filled. This is probably the busiest year that manufacturers have ever known."

"But your lines will be in operation by fair time?"

"Oh, yes," replied Mr. Carr.

WILL GO THROUGH.

A Third of a Mile Bicycle Track for Queen's Park.

Effort to Be Made To Centralize Sports in the Park—The C. W. A Meet for 1896.

A meeting of the Fair Board executive was held in the association's rooms last evening, when the proposed bicycle track at Queen's Park was thoroughly discussed. The idea was very favorably received and a sub-committee was appointed to confer with the committee of wheelmen having the matter in charge on Saturday night. Then the draft of the agreement will be submitted to the city solicitor to insert the whereases, ifs and buts.

The wheelmen having the project in hand are Messrs. Carroll, Belton and Colerick of the Londons, and Talbot, Tambling and Evans of the Meteors.

However the track will be built by a joint stock company, and no club or individual will have any special favors on it. All will be on the same footing; clubs will be charged a lump sum for the use of the track for meets, and individual riders will also pay for the use. Of course the fee will be virtually within the reach of everybody.

What the track will be composed of—cinders, salt, or clay—is still an open question. There are many suggestions, all of which will receive consideration.

Stock promises to be rapidly taken in the concern. The idea is to centralize sports in the park and make it an athletic center. It is thought that a cricket crease and football grounds will speedily make their appearance in the center of London's new one-third of a mile bicycle track.

And London wants the C. W. A. meet of 1896!

A LIVELY DEAD MAN.

Harry L. Atkinson Reads His Own Death Notice.

A Young Lad's Queer Way of Gaining Admission to a Newspaper Office Fooled the Editor.

When Mr. Harry L. Atkinson came down town this morning he was rather startled to read his own death notice in a local morning paper. He pinched himself once or twice, and when he found that he was not dead or dreaming he started out to investigate.

The notice read:

ATKINSON—On the 2nd inst., Harry L., youngest son of George Atkinson, aged 30 years.

Funeral (private) from the family residence, 450 King street, on Thursday, the 4th inst., 3 p.m. Service at 2:30.

Inquiry at the newspaper office revealed the fact that the advertisement was given by a 12-year-old lad named Munroe living on Picton street, who sauntered into the night editor's room about midnight. He carefully dictated the particulars and gave the funeral notice as well. The fact that he had not the necessary 50 cents to pay did not bother him, and he calmly told the editor that his father would call and settle.

The lad afterwards stopped around the newspaper office all night. He is distantly related to Mr. Atkinson (who is bookkeeper at McGill Bros., and was formerly connected with the F. C. B. C.) and no doubt thought that an advertisement of such a sorrowful nature would be carte blanche to see the sights of a newspaper office for a whole night.

Mr. Atkinson telegraphed his father, who is a traveler, that there was no truth in the report.
